In Loving Memory

In loving memory of our dear son and brother David Nordhagen who left us June 11, 1960.

"God loaned us for a little while
A child so sweet and good
To Teach him what we knew of life
And love him while we could.
He brought his charms to gladden us
And, though his stay was brief,
We have undying memories so solace for our grief.
Though God's angels came to call for him
Much sooner than we'd planned,
We've braved the bitter grief that came
And tried to understand.
For God did so much love him and so longingly He yearned.
For the little boy He loaned us
With life's lessons so well learned."

Missed by his parents, brothers, Les, Bruce, Rick, Steve and sister Shirley. 1t47p

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our children, grandchildren, relatives and friends for the cards, gifts, flowers, and for helping us to celebrate our 45th anniversary. A special thanks to Father Bernauer for celebrating Mass at our home.

You name it, we've got it!
It's rummage plus more
Than you've ever seen
In one spot before.
Clothing, trinkets, appliances
baubles,
Things, stuff, and gadgets, a cute coffee tauble.
Boys' things and girls' things and mommy's things too.
A tisket, a tasket, a pot and a shoe.
Things for daddys, both tall
And quite short.
The place is, my friends,
104 Fosse court.
10 'til there is no more.
Thursday, June 12, come do-
Who knows, we may have a treasure for you. 1t47p

Hearings On Rail Service At RLF, Bagley

Public hearings will be conducted June 17 and 18, to determine whether rail freight agency service should be relocated from Red Lake Falls to Crookston and from Bagley to Bemidji, according to Sherri Alston, assistant commissioner, public transportation, Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn-DOT).

Testimony on the proposed changes will be heard by a state hearing examiner at the Tuesday 1 p.m. hearing in the meeting room, City Hall, Third and Main Street, Red Lake Falls, and at the Wednesday 10 a.m. hearing in the city council chambers, city police station and fire hall, US 2 and Great Northern Avenue, Bagley.

Crookston station would provide freight agency service to Red Lake Falls, Tilden Junction, St. Hilaire, Benoit, Burwell, Fisher, Euclid, Shirley and Wilds. The Bemidji station would provide service to Bagley, Ebro, Shevlin, Solway, Wilton, Guthrie, Laporte, Rosby, Farris and Turtle River.

Burlington Northern, Inc., has asked Mn-DOT to make determinations in these matters. Determinations will consider whether an adequate level of freight agency service for the areas can be maintained if the proposed changes are made.

Mn-DOT has notified interested persons of the hearings.

After the hearing examiner's reports are issued, exceptions may be filed by parties to the proceedings. Mn-DOT issues final orders adopting, amending or rejecting the reports.

Kaatz Attends Conference On Adolescence

Among the 38 persons who attended a recent workshop presented by the University of North Dakota concerning "The Time of Early Adolescence" was Steve Kaatz, Thief River Falls.

The program was sponsored by the Mid-Continent Regional Education Laboratory and UND's Center for Teaching and Learning, with coordination by UND's division of Continuing Education.

Today's complex and rapidly changing society, the workshop leaders noted, pose serious problems for adolescents in their efforts to establish identity, develop a value system and life goals, and choose a direction for their lives.

Gov. Quie Notes Importance Of Dairy Month

by Gov. Al Quie

My roots are sunk deeply in Minnesota's dairy industry. I was born on a dairy farm in Rice county and still own the farm, renting it to a Guernsey dairy farmer. I believe June, being National Dairy month, is particularly important to our state.

Statistics from the Minnesota Department of Agriculture indicate that the farm value of Minnesota's 1979 milk production exceeded $1 billion for the first time in our state's history. We are the fourth state in the nation in milk production, with 860,000 milk cows on the production line.

Currently, 26,000 Minnesota families are engaged in milk production. In addition, the dairy industry produces jobs for many other Minnesotans. Although, statistics aren't readily available about the other non-farm, dairy-related jobs in our state, they include truckers bringing raw milk to processing plants and delivering dairy products to supermarkets and employees working in food packaging businesses.

The large role dairy farming plays in our Minnesota agriculture economy emphasizes to Minnesotans and all Americans the importance to consume dairy products. As they say, "milk is one of nature's most perfect sources of protein," and it is available at a reasonable price. The retail price of milk equals less than 23 cents a pound, based on a $1.98 gallon of whole milk. That is, indeed, a bargain.

Further, as a producer and consumer of dairy products all my life, I was particularly interested in the recent finding of the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council that there apparently is no reason for the average, healthy American to restrict the consumption of cholesterol. In recent years the dairy industry has been plagued with reports that a high level cholesterol diet may increase the risk of heart disease. This has led many people to foresake eggs for breakfast, feel guilty when eating a large ice cream cone or spreading a thick layer of butter over a dinner roll.

Although the board's report may not change the nation's eating habits, I believe it is significant in that it will allow more people to enjoy some of what I believe to be the best food products in our country.

Scandinavian Films Shown At NW Library

Northwest regional library will sponsor two evenings of films on Scandinavia to supplement the "Scandinavian Wood" exhibition at the Northern state bank.

Thursday at 8 p.m. the library will present "Wood Carver, Halvor Landsverk." Halvor Landsverk, son of a Norwegian farmer who settled at Highland Prairie, carries on the craftsmanship of his forefathers. The wood carver specializes in the creation of tub-like chairs called Kubbestoes. Landsverk comments in the film on his life and work as the camera shows him selecting basswood logs, tediously shaping them and adding the intricately carved Scandinavian designs. The priorities and lifestyle of the wood carver preserve the Norwegian traditions of his family.

In addition, "People in Pictures," a full color film featuring examples of Finnish paintings and folk art from the 1850s until today; "Finland Designs," a film showing various examples of applied art; and "Church in the North," a description of church art and architecture; will be shown.

Thursday, June 19, the library will sponsor a film showing of Scandinavian fairy tales. Both programs are free and open to all interested.

HOW BIG?

Gwenn was in kindergarten, and for fun, we'd play "How big?"

"How big is the beachball, Gwenn?" Mary would ask.

"Two inches!" she'd answer.

"How big is Daddy?"

"Eighteen inches!" said the thirty-six-inch giant.

"How big is that building?"

"A mile! No, two miles!"

So it went until Gwenn learned about the standards of length: the inch, foot and mile. Now, at eight, a beachball is "twenty inches;" Daddy has grown to "six feet;" and that building over there is "about two-hundred feet." Now, Gwenn has a better idea of the "bigness" of our physical world.

But what of spiritual dimensions? Gwenn must learn to gauge problems, worries, hopes and aspirations — lest her troubles seem too big, her dreams too small. She will turn to God's living Word, the Bible — taught in her church.

A little girl learned. Will you?

Happily Ever After? "Impossible!" Says Folklore Teacher

by Paul Dienhart
'U' M News Service

Nodding her old white head, the gentle storyteller concluded ". . .and so Simpleton married the princess and they lived happily ever after. That is, until she tried to kill him with a frying pan and they had to get a no-fault divorce. The end."

It's enough to send a child into a crying frenzy of righteous indignation.

But if the old storyteller had looked at the fairy tale carefully, she probably would have seen that the comforting conclusion, "And they lived happily ever after," was probably the least likely outcome of the story line. That's the discovery of Anatoly Liberman, a professor of German at the University of Minnesota who teaches courses in folklore.

Far from being a misanthrope who enjoys spoiling children's fantasies, Liberman aims to provide a finer appreciation of fairy tales. His analysis is deliberately loose.

"Fairy tales come to you when you're very small, and you don't analyze them," Liberman said. "I think the greatest thing about real art is that we swallow it without thinking. That is the way it must be. You enjoy the plot of fairy tales and they stay with you as long as you live."

Think for a while about fairy tales — German, Russian, French, Scandinavian or Chinese tales — and the first thing you notice is that they all have basically the same plot. Liberman likens it to the evolution of fish. "Fish are all different, but all more or less streamline in order to survive. The same with tales. In order to survive, the tale has to be remembered by the storyteller. It has to have certain structural peculiarities."

The typical fairy tale contains a quest that ends with the hero marrying the princess and both of them living happily ever after, Liberman said. If there are three sons, the third son will certainly marry the princess.

First surprise is that the heroes of fairy tales are seldom very heroic. The tipoff is that they are usually called something on the order of Ash Lad, Fool, Simpleton or Numbskull.

"In a typical tale the hero will be walking through the forest and meet a fairy who asks if he'd like to be happy," Liberman said. "The hero says yes and the fairy says he happens to know a princess who would be happy to marry the hero. The hero will then have to perform a task. If his task is to make the princess laugh, a magic helper will provide a pipe that produces dancing pigs. The princess has a rudimentary and crude sense of humor and so she laughs."

Nobody kills anybody, outside of a few Scandinavian tales that involve killing trolls, Liberman said. "Even then, magic usually helps. There's no real virtue in killing a troll if a magic bottle makes you 20 times stronger than the troll. Usually the hero is not even clever enough to find the bottle. Someone has to help him."

So does the hero deserve the princess? Absolutely, says Liberman. "He has common decency, something the other characters lack. He may not be bright or clever or ambitious, but he has a certain sweetness and willingness to listen to advice.

"Fairy tales reflect wish fulfillment. Even the lowest person may marry a princess. That is why fairy tales will never die — they provide hope."

But is the fairy tale princess really the sweetest girl in the world, a princess among women? "Nothing could be further from the truth," Liberman said.

"Almost all fairy tales have a type of heroine I call 'the unwilling bride,' " he said. "They commonly resist the attentions of the hero. In Russian and Norwegian stories the princess can be extremely hostile. Often she is the paramour of a troll. She enjoys living with the troll with six heads and does not wish to marry Ash Lad. She'll frequently invent new trials to avoid marrying him."

A German version of the Cinderella tale differs markedly from the Walt Disney classic. Cinderella runs from the ball and tries to escape the prince by hiding in a tree.

"Who lives happily ever after? The least clever third son, Simpleton, and his kicking bride," Liberman said. "This couple is definitely not made for one another, yet we are assured that they will live happily ever after."

Liberman said only a few tales go beyond to the couple's life after marriage. In all cases their married life is one of unmitigated misery. In one Russian tale, the wife begins to deceive her husband immediately after their marriage and plots to kill him.

This is not a genuine folklore tale, Liberman maintains. "By the time the two are married, it's tacitly assumed that they have passed through all hardships and that now they are the ideal couple. They jumped high, they dived deep, they procured the apples of life, they killed the dragon — they did something. On the last page they get their reward by being allowed to live happily ever after."

Liberman admits that he enjoys stressing the evidence for the opposite conclusion in order to be amusing. "But a professional storyteller would be shocked and never admit that the two are unsuited for each other," he said. "There is no humorous approach to wish fulfillment. It's a matter of life and death. Even if the hero is killed, his body will be sprinkled with the water of life and the pieces will be put back together. This is serious stuff.

"I may have a jocular attitude toward the plots, but never toward telling the plots. The moment I'm engrossed in telling the story — however funny it may be — I take the telling quite seriously. It's like acting commedy. You may pretend to take a pratfall on stage, but you pretend seriously."

Younger Friend Help Shy Child Be Confident

by Jeanne Hanson
'U' M News Service

The shy monkey huddled in a corner, rocking back and forth and hugging himself. His first six months of life had been spent isolated from other monkeys. His was an extreme example of shyness, but in just six months, researchers watched him become normally sociable.

Method used to help the monkey shake his shyness has now been adapted and tested with young children at the University of Minnesota. It is based on a simple concept — giving a shy child a younger playmate.

Research on the shy monkeys was done at the University of Wisconsin by researchers S. J. Suomi and H. F. Harlow. They found that, when provided with an adult monkey for company, the shy monkeys did not become less shy. Even monkeys their own age tended to bully the shy monkeys.

It took a "friend" three months younger to get a shy six-month-old monkey to begin walking around, exploring and playing. After a few weeks with a younger playmate, the shy monkeys improved significantly and were nearly as sociable as their peers in six months.

Twenty-four shy children were studied in the U of M project, and none had ever been handicapped by total isolation. They were chosen for the study because, during preliminary observations at seven day-care centers, they talked or played with other children less than a third of the time.

Once the study began, each of the shy children was placed in a separate room to play with one other child for 20 minutes at a time during the school day, said Willard Hartup, professor of child development at Minnesota. Some were given a younger playmate and others were given a playmate of the same age. A third group, the control group, stayed in the regular classroom.

As with the monkeys, it was the younger playmates who made the difference, Hartup said. After only 10 play sessions with younger playmates over five weeks, the "shy" children tripled their play and friendliness with the other children in their regular classrooms. They became virtually as sociable as the other children.

Those whose play sessions were with a child of the same age doubled their sociability, while those in the control group did not change at all. (Scores were given by observers who did not know which children were in which group. The teachers were not even told the purpose of the study.)

Most good nursery schools try to help shy children in some way, Hartup said, although elementary school teachers tend to be too busy to do so. Children seldom have the opportunity in grade school to associate with younger playmates since "we're among the most age-graded societies ever known, especially for children," he said.

Parents can help their own shy children, he said. Invite a younger child over to play, one who is not shy but is also not the most dominant kid on the block.

Gradually progress to older children and more complicated social situations. Sending the child to nursery school, perhaps just part-time, is a good idea, he said. "But avoid the sink-or-swim approach of inviting four or five kids over and shoving yours into the backyard with them," Hartup said.

Shy children need to learn basic social skills, Hartup added, including how to ask for a turn, how to respond to nastiness, and how to enter a play group. Other researchers have advocated showing movies of a child gradually working into a play group, the tutoring of one child by another in school, reinforcing only the childrens' overtures to other children (and not to the teacher), and creating simple, then more elaborate, successful social experiences for the child.

Researchers at Stanford, notably Philip Zimbardo, have suggested costumes and masks for group play, so that shy children can forget some of their self-consciousness. Teaching of social skills should include lessons on how to give compliments as a conversation opener, Zimbardo wrote in his book "Shyness".

He suggests setting manageable goals — saying hello to four new people next week, for example. He also recommends adult-child puppet games where the child's puppet is the adult and the adult's puppet is the child, and the child tells the story. In the schools, Zimbardo recommends some cooperative learning, where children all have to supply part of the solution to the problem.

There are many ways of helping, because there are many reasons for a child's shyness, Hartup said. Some just haven't been taught social skills, because there aren't many kids around or because the parents are overprotective.

Others are shy as a defense, because of fear and anxiety about social contact. This reaction can come if there are many bossy and pushy kids on the block, or if the parents are neglectful or harsh when the child shows independence. In still other children, "shyness may even have genetic roots in temperament," Hartup said. A tendency to be shy has been detected very early in infancy.

Bette Midler as The Rose, a hard-rock superstar, is seen in performance in 20th Century-Fox's "The Rose," opening Wed., June 11 at the Satellite Drive-In theatre.

MRS. MINNESOTA 1980, Mrs. Shirley Waage of Alexandria will be guest speaker at all three meetings of the Thief River Falls Christian Women's clubs set for Tuesday, June 17. Mrs. Waage is a mother and homemaker. She and her husband, Mike, an airplane pilot, are parents of two daughters.

Larsons Visit In Kansas

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson left Tuesday, May 27, for Emporia, Kansas, where they were house guests at the home of their daughter Karlene and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Coykendall, Jeremiah and Andrew, until the following Sunday when they left for Gladstone, Missouri. There they visited Mrs. Larson's cousins, Wilbur and Ruth Highfill and stayed overnight with them. On their way to Okoboji, Ia., the next day to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lufkin until Friday, they stopped to tour the publishing house for the Kitchen Klatter magazine, which Mrs. Larson is a subscriber to. One of the highlights of their trip while at Okoboji was a trip with the Lufkins to West Bend, Ia., to see the Grotto of Redemption, which is all made out of rock and often known as heaven on earth. They stopped at Willmar on Friday to visit briefly with Dale Wright who is presently on the junior college faculty there and also at Eagle Bend where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nohre, former residents of the Holt community. They joined Roger and Ronda Nelson at their cabin in the Detroit Lakes area and were there until Sunday afternoon when they returned home. It was rather dry in Kansas when they were there, but Iowa had had lots of rain.

Alvin Halvorson visited Bert Kron at the United hospital in Grand Forks Tuesday afternoon. Bert has been a patient there since the middle of May following an injury to his right hand at the Peterson-Biddick company plant in Thief River Falls.

Mrs Raymond Rausch was a house guest at the home of her daughter, Mary Kay and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Gordon at Murdock from Monday to Saturday last week. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Gordon entertained a group of relatives and former neighbors of Mrs. Rausch for a get-together.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf attended the Howard Goethe-Ann Hovde wedding and reception at the Sacred Heart Catholic church at Baudette Saturday afternoon, May 31. Rev. Keith Prekker from the Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls also assisted with the ceremony.

Moes Enjoy REA Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Moe were among a group of about forty who enjoyed the trip sponsored by the Rural Electric association June 4-5. They left from Red Lake Falls at 6:30 Wednesday morning and their first stop was for coffee at the Minnkota Power cooperative in Grand Forks. They had dinner at Carrington and then drove to Garrison, N.D., where they had coffee and toured the dam. They enjoyed a supper at Mandan and a program presented by Minnkota Power cooperative and were there overnight. Thursday morning they went to Center, N.D., where they toured the Milton R. Young station and had dinner there. They drove from there to Grand Forks, where supper was all prepared for them at the Highway Host. They returned to Red Lake Falls and home. Everyone reported a most enjoyable trip, but were disappointed to find the same dry condition here after not being able to visit the coal mines near Garrison due to too much rain recently.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf helped his brother, Eugene celebrate his birthday at his home in Rocksbury, Tuesday evening. Saturday afternoon they were coffee guests at the Kenneth Carlson home in Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem, accompanied by Mrs. Helen Carlson of Duluth, attended commencement exercises at the Grand Rapids high school Wednesday evening, June 4 at the IRA arena. Among the graduates was their grandson, Michael Solem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Solem. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nelson, Karl and Kent of Minneapolis and Rev. and Mrs. Kermit Solem, Aaron, Cassy and Arlen from Rothsay. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solem and Mrs. Carlson returned home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf received a telephone call from their son, Donald at Grand Island, Neb., the morning following the damages to their city by seven tornadoes. Donald's and Pam's home had only two broken windows and some hail damage so they considered themselves fortunate. He reported about half of the people in Grand Island were left without homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halvorson were Friday evening luncheon guests at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Orma Gulbranson in Grand Forks.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yonke and David were Sunday afternoon, June 1, visitors and supper guests at the Carl Lindblom home in Kratka. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ron Mills from Lapeer, Mich., who were guests at the Lindblom home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halvorson took a group of Boy Scouts and leaders by bus to Winnipeg Friday evening and returned home Sunday evening.

Sunday evening visitors at the Lloyd Larson home were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter, Kent and Hope of Strandquist.

Sunday David Yonke accompanied his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yonke, Jason, Scott and Steven to Winnipeg where they visited the zoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bitzer of Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Halvorson, Mrs. Helen Carlson of Duluth and Mrs. Alfred Solem were among the many who attended graduation exercises at the Northland community college gymnasium Friday evening. Keith Bitzer of Warroad, son of Bud and Stella Bitzer, graduated from the carpentry department of the area vocational technical institute.

Saturday evening luncheon guests at the Alfred Solem home were Mr. and Mrs. Engvald Dahl of rural Newfolden. Sunday evening Art Mortenson was a coffee guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lubitz attended the Sheldon Peterson-Valerie Larson wedding and reception Saturday afternoon at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls and their wedding dance at Meadowbrook Ballroom near Middle River in the evening.

Cow To Consumer... Milk Moves Quick

Every year the approximately 200,000 commercial dairy farms in the U.S. "grow" a crop so large, valuable and efficiently produced that the dairy industry ranks second among all food industries in value of sales. It is one of the top ten manufacturing industries, and its cull cows contribute substantially to the value of the number one food industry, meat.

The dairy industry's products, milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, cottage cheese, sour cream and yogurt, are nutritionally as well as economically valuable. Dairy foods contribute about 75 per cent of the calcium in the nation's food supply, almost all the vitamin D, 39 per cent of the riboflavin (vitamin B-2) and 22 per cent of the protein while providing only 11 per cent of the calories.

A great deal of work and care goes into making these valuable foods available to the public. Most consumers know that the milk on their tables is pasturized for their protection and homogenized for their convenience, but few are aware of exactly how it is brought from dairy cows in the field to homes and restaurants hundreds of miles away.

Milk is the product of a highly specialized creature: the dairy cow. She can make feed into edible human food more efficiently than any other farm animal. Milk is actually food for her young, but because humans have selectively bred dairy cattle for thousands of years, the cow produces much more milk than a calf needs.

A high-producing cow converts one-third to one-half of her feed calories into milk calories, while consuming forage and agricultural by-products that poultry and swine cannot. Her manure provides fertilizer to grow the hay and feed grains she eats, thus completing the biological circle.

The average commercial dairy herd size is 40-50 cows, although large operations with hundreds of cows are becoming more common, especially in the south and southwest. The dairy farmer must milk his cows twice (sometimes three times) a day, every day, 365 days a year, (366 days this year).

The accumulated milk is stored in a large, sanitized, refrigerated tank at 35 to 39 degrees F. until the refrigerated collection truck comes, usually every other day. Milk has to be picked up on schedule, even during blizzards, because the farmer has nowhere to store extra milk and would have to dump his valuable commodity should the truck fail to arrive. The truck driver collects milk samples for quality testing and measures the amount of milk in the farmer's tank so he (often she) will receive correct payment. Then the milk hauler hooks his truck pipeline to the farmer's bulk tank and pumps the milk into the truck tank.

There are 20,000 farm-to-plant milk haulers in the U.S., most of the independents who won their trucks and are paid by the farmer, through the processor of cooperative, for transporting the milk.

Cooperatives are organizations of dairy farmers who have joined to market their milk more efficiently. Some cooperatives only sell milk to processors who then sell it to the public as fluid milk and-or make it into manufactured products such as cheese. Other cooperatives operate their own dairy plants and sell their fluid milk and dairy products directly to distributors, supermarkets, restaurants and consumers.

Sometimes milk on the farm pickup truck is needed hundreds of miles away, so it is quickly taken to a receiving station where it is transferred to a large transport tank along with milk from several other farm trucks. This tank, pulled by a tractor, immediately moves the milk to a distant processing plant.

When the raw milk arrives at the dairy, it is again examined for temperature and quality; samples are taken for microbiological testing. It is pumped from trucks to a huge, sterile holding tank called a silo where it is kept cold to prevent bacterial growth and is agitated to prevent separation. Raw milk for fluid consumption is processed within 24 hours of the time it is received.

In the first processing step insoluable suspended particles, includying body cells from the cow, are removed by passage through a filter or centrifuge. Next some of the butterfat is removed from the milk in a separator. The old fashioned way of separating butterfat is to let the milk stand until the cream rises to the top. The continuous mechanical separator was invented in 1875, leading to modern machines which can produce milk of a uniform, specific fat content (standardized milk).

Milk directly from the cow generally contains between 3.6 and 4.0 per cent butterfat. Since the standard for whole milk calls for 3.25 per cent butterfat, the processor needs to remove a portion for use in fluid cream and butter making.

Standardization produces the different kinds of milk on the grocer's shelf — whole, lowfat (2, 1.5, 1 or 0.5 per cent butterfat) and skim (less than 0.5 per cent butterfat).

Next the milk is pasteurized — heated to and held at a temperature which kills bacteria causing disease and milk deterioration. One method, based on the process first introduced in 1907, is to heat a large vat of milk to 63 degrees C. (145 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. A second method calls for heating milk, flowing in a continuous stream to 72 degrees C. (161 degrees F.) for 15 seconds. These are the most common pasteurization procedures today. In a third process called ultrapasteurization, the milk product is heated to at least 137.8 degrees C. (280 degrees F.) for at least two seconds; ultrapasteurization is used most often for cream, half and half and whipping cream. When the aseptic packaging is used, ultrapastuerization results in sterile milk that has extended shelf life and does not need refrigeration.

The milk is then homogenized — that is, all the butterfat globules are broken down into tiny particles so the fat stays uniformly distributed throughout the milk instead of rising to the top. The milk is cooled and forced at high speeds through restricted valves where the pressure and turbulence break the globules apart.

Then the milk is rapidly cooled to below 40 degrees F. and piped to the packaging line where automatic dispensers fill sterilized containers with the precise amount, from multi-gallon plastic bags-in-boxes for restaurants to polyethylene jugs and plastic-covered cardboard cartons for grocery stores to half-pint individual servings for school cafeterias. The containers are mechanically sealed, dated for freshness and placed in cases which are sent by fork lift to refrigerated storage. From the cooler, the cases are loaded on a truck, one of the 20,000 that distribute milk and milk products to retail outlets, and are sent to grocery stores and restaurants.

The final steps, those involving the consumer, are quite familiar. And as you drink that next glass, remember that a complex, efficient dairy industry brought the milk from the cow to you in four days or less.

CONGRESSMAN ARLAN STANGELAND (right) is shown with William Murry at a recent reception in support of legislation to restore prayer to public schools. Murry, son of athiest Madeline Murry O'Hare, recently left his mother's organization to become an advocate of religion and the renewal of public school prayer.

Pork demand has surpassed most expectations. Only six per cent more pork was stored last fall, with slaughter running one-third ahead of a year earlier.

Keep wheat fields cleaner with non-volatile DACAMINE®

Dacamine herbicide is bad news for broadleaf weeds. And good news for western wheat growers. Dacamine is the hard-hitting post-emergence herbicide that gets the tough weeds others leave behind. Including troublesome volunteer sunflower, thistle, velvetleaf and lots more. The powerful action of Dacamine penetrates waxy weed leaves and travels all the way down to the roots. Tough perennials are less likely to grow back.

Dacamine is non-volatile... stays put, right where you spray it. There are no vapors to damage nearby crops, even in the hottest weather.

Dacamine is the herbicide farmers use when their normal broadleaf weed control program fails. It's great for general weed control in fencerows, roadsides and around buildings, too. Dacamine herbicide — bad news for broadleaf weeds. Good new for you.

Ask us for Dacamine. We're your local Diamond Shamrock dealer.

Vice Presidential Speculation

Following editorial is from the Morris Sun:

Urging Republicans to unite and end President Carter's "weak, directionless, and incompetent leadership," George Bush withdrew from the Republican presidential race and announced his support for Ronald Reagan. Despite major primary victories in Pennsylvania and Michigan, Bush decided to end his campaign, apparently reacting to cash problems and television reports which claimed that Reagan had cinched the nomination.

Unlike Reagan, Bush was largely unknown in February when the primary season began. Winning 270 delegates and running a strong second to Reagan, an established party favorite, Bush certainly proved that he has a great deal of appeal to voters. The strength of Bush's challenge to Reagan is especially impressive considering that Bush was one of several candidates vying for the votes of moderate Republicans, while Reagan received the unified backing of the party's conservative wing.

Now that Reagan is assured of the nomination, there is intense speculation concerning the choice of a running mate. The three names most frequently mentioned as candidates for vice president are Mr. Bush, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, also a contender in the recent presidential primaries, and Rep. Jack Kemp of New York.

In the past, presidential candidates have usually selected the party's vice presidential nominee. This year, there has been discussion of the possibility that Reagan might allow convention delegates to determine the individual who will complete the ticket. Such a procedure would certainly make for a more interesting convention, and it would also provide for more input from rank-and-file Republicans.

If Reagan opts for the traditional method of selecting a running mate, he would be wise to pick a candidate who will bring balance to the ticket and unity to the party. Both Bush and Baker fare well under these criteria. Bush's experience as U.S. envoy to China, coupled with his record as director of the Central Intelligence Agency, would lend knowledge and ability in foreign affairs to the Reagan ticket. As Senate Minority Leader, Sen. Baker has an understanding of congressional politics which would be helpful to Reagan, who is vulnerable to criticism that he lacks Washington experience.

The Republican vice presidential nomination is particularly important this year because of the presidential candidate's age. If elected, Reagan would begin his term at the age of seventy. He might very well complete his first term and then decide not to run for re-election in 1984. At this point, the vice president would be the logical 1984 presidential nominee. The importance of the vice presidential choice is also emphasized when one considers that three of our last four presidents assumed the nation's highest office after serving as vice president.

Given the right running mate, Reagan could be a formidable candidate. With the incumbent president still struggling to win renomination by the Democrats, a unified Republican party would appear to have an excellent chance of victory.

More Increases

Following editorial is from the McLaughlin Messenger:

The United States Postal Service seems, like the railroads, to be winding itself down out of business. First, the railroads did not want to haul passengers. Then they did not want to make short hauls. Next they did not want to haul cattle. Now they don't want to haul anything. Most of them are finished.

The postal service now wants to eliminate Saturday delivery of mail. They are having their customers do more and more of their work by having them put on zip codes so mail can be sorted by machines.

Postal service officials are preparing to ask for rate increases in the next couple of weeks that experts say will be from 25 to 30 per cent.

The request will call for an increase in the first class rate to between 18 and 20 cents for the first ounce, sources outside the postal department guess. That means it is going to cost 20 cents to send a letter.

The post office has already pretty well done themselves out of the parcel post business. United Parcel service, a private business, is hauling most of the packages.

People are turning more and more to telephones. Telephone people will promote on a mass basis a system whereby you can dictate a message and it will be copied on the other end of the line.

Already we are seeing people delivering their checks and statements around the towns at the end of the month. One of these days they are going to get together on the effort, if postal prices keep going up, or some enterprising citizen is going to make it a business.

Perspective Restored

Following editorial is from the Long Prairie Leader:

Residents of Washington probably won't appreciate this, but the eruption of Mt. Saint Helens makes me feel, in addition to the sadness at the deaths and destruction, a feeling of overwhelming awe. I suppose it's easy to feel this at a distance, but my principal reaction is that it's about time nature showed its stuff.

The power and jurisdiction of the human race has extended to such limits that it is often hard for many of us to remember where the real power is. As I watch the Minnesota sky become hazy from a volcanic eruption half a continent away and read the national media reports of the disaster, I feel much the same way I did when I looked out over the vast mesa from the top of the New Mexico mountains or sat on the beach and watched the sun set over the Pacific.

We are puny compared to nature. We don't really control it like we think we do. Controversies over wildernesses like the Boundary Waters Canoe Area may make us feel that nature is rapidly losing its battle with man, and indeed, in many ways it is. But a no-holds-barred demonstration of nature's power, such as Mt. Saint Helens has provided, reminds us that individually, we can't compete. The proper perspective is restored.

Light'ning Is Dead!

Following was written by editor Stanley J. Modic in "Industry Week":

Farmer Green had a mule. Light'ning represented plowing and planting power. Without him there would be no crop to sell. Sometimes he provided transportation. On Sundays he was the recreation center for the youngsters.

Light'ning worked cheap — the price of oats. But then the price of oats went up. Farmer Green was perplexed. The added cost for oats cramped his style of living. He resented it. He was also getting pressured by his wife and children. They couldn't understand why they had to support the mule at the expense of their bulging closets and steak-ladened dinner table.

Farmer Green came up with a solution: cut Light'ning's oats by five per cent by adding sawdust as a filler. He reasoned the dumb animal wouldn't miss a few oats; more importantly, the mule couldn't complain as his wife and children did.

The plan worked well until things started to tighten up. Inflation pushed the price of oats still higher. The farmer compensated by increasing the sawdust content to 10 per cent. Demands for more of the good life escalated from the family; sawdust content went to 15 per cent. Some relatives fell on hard times and had to be subsidized; more sawdust replaced the oats.

All this time Light'ning grew weaker. He slowed down, but continued to work, so nobody noticed. Until, one day he dropped dead. There were no savings available to buy another mule.

In the United States, over the last ten years, the savings rate as a percentage of personal income has dropped to 4.5 per cent from 7.5 per cent; personal spending as a percentage of GNP has climbed to 65 per cent from 62 per cent while nonresidential fixed investment has remained static at 10 per cent. Productivity growth is flat and yet wages went up 11.3 per cent last year. Each of these statistics — and there are more — represents more sawdust in the oat bin.

Farmer Green wasn't ignorant of the ramifications of what he was doing. He knew he could meet the demands of his "pressure" group if he invested in a second mule or a tractor to boost his output and productivity. But that was the rough row to hoe. It would have been misunderstood by his family. It would have pinched for a while.

There is legislation pending in congress to spur savings, to encourage capital investment, to boost productivity — but our politicians, like Farmer Green, are avoiding hoeing that rough row. Hopefully, it'll happen before "Light'ning" dies.

Starting to flash his stuff — Clint Eastwood as the great Bronco Billy, is off to show the tent crowd what the world's best trick riding and shooting looks like. A film from Warner Bros., "Bronco Billy" is an adventure comedy about today's Wild West show people. The movie has new country music songs. Opens Fri., June 13 at the Galaxy Twin Theatre.

Looking Backward

1900 — 80 YEARS AGO

Ten gallons of gin and a small amount of cash was stolen from the Olson and Holzknecht's saloon. — Enumerator O.P. Johnson is taking the TRF Census. — TRF Lumber Co. will start its season's run at the sawmill operating day and night.

1920 — 60 YEARS AGO

August Schneider, 27, of the Erie community lost his life when the tractor he was operating while plowing tipped over. — Federal guarantee of $2 minimum price on wheat came to an end. — Miss Hannah Gustafson left on a trip to the West Coast. — Henry Stengelson was Lincoln high school valedictorian and Mollie Hermanson and Vivian Gabrielson were co-salutatorians.

1930 — 50 YEARS AGO

W.L. Carlisle took his first solo flight after six hours of instruction from Chris Klerk. — Mr. and Mrs. H.O. Loken of Evanston, Ill. were visitors here. — Mrs. J.M. Bishop gave the Memorial Day address at Northfield.

1940 — 40 YEARS AGO

A class of 110 Lincoln graduates received diplomas and were addressed by Dr. Tracy F. Tyler of the University of Minnesota. — Claire Brickner, Fargo attorney, spoke at Memorial Day exercises in the Elks park. — John Brandt, president of Land O' Lakes Creameries and Morris Bye, head of the local schools, spoke at the 12th annual Marshall county creameries picnic at Old Mill park.

1950 — 30 YEARS AGO

Two local boys, Jerome Bugge and Dennis Olson, were drowning victims while playing on a raft in a pool in an abandoned gravel pit near St. Bernard's cemetery. — Sheriff Arthur Rambeck was elected president of the RRV peace officer's association at its annual meeting in Fargo. — TRF saddle club was organized, with Joe Solney as president. — Stewart Hotel, formerly the Brumund, is being remodeled with an attractive new lobby. — Dr. W.P. Kaisler was elected president of the Lions club and will succeed Wm. Thompson July 1.

1960 — 20 YEARS AGO

A delegation consisting of Robert Wurst, L.B. Hartz, Stuart McLeod, Rep. Ben Wichterman and W.E. Dahlquist represented the city of Thief River Falls at a hearing before the Civil Aeronautics board in Minneapolis urging continued North Central Airline service for the area even though the city had not quite met the company's "use it or lose it" quota. — Concrete footings are being poured for the new elevated water tank at the south end of Merriam avenue. — State Rep. Ben Wichterman of Plummer will officially commission a new $35,000 aviation radio station at the municipal airport in TRF. — Recently elected officers of the Thief River Falls ladies golf club are Mrs. George Van Rooy, president; Mrs. James Solsten and Mrs. John Moum, vice-presidents; Mrs. Clair O'Hara, secretary; and Mrs. Harold Rasmussen, treasurer. — Lawrence Bjorkman was reelected to the board of trustees of Northwestern Hospital, while Hugh Carlson and Dr. O.D. Beich were elected to the board to replace L.B. Hartz and John Anderson who were retiring.

1970 — 10 YEARS AGO

Greg Zak, 17, of Angus claimed most of the major awards at the 21st annual Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls as his 4-year-old registered Holstein won the Holstein purebred championship, Holstein breed championship, purebred grand championship of the entire show and overall show championship. — Gayle Krogstad of Ada was crowned princess for 1970 at the Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls. — Preliminary census figures show Thief River Falls has gained 1,497 residents during the last 10 years, increasing its population from 7,151 in 1960 to 8,648 in 1970. — Michael Aune, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnt Aune of this city, will be ordained at Trinity Lutheran church Sunday.

560,000 Flags Have Flown Over Capitol

In 1937 a Congressman watching the replacement of the flag that was flying over the Capitol asked if he could have that flag. That request gave birth to a tradition now 43 years old. In that time over 560,000 flags have been flown over the Capitol at the request of members of Congress.

According to Senator Dave Durenberger, Minnesotans are especially fond of this practice with his office supplying over 360 flags that have flown over the Capitol since he first took office in 1978.

"The American flag is the symbol of freedom for millions and is the epitome of American pride and honor. I am honored to provide so many Minnesotans with this emblem of American tradition," said the Minnesota Senator.

Continental Congress on June 14, 1777 passed a resolution establishing the Stars and Stripes as the official flag. In April of 1818 the present design of 13 stripes and one star for each state was adopted. Ever since we have proclaimed June 14 as the birthday of the American flag.

The official record for one day occurred on July 4, 1976. On that day in the Bicentennial year 10,471 flags were flown over the Captiol. It took three shifts to hoist the flags that day.

Durenberger's office has had flags flown for constituents in honor of birthdays, graduations, anniversaries, marriages and other important occasions. Any Minnesotan can obtain a flag from Senator Durenberger's office by sending a written request to Senator Durenberger, 353 Russell, Washington, D.C. 20515 — Att: Flag Request. Prices for the flags are as follows: 3x5 cotton, $5.55, 3x5 nylon, $6.65; 5x8 cotton, $11.85; 5x8 nylon, $13. Checks must be made out to the Keeper of Stationery and allow three to six weeks for delivery.

Sen. Dave Durenberger

Two-Way Communications

John: "If you don't agree write your Senator, tell him how you feel!"

Steve: "That never does any good. They don't read the letters they get."

Oh, but they do. Just one day last week I received over 3,000 letters and on an average they run between 500 to 700. These letters are from Minnesotans who write to tell me their opinions on issues, or to seek my help in dealing with the maze of federal agencies and some write simply to say hello.

One of the most important ingredients in our political process is staying in touch with your elected officials in Washington. The constant dialogue between constituents and their representatives shapes many of the issues in Washington and fine tunes others. This communication is an integral part of the outcome of national legislation. The impact of a concise, thoughtful letter is considerable. And that letter need not always address an issue you are against. Write also to tell me when you support something that I am doing or something you know is a good idea.

In going through all the correspondence I receive, these are some of the points that I look for so I can effectively deal with that letter.

1. Is the letter timely? I often receive letters which might have proved helpful to me in making a decision if only I had received them before I voted. Your letter would be most effective if it is written when the Senate or the House are beginning to act on an issue of concern to you.

2. Is the letter well thought out and informative? Much of the mail that I receive are preprinted cards distributed by various organizations trying to prove a certain point, and I do listen. However, I am more interested in letters from individual Minnesotans who have obviously taken time to gather information, offer a pro or con argument, and some reasons for their belief. It also helps if the writer tries to see the problem in view of the national interest.

3. Is the letter realistic and balanced? By this I mean does the letter reasonably reflect the present situation or does it distort the problem. While exaggeration helps in storytelling it does no good in attempting to find an equitable solution to a problem. Also does it offer a workable option? While feeding the world's hungry is a desirable goal, there is no overnight solution.

4. If the letter relays a problem with the federal government, does it fully and clearly explain the case? As you know, it takes time dealing with the federal beauracracy. Although I can cut through that red tape, the process flows much smoother if I have all the pertinent information and I know what corrective measures you seek. The letter should include a chronology of events, actions you have taken, persons you have contacted, and the outcome of those contacts.

Constituent letters often prompt me to act to alleviate specific problems in Minnesota that can be of help to other states as well. The legislation I introduced to ease the costly burden on homeowners of Dutch Elm disease got its start when a Minnesota property owner contacted my office. My bill would allow a tax write-off for the removal of the diseased tree. And other problems such as the financial crisis of passing the family farm on to your children. I introduced legislation to eliminate estate tax on estates valued at $600,000 or less. Constituent communications helped define these problems so action could be taken.

I am convinced that you cannot just wait for public opinion to come to you — you must solicit it. Be assured that I value what you have to say, so don't put off writing that letter. Rail at me or agree with me but let me hear from you, even if it's just to say hello.

Notice of Cutting Grass & Weeds in Thief River Falls

It shall be unlawful for any owner, lessee or occupant, or any agent, servant, representative or employee of such owner, lessee or occupant having control of any occupied or unoccupied lot or land or any part thereof in the City of Thief River Falls to permit or maintain on any such lot or land, or on or along the sidewalk, street or alley adjacent to the same between the property line and the curb or middle of the alley or for ten feet outside the property line if there be no curb, any growth of weeds, grass or other rank vegetation to a greater height than eight inches on the average, or any accumulation of dead weeds, grass or brush. It shall also be unlawful for any such person or persons to cause, suffer or allow poison ivy, ragweed or other poisonous plants, or plants detrimental to health to grow on any such lot or land in such manner that any part of such ivy, ragweed, or other poisonous particles or emanations therefrom to be carried throughout the air into any public place.

It shall be the duty of any owner, lessee or occupant of any lot or land to cut and remove or cause to be cut and removed all such weeds, grass or other rank, poisonous or harmful vegetation as often as may be necessary to comply with the provisions of Sections 101; provided that cutting and removing such weeds, grass and vegetation at least once in every three weeks, between May 15 and September 15 shall be deemed to be a compliance with this ordinance.

Congressman Arlan Stangeland

No Withholding on Interest and Dividends

On March 14, President Carter recommended to Congress the withholding of taxes on interest and dividend income. If this proposal becomes law, it would require that 15 per cent of the interest and dividends due to savers, stockholders, bond owners and others who receive interest on dividend income to be withheld at the source and remitted to the government.

I strongly oppose this recommendation because:

Such a law is not needed since the IRS already has the 1099 system to check on interest and dividend income.

Such a law would discourage people from saving money.

Such a law would rob the small saver of more interest.

Such a law would encourage overwithholding, which amounts to an interest free loan to the government.

Such a law would be especially hard on the elderly and others with fixed incomes who depend on savings account interest for living expenses.

Such a law would increase costs by burdening thrift institutions with the expense of administering withholding and would probably cost more to collect than it would gain in taxes.

Such a law would complicate the income tax collection process and burden the taxpayer with more paperwork.

There is very little chance of abuse on income taxes paid by savers because IRS Form 1099, Information Returns, are prepared now by savings institutions and forwarded to the IRS, with a copy sent to the individual for inclusion in tax reports.

It is estimated that 65 per cent of savings and loan savers would not be subject to withholding but would have to file annual government forms to obtain an exemption.

Senior citizens and others living on fixed incomes would really be impacted. During their working years, many seniors invested a portion of their income with the intention of receiving interest and dividends to supplement Social Security or other retirement income. It is not their intent to avoid taxation. All they want to do is earn enough to be able to buy food and clothing and pay other bills which are increasing rapidly. Many will not be required to pay taxes at all because their income level will be too low but, if the President's plan is approved, taxes will be taken out earlier and it will not be possible for them to receive all the income due until after filing their tax return. In some cases, the few dollars withheld could make a big difference in their standard of living.

The withholding of taxes on interest would reduce total return on savings because of the loss of compounding interest, the reduced incentive to save and it would penalize savers for being thrifty. I want to see Federal spending cut, taxes reduced and investments, which are now at the lowest level ever, encouraged. Mr. Carter is worried about the government being robbed, but I am more concerned about the welfare of the American people, not the Federal treasury. The taxpayers are really the ones who are being robbed.

I would like to see income earned from savings exempt from taxation to encourage greater savings and help stimulate the economy. Under the Windfall Profits Tax, which I supported, an exemption of $200 per individual, or $400 jointly, will be allowed for any combination of interest on savings and-or dividends beginning in 1981. I am also co-sponsoring a bill to allow for the exemption of up to $500 in interest on savings from gross income for each individual who is 65 or older.

A Real Estate Crash?

By Dexter D. MacBride, ASA
Executive Vice President
American Society of Appraisers

"Will there be a real estate crash soon? What should I do about it?", concerned readers ask.

Apparently impressed by my previous advice (get documented appraisals to support the insurance on your home, your residential contents, your collectibles), many citizens are reacting to this new fear. It is a fear of a nation-wide real estate devaluation which could crush the homeowners' market place.

The fear has been triggered by the spectacular collapse of the silver market; by the setbacks in stocks, bonds, commodities futures markets; by the daily reports of inflation/recession doomsday prophecies.

Will there be a "crash" in the values of the nation's residential properties, similar to that experienced by the silver market? I think not. Why? The markets, and the properties, are vastly different. Homes provide an intrinsic use — shelter. Silver ingots do not. Housing represents "the largest single component of the country's national wealth", as reported by the U.S. Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. Millions of buyers/sellers, dealing in thousands of small market places, cannot be manipulated like a silver market with a relatively small number of investors. "Skimming" profits and "dumping" losses characterizes the silver market — not real estate. The housing market is broad-based, minutely segmented, long-range; it is not easily susceptible to more than relatively minor "corrections" and "leveling off" periods.

Who is, and will be, hurt by the present skyrocketing mortgage/interest rates, by fewer rehabilitation loans? Primarily, two groups. One, the "industry" segment composed of speculators, small builders/investors, real estate brokers-salesmen. Two, those who do not presently own a home: renters, home-seekers.

A home owner — whether you're "free and clear" or have only a small equity — should not fear a "crash" in residential values. Rather, protect what you have. Be sure your home is fully insured (fire, similar destruction); get a professional, documented appraisal that supports the current value. Be sure the contents of your home: furniture, rugs, clothing, collectibles, appliances — all the components of your lifestyle — are insured at today's values; get a documented, professional personal property appraisal. The cost will be the most "crash-resistant" investment you can make, because documented appraisals are an indispensable part of adequate insurance to protect you.

Farmers Must Certify Acres By July 15th

Alton Nybladh, chairman of Marshall county ASCS committee, requests that county farmers certify their crop acres by July 15. There are no set-aside requirements for the 1980 program so all farms are eligible for program benefits by simply certifying their planted acreage accurately.

Program benefits are eligible for deficiency payments, commodity loans, purchase agreements, low yield disaster payments and prevented planting payments.

The 1980 program offered farmers a choice of selecting a high level or a low level option for deficiency and disaster payments. Those farms that planted within the farm's normal crop acreage (NCA) and certify their crop acres are eligible for high level option. High level option target prices and disaster payments are as follows:

High Option: Target Prices — wheat, $3.63; barley, $2.55; and corn, $2.35; disaster payments — wheat, $1.82; barley, $1.28 and corn, $1.18.

Farmers who seeded over the farm's NCA and certify their acres are eligible for low level target prices and disaster payments. Low level option target prices and disaster payments are as follows:

Low option: Target Prices — wheat, $3.08; barley, $2.29 and corn $2.05; disaster payments — wheat, $1.54; barley, $1.15 and corn, $1.03.

Nybladh stated that the prolonged drought has severely damaged many crops and anticipates numerous disaster claims in the county. Crops covered under ASCS disaster payments are wheat, barley and corn. Producers who wish to apply for disaster payments should first certify their acres at the county office and file a low yield disaster claim. There are then two options open to the producer. He may request permission to destroy the field after June 10 or carry the field through harvest.

In the event the farmer decides to destroy the field, he will have to leave representative strips of the affected crop remaining in the field. The strips left should be uniformly spaced throughout the field, approximately 10 feet wide, and not be along the edge of the field. Approximately three strips per 80 acres of crop should be left, Nybladh stated. At this point, the farmer may replant the field to another crop or summer fallow the field.

An appraisal of the affected crop will be made from the strips to determine the per acre yield for that field.

The other option open would be to leave the field and harvest the production. Once harvested, a yield would be determined by bin measurements, or scale tickets in the event the grain is marketed. It is very important that harvested grain be kept separate from any other grain on the farm or grain from another farm so accurate yield appraisals can be made.

To be eligible for disaster payments, the yield on the affected crop would have to fall below 60 per cent of the established farm yield. A farm with a 40 bushel wheat yield that averaged less than 24 bushels per acre would be eligible for disaster payments. Payments would be made on the bushels below the 24 bushel disaster yield. The payment would be $1.82 per bushel or $1.54 per bushel, depending on if the farmer elected the high or low option.

Nybladh concluded by requesting that farmers certify their acreage early and to be certain they file a disaster claim prior to destroying any program crops.

INFLATION-FIGHTING IDEAS

Getting a handle on the right tools now can save you home repair dollars later.

If you ply with plyers, hammer with a hammer or do several other tasks that need doing around the house, you can probably save money by completing these jobs now.

Since the cost of durable items like lifetime-quality household tools tends to move up with the rate of inflation, it might be a good idea to stock up early. If you wait to buy scissors, a saw, a power drill or other handy tool, you may find higher price tags.

You can economize, too, by assessing your needs accurately and finding out just where to get just the tools you need. If, for example, you have quarter- and half-inch nuts to tighten but no wrench to fit, you will have two options—buy the two wrenches or buy an adjustable wrench, a good thing to have around the house.

Your hardware store has Crescent adjustables, for example, that can handle all sizes—even metrics—so you can count on them far into the future. The same can be said of tools such as Crescent screwdrivers, Lufkin measuring tapes and rules, and Nicholson files, all from Cooper the Toolmaker.

Now that upwardly spiraling prices seem to be inspiring many burglaries, you may also want to add additional security to your home. A fine hardware center can help with door locks and chains, padlocks, sliding bolts, one-way vision viewers and such advanced devices as automatic, timed, on-off lighting controls.

With the tools you've acquired, installation should be easy to do yourself, and here, again, you can save on the increasing labor costs of the future.

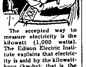
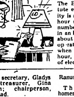
ODDLY ENOUGH! by Miller



A generally accepted yarn about the yard is that it was established as a unit of measure by King Henry I of England—it was the distance from the point of his nose to the end of his thumb when his arm was outstretched.



The accepted way to measure electricity is the kilowatt (1,000 watts). The Edison Electric Institute explains that electricity is sold by the kilowatt-hour (kw-hr); that is, the number of kilowatts used in an hour. One kilowatt is about what is needed to operate a steam iron, so when you iron for an hour, you use one kw-hr of electricity.

Views On® Dental Health

By Donald R. Goodrich, D.D.S.

BADMOUTH OR SWEETMOUTH?

I know it's not a pleasant subject, but halitosis is a fact of human life. It is not a disease, but a sign that something is happening in your mouth. It might be as simple as the natural action of saliva on bits of food or as serious as tooth decay, gum disease or even the symptom of a more serious disease.

Bits of food left in the mouth, is by far, the most common cause. Food debris gets caught in any number of places in the mouth, mixes with bacteria and the product is "bad breath". Onions, garlic, alcohol and tobacco, by their nature, can also cause foul breath. Cavities (which are food traps for bacteria), tartar buildup, and poorly-fitting dentures are also common causes of halitosis.

What can you do about halitosis? It's a simple, two-pronged approach: dental appointments on a regular basis and regular home care for your teeth. The dentist will fill the cavities, remove the tartar, and make sure the bridges and dentures fit. A proper brushing and flossing regimen is the key to your personal dental hygiene. Between brushings, rinse your mouth to dislodge food particles. Be a sweetmouth!

WE HAVE IT!

AVENGE

Only AVENGE wild oat herbicide gives you these advantages:

- Save time. You have more time to apply, more time to get effective control. Flexibility allows you to work around bad weather.
- Save trips. AVENGE is the only wild oat herbicide you can tank mix with 2, 4-D amine or ester, bromoxynil, MCPA amine, or a combination of MCPA and bromoxynil to control broadleaf weeds at the same time you stop wild oats.
- Save money. One-trip weed control saves costly extra trips across your fields. AVENGE tank mixes can be applied by air or ground equipment.

In Our Time
RECYCLED
IT'S A FACT. THAT SINCE 1974, MORE RETREADED MUD-AND-SNOW TIRES ARE SOLD EACH WINTER THAN NEW SNOW TIRES. YET, QUALITY RETREADS COST ABOUT HALF THE PRICE, AND PERFORM THE SAME AS EQUIVALENT NEW TIRES.
CHANGE TO SNOW RETREADS WELL BEFORE THE BAD WEATHER STARTS. THEN, REMEMBER TO CHECK TIRE PRESSURE MORE OFTEN THAN IN SUMMER... AT LEAST ONCE A MONTH. TIRES LOSE A POUND OF AIR PRESSURE EVERY TIME TEMPERATURE DROPS TEN DEGREES AND UNDER-INFLATION CAN CAUSE TIRE FAILURE.
DID YOU KNOW THAT 1 OUT OF 5 REPLACEMENT TIRES IS A RETREAD?

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE REPORT Part 3

THIEF RIVER FALLS AVTI

The Thief River Falls Area Vocational Technical School was one of the first area vocational technical schools established in Minnesota and has done an excellent job in providing our young people with the skills to enter the job market. But its facilities were crowded and scattered at various sites in Thief River Falls. Because of this limited space, additional programs could not be offered to students. Working with the Thief River Falls School Board, Representative Corbid and I received legislative approval of funding for new and consolidated facilities. The AVTI will now be able to add new programs as well as enroll more students in existing programs. We were all pleased to have taken part in the dedication of this new construction last October.

HOMEOWNERS

District 1 homeowners will benefit from the increase in the homestead credit paid on real estate taxes to 50 percent of those taxes up to $550 for taxes paid in 1980 and then to 58 percent up to $650 for 1981. Taxes payable on most homes went down this past year because of these changes.

Use of the limited market value which has created inequities in assessments between similar homes will be phased out over two years. And we reduced the ratios for determining assessed values on which real estate taxes are actually computed to counter a shift occurring of real estate taxes being paid more and more by homeowners. The homestead base value, which is used to receive a lower tax for homes, will be adjusted to counter increases in the prices of homes.

The amount of property tax refunds available were also increased. This is the refund you receive upon filing that "goldenrod" colored form that comes in the Minnesota income tax packet. The maximum available now is $650. For renters, the percentage of rent to be used in computing their refund was increased to 23 percent.

WARROAD AND NORTHWEST ANGLE SCHOOL

Warroad maintains a school at the Northwest Angle. Since the number of pupils was quite small, costs were high, and when enrollment declined it was closed. Recently, a number of new families moved into the area who wanted the school reopened. Many parents there actually might have had to maintain a residence in Warroad as well as out on the Angle because of the long and difficult transportation from the Angle into Warroad. Warroad asked if they might receive additional financial help. I obtained an amendment to the 1979 school aids bill which would give the Warroad school district an amount equal to two times the state formula per pupil unit amount for each student attending that school. The Warroad school district opened the school and is receiving help with extra state aid.

LAKE BRONSON GALILEE BIBLE CAMP BOUNDARIES

Since the 1940's, everyone has presumed that the south line of the Galilee Bible Camp at Lake Bronson ran along an old fence line. The east line was thought to be about 100 feet off the shoreline of Lake Bronson. The Department of Natural Resources found that both these lines were not the legal boundary lines. A survey showed part of the camp's mess hall, bunkhouse, and dry well were over the legal boundary lines on park property. Because the camp activities complement very well those of the park, the Legislature passed my bill that re-established the old "presumed" boundary lines as the actual legal boundaries. I am pleased to have this question resolved.

Paid by the Hanson State Senate Volunteer Committee, Fran Stromberg, Chairwoman, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; Don Murray, Treasurer, Donaldson, MN 56720.

WARM HERB LOAF OFFERS GOOD TASTE AND NUTRITION

A hearty bread warm from the oven makes any meal special. You can prepare this loaf in minutes, then enjoy the fragrant aroma as it bakes while you cook the rest of your meal. Since the bread uses refrigerated biscuits and herbs from your kitchen shelf, it can be a spur of the moment addition to the menu.

As a plus, the flaky biscuits are made with enriched flour, which provides nutrients important in your daily diet.

HERB BISCUIT LOAF

1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
1/2 teaspoon instant minced onion
1/2 teaspoon sweet basil leaves
1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
2 (10-oz.) cans Hungry Jack refrigerated big flaky biscuits

Heat oven to 350°F. In small bowl, combine all ingredients except biscuits. Separate dough into 20 biscuits. Spread both sides of each biscuit with margarine mixture; fold each in half. Place biscuits, fold-side-down, in ungreased 9x5 or 8x4-inch loaf pan forming 4 rows of 5 biscuits each. Spread any remaining margarine mixture over biscuits.

Bake at 350°F. for 32 to 38 minutes or until deep golden brown. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pan. Serve warm. 1 loaf. 10 servings.

TIP: To reheat, wrap in foil; heat at 375°F. for 10 minutes or until warm.

Good News Department

OLD OIL FIELD GIVES NEW HOPE

An oil field nobody wanted is today one of the most active an oil company has, thanks to an extensive drilling program spurred by higher oil and gas prices.

The field's oil production has increased by about 1,350 barrels daily to 2,200 barrels daily, and natural gas production has grown about 10 million cubic feet daily to a level of 60 million. The success of this field, Sand Hills, is more a story of new economics than new technology, according to Russ White, Exxon supervisory engineer. Prices of $3 a barrel for oil and 15 cents a thousand cubic feet for gas prevailed at the time the oil company wanted to sell the declining field, but after the Arab oil embargo in 1973-74, the Federal government let the price of new Sand Hills oil rise to $11 a barrel and upped the lid on gas to $1 a thousand cubic feet. Prices have risen since, and that's what keeps the drilling rig on the move. Since oil and gas prices started rising, the number of wells has doubled.

"The rig drills a new well every nine days," White says. "Under the old prices, we couldn't afford to drill this field."

A new oil well is drilled every nine days in a field that, until oil prices rose, could not be developed economically.

Each well taps anywhere from 25,000 to 30,000 barrels of oil in its lifetime, adding to Sand Hills' reserves thus far some 72 billion cubic feet of natural gas and over three million barrels of oil.

Exxon may drill as many as 64 new wells over the next 18 months. This could add up to another three million barrels of oil and 17 billion cubic feet of natural gas to recoverable reserves.

Apart, from drilling expenses, it costs a lot to produce Sand Hills oil and gas. A new 100-barrel-a-day well will decline in production 50 percent 30 days after it is drilled.

Wells must be stimulated to bring them to life, and a lot of work must be done to keep them producing once the drilling is completed. About 200,000 pounds of sand was used to "frac" one well recently.

"Frac" is oil field jargon for fracturing or breaking the oil-bearing rocks under extreme pressure about 3,000 pounds per square inch at Sand Hills. Then sand or other material is pumped into the rock formation to prop open the breaks and allow the oil and gas to flow more easily to the well.

The economics reach beyond the oil field. The revival of Sand Hills means jobs for pipe-laying crews, drilling crews, oil well service people, and others. It also means less dependence on imported oil and a reduced outflow of dollars to foreign countries.

TRONDHEIM, NORWAY NIDAROS (Norwegian league of youth) folk artists and folk dancers will perform in concert June 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Oklee high school auditorium. The group consists of 37 performers between the ages of 11 and 17. They will have 11 concerts and attend several centennial celebrations where they will dance in parade and perform in the streets while on tour in a three state area including Minnesota, and North and South Dakota, as a cultural exchange between Norway and the United States.

Warm Weather Is Accident Stimulus

Warm weather brings on more than tulips and spring cleaning. As the tulips rise in the springtime, so does the incidence of outdoor injuries in children.

Parents should caution their children about safety measures in bicycling, roller skating, skate boarding and other outdoor activities, according to Russell LaBeau, M.D., emergency services director at a St. Paul hospital.

But supervision and safety measures sometimes fail to prevent injuries and accidents, so hospital staff members offer the following instructions for the care of some common injuries in children.

"If it's a minor scrape, wash the wound with a milk soap and water," Dr. LaBeau says. Thoroughly rinse off the soap. "It's not necessary to use iodine." Sometimes iodine will make the wound worse.

"The secret is good initial cleansing with plenty of water," he says. "Most cuts and abrasions don't have to be bandaged and will heal if kept clean." If the wound gets dirty, an antibiotic cream may be applied lightly once or twice a day.

Despite the best care, wounds can still become infected. Watch for pain, fever, redness, pus and red streaks spreading out from the wound. If any of these signs occur, call a physician or a hospital emergency room for instructions.

During the first 24 to 48 hours, the wound should form a crust and new skin will begin to form underneath the scab. "In a number of days the crust will fall off and the new skin will be red for awhile which is normal," Dr. LaBeau says.

Sometimes wounds need to be medically evaluated," Dr. LaBeau says. Children need medical attention if there's a loss of tissue, the wound gapes open or if other tissue protrudes through the wound.

"A puncture wound needs medical evaluation there's a doubt about what caused the wound, or if anything is left inside the wound," he cautions.

If there is any blood oozing from and wound, simply apply pressure directly on the wound and the body's natural clotting process should begin to stop the bleeding. But if blood is spurting from the wound, the child should be seen by a medical professional.

"Head injury is one of the most frequent types of trauma to children," Dr. LaBeau says. "Small kids have more head injuries than other age groups because of the nature of their activities."

For very minor head injuries a child should have limited activity for 24 hours after the injury. If there is swelling, apply an icebag to the area of injury. "Give the child a light diet such as soups and liquids, and aspirin for headache or discomfort," Dr. LaBeau says.

If any if the following symptoms occur, the child should be medically evaluated: Impaired vision (double or blurred); a change in the level of consciousness (drowsiness, sleepiness) of difficulty in arousing the child); irregular breathing; unequal pupil size; weakness in arms or legs or unsteady walk; unusual behavior; headache that persists longer than 24 hours, or becomes more intense 12 hours after the injury; or vomiting.

"The problem with head injuries is that everything might seem to be okay initially," Dr. LaBeau says. "If the child has intracranial (inside the head) bleeding, the symptoms may not show up for hours or even a few days."

If you bring your child to the hospital or a physician, x-rays may or may not be taken, depending on the head injury. "Skull x-rays are not always necessary," Dr. LaBeau says. "The x-rays let us know if there's a skull fracture. But concussions, for instance, don't show up on x-rays."

Many minor injuries can be cared for at home. If there's a doubt concerning the seriousness of any injury, call a physician of hospital emergency room for evaluation and instructions.

FLAG DAY CEREMONIES held at Elks park in Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon were quite well attended. Mayor Bob Carlson is shown delivering the address at ceremonies sponsored by the Elks lodge. Color guards from military veteran organizations and Boy scouts and Girl scouts took part in the event.

ADVANCE PLANNING is necessary to assure that Jane Olson will have everything she needs at the Miss Minnesota competition in Austin this week. The reigning Miss Thief River Falls is shown with Mrs. John (Nancy) Tofte, her chaperone for the past year, as they review pageant material. Jane left early Sunday morning for Austin and will be involved in pageant activities throughout the week. Mr. and Mrs. Tofte and their children will be among a number of people from this area attending the pageant final Saturday evening.

Jane Olson Starts Pageant Activity

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Bolstered by nearly a year of experience as Miss Thief River Falls, Jane Olson is participating this week at the Miss Minnesota scholarship pageant being held in Austin. She will be among 24 contestants for the state title and an opportunity to participate in the Miss America pageant this fall.

Jane left Sunday morning from the Thief River Falls regional airport to fly to Rochester to be picked up there for a ride to Austin, since Austin has no commercial airline service. Contestants checked in at the Oak Park mall in Austin from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, then met city and pageant officials and the host families with whom they will stay during the week of activities.

"That is going to be great," Jane said prior to leaving for the event. "The host families not only provide you with a place to stay and a local contact in the area, they are responsible for your transportation so you don't have to worry about any of that." Nineteen-year-old Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Olson of rural Thief River Falls.

Activities during the week will include an orientation this morning, participation in an hour-long television program Tuesday and another half-hour highlight program on Thursday. Candidates will appear at a number of dinners and luncheons and participate in a "Pageant Preview" at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday with the public invited to participate.

Preliminary rounds of competition to select a successor to reigning Miss Minnesota Debby Nerby will take place Thursday and Friday nights. Ten finalists will be selected for the Saturday evening pageant which is the main public event of the week.

"I know it's going to be a busy week," Jane said. "Not only will there be all the appearances, but we have to practice production numbers,

Lowell Swenson

Swenson Heads UND Foundation

Lowell Swenson of Thief River Falls has been elected president of the University of North Dakota foundation. Swenson, currently vice chairman of Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls, has been a member of the board of directors of the UND alumni association since 1973.

Lowell and his wife, Marge, are benefactors of UND, having donated shares of Arctic stock valued at approximately $80,000. Swenson received a Sioux award, the alumni association's highest honor, in 1972.

Swenson was born in Lancaster and attended high school there. He attended UND in 1942 and 1943 before entering the U.S. air force, where he was a major, serving as a pilot. He later received a bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota.

He became a certified public accountant while working with Arthur Andersen and company of Minneapolis. He later worked for Ray Walter Heating in Minneapolis, and then became a partner with Homer Matheson as a public accountant in Grand Forks. He became general manager of the Dow-Key company of Thief River Falls in 1959. In 1965 he became president of Arctic Enterprises Inc., and served as chairman of the board.

Bicycle Safety Program To Be Held Thursday

In a combined effort by the Thief River Falls Jaycees and the local law enforcement center, a bicycle safety program will be held Thursday, June 26, from 7 to 9 pm. in the law enforcement center meeting room.

Included in the program will be an instruction and driving course. Free prizes will be awarded and the presentation is open to all ages. Refreshments will be served.

All Pennington county bicyclists are encouraged to attend. Further information is available from Bob Wold (681-1623), Jim Haugen (681-4218) or Derald Franson (681-3607).

Hail Damages Crops, Property Friday Night

Heavy Hail driven by strong winds caused severe damage to crops, buildings and automobiles in a belt approximately two miles wide and extending southeast from Marshall county through western Pennington and Red Lake counties Friday evening.

The storm struck in the Black River area west of St. Hilaire about 10 p.m. and hail fell for an estimated 10 to 15 minutes, according to residents of the area. Hailstones two and one-half inches in diameter were collected by the Bob Sorvig family following the storm.

Sorvig said the family stood in the garage and watched the hail fall and that the noise from the large hailstones pounding on the roof, trees, ground and concrete driveway was "something else". Leaves and branches were stripped from trees, windows broken and pieces pounded out of shingles.

At noon on Saturday, 14 hours after the hail fell, a drift of the ice pellets 18 inches wide and two inches deep still remained for the length of the large machine shed in the Sorvig yard.

At the Black River Lutheran church, only five of the 36 panels of stained glass windows remained unbroken on the west side of the church. Basement windows on that side were all shattered and up to eight inches of hail remained in the basement window wells late Saturday morning.

Small grain crops and sunflowers were battered badly. In many places it was impossible to distinguish where the sunflower rows had been. Damage was reported to be heavy in the Red Lake Falls area.

FOURTEEN HOURS after hail fell in the area southwest of St. Hilaire, hailstones of near golfball size could be found. The above Times photo was taken about noon Saturday on the Bob Sorvig farm where hail up to a two-inch depth remained in an 18-inch wide drift for the length of a large machine shed. The hail storm about 10 p.m. Friday stripped trees, broke windows, damaged roofs and automobiles and ruined crops in a trip moving from the northwest to the southeast from Marshall through Pennington and Red Lake counties, including the Red Lake Falls area.

OCD Awarded $26,982 Grant For Marketing

Minnesota division of vocational rehabilitation has announced the award of a $26,982 grant to the occupational development center-North Country Industries of Thief River Falls.

Edwin O. Opheim, assistant commissioner for the division said, "Handicapped people in the northwestern areas of Minnesota are well served by the programs offered by the occupational development center. We at DVR are pleased to make this award because we are convinced their proposal to hire a marketing specialist will result in the development of new products, new markets and new opportunities for the employee-clients of these programs."

Executive director Chris Twomey expects earnings of the more than 130 vocationally handicapped employee-clients to increase significantly when the marketing program is underway. He states, "It is our expectation to have $300,000 to $400,000 in sales within the first year."

The occupational development center and North Country Industries serve vocationally handicapped adults from 13 counties.

Don Anderson Returns To TRF To Study In Medicine

DON ANDERSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Molskness of Thief River Falls, is presently working at the Thief River clinic during June for the second month of his three-month clinical preceptorship. His duties at the clinic involve many routine medical observations under the supervision of Drs. Jerome Bray, Duane Davidson and Leo Herber. Last month's preceptorship was spent in Boston, while Anderson's third month will take him to Loma Linda, Cal.

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

Don Anderson, a fourth year medical student, has returned to his hometown of Thief River Falls, for one month's practice at the Thief River clinic.

Anderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Molskness of Thief River Falls, began work at the clinic June 1 and will be leaving at the end of the month to return to Loma Linda (meaning "beautiful hill" in Spanish), a city in southern California, to complete his three-month clinical preceptorship.

The preceptorship is required of each medical student once he or she has completed the necessary classes, has obtained the required amount of credits, and has received a letter of recommendation from a doctor at the medical school attended as well as approval from the medical school, certifying that the student can practice medical duties at a site of his choice.

"You can choose where you want to go for those three months," Anderson said, "but you can't stay less than one month at any one place."

Boston, Mass., was Anderson's first choice. He studied radiology and emergency room procedures there (the latter of these is similar to his work at the Thief River clinic, he said).

"Boston was celebrating its 350th anniversary when I was there," Anderson said. "I saw a lot of historical sites when I was there, besides working at the hospital."

There are three medical schools in Boston, along with 73 colleges, with Boston being the college capital of the world, he added.

"I was impressed with the thousands of beds in the New England Memorial hospital where I worked," Anderson said. And, although he enjoyed his stay there, he would like to continue his medical profession in a small town — once he has completed his studies and graduated.

Anderson attended Seventh Day Adventist school in Thief River Falls until eighth grade, then completed his fours years of high school at Maple Wood academy in Hutchinson.

Following this he studied pre-medicine for four years at Union college in Lincoln Neb., and three years at Loma Linda university in Loma Linda, Cal., majoring in natural science throughout his college years.

Since he has been working in Thief River Falls, he has observed many "routine practices," along with observing surgery with Dr. Jerome L. Bray and Dr. Duane Davidson, he said. Although he works with Dr. Bray, Dr. Leo Herber and Dr. Davidson, Dr. Herber, chief of the medical staff at Northwestern hospital, is Anderson's preceptor. And, it was Herber that influenced Anderson toward becoming a doctor, he said.

Art 'Happening' Scheduled For This Weekend

Continuing its "1980 — Summer of Happenings" arts festival, the Thief River Falls community arts council will conduct a two-day "happening" Saturday and Sunday at the Soo Line depot building (chamber of commerce office) and Elks park.

A fine arts show will be held both days at the depot with exhibits open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday. A number of area artists will exhibit their work for show and-or sale. Russell Norberg, whose watercolors and sketches have been well received here at prior art shows, will again exhibit, as will a group of artists from the Alexandria area who will be showing in Thief River Falls for the first time.

There is no charge to artists to participate and sell their works and space is still available by contacting Dee Forney at 681-5916 or Marge Hanson at 681-2217, co-chairmen of the exhibit. There will be no admission charge for the public and all interested persons are urged to visit the show.

At Elks park near the depot, children's art activities will take place Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. Children are invited to participate in crafts, clay modeling and other creative activities and should dress appropriately, according to Mrs. Linnae Enge and Mrs. Kathy Ebbighausen who are in charge of this activity. They may be contacted for further information at 681-1634 or 681-4381, respectively. There is no charge for participation.

Another attraction in the community Saturday will be the popular flea market at Floyd B. Olson park downtown. Special features this week at the monthly market are a pottery maker and wood carver who will offer their products for sale. Samples of their work will be on display at the Soo Line depot during the fine arts show.

In addition to the fine arts exhibit Sunday, a nostalgic Sunday afternoon is planned for the Elks park including a sing-along and serving of ice cream cones, Minnesota sundaes (honey and sunflower meats on ice cream), lemonade and coffee. Song

Sharon Kay Aune Weds Gregory Harris At Gatzke

Miss Sharon Kay Aune and Gregory Mark Harris exchanged marriage vows recently at the United Lutheran church at Gatzke.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Juel Aune of Gatzke and Mr. and Mrs. John Harris of International Falls.

Rev. Robert Amundson officiated at the four o'clock double-ring ceremony attended by approximately 400 relatives and friends. At the organ was Linda Sparby, a friend of the couple. For the processional, she played "We've Only Just Begun." Theresa Blazejewski, a friend of the couple, sang "You Light Up My Life," "Follow Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

To correspond with the bride's chosen colors of peach and white, the altar was centered with an arrangement of peach and white carnations and mums, flanked by candelabra with peach candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in an empire fashioned gown of white chiffon featuring a Queen Anne neckline and long, full sleeves gathered into deep lace cuffs. Complementing the gown was a sheer organza overskirt with a lace pleated front and a cathedral train edged with lace. Her fingertip veil, edged with matching lace, was attached to a Camelot headpiece. She carried a bouquet of peach roses and white carnations accented with white ribbon streamers with peach rosebuds tied at the ends.

The bride's personal attendant was her cousin, Roxanne Berg of Minneapolis.

Nadine Sorvig, Thief River Falls, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Linda Arnold, Thief River Falls, and Pam Harris, International Falls, sisters of the groom; Jaylene Aune and Carole Aune of Thief River Falls, sisters of the bride, and Karen Severts, Holt, a cousin of the bride. They wore identical high waisted gowns of peach satin crepe topped by capes in a peach floral voile. A peach carnation was tucked in their hair. Their bouquets featured peach roses and white carnations with white ribbon streamers.

Wearing a gown similar to the bride's attendants, and carrying a basket filled with corresponding flowers was the flower girl, Mary Jo Harris of International Falls, a niece of the groom. The rings were carried by Ryan Sorvig, Thief River Falls, a nephew of the bride. Like the men of the wedding party, he wore a rust colored tuxedo with a peach colored boutonniere.

Gary Harris of International Falls attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were David, Dan and Pat Harris, brothers of the groom, Alan Selsaas, friend of the groom, all of International Falls, and Wayne Hanson, Thief River Falls, a friend of the groom. Serving as ushers were Jim Sparby, Grygla; Ken Grundhaus and Fran Vaudrin, Thief River Falls, friends of the couple, and Mike Arnold, Thief River Falls, a brother-in-law of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Aune selected a blue poly-chiffon gown with a pleated floor-length skirt. Her corsage was of peach roses with matching ribbon. A similar corsage was worn by the groom's mother, who was attired in a green crepe floor-length gown topped by a white jacket.

Honor guests at the ceremony were Mrs. Evelyn Byklum, grandmother of the bride, Mr and Mrs. Oliver Howland and Mrs. Bessie Harris, grandparents of the groom, and Glen Aune, the bride's uncle.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the church followed by a dinner at the Grygla Community center. Serving as hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Aune, uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Oral Howland, uncle and aunt of the groom, and Mr and Mrs. Alton Sparby, friends of the couple.

The serving table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded at the base by four round cakes, decorated with peach roses, rust daisies and topped with peach flowers centered with a silver Christogram. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Floyd Jesme, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Ray Bakken, aunt of the groom. Mrs. Clayton Carlson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Harlen Cleven, aunt of the groom, poured the coffee.

The guests were registered by Mr and Mrs. Dave Panek, friends of the couple. Mr and Mrs. Dale Johnson, friends of the couple, served the punch, and Corey and Randy Arnold, nephews of the groom, carried the gifts.

The couple is now at home in Thief River Falls, where both are employed. The bride, a graduate of Marshall County Central high school, Newfolden, and the Thief River Falls AVTI, is employed by Forsberg's, Inc. The groom, a graduate of the International Falls high school, is employed by the Get-A-Way. Photo, Roy Blomker, Thief River Falls.

Future Events Are Planned By Newcomers Club

Future events were discussed and planned at the meeting of the Newcomers club held Tuesday evening at the Elks club.

The first event planned was a brown-bag picnic for June 18 at 11:00 a.m., at the Hartz park. The event is open to Newcomers, all women new to the area, and guests. Those attending are asked to bring a bag lunch and their own beverage.

The couple's picnic was discussed and scheduled. It will be held June 24 at 6:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale (Diane) Boerboom, River Oaks road, route 5. Those attending are to bring a dish for passing, and their own meat and beverage.

A Hawaiian progressive dinner was also discussed. The event will be held sometime in July. Further plans for the dinner will be made at the July 8th meeting to be held at 8 p.m., at the Elks club.

Eleven members attended the meeting. Guests are Laura Mattesen, Julie Nocholson and Patricia Kezer.

John M. Eisbrener Baptized In St. Paul

John Michael Eisbrener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Eisbrener of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, was baptized at St. John Vianney's church in So. St. Paul on Sunday, May 25, the birthday of his late great-grandfather, John Eisbrener, who lived at Trail.

Rev. Francis J. Roach administered the sacrament. Sponsors were Jeffrey and Rita Eisbrener.

For the ceremony, the child wore a hand-stitched baptismal gown made 59 years ago by his great-great aunt Lillian Serocki of Chicago. It had been worn previously by his grandfather John, his father, great uncle, Ray, great aunts, uncles, aunts and cousins.

A family picnic followed at the Jeffrey Eisbrener home in So. St. Paul. Present, in addition to John Michael, his parents, brother Mark and sister Kimberly, were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Eisbrener of Inver Grove Heights, and his uncles, aunts and cousins: Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Royse, Brian and Dean of So. St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hruby, Ben and Jonathan of Fosston, and Fred Eisbrener of Inver Grove Heights, who was accompanied by his fiancee Vivian Clark of West St. Paul.

Tiffany Marie Nowacki Notes Second Birthday

Tiffany Marie Nowacki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Nowacki, was honored on her second birthday on Sunday, June 8, at a picnic supper at her home.

Helping her celebrate her birthday were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sculthorp and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nowacki; and her uncles, aunts and cousins: Mr. and Mrs. Rick Nordhagen and Chad, Mrs. Virgil Wagner and KayeLyn, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sculthorp, Jack and Tony, Mr and Mrs. Rodney Nowacki, Stacy and Tony, and Allen Nowacki.

Volleyball followed the picnic supper and the opening of the gifts.

Members are reminded that his is not a dinner-meeting.

Members are asked to bring a guest, preferably a senior citizen.

Serving on the program committee are Eileen Horejsh and Anita Paulson.

Tree Injection Not Guarantee Against Disease

Injecting elm trees to protect them from the Dutch elm disease fungus may seem like a good idea, but University of Minnesota extension specialists warn that it can injure the tree, it's expensive if done properly, and it is not a guarantee against the disease.

According to Asmina Gkinis, extension plant pathologist, only highly valued elms should be considered for injection and then only if it can be done properly.

Before injecting a tree, make sure that it is healthy. Trees that have already been infected with Dutch elm disease should not be injected. If you injected a tree last season and it is presently showing disease symptoms, do not inject it. "The infection is incurable and treatment by injection is a waste of money," Gkinis says.

(Symptoms of Dutch elm disease include failure to leaf, slow leafing and leaves that are smaller than usual, dull green, wilted and curling.)

The best commercial fungicide for Dutch elm disease is Arbotect, Gkinis said. However, even when used at the maximum label rate, it provides only short-term protection, and then only if it achieves exceptionally good distribution at the crown. The best way to achieve good distribution is to inject at the root flares, using two injection points for each inch of tree diameter at chest height.

Injection holes are like open wounds and can cause injury to the tree. Successive injections could, in fact, kill the tree. Ideally, injections should not be done more than every two or three years to give the wounds time to heal. But at the current label rates, the amount of Arbotect injected would not be enough to protect a tree for that length of time.

Research has shown that elms can be protected up to three years by injecting Arbotect at the root flares in dosages of three times the maximum label rates. Chemical concentration must be kept lower than 3,000 p.p.m. to avoid poisoning the tree. However, the use of Arbotect at higher than label rates is illegal, and therefore cannot be recommended at this time.

More detailed information on the injection method may be found in Extension Folder 504, "How to Inject Elms With Systemic Fungicides," available from your county extension agent or from the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service.

This is a message for teenagers who smoke. You've heard what everyone else has to say, but have you ever asked yourself how you feel about smoking? How do you feel about doing something that may be harmful to your health. . . about spending your money on cigarettes. . . about having a habit that makes your hair, clothes and breath smell bad? What you think is what counts, because it's your body and your decision.

cancer answers

"Cancer Answers" is a weekly column sponsored by the Red River Valley Medical society, the Red River Valley unit of the American Cancer society and the Thief River Falls Times. Questions may be mailed to the editor, Thief River Falls Times. All questions will be answered, and those of a general interest will be published in "Cancer Answers."

Dear Cancer Answers:

I'm being treated for endometriosis. Is this condition related to cancer?

Mrs. R.S.

Dear Mrs. R.S.:

Endometriosis is a condition in which tissue that resembles the lining of the uterus begins forming in other parts of a woman's lower abdomen. Most often endometriosis occurs in the ovaries and outer uterus. Occasionally this displaced tissue is found in the intestines, the bladder and the ureters.

Only in very rare cases has endometriosis been associated with cancer. Gynecologists (doctors who specialize in diseases of the female reproductive organs) do not consider endometriosis to be a cancer risk.

Dear Cancer Answers:

Five members of my family have had cancer and I'm a little worried about how this affects the chances of my getting cancer. What can you tell me about family tendencies to cancer?

Tim

Dear Tim:

Cancer is such a common disease that most families have a few affected members, and, by chance, some will have many. Limited data suggest that, when a family member develops cancer of the stomach, large intestine, uterus, prostate, lung, female breast, or possibly, ovary, other blood relatives have increased risk of cancer affecting the same organ. Certain combinations of these tumors may also occur more frequently within families.

The amount of increased risk among relatives of adult cancer patients has not been determined. It is also not known if this familial tendency reflects inherited charateristics or environmental factors, such as diet or occupation, which may continue unchanged from one generation to the next.

Evidence is more conclusive for a few types of childhood cancer. Retinoblastoma, a rare form of cancer of the eye, is known to result from a mutation that can be inherited. When an identical twin has childhood leukemia, the probability that the other twin will develop the disease is about one in five, a degree of risk far higher than the level in the general population. Brain tumors and sarcomas (tumors of muscles and-or connective tissues such as bone and cartilage) seem to occur more frequently than expected in brothers and sisters of children with these tumors.

A number of other uncommon types of cancerous and precancerous conditions also show marked hereditary patterns. The most important one among adults is multiple polyposis of the colon, which is characterized by hundreds of polyps scattered throughout the large bowel. The polyps can become cancerous; however, if the trait of multiple polyposis is diagnosed early in life, the cancer may be prevented by surgery.

The National Cancer Institute's Clinical Epidemiology Branch is conducting studies of cancer-prone families. If you feel you would like to inquire further into this potential cancer risk, please write to Dr. John J. Mulvihill, Head, Clinical Genetics Section, Clinical Epidemiology Branch, Room A521, Landow Building, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Maryland 20205.

Dear Mr. L.W.S.:

No, fortunately, it is not true that everything causes cancer. Relatively few substances have been provied to be carcinogenic (cancer-causing). Most chemicals, including those that may be dangerous for other reasons, do not cause cancer. Actually scientists have found only 30 substances that are carcinogenic in humans.

On one study, 120 pesticides and industrial chemicals were tested on laboratory mice. The mice were given the highest doses of these substances that they could take without dying from chemical poisoning. All of these substances were tested because they were suspencted carcinogens. After two years of testing, only 11 of the chemicals caused cancer in the test mice.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has published a new booklet on this subject titled, Everything Doesn't Cause Cancer. For a free copy, write the Cancer Information Service, 2750 Park Avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55407.

Dear Cancer Answers:

What is the difference between Hodgkin's Disease and lymphoma? Aren't they the same thing? Also how common is this form of cancer? What causes it?

Wendy

Dear Wendy:

Lymphoma literally means "lymph tumor." Many kinds of cancer can occur in the lymphatic system — lymphoma is a general term that includes all of them. Hodgkin's Disease is one particular kind of lymphoma. The main types of non-Hodgkin's lymphomas are lymphocytic, histiocytic, and undifferentiated (Burkitt) lymphoma. Most lymphomas are of a single cell type, but cases of mixed histiocytic-lymphocytic lymphomas do occur.

A doctor can determine what kind of lymphoma a patient has by examining the cancer cells with a microscope. It is important to know what kind of lymphoma the patient has because different kinds of lymphoma require different kinds of treatment to give the patient the best possible chance of cure.

There are about 7100 new cases of Hodgkin's Disease each year. The disease occurs primarily in young adults, ages 20-40, but it can occur at any age. the second most common age group is people over 50.

There are approximately 23,000 new cases of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma expected in 1980. Among these lymphomas, lymphocytic is the most common type. A disease which occurs primarily in adults, it tends to progress more slowly than other lymphomas. Histiocytic lymphoma also is common among adults. Undifferentiated lymphoma, which includes the Burkitt type, occurs mainly among children in Africa. It is rare in the United States.

The causes of lymphoma are not known. It is suspected that exposure to very high levels of radiation may be a causitive factor in some cases. It is also thought that lymphomas may be triggered by a deficiency in the body's natural immune system.

Dear Cancer Answers:

What does it mean when doctors talk about 5-year survival rates for cancer patients? Doesn't anyone with cancer live more than 5 years?

Worried

Dear Worried:

The term "5-year survival" does not mean a cancer patient can expect to live for only five years after treatment or that there are no cancer cures. In fact, it is estimated that there are over three million Americans living today who have a history of cancer, two million of whom were diagnosed five or more years ago. While some of these two million people still have evidence of cancer, most of them can be considered cured.

The time period of five years following treatment is simply an index used by scientists and doctors to assess the relative success of treatment among groups of patients with similar cancers.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Clarence Tangquist
1002 Knight Avenue North

Herman Starter

1 pkg. dry yeast
2 cups lukewarm water
2 cups flour

Dissolve yeast in water. Add flour and let set for 48 hours. Makes two cups Herman, one for a starter and one to give a friend.

Stir Herman daily. On first, fifth and tenth day, after feeding, Herman is ready to use. (During the feeding process store batter in a large, covered container in the refrigerator.)

Herman Coffee Cake

2 cups Herman
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
2 eggs
two-third cup oil
2 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup nuts

Combine all ingredients and mix by hand. Pour into a greased and floured 9x13 or 10x15 inch pan.

Topping

1 tablespoon flour
¼ cup melted butter
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 cup brown sugar

Combine and sprinkle over batter before baking. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30-35 minutes.

Mrs. Tangquist stated that for variation, raisins or chopped dates may be added to the batter. She generally omits the nuts in the cake batter and also eliminates the cinnamon as the topping supplies a great deal of cinnamon flavor.

Mrs. Tangquist is a part-time receptionist at Northwestern hospital. She enjoys baking, reading and gardening, especially raising flowers. However, her husband and family are her main interests. They attended services at the Covenant church at Viking.

State Pays 98 Cents For Each Federal Dollar

Minnesotans paid 98 cents for every $1 of aid received from the federal government in fiscal 1979, according to the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

Total figures show that state and local governments in Minnesota received $1.512 billion in the form of federal grants-in-aid, while the tax dollars sent to the nation's capitol to cover the costs totaled $1.484 billion. Minnesota was one of 27 states showing a favorable balance of payments.

Mississippi received the highest return on its federal tax dollar — only 53 cents sent to Uncle Sam for each $1 returned to the state or local government units. For the third consecutive year, Indiana received the lowest return on its dollar. The state paid $1.41 for each $1 of federal aid.

According to Don Paterick, executive director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, "While the amount is marginal, the state is once again on the favorable receiving end of the federal give and take. In 1978 Minnesota was ranked as a "paying" state; $1.03 was spent for each $1 of aid received.

The three years prior to 1978 showed a tax bill of an average 93 cents for each $1 of aid. Since 1975, federal grants-in-aid to Minnesota have increased from $899 million to $1.512 billion in fiscal 1979, or 68 per cent. This substantial increase is offset by a 78 per cent rise in tax dollars to pay for those grants."

Tax burden estimates for each state are compiled by economists of Tax Foundation Inc. Resulting tax burden figures are then applied to the actual dollar amount of grants received by the state and local units in Minnesota, as reported by the U.S. treasury. Grants-in-aid include general revenue sharing and trust fund aids but do not include shared revenues.

The MTA also notes that the estimated federal tax burden for aid payments per $1 of assistance does not tell the whole story. "Most grants involve administrative costs and matching funds which the state and local units must make available out of their own revenues in order to qualify for the grants," Paterick concluded.

The USSR is likely to import seven million tons less grain than planned due to the U.S. suspension of grain sales to the Soviets, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Early Warning Best Defense Against Storm

Chances of a tornado striking your area may be remote although the number of twisters have increased in Minnesota the past several years.

No matter what the chances are, Minnesotans should keep abreast of current weather conditions. With sophisticated weather forecasting information, which is relayed with more promptness to radio and television station, citizens generally have ways of finding out what weather conditions are.

Best defense against these storms is awareness and early warning, said John Sopsic, commissioner of public safety.

Planning for storms should be done in the home for protection of all members.

Contrary to former advice that you should seek shelter in the southwest corner of your basement, experts now recommend seeking shelter in the center of your basement, or the lowest level of your home, away from windows, and preferably under a heavy object such as steps, a workbench or wash tub.

Since most tornado injuries are caused by flying glass, people are advised to stay away from window areas.

Ed Herman, assistant to Sopsic for rural affairs, said 85 per cent of all tornadoes come from the southwest and occur between 3 and 7 p.m. Farm machines, automobiles and even buses can be turned into flying missiles and threaten lives, Herman said.

The difference between a tornado watch and a warning is worth reviewing.

A tornado watch means a tornado is possible, that weather conditions are favorable to tornado formation. A watch is issued for areas that might be threatened by severe thunderstorms and tornadoes. The watch will specify time periods and areas where tornadoes are most probable. During the watch period, residents should look for threatening weather.

A warning is more serious. It means a tornado has been sighted or indicated by radar. Those close to the projected path of the storm should find shelter immediately. It is advisable to avoid driving during storm warning periods.

JULIE DEMPSEY, reading instructor at the Falls day activity center (FDAC) in Thief River Falls, tests her knowledge of braille reading and writing on the new braille typewriter presented to the FDAC by the Thief River Falls Jaycees recently. Tim Paver, community development vice president of the Jaycees, looks on, while Barb Vettel Lhotka, program specialist for the visually impaired, who works with blind students in 12 counties in the Northwest quarter of Minnesota (53 school districts), offers tips on use of the machine. Dempsey, along with Bunny Engelman, program coordinator at the FDAC, have begun learning braille themselves to be able to work more closely with blind students. Presently there is one blind student at the FDAC who has begun learning braille this year.

Crookston's Art In Park Set Saturday

More than 50 artists and crafts people will be exhibiting their works in a special show and sale on the University of Minnesota campus at Crookston Saturday. The art fair, dubbed Art in the Park, will open at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and continue until 8 p.m. Admission is free, except for those children and adults who sign up for the mini-workshops that have been scheduled throughout the day.

A number of other activities will be taking place in addition to the one-hour workshop sessions on pottery, batik art, puppetry, monoprints and theatrical makeup. Three concession booths will be in operation all day. Co-chairmen Claudia Rasmus and Kathy Dryden have also arranged for a troupe of clowns to be on hand in appropriate costume to provide antics such as giving away balloons to youngsters in the crowd.

Among the artists participating in the event from most of northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota are (with their artistic genre of craft specialty also noted) Greg Barnier, Nevis, Wood products, Art Bodie, Park River, N.D., woodworking; Lula Brown, Pelican Rapids, oil paintings, Marvin Espe, Roseau, oils, Sharon Fannin, Karlstad, water colors; Loralei Mickelson, Park Rapids, water colors, Mary Morton, Bemidji, rosemaling, Kay Ornberg, Fargo, fiber arts and water colors, and Richard Walker, Grand Forks, wood products.

Flea Market Here Listed In Publication

"Antiques World," considered the most prestigious publication in the antiques, arts and collectibles business, has listed the Thief River Falls flea market in its special collectors guide for summer 1980.

"A Guide for Vacationing Antiquers," a selection of the best backroad browsing and big-city buying by Marian Appellof, Catherine Scher and Ilyla Fox, cites the Thief River Falls flea market as one of only three flea markets in Minnesota to find choice bargains that "suit your fancy."

"A listing such as this cannot be purchased," says Merle Kruschke, who operates Horse Barn Antiques of Thief River Falls. "It comes only by demonstrating that the wares offered are genuine and bargain priced." The authors suggest that they will help you find everything from "French faience to great grandmother's kitchen gadgets, whether you travel to the big city or to tiny townships. . ."

The fact that the Thief River Falls flea market has been singled out for listing is special recognition to the 50 or 60 upper midwest dealers who have regularly made this flea market a must on their list.

Thief River Falls community and all those individuals who have made the flea market an international event should take pride in this listing," Kruschke says. "This listing should insure that major buyers from throughout the country and Canada will be coming to Thief River Falls for the flea markets."

The flea markets are held monthly at the Floyd B. Olson memorial park downtown. Dates for this summer's remaining flea markets are June 21, July 19, August 16 and September 20.

Don Anderson Returns To Study Medicine

"Ever since I was in grade school I wanted to become a doctor," Anderson said. "I was always afraid of doctors when I was little, yet I was intrigued by them. I suppose that's the way all kids are to a certain extent. I always thought it would be an interesting career. And now here I am. It's kind of nice."

Being a student worker gives the student a chance to see how medicine is practiced from day to day — under the superivsion of a licensed doctor. "You are outside the regular medical system when you're out of school and working," he said.

"You have to be hard-nosed and dedicated," admitted Anderson. "If you waiver just a little you lose out. I believe perseverance is the key.

"I went into medicine thinking I'd be doing everything," Anderson said. "But that's not exactly the way it goes." A doctor usually specializes in a particular area," he said. At this point in Anderson's profession, he has come to enjoy obstetrics, he said.

"This is the beginning of life and a doctor can be a part of that joyous time between a mother and her child," Anderson said.

Although he has thought of making obstetrics his major interest during his medical career, he realizes he would have to be stationed at a larger city to specialize in this, and so has not definitely decided on what he will do once he graduates.

"You have to afflict pain to achieve a desired result in this profession," he said.

While working in family practice at the Thief River clinic, Anderson said he is able to work with variants in the whole life span — something he enjoys about his work here.

The only real drawback to a medical job, he said, are the hours. "They're not bad now," he said, "but when I get out on my own they may not be so great."

Under the clinical preceptorship, Anderson is not responsible for calls after hours, he said, and right now, he works pretty much regular eight-hour days.

Anderson described his schooling for entering the medical profession as being similar to a mountain. "You climb the mountain until after your second year when it becomes pretty much downhill," he said. "Your junior and senior years are not as tough as the first two."

There are a few students who can't make it through medical school, he said. Once they get away from school in a true job situation, they find it hard to deal with patients. When this happens, he said, they have to go into various fields of medicine not patient related, like research or pathology.

"Bur working with patients if the part I enjoy," Anderson said. "It's rewarding to see a patient and have him or her recognize you and say 'hello'. It's nice having people look up to you and to be one of the 'good guys'. You maybe see a patient once in a lifetime in a speciality area," he said.

"All medical graduates want the good life, but it isn't always that way," he added.

Upon graduation from Loma Linda next May, Anderson, just as all other medical graduates, will be required to either enter an intern program for one year or a residency program for three to four years, to obtain a license to practice medicine. Anderson hasn't yet decided which program he will select, he said.

Because his education was made possible through a public health scholarship, he will, in turn, serve the government when he completes his schooling by working three years in an area with few or no doctors such as a small town, a ghetto, an Indian reservation, a prison, for the Coast Guard, or become an Embassy doctor — which he says would be kind of fun, since he could be stationed anywhere around the world.

Right now, there is a shortage of primary care physicians, according to Anderson, which includes work in pediatrics, internal medicine, obstetric-gynecology, and family practice — probably because this aspect of the medical profession is not as glamorous as others, he said.

Anderson will be getting married the end of the summer, he said. And beyond that his future remains undecided.

He would like to come back to central or southern Minnesota to practice medicine, he said.

"It all depends what's available after I graduate," he said. "Once a student graduates he selects three towns he would like to be placed in. They usually give you your first choice," he added.

Anderson realizes he will have to study for the rest of his life in the profession he has chosen. "If I'm going to keep up, I'll have to study all the time," he said. "Medicine doesn't stay the same."

Each year medical students are required to attend conventions to obtain the number of credits essential for a medical graduate.

He still has in his mind the idea he and a rommate decided upon while going to school, he said. "We always said we'd get together in a small town some day, you've got to have a partner in a small town or it's difficult to make it."

A brown bag containing Anderson's afternoon lunch rested on the desk. "I usually can eat it in about 10 minutes," he said, smiling — which is the amount of time we permitted him to have following our interview.

"I had forgotten about all the Scandinavian brogues here," he said smiling. "You forget about that when you're away for a while. It's nice to be back home."

Film On Noah's Ark Shown At Local Assembly

Does the Ark of Noah rest, intact, on Mount Ararat? Has it been seen by people whose credibility can be trusted? Questions like these are answered in the film, "Noah's Ark and the Genesis Flood," a color documentary which will be shown Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Thief River Falls Assemblies of God church, 315 Duluth av. N.

Highlight of the film occurs when Jacob Radke, formerly a Russian soldier and now a Canadian churchman, relates his experience of twice seeing the ark within a distance of a quarter of a mile. Radke has not the slightest doubt of the object's identity.

Produced by Ken Anderson Films, the 55-minute motion picture looks in depth at the entire flood story. "Art-Ologist", Jack Dabner, who has not only sifted reams of data on the project but headed a motion picture unit on Mount Ararat, serves as the film's communicator. He brings in specialists who, from a scientific viewpoint, attest to both the flood and the existence of the famous boat.

Republic Buys Airwest Line At Low Price

Officials of Republic airlines and representatives of Summa corporation and the estate of Howard R. Hughes Jr., announced that they have signed a definitive agreement which calls for Republic to purchase Hughes Airwest for $38.5 million in cash and convertible debentures.

Hal N. Carr, Republic chairman of the board, said the amount was agreed upon because the acquisition will take place this fall — earlier than expected — and Airwest is currently experiencing operating losses. The two parties previously announced a sale price of approximately $45 million, subject to adjustments based on Airwest's 1980 financial results.

"The benefits of this acquisition," Carr said, "are the same as those which led to the merger of North Central airlines and Southern airways to form Republic airlines. Airwest and Republic systems have six common points, although their regions are about 1,000 miles apart. The expanded carrier could offer new nonstop flights between major cities in the three basic regions, while providing smaller cities with extensive single-plane and single-carrier service."

Elect Swenson Head Of UND Foundation

He has served on the Thief River Falls city council and is currently on the board of directors for Hydra-Mac Inc. and Toreq Inc., in Thief River Falls and the First National bank of Baudette.

During the several years the Swensons lived in Grand Forks, Mrs. Swenson was a part-time voice instructor at UND.

The UND foundation is responsible for promotion and receiving of alumni and private contributions to UND. It conducts an annual sustaining drive and has comprehensive deferred and major giving programs. During the present year approximately 7,000 alumni will participate in foundation programs, providing about $7 million for ongoing development of the university.

"We are very pleased to have Lowell Swenson elected foundation president," said Earl Strinden, executive vice president of the UND Alumni association and foundation. "He is a very distinguished member of the University of North Dakota alumni family, bringing a background of outstanding achievement and community service to our board."

Other officers newly elected to the Foundation include Albert Hartl of Bismarck, first vice president, and James Seifert, a Fargo native now living in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, second vice president.

Dear friends,

Robert Louis Stevenson, the author, suggested: "Don't take your self too seriously. I walk about every day and it is surprising how few people are smiling or look happy. It gives me a lift to see a beautiful smile and sparking eyes. Try smiling, you'll like it."

Wheat Council To Meet Today At Baudette

Minnesota wheat research and promotion council will hold its next regular meeting on June 16-17 in Baudette, according to council chairman Terry Fladeland of Red Lake Falls. Meeting will be held at the Wigwam lodge in Baudette in conjunction with the executive committee meeting of the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers.

"The council will have a very lengthy agenda," Fladeland stated. This will be the last regular meeting to be held before the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1. It will also be the first meeting to be attended by Minnesota Wheat's new executive director, Merle Hedland. As such, the council will review its entire program of work and establish the policies, direction and budget for the 1980-81 year."

Items to be discussed will include wheat and gasohol research, a revised information and education program, and an expanded market development program for Minnesota wheat.

Fladeland added, "We are also very pleased that Mr. Larry Montgomery, the newly apointed president of U.S. Wheat Associates, Inc. will also be present at the meeting to discuss his views and the future direction for that international market development organization." U.S. Wheat Associates was formed in January by the Merger, between Great Plains Wheat, Inc. with offices in Europe, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America and Western Wheat Associates with the offices for promoting the sale and use of U.S. Wheat in Asia.

Minnesota wheat research and promotion council is a nine member board composed of wheat growers, who are elected by wheat growers to administer programs of research and market promotion for Minnesota wheat in U.S. and world markets.

THREE PHASES of competition for Jane Olson, Miss Thief River Falls, at the 1980 Miss Minnesota scholarship pageant this week, will be in evening gown, talent and swimsuit. She is shown left to right in the outfits she will use for the competition. For her talent number she will sing "Quanto Men Vo" from the Puccini opera "La Boehme". Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Olson of rural Thief River Falls.

SUNFLOWER PLANTS, already severely damaged by drought, were destroyed by hail which fell in southwestern Pennington and into Red Lake county Friday night. In some fields it was almost impossible to distinguish where rows of the plants had been. Small grain was also badly battered and alfalfa fields — where growth had been retarded by dry weather — looked as if they had been mowed. Note the deep holes in the ground at the right of the photo, indicating the size and impact of hailstones which fell during the storm. Heavy winds accompanying the hail added to the damage.

BASEMENT WINDOWS at the Black River Lutheran church were shattered Friday night during the hailstorm which struck the area. Of 36 stained glass panels in the west four windows of the sanctuary, only five remained Saturday morning. All of the basement windows were broken and accumulation of hail to a depth of eight inches remained in the window wells more than 12 hours after the storm. The church sustained some water damage as strong winds blew rain and hail into the building through the broken windows.

Jane Olson In State Pageant At Austin

work on our talent routines, have our judging interviews and all the other things that lead up to pageant night."

Jane was crowned Miss Thief River Falls at the annual Jaycee Aquacade last summer. Since then she has had the opportunity to make a number of appearances as a representative of the Thief River Falls community and the sponsoring Jaycee chapter.

Most recently she assisted in judging and performed at the Miss Warren pageant, and has been working with contestants for the 1980 Miss Thief River Falls pageant to be held Saturday, July 26. She attended a modeling school in Edina for a one-week course and attended Girl Talk, an introductory phase of the Miss Minnesota pageant, in April. There she met the reigning Miss Minnesota; Dorothy Benham Anderson, Miss Minnesota and Miss America of 1977; and Jolene Benoit, Miss Minnesota of 1973.

She rode in the Blast to Brooks parade last fall, the UND potato bowl parade in Grand Forks, sang at the Jaycee installation program and the Jaycee Women charity ball, participated in events of the week-long Aquacade last summer and helped hand out awards at the North Country Auto Show time at the sports arena last month. She also was a guest at the Miss Brainerd pageant.

Jane attended Bemidji state university for the fall and winter quarters last year, studying vocal music and taking voice lessons independently from John Keston of the BSU faculty. During the spring quarter she took general courses at Northland community college here. She plans to return to BSU this fall.

At Bemidji she participated in a NATS music contest in Minneapolis, sang in the student opera "Sister Angelica" by Puccini, and was a member of the college choir which toured through several states to Spokane, Wash., for a two-week period.

At Austin she will compete in swimsuit and evening gown competition, at Thursday evening's preliminary pageant and talent division on Friday, night. She will sing "Quando Men Do" from the Italian opera "LaBoehme" by Puccini. Attending the Miss Minnesota pageant Saturday from this area will be John and Nancy Tofte, Jane's chaperones, and their children Aaron and Heidi; Jane's mother and sister Kathy, brother Bryan and his wife Polly and several other friends.

Persons wishing to contact Jane while at the pageant may write to her at P.O. Box 92, Austin, MN 55912.

All Voters
School District No. 564
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Dear Friends:

The election for members to the Board of Education of School District No. 564 is past and we have all had an opportunity to shift our thoughts to other matters. The Board of Education has been active since the election dealing with the educational concerns of this school district. I look forward to my new term which starts July 1st with enthusiasm.

I wish to extend to all of you my sincere thanks for the vote given to re-elect me to the Board of Education in the recent election.

Your continued interest in the education of the young people of this school district is greatly appreciated.

Let me assure each of you that I will do my best to give fair and honest representation to all people in the district. If I can be of assistance, please call.

Thanks again for your support.

Sincerely,

Larry McDowell

Good Luck, Jane!

Jane Olson, this community's representative as Miss Thief River Falls in the Miss Minnesota scholarship pageant in Austin this week, carries with her the best wishes of the community as she appears in competition.

Jane left yesterday morning for Austin via the Twin Cities and Rochester and will be involved in pageant activities throughout the week. Hopefully she will be among the 10 finalists competing in the public pageant Saturday night.

Win or lose, however, we join her sponsors and others from the Thief River Falls area in thanking her for being their representative and devoting her time, effort, enthusiasm and talent in our behalf. Have a great time, and the best of luck.

Dupe Of The Year

If the federal government were to hand out a "Dupe of the Year" award to a nationally-known figure, Ramsey Clark, would have to be the prime candidate. He sounds like the kind of person who could be persuaded to spend his last dollar on a moneybelt.

After his illegal trip to Iran to participate in that infamous conference on "The Crimes of America", he was quoted in the press as stating that Iran would release the American hostages held in that country if the United States would release its economic pressures against Iran.

Anyone who would believe that would pay the asking price of an Arab camel dealer.

Not only is the likelihood of voluntary release of the hostages remote as evidenced by past actions, the eventual release may be all but impossible. Iran's political structure, mixed and mingled as it is with status accorded to religion and revolutionaries, makes the hope for any agreement among Iranians themselves a fleeting one.

Where was Clark when the tantalizing game of building up hopes only to dash them on the rocks was being played on a daily basis? Can't he see the shifty-eyed Ghotbzadeh revels in tormenting this nation, holding a place in the world spotlight while in a political position which, except for the hostages, would be at best internationally obscure?

Clark should be aware of the Iranians' gamesmanship: The hostages may be released next week; the hostages will not be released but put on trial; the hostages will be released if the United States confesses to crimes; the hostages might not be released by their captors even if the Iranian government orders their release; the hostages will be released if the Shah is returned; the hostages won't be released until after the elections; and on and on and on.

What did Clark, a former U.S. attorney general, accomplish by his trip to Iran to apologize for America? He fueled Iran's fires of contempt for the United States, heaped embarrassment on our government and our people, added confusion to whatever support may have been considered among our allies and established himself as a mental midget in diplomacy.

And he didn't bring the hostages one step closer to freedom.

We sympathize with the federal administration in this no-win situation. Not only must President Carter and others deal with hate-filled, irrational, seemingly demented demagogues in Iran who hold us at bay because of our reverence for the value of human life, they also have to face the indignities and complications resulting from irresponsibility by revolutionaries within our own populace.

Clark and others who defied Presidential sanctions and participated in the conference on "The Crimes of America" should be prosecuted for their illegal activity. They should expect to be prosecuted.

And if Clark doesn't think he should be held accountable for his impunity, that is further evidence of his qualifications for "Dupe of the Year".

D.C. Needs Cal

Following comments were written by Lowell Danielson of Ortonville:

Poor Calvin Griffith, everybody picks on him because he thinks he should get something in return for his money. The Twin Cities sports writers had a hard time to conceal their glee recently when Cal squealed like a suffering sow at the thought of paying off the remainder (over a half million dollars) of Mike Marshall's contract to get him off the roster and make room for somebody who might be of some value to the team.

You can't blame Griffith for releasing a relief pitcher who seemingly could no longer do his job. So far this season and the latter part of last season, Marshall was about as helpful in saving ball games as an arsonist would be in putting out fires.

The mistake Griffith made with Marshall was not in releasing him but in stepping out of his usual parsimonious character and giving him such a generous contract to begin with.

I have never met Calvin Griffith but from what I have seen and heard of him I have decided that I don't like him much either. However, I agree heartily with his belief that money should buy a lot more in both services and goods than it does. We need more unlikeable people such as Calvin Griffith. He should have stayed in Washington where the really big spenders are and tried to hold the purse strings there.

Dairy Statistics

Americans have long enjoyed translating volume of one type or another into another form to increase understanding or emphasize a point. For instance, the average dairy cow in the U.S. today produces 11,474 pounds of milk a year. How does one illustrate that volume?

Since each gallon of milk weighs 8.6 pounds, the 11,474 pounds convert to 1,334 gallons. It would take a pool 10 feet wide, 10 feet long and two feet deep to hold that annual milk production from one dairy cow.

Those are fairly impressive statistics. But the United States has quite a number of dairy cows. In fact, the 1979 production of milk totaled 123,500,000,000 (that's 123.5 billion) pounds.

Want a comparison? If all that milk were poured into a river as long as the Mississippi from its beginning at Lake Itasca to the Gulf of Mexico, it would create a river of milk 2,348 miles long, eight feet deep and 20 feet wide. It would contain 14.4 billion gallons of milk.

Need another comparison? If the 1979 U.S. milk production was packaged in half-gallon containers and those containers stacked end to end, they would reach to the moon at its perigee and back — 10 times!

When we say the dairy industry is important to America, it isn't too difficult to understand why.

I-R Should Have Learned

Following editorial is from the Granite Falls Tribune:

Heavy-handed dictatorial policies tend to get political parties into trouble and eventually out of office. That was demonstrated when the Minnesota DFL met its demise at the polls in the fall of 1978 after dominating Minnesota state elective offices for almost a decade.

You would think the Minnesota Independent Republicans would have learned something from the defeat of the DFL in 1978. They should have examined the DFL defeat and determined what contributed to it so they could avoid the pitfall of similar activities during their years of political domination.

It is apparent the new leadership of the Minnesota Independent Republicans has not given much thought or consideration to why the DFL lost and the GOP dominated the '78 elections. At the party convention in Duluth last weekend the disciplining and partisan infighting sounded like the old DFL in action. Senator Dave Durenberger was warned to shape up or lose party support and retiring Representative Rod Searle was criticized for his negotiations with the DFL for the House leadership.

What the Independent Republican leadership must remember is you need the majority of the votes and the confidence of the voters to stay in power. No single segment of any party, be it liberal or conservative, is going to dominate state politics or policies for any long period of time. Currently the Democrats are hurting and it appears the conservative wing of the Independent Republicans is becoming over-confident.

That feeling of confidence could cost them the much-needed seats in the state legislature this fall.

The Independent Republicans will have their opportunity at claiming the Minnesota House and Senate this fall but they are going to lose if they continue to display domination by the conservative wing. It should be enough to be a Republican to claim the support of the party organization and assure victory.

News Council Finds Tribune Story Negative

Minnesota news council recently ruled that Ben Sternberg, Minnesota's foremost boxing promoter, has a valid complaint against the Minneapolis Tribune.

Council found that the Tribune's June 5, 1979 sports story about Sternberg and his role in Minnesota professional boxing "created a negative impression" of him "through the use of sensationalism, innuendo and unbalanced reporting."

"By playing up charges of racism and impropriety against Sternberg and giving short shrift to his denials of those charges, the article implied that Sternberg was a racist and profit-hungry promoter — without providing solid evidence, objectively presented, to support that implication," the council said.

"The style and structure of the article were clearly designed to create a dramatic effect to play upon the public's general willingness to assume the worst about the professional boxing world," the council added.

Council noted that while the article contained both favorable and unfavorable information about Sternberg, "the order in which the information was presented tended to unfairly emphasize the unfavorable material. . . The use of sensational headlines, language and illustration also served to create an uncomplimentary picture of Sternberg's involvement in professional boxing in Minnesota," the council said.

Council also said that while it recognizes the right of the newspaper to decide what information to include in news reports, as well as the need to arouse reader interest, it also "believes that news stories, particularly when they involve serious charges affecting a person's reputation, should be fair, balanced and thorough."

Council member Emily Anne Staples, State Sen., DFL-Plymouth, dissented from the council's majority opinion stating she felt that the article had presented Sternberg "as a person of substantial influence in boxing about whom there were conflicting opinions," and that Sternberg had not "come across as a racist" in the article.

The Minnesota news council is a public service organization without legal or governmental affiliation made up of 24 members from the news media and the public who hear and determine the validity of citizen complaints against Minnesota news organizations.

Mills To Lead Volunteers In CF Campaign

Dennis Mills has been appointed to lead volunteers in St. Hilaire's "Breath of Life" campaign during the month of September, according to Ron Swain, president of the Minnesota chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis foundation.

"There will be special emphasis placed on the third week in September as it will be designated as National Cystic Fibrosis week as well as Minnesota Cystic Fibrosis week," he said.

When accepting the chairmanship, Mills said, "Support from our residents is needed to insure a meaningful project. In fact, a child is born with Cystic Fibrosis every five hours. CF is the number one genetic killer of children in the world."

THE BALL BOUNCED away from Newfolden pitched Ted Thompson who was covering the plate as Thief River Falls base runner Scott McKeever scored from third base on a wild pitch in the third inning of the Northwest American Legion baseball league game played Thursday on the fairgrounds diamond here. Thief River Falls won the game 7-3.

Fergus Falls Legion Hits Unlucky Friday The 13th

Friday the 13th definitely proved to be unlucky for the Fergus Falls American Legion baseball team in an 8-2, 7-2 doubleheader loss to unbeaten Thief River Falls.

Not only did the visitors lose two games, they also watched as two Fergus Falls outfielders ran into each other in a violent collision that brought an impromptu end to the first game and hospitalized leftfielder Troy Ness; and watched stormy weather put an end to the nightcap — just after Thief River Falls had broken a 2-2 tie with five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Ness, who crashed into centerfielder Greg Lillemoen in the sixth inning of the first game, was taken from the field in an ambulance. He suffered a fractured lower jaw and was immediately scheduled for surgery.

It was Thief River Falls' third doubleheader sweep of the summer, improving the winner's record to 8-0 for the year. They'll host Roseau Tuesday and will be at Warroad Thursday for 7 p.m. Northwest American Legion baseball league games before participating in an invitational tournament at Crookston Saturday and Sunday.

Fergus Falls fell to 3-2 with the outcome.

TRF 8
Fergus Falls 2

First game lasted just 5 and two-third innings when things came to a screeching halt following the collision between Fergus Falls outfielders Troy Ness and Greg Lillemoen as they chased down a fly ball hit into the left-centerfield gap by Mark Harder.

The outfielders dropped and the ball rested nearby as Harder circled the bases for a three-run, inside-the-park home run that completed an 8-2 Thief River Falls victory.

Fergus Falls owned a 2-0 lead at one time. Mickey Johnson led off the third with a single to center and scored on a two-out triple to right-center by Al Barre, who scored on the play on an overthrow at third base.

But that was all the scoring for the visitors who collected three of their six base hits in the first inning — all three infield jobs that did nothing but load the bases against Thief River Falls righthander Kelly Gutterud who struck out Lillemoen to get out of the jam.

Thief River Falls scored four times in the bottom of the inning to take command. Harder, who finished the game with six RBI's, got two of them that inning with a single to right-center field. Jeff Cwikla's triple to the other side also produced two runs.

Tom Drury reached base on an error to start the Thief River Falls sixth and scored on a single to left by Gutterud. Jim Nyland beat out an infield single; Gutterud was picked off second base; but Kevin Sanders walked to set up Harder's game-ending shot.

Fergus Falls lost its composure amid the dark clouds, lightning and rain in the sixth inning when the visitors committed all four of their errors and surrendered five runs to lose the nightcap 7-2.

Jeff Ulrich scored the tie-breaker when he drew a lead-off walk, stole second, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt by Jeff Cwikla and scored when Dave Odegaard bounced a single up the middle. An error moved Odegaard to second, another error scored him and put Tom Drury on base, who made it to third when Fergus Falls tacked on another error. Steve Bengston drew a walk and designated hitter Dave Kays came through with a two-run single. He stole second and later scored when Fergus Falls second baseman Roy Anderson dropped the ball on a two-out run-down play.

Then almost by perfect timing — for Thief River Falls, that is — the rains came and the game came to a quick end.

Thief River Falls scored first when Jeff Ulrich led off the second inning with a triple to center field and scored on a wild pitch.

Fergus Falls went up 2-1 in the fourth when Bob Roers walked and pitcher Al Barre tripled into the right-center field gap. He scored when Charley Westby, in laying down a suicide squeeze, wound up with a base hit on the play.

Thief River Falls tied it in the fifth when Drury walked, stole second, moved to third on an infield chopper by Kays that went for a base hit and scored on a balk.

Action Realty had little trouble with Schmidts, winning the Wednesday night doubleheader opener 6-0.

It started with two runs in the bottom of the first when Brad Kosel doubled to left and moved to third on a wild pitch. Jeff Ulrich walked and stole second, and Kosel scored when the throw sailed into center field. Tom Neibauer singled to left to score Ulrich.

Singles by Kelly Gutterud, Scott Bergland and Kosel plated a second inning run. Action Realty then scored three times in the fifth. Schmidts avoided further damage by pulling off three double plays in the game.

Action Realty 10
Melvies 9

Wednesday's second game was a barnburner as Melvies threatened to upset the league leaders before Action Realty pulled out a 10-9 eight-inning win.

Action Realty had apparently put the game away early by jumping out to a 4-0 lead in the top of the first inning and carrying a 7-1 cushion in the third.

But Melvies battled back, pulling within 7-6 on the strength of four straight fourth inning singles and a throwing error.

Melvies took the lead, 8-7, in the bottom of the sixth when Erv Melvie singled and Tom Neibauer and Rick Kofstad belted back-to-back doubles.

Action Realty tied it in the seventh to force extra innings and went ahead 10-8 in the top of the eighth on a two-run double by Scott Bergland.

Still, Melvies battled back. Terry Sullivan led off the bottom of the eighth with a single to right and scored on a two-out error before Action Realty put it away.

Northland Pro 15
Melvies 0

After challenging Action Realty Wednesday, Melvies struggled against Northland Pro Thursday and came out a 15-0 loser in five innings.

Northland Pro, leading 2-0, sent 14 batters to the plate in the second inning for nine runs, including a grand slam home run by Jeff Hendrickson.

And despite the one-sided loss, Melvies still came up with the game's defensive gem — a triple play in the third.

With runners on second and third, Brian Peterson of Northland Pro hit a sharp grounder to short. The throw went to first for one out. The runner broke for third thinking the lead runner was headed home, but he wasn't. The throw to third caught the lead runner off the bag, with the runner from second base then getting caught in a run-down trying to return to second.

Coca-Cola 7
Northland Pro 1

Coca-Cola Cowboys scored seven times in the second and third inning for a 7-1 Friday night win over Northland Pro.

Northland Pro scored first when Glen Kalsnes beat out an infield single to start the game. He went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt by Tim Erickson and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jeff Hendrickson.

But Coca-Cola went ahead 3-1 in the second inning as Paul Walker doubled to left, advanced to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch. Tony Johnson walked and moved to second on a sacrifice by Rob Almquist. Mark Huot drilled a single to center for the run, going to second on the throw to the plate and scoring on a base hit by Wane Gutterud.

Coca-Cola scored four more runs in the third, highlighted by a three-run home run by Almquist over the center field fence.

County Board Proceedings

June 16, 1980
Official Proceedings
Board of County Commissioners,
Pennington County, Minn.
June 3, 1980

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., June 3 1980.

Members present: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

The minutes of the meetings of May 6 and May 27 were read and approved as read.

Clarence Swanson and others appeared and discussed a drainage problem in the West end of the County in the Judicial Ditch 25-3 area where some land is in need of drainage and is not officially a part of the J 25-3 area. Individuals present were: Clarence Swanson, Marvin Mehrkens, Mel Scholin, Bruce Machal, Warren E. Mosbeck (Mosbeck Bros.), Arlo Scholin, Laverne D. Johnson and Palmer Bevolden.

The Board agreed to proceed with a process of re-viewing the benefited area by appointment of Viewers to allow land to drain into the ditch and to realign the level of participation according to today's conditions. The entire matter to be undertaken after the County Attorney researches the Law and advises the Board.

The County Engineer and Board discussed the problem of financing various road re-surfacing projects and possible need for re-alignment of the road maintenance program to provide for a better coordination of high tonnage roads with the State of Minnesota. The Board indicated that the County should work with the State in the planning process and the Engineer was successful in getting District Engineer Wolfe to attend the Board meeting to be held June 24th in order to discuss a coordination of road programs.

Moved by Hoffman seconded by Koop that bids be called for Grading CSAH 26 (Erie road) at 11:00 A.M., July 1, 1980. Motion carried.

The Board was briefly appraised of a program that provides for State Funding of a Retired Senior Volunteer Program called RSVP which among other things would provide for volunteers to be reimbursed for providing transportation for elderly. An explanation of the entire program was scheduled to be presented to the Board by Kay S. Kraatz at the July 14th County Board meeting.

Moved by Hoffman seconded by Stenberg that the Road Committee and the Bridges and Culvert Committee inspect roads, bridges and culverts at 9:00 A.M., June 17, 1980. Motion carried.

One Jerry Hoeft of Erskine appeared upon recommendation of the Architect and discussed a problem that has been brought to the attention of the Board of a need for recaulking the outside of the Courthouse. The old caulking has separated and allows moisture to enter the area behind the blocks and has caused some damage. The need is immediate and the specifications for a firm bid almost impossible as a need exists for raking out all of the old material and replacing with new more flexible and permanent material. The Board agreed that Mr. Hoeft should proceed on a time and material basis at a cost not to exceed $6,000.00 with the work to be accomplished at the earliest opportunity.

The Board then discussed the possibility of the feasibility study, that has been assigned the firm of Rieske Carroll Muller, Associates (RCM), directing the Board to provide a type of housing for Elderly and Disabled that would allow them to live in an apartment of their own for an extended period. The Auditor reviewed an application for a Grant that has been filed through the Quinn County Board of Health for funds to finance such a study. The Grant would go toward paying the RCM for its assigned feasibility study. Commissioner Koop introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the Minnesota Department of Health has requested Home Care Demonstration Applications by June 6, 1980, and

WHEREAS, the Quinn County Board of Health meets June 4, 1980 with a resulting time problem.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Home Care Grant Application developed by Pennington County as a Community Health Service revision be approved for submission to the Minnesota Department of Health, pending the approval by the Quinn County Board of Health.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Grabanski and upon vote declared unanimously adopted.

Gary Sargent Appears Here

Gary Sargent is living in a dream world and loving every minute of it. The personable Sargent, a former Bemidji high school athletic standout and now a National Hockey League all-star defenseman with the Minnesota North Stars, was in Thief River Falls Saturday for a promotional appearance at the grand opening of the new Thief River Falls Racquetball and Exercise club.

Sargent made it clear that he loves being a professional athlete. "It's been great," he said of his six years in the NHS. "It's like living out your dreams."

Those dreams, he said, date back to his high school playing days with the Lumberjacks when he starred on the football field in the fall, on the hockey rink in the winter and on the baseball diamond in the spring. He could have played college football after he graduated from Bemidji high school in 1972 and he was drafted by the Minnesota Twins. Instead, he opted for hockey, playing first at Bemidji State University and then with the Fargo-Moorhead Sugarkings in the junior program before signing with the Los Angeles Kings for the 1974-75 season, which he spent at Springfield. He made the Kings roster in 1975-76 and played three years in Los Angeles before signing as a free agent with Minnesota for the 1978-79 season.

The decision as to what sport to pursue past high school wasn't terribly difficult, said Sargent. "I thought I was too small for football, and baseball really wasn't my favorite sport; it wasn't physical enough, I guess," he laughed. "You couldn't run over anybody."

Running over people helped earn the 5-10, 198-pounder a spot in the NHL, he figures.

"The physical part is a big part of pro hockey," admitted Sargent, who said it was particularly important for rookies to make a strong, quick impression in that area. "Sometimes you just have to grab somebody and give them a pretty good shaking."

After establishing himself physically, Sargent said he was able to work on the rest of his game. He has done it well enough to be called "one of the eight best defensemen in the NHL," by Minnesota general manager Lou Nanne.

"My job basically is to move the puck and play sound defense in our end," explained Sargent. "The biggest thing I had to learn was when to go all out and when to let someone else take over. If you try to make too many end-to-end rushes you're going to tire yourself out in a hurry, and you'll end up making mistakes in your end that might cost your team the game. The coaches kept telling me to play good positional hockey and let the forwards do the work."

Six years in the NHL has taken a toll on the 25-year-old Sargent who missed part of the 1979-80 season with a back injury: He says he feels good now, but confessed he has to wear a back and knee brace. Still, he is looking to extend his career another four years. "That'll give me ten years in the NHL. That's a nice career," he mentioned.

After that? Even now Sargent and his former Bemidji high school coach Chuck Grillo are in the process of buying a resort near Brainerd which they will turn into a summer hockey camp.

Grillo, "my coach for nine years," said Sargent, "helped me out an awfully lot." Grillo, who coached Sargent for five years in hockey and four years in baseball, is coaching in the Twin Cities now, and he and Sargent often get together.

They probably have a lot to talk about as they retrace Sargent's athletic trail, and maybe they even mention some of those numerous Bemidji vs. Thief River Falls contests.

"I know it was quite a big rivalry when we played Thief River Falls," remembered Sargent. "We always had a tough time with them. They had a good run of athletes back then. I remember their '72 football team was excellent (Bemidji and Thief River Falls were Northwest Conference co-champions that fall, with the Prowlers beating the Lumberjacks 14-12 but then losing to Crookston 36-20 in the final game of the season to snap a three-year, 19-game winning streak). We always had to get psyched up to play the Prowlers."

The stop in Thief River Falls was just one of several personal appearances that Sargent, who makes his off-season home in Bemidji, will make this summer. But he enjoys it. "If it (his appearance) encourages the kids, that's great," said Sargent who sees the fun part of sports. "Athletics are fun. Not everyone is going to make it into the pros, but they can all enjoy it. Listen to your coaches, meet people and have fun," he advised.

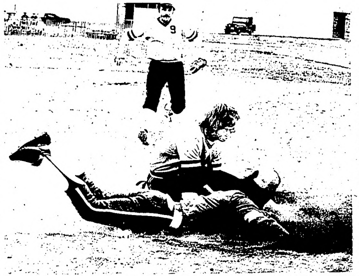
Miscellaneous

+Ron Larson is leaving his position as head basketball coach at Fergus Falls high school to take over the same position at St. Francis high school near Anoka. Larson has coached the Otters for the past three years after taking over the job when Wally Pearson resigned. He had coached previously at Underwood and served as a graduate assistant at St. Cloud State University.

+Doug Willet, a native of Dracet, Mass. and a member of the staff at Anoka-Ramsey community college, has been named the new head football coach at Staples high school, a Thief River Falls football opponent the past four years. His previous coaching duties have been at Nashua, N.H.; Peabody, Mass.; Menasha, Wis., and while earning his master's degree, he served as an assistant coach at Boston University.

+Itasca community college football coach Dave Hrouda has announced plans to direct three football camps for young athletes this summer on the Grand Rapids school campus. Designed for students ages 10 through high school, the camp instructors will include Hrouda; Tom Drazenovich, former Grand Rapids high school coach, and Steve Miller, head coach at Morningside college.

+Al Shirley, a former Thief River Falls resident now a member of the KTHI-TV news team in Fargo, was at the Thief River Falls Racquetball and Exercise club Saturday to interview Gary Sargent.



GAME-WINNING RUN was scored by Al Killian of Skaar's Pabst from Bemidji in the top of the seventh inning when he dashed home from third base on a wild pitch and crossed the plate ahead of the tag by third baseman Ron Ostby of Action Realty from Thief River Falls for a 2-1 second round victory Sunday in the 18th annual Far North fast pitch softball tournament played in Thief River Falls. Action Realty first baseman Wayne Liden watched the play. He and Ostby argued that Killian, who reached base on a fielder's choice then stole second and third, did not touch the plate on the play.

Grand Forks Team Is Far North Fast Pitch Tournament Champ

Third baseman Keith Baumer hit his second home run of the day, a one-out, two-run shot in the top of the seventh inning Sunday to break a 3-3 tie and give Molstad Excavating a 5-3 win over Bonanza Sirloin in the championship game of the 1980 Far North fast pitch softball tournament played in Thief River Falls.

It was a title game rematch of sorts from 1979 when an all-Grand Forks final featured Red River Cement out-scoring Molstad Excavating 9-7. But Molstad Excavating was a winner this time and Red River Cement is now playing under the banner of Bonanza Sirloin.

The finalists were evenly matched. They matched third inning runs before Molstad Excavating banged three base hits off Bonanza Sirloin infielders for a 2-1 lead in the top of the fifth. But highly-touted Gene Voit of Bonanza Sirloin drilled a two-run single over second base in the bottom of the inning to put the defending champions on top 3-2.

Molstad Excavating tied it with a single run in the sixth and won it on Baumer's blast in the seventh. But the winners still had to get out of a jam in the bottom of the seventh when Voit stepped to the plate with two on and two out. He hit a pop fly to short center field to end it.

Baumer's two out single in the top of the third scored the first run of the game. Baumer's second hit of the game gave the winners their 2-1 lead.

Baumer had a three run homer in the first inning of the 4-2 semifinal win over Moose Lodge of Bemidji.

Larry Riley and Don Dehn shared mound duties for the victorious Molstad crew, with Riley picking up the win in the championship. Riley said that he started pitching when he was 16 and he admits to being "22" now but he also said that he played against Moose Lodge pitcher Art Glidden in Spain in 1969!

To reach the finals in the 15-team event, Molstad Excavating beat Melvies of Thief River Falls 7-1, eliminated Northland Pro of Thief River Falls 6-1 and got by the Moose Lodge of Bemidji 4-2. Bonanza Sirloin drilled OK Tire of Bemidji 11-3, came back from a 2-0 sixth inning deficit on the strength of a grand slam home run by Voit that ignited an 11-3 win over Wright Construction of Bemidji in the quarterfinals and sidelined Skaar's Pabst of Bemidji 7-4.

Coca-Cola of Thief River Falls, after losing to the Moose Lodge of Bemidji 4-0 in the first round, came back to win the consolation championship with wins over Voyageur's Supper Club of Detroit Lakes 5-2, Melvies of Thief River Falls 5-1 and Schmidts of Thief River Falls 8-7.

Coca-Cola had 7-2 and 8-3 leads in the consolation championship contest before Schmidts pushed four runs across in the final inning to make it 8-7. Tony Johnson won it and Howard Dalager was tagged with the loss.

JAY MOUM of Thief River Falls, golfing in the Father's Day shortstop golf tournament at the Thief River Country Club Sunday, dropped in this beautiful long, up hill putt from the edge of the No. 5 green. The former Lincoln high school and Northland community college golf standout was a fifth place finisher in the championship flight yesterday with a 111, five shots behind winner Jeff Jessen of Dickinson, N.D., but just one shot from a second place tie.

Division Games Change In TRF Women's Play

A different look will be featured tonight (Monday) in the Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league as teams cross over to play opponents in the opposite division. The schedule for the first month of the season was confined to divisional play in the 16-team, two-division league.

Division II teams will be happy to rid themselves of Dwight's Hartz a 26-0 winner over The Barbers Wednesday. Diane Anderson and Diane Fisher homered for the winners who have averaged 32.4 runs over their past five games.

But a season-opening forfeit loss continues to lock Dwight's Hartz in first place Division II tie with the Schmidt Stealers, a 12-7 winner over Walseth Construction Wednesday. Nancy Fellman homered for the winners who matched Dwight's Hartz' 6-1 record.

Patsy Hunt came up with the game-winning RBI base hit in the bottom of the seventh inning to lift the Division I leading St Hilaire Saints past American Legion 9-8. Stephanie Nelson hit a home run for the St Hilaire Saints, now 6-1.

Kelly Storhaug hit a grand slam home run and a triple as Ekeren Drug took over second place in Division I with a 24-7 rout of slumping Pizza Hut.

Connie Hedlund hit two home runs and Beth Hallstrom hit another to spark Credit Bureau to a 13-11 decision over the Health Hustlers.

Home runs by Cindy Bruggeman and Patty Genereux helped Roseau Transport defeat Northern Employer's Agency 10-9.

Dawn Nelson pitched the shutout and Marilyn Burda

Father's Day Meet . . .

N.D. Golfer Wins Title

Jeff Jessen of Dickinson, N.D. emerged as winner Sunday in the championship flight of the annual Father's Day shortstop golf tournament played at the Thief River Country Club.

Jessen fashioned a two-under-par 106 and enjoyed a four-shot victory margin over three area golfers who came in at 110 — Mike Close of Grand Forks, Mike Sipe of Crookston and Greg Mirreault of Fosston.

Jay Moum of Thief River Falls was fifth with a 111.

Defending champion Tom Zieman of International Falls, trying to become the first golfer to win back-to-back Father's Day titles here since Scott Harris of Roseau did the trick in 1976 and 1977, did not finish among the leaders.

Cal Wicklander of Thief River Falls was the first flight winner over second place Scott Blankenfeld of Thief River Falls. Tom Shetler, a former Thief River Falls resident now living in Minneapolis was the consolation winner in the first flight.

Duane Wages of Crookston was the second flight winner, with Rich Johnson of Crookston finishing second and Monte Markstrom of Thief River Falls taking consolation honors.

Dave Peterson of Thief River Falls beat Milt Reierson of Thief River Falls for the third flight title, with Clint Claybrook of Crookston grabbing the consolation prize.

In an all-Thief River Falls fourth flight finish it was Myrle Carlson emerging as winner, Curt Geatz was second and Bill Moreau was the consolation winner.

Larry Shetler of Thief River Falls took the fifth flight over runner-up Bill Hogan of Thief River Falls and consolation winner Bill Pemberton of Crookston.

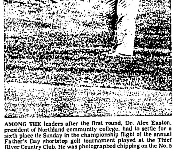
Bill Jury Is Candidate For Junior Olympics

Bill Jury of Thief River Falls has been named to the preliminary roster of the Junior Team Minnesota that will compete this summer in the AHAUS Junior Olympic hockey trials in Colorado Springs.

Jury, a 1980 Lincoln high school graduate, was one of 27 Minnesota high school products invited to attend the Team Minnesota try-out camp Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Richfield.

Seventeen of the players were named to the team, along with six alternates. The players named to Team Minnesota will compete in the Junior Olympic trials, billed as the first step toward the formation of the 1984 United States Olympic hockey team, July 5-12 at Colorado Springs.

Jury, although bothered by a back injury through much of the 1979-80 high school season, as one of four goaltenders invited to the Team Minnesota try-outs.



AMONG THE leaders after the first round, Dr. Alex Easton, president of Northland community college, had to settle for a sixth place tie Sunday in the championship flight of the annual Father's Day shortstop golf tournament played at the Thief River Country Club. He was photographed chipping on the No. 5 green.

NEWFOLDEN BASE RUNNER Brian Skadsem eluded the tag of Thief River Falls catcher Jeff Cwikla to score in the third inning of Thursday's Northwest American Legion baseball league game played on the fairgrounds diamond. Skadsem, who was 3-for-4 at the plate, scored from second base on an infield error to pull Newfolden within 3-2 at the time. But Thief River Falls lengthened it into a 7-3 win for a 2-0 start in Northwest League play. Newfolden is winless in two outings.

Northwest American Legion League Baseball . . .

TRF 7-3 Winner Over Newfolden

Thief River Falls collected just five base hits Thursday, but found other methods to score in a 7-3 Northwest American Legion baseball league victory over Newfolden on the fairgrounds diamond.

A 10-2 winner at Crookston Tuesday, Thief River Falls upped its Northwest League record to 2-0 with the win over Newfolden, winless in two league starts after falling to Roseau 11-3 earlier in the week. Both teams will face Northwest League foes Tuesday when Thief River Falls hosts Roseau and Newfolden visits Warroad for 7 p.m. games.

Shortage of base hits off young Newfolden righthander Ted Thompson didn't keep Thief River Falls from putting runners on base, thanks to nine Newfolden errors, four walks and two hit-batsmen. And once they got on the bases the winners started trucking — stealing seven bases.

It started in the bottom of the first inning when Jeff Ulrich hit a two-out, two-run opposite field home run. Winning pitcher Kevin Sanders, a left-hander making his first start in either high school or American Legion play, led it off by beating out an infield single.

That gave Thief River Falls two runs on two hits in the first inning. But it wasn't that easy the rest of the way as the winners scraped up a run on no hits in the second; three runs on just one hit in the third; and a run on no hits again in the fifth.

Tom Drury was hit by a pitch to start off the second, stole second, went to third on a passed ball error and scored on a safety squeeze bunt laid down by Dave Kays.

Newfolden cut the margin to 3-2 in the top of the third when Brian Skadsem, who finished 3-for-4 at the plate, singled to left and Gene Kaml, a Middle River high school product who played American Legion ball in Thief River Falls last summer, reached base on a fielder's choice — a suicide squeeze that cut down Todd Stokke, who had walked to start the inning, at the plate. But shortstop Scott McKeever couldn't come up with an inning-ending ground ball that allowed Skadsem to score from second base, and Kaml scored when catcher Jeff Cwikla overthrew second on a stolen base — one of six for the visitors, giving the two teams 13 for the game.

Thief River Falls got those runs back in the bottom of the inning when Mark Harder was hit by a pitch, McKeever walked and Cwikla reached base on an error. Harder scored on an infield ground-out by Ulrich; McKeever scored on a wild pitch; and Cwikla trotted home on a ground-rule double to right field by Mark Schmitke.

It became 7-2 in the fifth when Jim Nyland reached base on a fielder's choice — after a Newfolden error — stole two bases and scored when the catcher's throw to third sailed into left field.

Newfolden finished the scoring in the sixth when Brad Cook led off with a double to left, stole third and scored on a delayed double steal, with Dave Nordine, who had walked.

The victory ran Thief River Falls' overall record to 6-0.

GARY SARGENT of the Minnesota North Stars chatted with fans and autographed team pictures Saturday when he made a promotional appearance at the new Thief River Falls Racquetball and Exercise Club.

Men's Slow Pitch . . .

Last Unbeaten Squad Beaten

That crash you heard Friday wasn't thunder. It was the sound of the final unbeaten team in the 32-team Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association losing a resounding 15-5 decision as the American Legion Raiders overwhelmed previously undefeated McDonald's-Dallmann 15-5 in a key American League West Division match-up that left the combatants in a virtual first place tie.

In other Friday night, action, Popplers-Action Realty messed up a chance to grab the American League East Division lead by losing to Coca-Cola 12-3 as Randy Wicklander went 4-for-4 and Jim Olson drove in four runs for the winners. But Popplers-Action Realty managed to hang on to a piece of the lead by bouncing back to take Furuseth-Nelson 11-3 in the second half of a split doubleheader.

IWA routed Thorp-KKAQ 11-1 and Hobo Haus edged Phase II 9-7.

Furuseth-Nelson and Swenson Plumbing made noise Thursday with doubleheader sweeps.

Playing errorless ball for the night, Furuseth-Nelson edged the once-beaten TRF Merchants 8-6 and handled Terry's Mobil 12-2 behind Bob Baune's 3-for-3 plate performance.

Swenson Plumbing stamped itself as an American League West Division contender with a two-game sweep over winless Arnold Realty 10-3 and challenger Tony Dorn 10-4. Scott Sabo hit a home run in a big six-run eighth inning for the winners against Tony Dorn.

Rick Rux was 3-for-3 as the St. Hilaire Bears defeated Arnold Realty 11-5.

Consumer's Co-op gained sole possession of first place in the National League East Division Wednesday by beating Dallmann Athletic 8-7. Stu Peterson went 4-for-4 and Mitch Hoard legged out an inside-the-park home run for the winners who improved their record to 7-2.

Hardees, meanwhile, maintained its position at the National League West Division leader with a 6-5 victory over Great Northwest Agency, dropping the losers from a first place tie in the National League East with Consumer's Co-op.

Bob Fleming was 4-for-4 and drove in three runs to lead Schumacher's Tireland to a 22-7 triumph over The Club.

The two-run home run by Tom Puppe helped lift the TRF Aggies to a 16-11 victory over Dallmann Athletic.

Elsewhere Wednesday, IWA handled Sound Level-Holthusen 14-4, First Northwestern Insurance Agency

Bass Protection

In Minnesota we fish the sunfish and the crappie the year around. Both species are members of the sunfish family. The bass is a member of the sunfish but it is protected in our state.

Here is a quotation from the book Outdoor Horizons: "Bass are prolific spawners. Too little fishing can be more damaging than heavy fishing pressure. We have the choice of either harvesting the bass crop or contributing to the waste of natural mortality. A large percentage of the bass die of natural mortality. Too many Minnesota bass are stunted in growth because not enough of them are being harvested."

Minnesota law states that the bass season opens when the walleye season opens. This is up to the conservation director. He may delay the bass opener.

Walleye Jackpot

During a recent weekend Marv Koep's Fishing Pro Shop at Nisswa had 13 walleyes registered all weighing over seven pounds. The largest weighed 13-pounds, 12-ounces and was caught by Ray Bahma, Jr. of Brainerd in Gull Lake. Eight of the 13 big ones were caught in Gull Lake. Two were taken from Whitefish. Most of the walleyes were caught on leeches. There was one 11-pounder and one 10-pounder included in the list. Five walleyes were in the seven pound category.

Lake of the Woods

Donna Hamre of Elmer's Sportsmen's Center sends this report from Baudette:

"All hell broke loose on a recent Saturday morning after constantly improving throughout the week. Pine Island and the gaps on both ends of it reported excellent fishing.

Minnows again brought in the large stringers while leeches brought in the prize walleyes. Depths ranged from eight to 14 feet. Sandy areas were best but a few fish were starting to be picked up on the rocks.

Most fish were good eating size and we're looking for another good week of fishing."

Water Carnival

The 36th annual Bemidji water carnival will take place July 2-6. It will include boat rides, water show, parade, fireworks and canoe races. If you wish more information you may contact Gary Borgen or Joan Brain of the Bemidji Jaycees, P.O. Box 293, Bemidji, 56601.

NHF Day

September 27 is the day designated as national hunting and fishing day by the national shooting sports foundation. The first NHF day was celebrated nine years ago and is steadily growing. Sportsmen's clubs may obtain information about NHF day by writing to National Shooting Sports Foundation, Inc., 1075 Post Road, Riverside, Connecticut 06878.

Bass Opener

Minnesota's 1980 bass season opened with many limits of two and 2½ pound bass being taken from many lakes. Last year the biggest bass caught in Minnesota was taken from Prior Lake. It weighed 8-pounds, 10-ounces and was caught by Joel Kalton of Prior Lake. This year many limits of smaller bass have already been taken from this lake. A lot of bass are still spawning and still in the shallows.

Lake Minnetonka bass opener was the best in years. Not many large ones were taken but many limits of bass weighing 1½ to two pounds were registered. Plastic worms were the best bait.

Best small mouth bass report comes from Lake Vermillion. Many limits of small mouthed bass were registered, with a good number of them running in the five-pound class.

Elks Defeat Hartz 8-5 In Babe Ruth Baseball Game

First meeting of the 1980 season between the two Thief River Falls Lake Agassiz Babe Ruth baseball league teams — the Elks and Hartz — produced a 8-5 win Wednesday for the established Elks over the first-year Hartz ball club.

Hartz, on the strength of a four-run fourth inning that featured a two-run RBI bloop single by Gary Cornell, carried a 5-4 lead into the sixth inning.

But the Elks scored four times in the top of the sixth to take command, with Tim Bergland hitting a two-run double and Scott Johnston stroking a run-scoring triple during the outburst.

Hartz out-hit the Elks 9-7, with Cornell and Alan Ness getting two hits apiece for the losers. Cornell also collected three RBI's. Lonnie Aune and Tim Bottem both had two hits for the winners, with Bottem doubling and leading off the fifth with a line-shot home run over the fairgrounds diamond fence.

The mound decision went to Bottem, who walked seven and struck out four. Cornell, who succeeded Mark Gere and Ness on the mound for Hartz, was tagged with the loss.

It was the season-opener for coach Charlie Cornell's Hartz ball club. Bruce Williams' Elks had three games under their belts before entering the 8 p.m. game, including an 18-2 win that afternoon over Goodridge.

Elks — Goodridge

Kerry Wollin pitched a three-hitter, walking just two and striking out 10 as the Thief River Falls Elks defeated Goodridge 18-2 Wednesday afternoon on the fairgrounds diamond.

Thief River Falls broke the game open early, pushing nine runs across the plate in the second inning that featured a bases-loaded triple by Scott Johnston.

Jeff Milender led the 12-hit Thief River Falls attack with three base hits. Wollin, Johnston, Tim Bottem, and Brian Kemnitz had two hits each, and Wollin matched Johnston's three RBI's.

The Elks, now 2-1, had a Friday doubleheader against Red Lake postponed.

Hartz — EGF

Brian Garceau pitched a three-hitter, striking out 10 to lead Thief River Falls Hartz past East Grand Forks 15-4 Thursday to square its record at 1-1.

Thief River Falls took a 5-1 lead and pumped in ten runs over the final two innings to make it a rout.

Alan Ness led a 10-hit Thief River Falls attach with a 3-for-3 performance at the plate, including a triple. He also scored four runs and drove in three. Garceau was 2-for-2, driving in three runs.

Preps — EGF

Thief River Falls' record dropped to 2-2 in 13-year-old Prep League Babe Ruth play when East Grand Forks' Bill Zeller pitched a three-hitter Friday in an 8-3 victory.

Ryan Drees, who gave up six hits, was the losing pitcher.

Schedule

Farm Structure Is Topic Of Project

"Big farming" is driving "family farming" from the American countryside, and the federal government shares responsibility, said Minnesota farmers who participated in the farm structure project study sponsored by the Minnesota Project and Minnesota Farmers Union.

Farm Structure project was begun last fall in response to a call from U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland for a "new dialogue" on federal farm policy. Study's findings were gleaned from roundtable discussions with farmers in Grant, Dodge, Nobles, Clay and Wadena counties.

"The farmers we talked with said many government programs have helped the large farmer more than the small to moderate-sized farmer," said Gene Wenstrom, a farmer from Elbow Lake and director of the farm structure project. "The result has been a growth in the average size of Minnesota farms, a reduction in the number of farms, and the loss of farm jobs."

Forty years ago, he noted, the average farm size in the state was 165 acres. In 1979, the average was 291 acres, a 76 per cent increase. During the decade 1968 to 1978, Minnesota lost 9,000 farms and 46,000 farm jobs.

Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, called upon state and national policy-makers to "strengthen the family farm by implementing the recommendations of the farm structure project." Carpenter stated that the project study will inform public officials of the concerns of farmers regarding many important issues, including farm prices and income.

He noted that the farm structure project made recommendations concerning federal farm programs that would "serve the deliberations leading to the passage of the 1981 farm bill — a legislative act which will be of prime significance to agriculture in the years ahead."

Leading the list of recommendations is a call for increasing the federal government loans and price supports to levels that reflect cost-of-production and cost-of-living increases.

Other recommendations are:

+A maximum limit on payments under the federal price support program;

+Innovative credit programs to help new farmers purchase land and help all family farmers meet operating costs;

+A national transportation policy that seeks an efficient, coordinated transportation network serving rural communities;

+Increased incentives for soil conservation and preservation of agricultural land;

+Expanded availability of alternative farm energy sources, such as alcohol fuels, solar and wind power and methane fuels;

+Facilitating the creation of new farmer cooperatives that would encourage the development of direct marketing of farm products;

+Removal of tax provisions that benefit the largest farmers and non-farm investors to the detriment of the family farmers.

"Big farming is ultimately harmful to the agricultural economy because of its capital-intensive and energy-intensive nature," said Rod Kopp, principal author of the farm structure project study. "Farmers become more heavily burdened with debt and vulnerable to fluctuations in petroleum prices and supplies.

"The large debt load can undermine soil conservation because farmers feel compelled to put every available acre into production," Kopp added: "They become locked into one or two major cash crops and do not follow time-tested methods of crop rotation."

Farm structure project study also details the decline in rural communities that can result from the growth of big farming. The study concludes:

"Clearly, the loss of family farms. . . causes economic hardship and human distress far beyond its impact on the structure of agriculture alone."

Follow-up meetings are being scheduled in rural Minnesota for later this summer. Further information about the farm structure project and its findings and recommendations can be obtained from Rod Kopp at the Minnesota Project (612-870-4700) and Mark McAfee at the Minnesota Farmers Union (612-646-4861).

New Sunflower Breeding Lab Starts In Area

Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. has launched a hybrid sunflower breeding program and its first sunflower breeding station is near Moorhead.

"We think the acreage planted to sunflowers in northwestern Minnesota, eastern North Dakota and Northeastern South Dakota is large enough to justify a major breeding program," says Dr. Donald Duvick, director of the company's plant breeding division.

Sunflowers are the seventh crop for which the firm has a research program. The others are corn, sorghum, soybeans, alfalfa, wheat and cotton, and the company's investment in plant breeding will total approximately $9.3 million this year.

Sunflower breeder Dr. Dave Gedge has set up a temporary office and laboratory at Moorhead, and is planting a 15-acre breeding nursery nine miles north of there. A permanent office will be established next year in the Fargo-Moorhead area.

Yield trails begin this spring as a first step in selecting new sunflower lines from which hybrids can be bred.

Dr. Gedge will concentrate on developing hybrids adapted to North Dakota, Minnesota and northeastern South Dakota, particularly the Red River Valley area along the Minnesota-Dakota border.

It will take at least three to five years of breeding to develop new, improved sunflower lines, according to Dr. Duvick. Once these are developed, testing of experimental hybrids can begin.

Dr. Gedge worked with Dr. Gustavo Vira this past winter at the research station in Argentina. U.S. and Argentian sunflower breeders will closely coordinate breeding programs, Dr. Duvick said. "When it's winter here, it's summer there," he pointed out. "This allows us to continually produce new generations."

DOT Enforces Ruling On Hwy. Exit/Entrance

John Youngquist, district engineer for Mn-DOT at Detroit Lakes, reports that vehicles exiting or entering any controlled access highway may do so only at designated locations. He stated that some motorists regularly cross the ditches rather than using designated entrances.

This is in violation of Minnesota Statute 169.305 Subdivision 1(A) which states that no person shall drive a vehicle onto or from any controlled access highway except at such entrances and exits as are established by public authority. Youngquist stated that anyone violating this statute is guilty of a petty misdemeanor.

THIEF RIVER FALLS OR ST. HILAIRE? Visitors entering Thief River Falls via highway 32 north in Thief River Falls may have wondered about the size of the town they were approaching this past weekend as they passed a St. Hilaire sign when entering the vicinity of Thief River Falls.

Wenstrom Asks Farmer Use Of Aid Programs

Gene Wenstrom, Congressional candidate from Elbow Lake, said he is urging farmers in drought stricken northwestern Minnesota to use federal disaster aid programs.

"There are programs available to help farmers whose crops have been damaged by the drought. They are designed to help farmers and it would be a shame if they were not used because they had not been adequately publicized," Wenstrom said.

Northwestern Minnesota has received less than seven-tenths of an inch of rain since mid-March, resulting in substantial damage to crops. There are reports that many crops will die within 10 days if no rain falls.

Wenstrom said farmers who fear their crops may be wiped out because of the drought should contact their local ASCS offices and file disaster claims. Farmers should contact their local ASCS office before destroying any crop, Wenstrom added.

Wheat, barley and corn growers are eligible to receive one half of the federal target price for each bushel of crop determined to be less than 60 per cent of the established yield. Wenstrom said he has spoken with local ASCS officials and officials at the United States department of agriculture, and both have said funds for such disaster relief would be received by farmers very soon.

Wenstrom said. Gov. Al Quie should consider declaring northwestern Minnesota a disaster area if the situation does not improve. If a disaster area was declared, low-interest emergency Farmers Home administration loans would be available to grain and livestock farmers of the area.

Seek Disaster Aid, Suggests Wheat Ass'n.

Farmers in Minnesota experiencing weather related crop damage should contact their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service office as soon as possible for information on disaster relief programs, advises the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers. According to Grower President Jorgen Knutson, reports have been received in the Grower office in Red Lake Falls that some farmers have been plowing down crops that have dried out, without first having the ASCS office certify the acreage and appraise the damage. Knutson warned that a field must be certified and appraised in order for the farmer to be eligible for any disaster payments in the fall.

According to Knutson, disaster payments on wheat are equal to 50 per cent of the target price, or about $1.81 per bushel, based on 60 per cent of the farmer's established or proven yield. Maximum disaster payment is $100,000 per farm. In addition, the producer is also eligible to receive difficiency payments on the remaining 40 per cent if the crop is left on the field for harvest, or if the crop is plowed down and the land seeded again. "If the producer is going to plow up the ground to reseed, the crop should be certified by the ASCS before plowing", Knutson stated. However, if the crop is to be left for harvest, the field must be certified by July 15.

Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers also advises farmers who plow under a damaged crop to leave a test strip for harvest. Before plowing, however, the farmer should contact the ASCS office to determine the size and frequency of such test strips to be left for harvest. Adjuster may appraise the crop higher than it would have actually turned out at harvest time. If the harvested test strip produces less than the appraisal, the ASCS will accept the test strip results, and the farmer could receive a higher disaster payment.

4H CLUB

City View

City View 4-H club held it's monthly meeting June 9 at the city auditorium. Meeting was called to order by president Nanci Kezar. Roll call was taken and minutes from the last meeting were read.

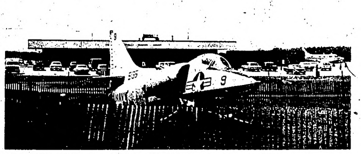
6 Pennington Junior Leaders At Conference

Six Pennington county 4-H members will be among the 800-plus teen delegates from across the state attending the 1980 junior leader conference June 16-20 at the Minnesota state fairgrounds in St. Paul.

Included in this year's conference are Jill Stenberg, Kim Koropatnicki, Mary Courneya, Roy Dobias, Mark Thune and Dale Dobias.

According to Deborah Matero, Pennington county extension agent, the annual conference provides 4-H teens with the opportunity to learn about leadership through workshops and speeches. Annual election of the Minnesota 4-H federation officers for the coming year is also held during the conference.

Highlighting this year's junior leader conference is a keynote address by Dr. Alan Zimmerman, Mankato state university on "Self Esteem." Other conference speakers include Dr. George Shapiro, University of Minnesota, on "Relating to Peers-Parents"; Bev Wenshau, former Marathon runner, on "Physical Wellness"; Steve Keppel, president of United Handicapped federation, Minneapolis, on "Relating to Others"; and Mary Buller, recreation specialist, Lafayette, Indiana, on "Programming with a Purpose: The Seven S's of Recreation".



PART OF THE PLANE which will be mounted on a pedestal at the newly-created veterans memorial garden at the Thief River Falls regional airport has been on site for several days. Wings for the aircraft, which were also to have been shipped from the navy storage depot at Millington, Tenn., have not yet arrived. Fuselage for the A-4 Skyhawk which last saw military service in Vietnam is shown near the point where it will eventually be placed on display. Flower planting at the site is being done today and sodding of grass areas will be done on Friday. Construction crews are at work on forms for the pedestal on which the airplane will be mounted, and lights to illuminate the flag, monument and aircraft at night are also scheduled to be installed this week.

6th Art In The Park Set This Weekend

Several out-of-town artists as well as a number of artists from this area have indicated an interest in exhibiting at the fine arts show and sale scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at the Soo Line depot in Thief River Falls. The show is part of the sixth annual art in the park program sponsored by the Thief River Falls community arts council.

Russell Norberg, a group of artists from Alexandria, Jean Johnson from Oslo, Frances Karlsson from Roseau, Gladys Porter and others will have art works on exhibit and for sale. Local and area artists indicating an interest in exhibiting at the show include Ethel Sanders, LeRoy Aasland, Kim Waale, Keith Wheeler, Ruth Oen; Alan Swenson and Jim Hoks.

The show will be open to the public Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited. Artists who would like to exhibit but have not made arrangements are assured that space is available. They may contact Marge Hanson at 681-2217 or Dee Forney at 681-5916, or bring their art works to the Soo Line depot (chamber of commerce office) prior to the show.

Children will be given exposure to creative activity during a children's art in the park Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Elks park, south of Third street and west of the Third street bridge. Linnae Enge and Kathy Ebbighausen will direct activities in crafts, clay modeling and other media and children attending should dress in play clothing. This activity is also provided free of charge.

Bus Service To Scout Day Camp To Be Provided

Bus service will be provided for the Girl scout day camp to be held Monday through Friday, June 23-27, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Camp MOE south of Thief River Falls.

Girls wishing to ride the bus to and from camp each day should be at the school pick-up point nearest their home 10 minutes before the scheduled pick-up time, which will be 8:25 a.m. at Knox, 8:30 a.m. at Washington and 8:45 a.m. at St. Hilaire schools.

Directors Of Fair To Meet

Directors of the Pennington county fair association will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Rex cafe meeting room. The annual county fair is scheduled for July 17, 18, 19 and 20 at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

St. Pauli To Observe 85th Anniversary

Celebration of the 85th anniversary of St. Pauli Lutheran congregation and dedication of interior remodeling and church addition will take place Sunday, July 6, at the church located one mile north of Hazel.

Festival communion Service will begin at 11 a.m. with Rev. Lloyd Heroff, pastor of the congregation, delivering the sermon. Following the morning service a dinner will be served by women of the church and at 2 p.m. the dedication service will be conducted and the 85th anniversary celebrated.

Rev. Donald Peterson of Karlstad, president of the Thief River Falls conference of the American Lutheran church, and Rev. James R. Swanson, former pastor at St. Pauli now serving at Cass Lake, will be guest speakers. Special music will be presented by several groups and history of the congregation will be presented.

Social time with serving of coffee and an anniversary cake will follow the afternoon program.

Objection To Property Use To Be Reconsidered

Adjourned regular June 9 Thief River Falls city council meeting continued with a special hearing last evening concerning the petition requesting discontinuance of objectionable use of the property described as Lots 1, 2 and 3, Block 17, Porter's addition.

Property concerned is an automobile repair shop owned by Jerry Wetch, and located near Al's Repair on highway 32 south in Thief River Falls.

A major point of discussion during the hearing involved the question of eliminating the business, or the objections (excessive noise, junk in the area, driving hazards caused by cars parked in the driveway) to the business.

From a legal standpoint, Robert Wurst, city attorney, reminded council members that the garage, in an area zoned R-2 (residential), has been grandfathered into a non-conforming use structure since its very beginning when it was a mechanic shop and gas station combination.

"As long as the business stays in the same use as it was previously zoned," council can't close down the business," Alderman Bill Penning stated. "But," he added, "council can eliminate those things not conforming to the use."

Various residents from within 300 feet of the property appeared before council members to voice their opinions on the issue.

Pat Halling of 420 Duluth av. S. stated his objection first by describing the problem as an issue which has remained for the past three years.

"Nothing I can see has been done with this problem," he said. "The business is a safety hazard with cars parked there all night, trash blows across the street from the place, and the snow is not shoveled in the winter.

"This whole thing is ridiculous the way it's set up," he continued. "This has got to be a decision of Thief River Falls, not one man," Halling said.

Arguing against these points was Wetch who stated that he did not know when cars were being worked on until all hours of the night, he did not know where the garbage could be coming from, and that any driveway could pose a safety hazard.

"The business was there before a lot of the homes (who are protesting the use)," he said. "If that's the case, why don't we eliminate other businesses around town?"

Alderman Ambrose Wysoski, presiding at the meeting in the absence of Mayor Bob Carlson, reminded those present that the area has been cleaned up in the past week. "I'm not in favor of the business," he reminded council members and petitioners at the meeting. "I think the business will go right back to the way it was. If there is nothing wrong with the area, there won't be petitions. We have to act on the past — not on the business now, after it's been cleaned up."

Anna Waale Bertha Hastad Frank Armstrong

OUTSTANDING SENIOR CITIZENS for Pennington county in 1980 were selected by a county selection committee recently from among nominations made by members of the interested public. Anna Waale was selected as the outstanding woman with Bertha Hastad as alternate. Frank Armstrong was named the outstanding senior man. Mrs. Waale and Armstrong will represent the county at ceremonies at the Minnesota state fair. All three selections will be recognized during a senior citizen program at the Pennington county fair in Thief River Falls in July.

Bemidji Body Builder Strives To Attain Goal

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

Body building training began at the early age of 12 for Dr. Marshall Muirhead, who has also been a dentist for the past two years in Bemidji.

"I'd lose whatever I'd gain during sports throughout school," he said during our recent interview with him after one of his three seminars on weight training at the Thief River Falls Racquetball and Exercise club Saturday.

"That made it hard to become involved in any type of competition with anyone," he added.

He has actually been involved in serious weight training for the past five years, he said, while he has been training 'hard' for the past three years.

The past four years, 1976-1979, will remain significant moments in Muirhead's life, for it was during that time that he first competed for the Mr. Minnesota title.

"In 1976 I entered my first competition after getting into shape," he said. "I thought I'd take third or fourth place but I took second."

He went into hard training after that year, to again compete for the Mr. Minnesota title — but again was runner-up. The same situation repeated itself in 1978. By the time 1979 arrived, Muirhead was ready to compete for a fourth time. Maybe this time he would be Mr. Minnesota — not a runner-up, he thought.

"I thought I had better body symmetry last year (1979)," he said. "And I thought I had a pretty good chance."

But last year proved less successful than the first three years' final results, as he took third place in the competition. This year he will try again for the title.

"It will be tougher this year," he admitted. "It's conceivable that I'll place lower — like third or fourth. There is more competition in the event each year. The caliber of body building is so much better now than it used to be."

Muirhead maintains a strict, well-balanced diet while in training, he said.

"I eat as little junk food as possible," he advised. "My diet consists mainly of salads, eggs, lean meat and some fruit."

He also takes a vitamin mineral tablet daily, which he said makes him feel more eager to work out. Taking the vitamin could possibly be just a mental phenomenon, he added, although he believes they do help him feel better.

He also takes a solution comprised of protein powder or milk powder which is low in calories and is a non-fat source of protein, he said.

"I like to lose at least one pound a week until I have just five per cent body fat," he said.

And Muirhead feels no different than any of the other thousands of dieters who work to accomplish their goals. He added that he does not believe in fad diets seemingly so popular today.

"You're under stress when dieting," he said. "You're crabby and irritable."

Right now, the 5'9" Muirhead weighs approximately 200 pounds.

"A hundred and ninety pounds with 10 more pounds of muscle would be the ideal weight for someone of my size to compete in a contest," he said. And that's what Muirhead will work on for his next Mr. Minnesota contest in November.

"At that weight, you look decent yet competitive," he said.

Muirhead realizes he will not, in reality, win first place in every contest he enters, he said. Yet, "I always believe I'll win," he said. "But I'm just satisfied to enter a contest and have someone say I look good. I enjoy competing in major body building contests and just looking good."

And there is nothing unusual about wanting to look good, Muirhead said.

"It's not like looking in a mirror and continuously admiring yourself," he said.

During the late 1960s, body building standards rose. Mr. America contests became more competitive and competitors now are in so much better shape than they used to be, Muirhead said.

People have come to realize that body building is an interesting competition, whereas it used to be more narcissistic, he said.

"In a way, it's somewhat egocentric — just as any sport is," Muirhead said. "But it's no worse than a runner wanting to run that extra mile or a pitcher in baseball striving to attain better pitching techniques."

Muirhead believes that it is better to work with a partner during weight training sessions, he said.

"You tend not to miss workouts," he said. "If there's someone there waiting for

Catholic Foresters Note 70th Anniversary

CELEBRATING Mass at the 70th anniversary of the National Catholic Society of Foresters, St. Ann's court, 855, was Rev. Rick Lambert. The anniversary celebration was held June 8 at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city.

SUMMARY of contributions to benevolences and charities was given at the 75th anniversary celebration of the Catholic Soceity of Foresters by Rose Vaudrin. Among those listed were 31 scholarships, amounting to $750.

Seventieth anniversary of the National Catholic Society of Foresters, St. Ann's court 855, was observed on Sunday, June 8, at St. Bernard's Catholic church. The observance began at 11:30 a.m., with a Mass with Rev. Rick Lambert as celebrant. A dinner and program followed.

At the request of Rev. Adolp Dingman, St. Ann's court was organized on June 18, 1910 with 19 charter members. They were Mrs. Minnie McGinn, Nellie McGinty, Mrs. Ann Barzen, Mrs. Eleanor Tarrant, Mrs. Flora Hance, (mother of Mrs. Florentine Kozojed); Mrs. Georgine Thievenge, Fannie Protz, (mother of Fred Protz); Mrs. Mary Warner, (mother of Camille Dostal and Mary Dryden); Mrs. Florence Effinger, Mrs. Mary Soards, Mrs. Isabel Bryant, Mrs. Josephine Bernier, Mrs. Mary Roark, Mrs. Elizabeth Madden, Mrs. Marie Rochefort, Mrs. Mary Schmitz, Mary White, Sophie Wieber, (who attended the 50th anniversary celebration); Margaret Flynn and Mary McGinn. All are deceased.

Records show that Mrs. Tarrant was the first chief ranger (later changed to president.) She served until December of that year, when Mrs. McGinn took office and served in that capacity for 19 years. During the years, in addition to its insurance, the court raised funds for the church and related organizations by having socials, card parties and Penny funds. Contributions were given to the Knights of Columbus, during World War I, to send a chaplain to the Front; to the Sisters Home, the cemetery association for the erection of an altar and crucifix, Far East relief, orphans of the diocese, Catholic Digest subscription to Northwestern hospital, Fergus Falls State hospital, $500 to the organ fund, 31 scholarships amounting to $750; a record player for the junior court, and a cabinent for vestments.

The court has also paid insurance premiums for children and adults during severe illnesses, assisted families suffering losses due to fires, hosted farewell parties for the priests when they have left the parish, and contributed towards Rev. Bernauer's trip to Germany.

Reporting on the court's history were Christine Giefer, Rose Vaudrin and Caroline Bedard. It was noted that as more members were gained, better insurance was available. In 1919, Christine Gjefer volunteered to write the ordinary life policy. This was her introduction to writing insurance for the next 50 years, served as field representative. She stated that in the early years, each prospective member was interviewed by two members and had to pass a physical by both a local and a High Court doctor. The initiation dinners were the social events of the year. Mrs. Giefer stated that at first membership was limited to women. The change was made in 1944 when James Fisher became the first male to join.

The court was instrumental in the organization of a court for Junior Foresters in 1944. Serving as organizer and first director was Mrs. George Werstlein. Their activities, meetings, and parties at Christmas and Halloween, are still supervised by the senior court. Current junior leader is Sherry LaCourlere.

Other events through the years have included the supervising of live nativity scenes within some instances the infant playing the part of Jesus, 10 years later served the role as Joseph; picnics at the Connelly farm that ended with toasting marshmallows and group singing, dances at the Odd fellow hall, the sponsoring of a Girl Scout troop, a fancy dress-up party in the Women's club rooms, meetings in the Florentine hall in the old Evelyn Hotel; May Day parties honoring Senior citizens and picnics at Maple Lake. Scrap books and mementos of these events added to the history of the court.

Also adding to the program were musical selections by Mrs. Kathy Erickson, her daughters, Mary Joe and Sheila Holtan, Michele Kaspari and Kristi LaCoursiere.

Among those attending the celebration were the court's past presidents Florentine Kozojed, Christine Geifer and Elayne Pahlen. Also present were representatives from the courts at Red Lake Falls and Plummer.

Presiding at the program was President Caroline Bedard. She read the congratulatory messages from the courts at Tabor, Moorhead, Waubun and Chicago. She also presented a rosary to the current officers in appreciation for the work they are doing.

A congratulatory telephone call was also received from former member Angeline Breznay of Seattle, Wash..

The lunch served featured an anniversary cake, baked and decorated by June Tatro.

Melissa Marie Magner Baptized At St. Joseph's

Melissa Marie Magner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylyn Magner, received the sacrament of Holy Baptism on May 18 at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Red Lake Falls, with Rev. Jerome Felion officiating.

Serving as godparents were Vonnie and Bob Gustafson of Crookston.

Present were the child's brother, Brett, the sponsors and their children, Kim and Kirsten, the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carpenter, great grandmother Mrs. Louis Carpenter; uncles, aunts and cousins, Kristi Carpenter, Chad Carpenter, Tammy, Keith, Jonah and Josiah Carpenter.

A dinner followed at the Magner home in Red Lake Falls.

Reserve Bank Says Area Can Beat Recession

Although unforeseen events early in 1980 have increased uncertainty about the regional economy, the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis still believes that the region can avoid a recession.

Minneapolis Fed's regional forecasting model predicts that Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, northwestern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan (the ninth federal reserve district) will have two per cent growth in employment and 13 per cent inflation in 1980. This is the same prediction it made at the beginning of the year.

The prediction, published in the bank's current "Quarterly Review," is subject to more uncertainty than it was earlier in the year. Four economic developments, in particular, have made the bank less confident in this forecast of no recession. Farm income fell, interest rates rose to record levels, a credit control program was imposed, and the nation apparently entered a deeper-than-expected recession. These developments have made a regional recession more likely.

Forecast of the bank's model is still plausible, though, in spite of these developments. Past experience suggests that the government will step in with higher price supports or other help if the drop in farm income continues. Interest rates have plummeted in recent weeks. Credit controls have already been reduced, and some think they may be eliminated soon. In addition, the region, because of its industrial diversity, typically has stronger economic growth than the nation during a slowdown.

Perhaps more important, the bank's regional forecasting model has so far given very accurate predictions regardless of the turbulence of the economy. In the first quarter, for instance, its predictions for employment growth and inflation within the district were extremely accurate.

Sixth Art In The Park Set Here This Week

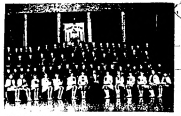
All day Saturday the monthly flea market will be held at Floyd B. Olson park in downtown Thief River Falls. A pottery maker and wood carver will be at the flea market during the day and will also have samples of their work on display at the fine arts show.

An old-fashioned Sunday afternoon is planned for Sunday in the Elks park when a sing-along will be held and coffee, lemonade and ice cream will be served by local 4-H clubs. Persons boating on the river are encouraged to dock their boats and join in the festivities which will take place from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Melba Penning will be in charge of the music portion of the day.



JESSHEIM, NORWAY school band (Skolekorps) will perform in concert June 28 at 3 p.m. in the Oklee high school auditorium for the annual Setesdals Laget convention. This will be the band's 10th anniversary tour and consists of 60 musicians and 10 majorettes between the ages of 12 and 17. Band is directed by professor Harold Tondevaldshagen.

Objection To Property Use Reconsidered

"All I am arguing for is for my livelihood," Wetch said. "They're (petitioners) taxpayers but so am I."

Following this, Wetch presented a petition to council members including the names of those in favor of his business at its present location.

Other property owners within the area then stated their objections to the business which included the question of having to have another petition if the property is again not cleaned up in a few years; that it made no sense to argue about something that, two weeks from now, would be the same problem; and that painting the building would not solve the problem (the building is being painted by Wetch in an effort to solve one of the objections in the area residents petition which states, "the color of the building is repugnant and inconsistent with the subdued environment we wish to present in a residential setting."

Speaking in favor of the business was Judy Kukowski, whose fiance presently works at the garage located at the site in question.

"We should be allowed to start and have a business," she said. "And that takes more than two days or two weeks. We shouldn't be blamed for something that happened years ago."

No action was taken at the hearing which was adjourned to reconsider the issue in 120 days (September 9).

In other business, the change order removing Ranum construction, contractor of the fire hall mural project, was passed by council members. It was resolved that a May 27 meeting that Bob Kurkowski, artist, would continue the project to receive the direct payment of $2,500 (instead of the initial $1,500) upon his satisfactory completion of the mural.

Also, it was noted by Wurst that the forms sent to the Valley 24 store located on First street and Pennington avenue were not acceptable to the store owners who would not sign the proposed easement and release form.

The city needed two easements — one for construction and one for the maintenance of the signal light which is proposed to be placed on the sidewalk near the front of the store (to be moved nearer to the store), and also work on a second driveway proposed to be constructed in the parking lot west of the store.

It was resolved that the project would be referred to the street committee and county commissioners for further consideration, noting that a decision is needed soon, according to Cliff Larson, MnDOT engineer stationed in Thief River Falls.

Last item discussed during last evening's meeting stemmed from the discussion at a May 13 meeting in which a group of businessmen from Thief River Falls appeared before council members to hear a decision on "sandwich boards" or "V-shaped" signs placed on sidewalks for advertising purposes.

Presently, an ordinance states that this type of sign cannot be placed on sidewalks, and a violation of this act is a misdemeanor. At the May 13 meeting, it was resolved to instruct the chief of police to send letters to the violators of the ordinance informing them that the city plans to abide by the standing ordinance.

Question brought up at last evening's meeting concerned the ordering of one type of sign off the sidewalk, while excluding such things as vending machines, lawn mowers, etc.

"Both are obstructions in the ordinance," stated Jack Quinlivan, city planner.

It was resolved that the Thief River Falls police department would study how many obstructions are presently on the downtown sidewalks, inform the businesses they are violating the present ordinance, and report to the next regular city council meeting set June 24.

Honorary pallbearers were Alfred Olson, George Panek, Walter Panek, Nordeen Urdahl, Lloyd Urdahl, Charles Svendsgaard, Stanley Szymanski and Ed Fisher.

Serving as active pallbearers were Clifford Habedank, Gary Hruby, Richard Hruby, Jr., Roger Hruby, Dennis Ptacek and Steve Skibicki.

Ludvek Hruby, a son of the late Joseph and Frances Marzek Hruby, was born Aug. 25, 1895 at Jackson. At the age of seven years, he moved with his family to the Mavie area. There he attended school and grew to manhood.

He was inducted into the services on Feb. 22, 1819 at Thief River Falls and served in France during World War I. Following his discharge on June 14, 1919, he returned to the family farm in Silverton.

On Sept. 29, 1920, he was married at Jackson to Albina Suchan. The couple lived and farmed in the Mavie community. In addition to farming, he was also engaged in carpenter work.

He is survived by wife, two sons: Edwin Hruby of Audubon, and Chenney of Goodridge; six grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Alice Habedank of this city.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Mrs. Ray (Ardith) Ptacek, who died in 1972, three sisters: Johanna, Tracey and Mary; and five brothers: Joseph, Ben, James, Jerry and Frank.

Services Set For Donavon Verbout, 20

Donavon Verbout, 20, of Thief River Falls and formerly of the Grygla community, died Monday at St. Luke's hospital at Fargo, N.D. where he had been hospitalized with injuries received in a pick-up accident May 2.

Funeral services for Donavon Verbout will be held Friday at 2:00 p.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church with Rev. James Bernauer and Rev. John Kleinwachter as concelebrants. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Prayer service will be held Thursday at 8 p.m., at the Green Funeral chapel where the body will repose from Thursday noon until Friday noon. The body will also repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

A complete obituary will be published in Monday's edition of the Times.

JEWELS FOR THOUGHT

There's just as much barbecuing going on as ever, but not as much of it smells like steak.

TODAY'S HIGH-INTEREST INVESTMENTS. EXCITING, UNCERTAIN, CONFUSING.

THROUGH IT ALL, BANK CERTIFICATES REMAIN A POPULAR, POWERFUL INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY.

HERE'S WHY.

Hardly a day goes by that the attuned investor doesn't hear about a new investment idea at a new high interest rate. Some of them offer easy liquidity, low dollar entry and a certain amount of intrigue because they're new.

Yet many canny investors have shopped and compared and are staying with bank certificates — so much so that the demand for bank certificates is at an all time high.

The most obvious attraction of bank certificates is that their interest rates — higher than ever before — are guaranteed for the life of the certificate.

If there is anything certain about today's economy, it's that it's uncertain. Many new investments go up and down with the prevailing interest rates. To many investors, a guaranteed interest rate, one that does not fluctuate with economic trends, is a compelling reason for bank certificates.

Another plus point for bank certificates is that they are absolutely safe — they are insured by the FDIC for up to $100,000. Many of the new investment opportunities are not.

The point is simply that you should compare carefully. [illegible] And do check out bank certificates. They are more flexible than ever before and there's a certificate for every investor — large or small.

We're on your side.

Free Church Hosts CHIEF Ministry Meet

Ray Smith of Cass Lake and Rev. Tom Claus of Oklahoma City, Okla., will present a challenge of the CHIEF ministries at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, June 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Smith has been involved in the ministry to the American Indian for several years. He and his sons travelled the U.S. and Canada in the music ministry until August of 1979. Smith was recently appointed to the ministry staff of CHIEF, Inc.

Rev. Tom Claus is a Mohawk Indian evangelist, the founder and director of CHIEF, Inc. Rev. Claus has conducted crusades and Bible conferences throughout the U.S. and Canada. Presently he is coordinating the preparations for the first International Native American leadership congress on world evangelization to be held at the University of Oklahoma in May of 1981. More than 700 tribes are expected to participate in the congress.

In addition to the CHIEF presentation, Smith and Rev. Claus will present a musical package.

Movie Mondays Continue At Library June 23

Movie Mondays, a weekly film program for children of all ages, will again take place at the Northwest Regional library on Monday from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

This weeks movies include: "Ira Sleeps Over," the story of a young boy who is invited for the first time to sleep over at a friend's house and is excited until he realizes that he must decide whether or not he will take his teddy bear along;

"A Firefly Named Torchy," an animated story about a firefly who learns to appreciate his individuality; and

"The Making of Star Wars," a film which shows how all the special effects of this outer space film were accomplished.

The series of Movie Mondays is free and open to all with no registration required.

Horsepower In Lumber Camps Shown Sunday

This Sunday, June 22, from 1 to 5 p.m. visitors, to the first history center's 1900 logging camp near Grand Rapids, will have the opportunity to see real horsepower at work. The program will begin at 1 p.m. in the cookshack with Thomas Fitzpatrick and Ralph Dethloff Sr., two former lumberjacks and teamsters from Grand Rapids, who will relate to visitors their combined experiences of driving logging sleighs and answer questions about horses, camps and logging.

After presentations by these old-time teamsters, Ted Lovdahl Sr. of Effie and his draft horses will be on hand to show visitors how horses are harnessed and logs are skidded through the woods. Lovdahl may ask for active volunteers, and he will also answer questions about modern day Minnesota logging with horses.

Throughout the afternoon, Fred Pieri of Swatara will offer rides on his horse drawn wagon from the logging camp to the center's parking lot, as well as answer questions about his matched team of Belgians and the wagon. The program will be repeated again at 3 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m.

For further information, please contact the forest history center in Grand Rapids, 218-326-1390. The center is open from May 15 through October 31, seven days a week, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Truck Roadeo Set At Blaine This Weekend

The 1980 Minnesota state truck roadeo, sponsored by the Minnesota motor transport association and its affiliated safety council, will be held June 21 and 22 at the Northtown shopping center, Blaine, with a banquet honoring the winning contestants scheduled for June 28 at the New Minneapolis Hilton.

To be eligible to compete in the Roadeo, drivers must have been employed for at least one year by a fleet trucking company and have a one year accident free driving record.

Truck roadeo is the toughest test of a truck driver's knowledge and job performance. The most dramatic competition is the field course, six parking and maneuvering exercises requiring precision driving and steady nerves.

In one test for example, the driver of a typical 55-foot tractor trailer must maneuver his right wheels down a straight line between two rows of sponge rubber balls mounted within two inches of either side, without toppling any of the balls.

In addition, competitors are required to make a typical pre-trip inspection of their trucks, looking for a series of safety defects planted by roadeo officials. Each also undergoes a personal interview and an hour-long written examination testing his knowledge of the trucking industry, safety driving rules, first aid and firefighting.

This year's Roadeo Team, comprised of the first-place winners in each class competition — straight truck, three-axle, four-axle, five-axle, tank truck, flatbed and twin trailer — will represent Minnesota at the National Truck Roadeo, to be held August 20-23, Kansas City, MO.

Thomas Motors Joins List Of AARS Shops

If you have a problem with your automobile, you're not alone; state consumer offices and the office of consumer affairs at the U.S. department of health, education and welfare say that automobile problems have headed the complaint list for the past several years.

But despite this highly publicized problem, there are still many excellent auto repair facilities. The Minnesota state automobile association (AAA) is helping the public find those operations through the approved auto repair services (AARS) program.

One of the latest AARS facilities to be identified by Minnesota AAA is Thomas Motors of Thief River Falls, owned by T.E. Kenville. Two other Thief River Falls facilities, Westside Motors Inc. and Northern Motors Inc., were approved earlier this spring.

"The red, white and blue sign of an approved auto repair services facility means that this operation has been thoroughly inspected by Minnesota AAA field personnel and has met stringent standards," explained Glen Krenz of Thief River Falls, area district manager for Minnesota AAA.

"Even though the program is designed for AAA members, it benefits all motorists because anyone who drives into an AARS facility knows that it has qualified mechanics, the proper equipment to do the job and a reputation for honesty and reliability," said John Lawrence, head of the AARS program.

There's no charge for participating in the AARS program, but operators must maintain their high standards in order to keep their certification.

"We constantly monitor the facilities through periodic reinspections and evaluation cards returned by customers of AARS facilities," explained Lawrence. "The evaluation cards returned to Minnesota AAA thus far indicate that 99 per cent are satisfied with the quality of the work done on their vehicle and would return to the facility.

The AARS program began as a pilot project in southeastern Minnesota in August of 1977 and has since grown to include 120 facilities throughout most of Minnesota. There are also AARS programs in Wisconsin, eastern Kentucky, Washington, D.C., New England, southern Florida, southern California and Texas.

Survival Of Elm Beetles High This Year

It was a good winter for the elm bark beetle. Unfortunately, that means it could be a very bad summer for the state's elm trees.

Two species of elm bark beetle — native and European — are the main transmitters of Dutch elm disease. Because of the unusually warm winter, both species, overwintering as larvae or adults, survived in large numbers. Survival rates of 68 per cent for the smaller European elm bark beetle were noted in sample logs by University of Minnesota entomologists. This compares with a three to 23 per cent survival rate during the previous three winters. Survival rate for overwintering adult native elm bark beetles was 89 per cent, compared with the 70 to 80 per cent survival rate of previous winters.

One of the most important ways to control the spread of Dutch elm disease is to dispose of dead elm wood, which is the breeding site for both species of beetles. Homeowners can help by checking their woodpiles carefully and immediately destroying any elm logs that they find. If they don't want to part with their elm wood, then they must debark the logs, because the beetles lay their eggs directly beneath the bark.

Elm firewood is easily identified by the alternating light and dark layers of the bark visible in cross section at the cut ends of the log. If you need help in identifying or disposing of elm wood, contact your local tree inspector or county extension agent.

Native beetles emerged around April 1 and are already infecting healthy trees and searching for dead elm wood to breed in. European beetles will have emerged by June 1 and will soon be looking for breeding sites, also. Both types of beetles can breed and produce another generation this summer, so it is essential to remove all dead and dying elm wood immediately.

DR. MARSHALL MUIRHEAD, winner of the Northern International body building championship and second runner-up three consecutive years for Mr. Minnesota, believes that it is a good idea to set goals when going into weight training. Muirhead will begin hard weight training in August for his fifth Mr. Minnesota contest entry in November.

Bemidji Body Builder Strives Toward Goal

you, you're more apt to train every day." Muirhead suggested, too, selecting a partner of equal development to oneself.

Muirhead begins working out six times a week, one and one-half hours each day beginning three months before a contest, he said. According to that schedule, his work for the November Mr. Minnesota contest in Minneapolis will begin in mid-August. When he is not preparing for a contest, he usually works out four times a week, he said.

In addition to weight training on all the weight machines, Muirhead also tries to run three to five miles three times a week in preparation for a contest, he said.

"It's good for your health and it burns off calories," he said. "It also enables him to be outside and get a tan in the summer, he added, laughing.

"Weight training is actually a two-part process," he said. "It's good for your heart and lungs and it builds muscle tone," he said.

Muirhead's recommendation for someone to maintain a regular weight program would be to run a minimum of three times a week as well as lift weights three times a week. And, if a person wants to stay a certain weight, he or she should have a set amount of calories per day. "To determine this," he said, you'd take your body weight and multiply it by 15 to determine how many calories you should have a day."

Of course, he added, the number of calories would decrease daily if a person wanted to lose weight, and increase for a person wanting to add pounds to his body.

"This goes for both men and women," he added.

The best systematic exercises are aerobics — running and sports such as racquetball, he said.

Muirhead, a graduate of the University of Minnesota who is now 30 years old, commented that the average age for a professional body builder today is 40.

"It used to be that Mr. America's were 25 years old," he said. "And they wouldn't keep at body building after they'd won the title. It is not necessarily a young guys' sport anymore."

And competition is harder because the body builders keep training throughout their lives if they win of contest or not, he added.

Muirhead also became the Northern International body building champ at a contest in Devils Lake, ND. For that he was presented a trophy. Yet, he still has not reached his goal.

"My goal is to enter the Mr. America contest in two or three years," he said.

Muirhead believes that it is a good idea to set goals — short term goals of three to six weeks, medium goals of three months, and long-term goals of one to two years.

"You can see results when you set goals," he added. "By having goals, you keep increasing what you can do. And the key to body building is to work to the maximum all the time; then you're going to progress."

Muirhead has never won a "big" contest, he said. And he'd like to.

So until that day comes, he will continue working at his goal while living in Bemidji with his wife, Riki, and proceed with his dental practice. (He added that his wife also works on a calorie and weight program daily).

But there is yet one last goal Muirhead sees in his future. "Someday," he smiled, "after weight training, I'd like to be a marathon runner."

WEIGHT TRAINING sessions usually include working out six times a week, one and one-half hours each day, beginning three months before a contest (four times a week when there is no contest), according to Dr. Marshall Muirhead, a Bemidji body builder who is 5'9" tall, and presently weighs 200 pounds. Muirhead appeared for three seminars at the Thief River Falls Racquetball and Exercise club Saturday to offer tips on weight training, during the club's grand opening.

Disaster Aid Is Requested By Stangeland

Congressman Arlan Stangeland announced Tuesday that he has sent letters to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland and Minnesota Governor Al Quie, requesting disaster designation for northwestern Minnesota counties.

Declaration of disaster status would make the area residents eligible for a number of government help programs intended to reduce severe economic loss and keep farms and businesses operating. Lack of rain creating drought conditions and severe hail losses are reasons cited for requesting the disaster designation.

SILVERTON . . .

Recent guests to breakfast at the Ole Lerol home were Mrs. Olga Larson, her brothers Joe Ulvin and son and Otto Ulvin all of Saskatoon, Canada. Mrs. Larson was employed at the Lerol home back in 1919 and her sister was at the Syvert Hanson home at that time.

Rodney Harder son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harder, was confirmed Sunday at the morning services at Silverton church. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Harder entertained the following guests to a picnic style dinner at their home: Mrs. Gladys Harder, Annette, Steven and Gregory; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harder; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harder; Paul and Danny Selbert; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Christopherson and the Wayne Harder family. In the afternoon the Vacation Bible school program was presented at the church and they all attended that. Mr. and Mrs. Milford Christianson and girls from California also were guests there.

Tuesday morning callers and coffee guests at the Ole Lerol home were Clara Olson and Mrs. Vivian McCrum of Smiley.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ptacek brought Father's Day greetings in the evening to Albert Ptacek at his home. Monday morning this week Mrs. Dennis Ptacek and Nathan of Thief River Falls were callers at the Archie Ptacek home.

Several members of the Silverton 4-H club served the noon luncheon at St. Bernard's church Tuesday at Dairy Day from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Evening visitors at the Ole Lerol home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berggren and Mrs. Gladys Harder and Steven.

Supper guests Sunday at the home of Mrs. Estelle Grinde were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Brown of Fresno, Calif.; Herbert Grinde and Mr. and Mrs. Einar Barstad of Thief River Falls. The Browns are house guests at the Barstad home.

Mrs. Harold Dupree Sr. was an evening coffee guest at the Edward Berard home Monday last week.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. John Ofstedahl had the misfortune of breaking her hip Sunday morning and is hospitalized at Northwestern hospital. She is a resident at Oakland Park nursing home and mother of Mrs. Silas Hanson.

Mrs. Henry Anenson and Kristy of Kratka were afternoon visitors Father's Day at the Ole Lerol home. Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Lerol, Todd and Tammy also spent one evening there last week. Ole also received several telephone calls during the weekend to wish him happy Father's Day. They were from the Marvin Lerol's at White Bear Lake; Frank Weiss and Eugene Zohrzewski's at St. Paul; Geraldine Erickson's of Kansas City, MO; Kenneth Lerols at Gilbert and Louis Cole of Eugene, Ore. Todd and Tammy Lerol spent Monday this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lerol.

PFC Adamski Trains At Ft. Carson, Colo.

Two weeks at the U.S. army's "Mountain Post" can be quite a treat for a flatlander. So say a group of army reservists about their 1980 annual training which ended Saturday at Fort Carson, Colo.

"The mountains are beautiful," says PFC Roberta Adamski from Thief River Falls. "They help to make Fort Carson an excellent training environment. I've learned quite a bit here."

In addition to her two weeks annual training at Fort Carson, Adamski drives 50 miles to Grand Forks one weekend every month to train as a citizen-soldier with her army reserve unit. "I wanted to be in the army reserve," she explains, "and its the closest unit. I thought about enlisting for active duty," she continues, "but I didn't want to commit myself for that long."

The 447th Medical Clearing company is also training with two other reserve units at the Colorado post — the 162nd Medical battalion of Lincoln, Neb., and the 971st Medical Clearing company from Wichita, Kans.

Fort Carson is located near Colorado Springs. Named for frontier soldier and army scout Kit Carson, the post is now home of the 4th Infantry division.

During their two weeks at Fort Carson, the reservists are observed and rated by active duty army personnel. Evaluator for the 447th is Capt. Ronald McNabb, whose active duty assignment is with the 4th Medical battalion at Fort Carson.

"These units are working hard to train their people and correct any problems," Capt. McNabb says. "Each commander has his own set of goals at annual training. My job is to evaluate how well they achieve those goals and how well they accomplish general day-to-day tasks."

The medical clearing companies are combat service support units whose primary mission includes receiving and sorting battlefield casualties and then providing emergency medical treatment to stabilize the patients for return to duty or for evacuation of the seriously injured to more sophisticated hospital facilities. At full strength, a medical clearing company can handle 240 patients.

The medical battalion provides support, command and control of up to seven such units — medical clearing, ambulance evacuation or air ambulance companies.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Houske returned recently from Minneapolis where they visited at the home of their son R.W. Houske and with other relatives.

Friends of the Albert Froseth family were saddened on Thursday to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Froseth. Her funeral was on Saturday morning at Bottineau, N.D. Sympathy is extended to surviving relatives. The Froseth family lived here many years ago on the farm now occupied by Stanley Donarski's and have many friends who mourn Anna's passing. Mrs. Evely Nelson and Orville Nelson were among those who attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude, Arlo and Tim visited at the David Rude home on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude and Arlo returned last week from Omaha, Neb. where they had spent several days visiting with the Ken Corriveau family.

Vivian McCrum entertained a few friends at a coffee party at her home on Friday afternoon. Her guests were Clara Olson, Olga Nelson, Belle Rolandson and Ellen Torkelson.

Saturday afternoon visitors at the Culver Kisch home were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude.

Mrs. Melvin Torkelson is at present a patient at a hospital in Bismarck, N.D. Helen became ill while returning from a visit with her sister Emma Stroud at Billings, Mont. We all wish Helen a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Gustafson and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Culkins were among the guests at the wedding of Barbara Lundeen and Alan Olson on Saturday afternoon at Oak Park church.

Gust Gustafson was honored Sunday at a supper given by the Walter Wiskow family at their home in Lake Park. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Erling Lundeen of Spicer and Mrs. Gustafson.

State Van Pool To Expand With 20 Vehicles

State of Minnesota commuter van program, started in January of 1977, with six vans and later increased to 20 vehicles, will be doubled in size this fall.

Minnesota legislature appropriated an additional $200,000 at its 1980 session for purchase of 20 additional vans.

According to Jerry Brunnette, commuter van coordinator, more than 200 state employees have been commuting in vans to offices in the State Capitol complex and in three other communities where the state has offices.

Brunnette said a survey of prospective new van pool participants will be conducted in the near future by including forms with state employee paychecks.

Van pool program depends on voluntary cooperation. First, it is necessary to recruit willing drivers and alternate drivers who agree to shoulder much of the responsibility for van pool operation. Next comes willing riders who must agree to follow a set of rules, primarily centered around their willingness to ride and pay regularly.

Each van has a capacity of 12 persons. Charges are based on how far the vehicle is driven and how many passengers it has. The charges pay for all costs of the program, Brunnette said, including amortization of the initial van cost.

Costs obviously have risen in recent months. For example, the Maplewood van charges its riders $25.35 monthly. The previous price was $19.25. Of the 16 vans in operation, the Maplewood van has the shortest distance to travel to the Capitol complex.

Other state van pools operate in Hastings (2), Cottage Grove (2), Burnsville, Fridley, Forest Lake (2), Apple Valley, South St. Paul, Circle Pines-Lexington, Blaine, Lino Lakes, Brooklyn Center and Wayzata boulevard. Vans also serve state government centers in Willmar, Duluth and Cambridge (2).

'PAUL REVERE — THE DENTIST

How about a little dental trivia? History records Paul Revere as the man who made the important ride on the night of April 18, 1775, as well as being a skilled silversmith. But the history books never mention the fact that Paul Revere was a practicing dentist. A student of John Baker, the first English dentist to come to America, Paul not only carved false teeth from ivory but concocted a dentifrice that contained abrasive substances and various mixtures such as cuttlebone, brown-sugar candy, saltpeter and gunpowder, butter and bread crumbs. We don't know if it sold too well.

How far back does the use of nitrous oxide (laughing gas) go in the annals of dentistry? In 1844, Dr. Horace Wells, an American dentist, demonstrated the properties of nitrous oxide by using it on himself while having his own teeth extracted.

How much dental care is needed today? It has been estimated that if every dentist spent 24 hours a day, every day of the year, just filling cavities, there would still be one billion cavities left unfilled in the United States.

Bill Jury doesn't know where he'll be this fall. The 1980 Lincoln high school graduate, who was a standout performer for the Prowlers in football, hockey and tennis, hasn't decided where he'll continue his education and athletic career. He is reportedly considering the University of Minnesota-Duluth and Brown University in Providence, R.I.

But first he'll try to earn a spot as a goaltender on Team Minnesota, a collection of junior age hockey players (17-19-years-old) who will represent Minnesota at the amateur hockey association of the United States (AHAUS) Junior Olympic hockey trials July 5-12 in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Jury was one of four goalies invited to participate in the Team Minnesota try-out camp June 13-15 at the Richfield arena. Seventeen of the 27 players invited to the camp, along with alternates, will be back in Richfield for the Team Minnesota training camp June 30-July 5. The team will then fly to Colorado Springs.

The final Team Minnesota roster won't be determined by officials until July 3. But Jury will be on hand for the week-long training camp where he'll try to impress the Minnesota selection committee, headed by Team Minnesota head coach Mike Sertich, an assistant hockey coach at the University of Minnesota-Duluth, and administration head Ted Brill of Grand Rapids, representing the AHAUS and the Minnesota amateur hockey association. The advisory staff includes Gus Hendrickson, Brad Buetow, John Perpich, Bob Johnson, Grant Stanbrooke, Bob Peters, John Bymark, Bob O'Connor, Ron Woodey, Ralph Jasinski, Wally Odell and Don Clark.

Roster of the players invited to the Team Minnesota tryout camp last week showed 24 of the 27 performers with college ties. Jury and fellow goaltenders Scott Grandell and Pat Tierney were the only players in camp without college affiliation at this point. University of Minnesota-bound John Columbo rounded out the four goaltenders vying for the two spots on the team.

Also in camp were Warroad's Ed Christian and Roseau's Mark Huglen.

Christian, headed for the University of North Dakota, was one of 15 forwards battling for nine roster spots. The others — listed with their college or university — included John DeCenzo, Ferris State; Phil Falcone, Harvard; Dan Fishback, Duluth; Steve Griffith, Minnesota; John Johannson, Wisconsin; Mike Krensing, Duluth; Bob Lakso, Duluth; Mike Lauen, Michigan Tech; John Lodahl, Duluth; Greg Moore, Duluth; Jay North, Harvard; Greg Olson, Harvard; Chris Pryor, New Hampshire; and Tom Ruthstein, Minnesota.

Huglen, who has signed a national letter of intent to attend Minnesota, was one of eight defensemen trying to fill six roster spots. The others were Ben Belde, Minnesota; Pat Ethier, Wisconsin; Irwin Frizzell, Bemidji State; Dave Jensen, Minnesota; Tom Kurvers, Duluth; Bill Schafhauser, Northern Michigan; and Bill Whitsitt, North Dakota.

The Junior Olympic hockey trials at the U.S. Air Force Academy fieldhouse in Colorado Springs will feature 68 of the finest junior-aged players in the country who will be divided among three regional teams — Minnesota, Michigan, New England — and an at-large team competing in a round robbin schedule of games.

It's billed as the first step toward the formation of the 1984 United States Olympic hockey team that will defend its gold medal in the XIV Winter Games in Yugoslavia. It's also the primary screening process for the selection of the 1981 USA junior national hockey team that will take part in the international ice hockey federation world junior championships, scheduled to be held during the last week of 1980 and the first week of 1981 in Munich, West Germany.

This effort, patterned after the successful selection format that produced the 1980 United States Olympic hockey team, will feature the selection of the top 25 players by general managers, coaches and administrative assistants of the four competing teams. Those 25 will be asked to stay in Colorado Springs for an additional three days of training for the junior national team, although the final selection for the U.S. team will not be completed until October or November.

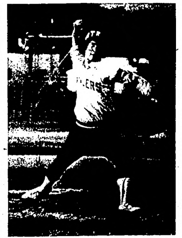
Ulrich, TRF Tip Huglen, Roseau 2-0 In Legion Pitching Duel



WINNING PITCHER Jeff Ulrich tossed a one-hit shutout Tuesday to lead Thief River Falls to a 2-0 Northwest American Legion baseball league win over Roseau. Ulrich, who also batted in a run and scored one himself, struck out 13 batters and walked three. Only hit off the right-hander was a two-out triple in the first inning by Tracy Wensloff.

Right-handers Jeff Ulrich and Mark Huglen battled each other in a superb pitching duel Tuesday that produced 26 strike-outs, just three base hits and a 2-0 Thief River Falls victory over Roseau in the Northwest American Legion baseball league game played on the fairgrounds diamond here.

The hard-throwing Ulrich pitched a one-hit shutout for the win. He struck out 13 and walked just three as Thief River Falls stretched its season-opening winning streak to nine games, 3-0 against Northwest League foes.

Only base hit off Ulrich came with two out in the top of the first inning when Roseau first baseman Tracy Wensloff tripled into the left field corner. Thief River Falls left-fielder Kevin Sanders tried to make a diving catch on the play, but did not reach the ball.

Only Roseau base runners after that point came on two walks. But Ulrich faced the minimum 15 batters over the final five innings thanks to Thief River Falls' second short-to-second-to-first double play of the game, and he faced just two over the minimum 21 batters for the game.

Huglen was no less effective as he matched Ulrich's 13 strike-outs. But he gave up one more hit and one more walk than Ulrich did, and both turned into runs. Huglen started impressively, getting the first eight outs on strike-outs. He had a hand in the first 13 Roseau put-outs as he struck out 11 and fielded two balls hit back to the mound before Mark Harder grounded out to first base with one out in the fifth inning.

Thief River Falls scored a run in the bottom of the first inning when Harder drew a one-out walk on five pitches and Ulrich tagged a 1-2 pitch from Huglen for an RBI double off the center field fence with two outs.

Only other run of the game was unearned and came in the fourth when Ulrich walked, stole second and went to third on a perfect sacrifice bunt by Jeff Cwikla. Ulrich and batter Tom Drury combined on the scoring play as Drury fouled off four two-strike pitches with two outs and Ulrich danced up and down the third base line. Finally, Ulrich became too tempting for Roseau catcher Lyndell Vatnsdal who tried to pick the runner off third base. But his throw sailed high into left field and Ulrich trotted home with an insurance run.

Thief River Falls will try to extend its winning streak to ten games Thursday with a 7 p.m. Northwest League game at Warroad. Thief River Falls is scheduled to compete in an invitational tournament at Crookston Saturday and Sunday. Next home game will come Tuesday, a 7 p.m. showdown with East Grand Forks, the co-leader in Northwest League play with Thief River Falls. Roseau fell to 1-4 for the year and in league play with the Tuesday loss.

DOUBLE PLAY COMBINATION of shortstop Scott McKeever (5) and second baseman Tom Drury completed two Thief River Falls twin-killings during Tuesday's American Legion baseball game against Roseau, including this first inning force-out at second on Roseau's Miles Hedlund that was relayed to first baseman Steve Bengston to get Brandon Shank, who bounced the ball to McKeever. Thief River Falls remained unbeaten with a 2-0 victory.

TRF Merchants Avoid Upset

Down 8-0 at one point, the TRF Merchants rallied for a 10-8 victory over Terry's Mobil Monday to retain its first place status in the American League East Division standings of the Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association.

But after falling in its upset bid against the TRF Merchants, Terry's Mobil surprised American League West Division challenger Swenson Plumbing 2-1 in eight innings in the second half of a split Monday doubleheader, dropping the losers two games off the pace.

Home runs by Curt Vandermeer and Lonnie Staufenecker lifted Hobo Haus past winless Arnold Realty 5-3; Jeff Olson went 3-for-3 for lead Coca-Cola by Home Lumber 3-1; McDonald's-Dallmann stayed atop the American League West Division with an 18-8 romp over Furuseth-Nelson; and Phase II snapped a season-long eight-game losing streak with a 6-2 victory over Bridgeman.

In a match-up of winless National League teams Tuesday, Lon's snapped a ten-game losing streak by beating Sparby-Johnson 9-7 in eight innings, extending the loser's winless streak to ten games.

Both front-runners in the National League East Division were one-run losers in slugfests at Consumer's Co-op dropped a 21-20 contest to IWA and Great Northwest Agency fell to Thorp-KKAQ 19-18. Winning pitcher Hal Zutz was 3-for-4 and Randy Wilberg drove in four runs for IWA.

Hardees maintained its position as the National League West Division leader with an 8-5 triumph over Sound Level-Holthusen as Dave Barth and Reed Fore hit home runs.

Schumacher's Tireland kept pace with Hardees by beating E.T.'s Bees 22-10 while The Club out-scored Dallman Athletic 19-18.

Crookston Is Babe Ruth Doubleheader Winner

Crookston arrived in Thief River Falls Tuesday afternoon for a Lake Agassiz Babe Ruth baseball league doubleheader and left with a pair of wins over the Thief River Falls teams for 14-15-year-olds, beating the Elks 5-3 and drilling the Independents 14-2.

A 12-1 winner over Roseau Monday, the Bruce Williams-coached Elks are 4-2 for the year. The Charlie Cornell-coached Independents (formerly Hartz) are 1-2.

A Monday morning Thief River Falls vs. Goodridge 13-year-old Prep League doubleheader was canceled at the request of Goodridge officials. Coached by Paul Williams, the Thief River Falls 13-year-olds are 2-2 for the year.

Elks—Crookston

Crookston right-hander Kent Shafer pitched a one-hitter in a 5-3 first game victory over the Thief River Falls Elks.

Only base hit for the Elks, who trailed 5-0 through four innings, was a fifth inning single by Jeff Milender.

Losing pitcher Scott Johnston was tagged for nine base hits and got off on the wrong foot when Crookston scored twice after two were out in the top of the first inning.

Independents

In a five-inning, ten-run rule decision, Crookston handled the Thief River Falls Independents 14-2 in the second half of the twinbill played on the fairgrounds diamond.

Crookston out-hit the Independents by just a 6-4 margin, but three Thief River Falls pitchers issued nine walks and hit another batter, to go along with three errors by the losers who surrendered eight runs in the second inning on two hits, five walks and an error.

Elks — Roseau

Tim Bottem went 3-for-4 to lead a 13-hit Thief River Falls attack in the Elks' 12-1 rout of Roseau.

Lon Aune, Tim Bergland, Jeff Milender and Scott Johnston all had two hits apiece as the Elks enjoyed a five-run third inning and a four-run seventh.

Winning pitcher Kerry Wollin scattered four hits, striking out 10 and walking two.

Division I Sweeps All Eight Meetings Monday

First meetings this year between Division I and Division II teams Monday in the Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league produced a clean eight-game sweep for the Division I teams.

Included in the outcomes were a pair of surprises for Division II co-leaders Dwight's Hartz and the Schmidt Stealers. They were both charged with just one loss at the start of the night, but they both absorbed 12-1 losses.

Ekeren Drug, a Division I challenger, handled Dwight's Hartz while the Mush-a-Rettes, the Division I cellar-dweller, creamed the Schmidt Stealers as Patty Blazek and Tammy Peterson hit home runs.

Sandy Vose hit two home runs to lead American Legion to a 12-10 decision over Great Northwest Agency.

A grand slam home run by Lynn Christianson highlighted an 11-4 Northern Employers Agency victory over Credit Bureau.

Home runs by Patty Langlie and Maureen Johnson were featured in a 23-8 Pizza Hut rout of The Barbers.

Elsewhere, Roseau Transport defeated the Health Hustlers 12-3, the Ridge Runners drilled Walseth Construction 37-3 and the Division I-leading St. Hilaire Saints dumped Hydra-Mac 15-1 to post a league-best 7-1 record.

Pepsi-Cola Gains Share Of Trap League Lead

Seven weeks of unbeaten success for Sjoberg's Cable TV came to an end Monday following a 120-116 loss to Triple J. Trap Co. in Thief River Falls trap league shooting at the Marshallton Gun Club.

Pepsi-Cola took advantage of the opportunity by beating Arctic 114-104 to gain a first place tie with Sjoberg's Cable TV. The two league leaders own 6-1 records, good for 12 points, with two weeks of shooting remaining in first half league competition.

Pizza Hut and Northern State Bank are deadlocked behind the two leaders with a 5-1-1 records, good for 11 points apiece. Pizza Hut lost a chance to share the league lead after shooting to a 114-114 tie against Wilson Brothers Monday, while Northern State Bank defeated Auto Body Repair 118-112.

Top four finishers in the first half league standings qualify for positions in the post-season league shoot.

Elsewhere Monday, Hible's Standard Station beat Hartz Wholesale 114-112, Service Master stopped Northland Realty 119-102, Peterson-Biddick got by Arctic Spirit 118-115, KKAQ downed Thune-Upham Insurance 113-109, Arctic-Dunrud Trucking edged Marshallton Gun Club 119-117, The Times and First Northwestern State Bank Southside shot to a 109-109 tie and Miller Insurance received a bye, worth two points.

There were six 25-straights Monday: Jay Moum, Sjoberg's Cable TV; Fran Johnson, Triple J Trap Co.; Brooks Johnson, Pizza Hut; Sandy Wilson, Northern State Bank; Jim Heckroth, Marshallton Gun Club; and Bob Mattson, The Times.

League shooters are reminded of tonight's scheduled trip to Crookston for the first of the two-part Thief River Falls vs. Crookston club competition.

Controlled Fires Planned By DNR

Department of Natural Resources will be carrying out a program of controlled burns this spring in seven state parks with Region I in Northwestern Minnesota. The fires are used as a management tool to regenerate pine growth, restore original prairie vegetation or increase diversity in the burn areas.

A total of 717 acres are scheduled to be burned during the program.

At Itasca state park, a 130 acre aspen cut will be burned to promote pine growth. Also, 35 acres of over-mature jackpine were cut and the area will be burned in order to regenerate the jackpine forest. A third fire will cover 40 acres and is also designed to regenerate a pine forest type slowly disappearing in the park.

At Lake Bemidji state park, 15 acres will be burned in two separate fires. The first will consist of 12 acres where jackpine had been cut to initiate new jackpine growth. The remaining three acres is a section of oak savanna that will be burned to rejuvenate the native vegetation and enhance what is described as a "limited plant community".

A total of 64 acres will be burned at Lake Bronson state park in four separate fires for prairie restoration.

Hayes Lake state park is also planned for four fires this spring to create plant diversity on 18 acres.

Buffalo River state park will have a controlled burn of 310 acres to restore the prairie to vegetation of the pre-settlement era.

Final 40 acres of the total are at Glacial Lakes state park and will be burned for prairie restoration.

Resolution Providing For Public Hearing On Need
For Proposed Discretionary
Levy

BE IT RESOLVED, by the School Board of Independent School District No. 564 as follows:

1. The School Board finds that a necessity exists to make the discretionary levy allowed the District by Minnesota Statutes, Section 275.125, Subdivision 7a, in order to improve the instructional programs of the District in grades kindergarten through 12.

2. The School Board shall meet at the time and place specified in the notice set out herein to hold a public hearing pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 275, as amended, to discuss the need for the proposed discretionary levy.

3. The Clerk is hereby authorized the directed to cause notice of the time, place, and purpose of that meeting to be published three times in the Thief River Falls Times, the legal newspaper with the largest circulation in the District, which publications shall be a week apart. The notice shall be in 10 point type, on 12 point body, with a larger headline.

4. The notice shall be in substantially the following form:

Notice of Public Hearing
On Proposed Levy
Ind. School Dist. No. 564
State of Minnesota
Thief River Falls
Public Schools

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the School Board of Independent School District No. 564, State of Minnesota, Thief River Falls, will meet at Lincoln High School Library on Monday, the 23rd day of June, 1980, at 8:00 o'clock P.M., to hold a public hearing pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 275, as amended, for the purpose of discussing the need for the proposed discretionary levy allowed the District by Minnesota Statutes, Section 275.125, Subdivision 7a.

1. The proposed 1980 levy would be in an amount equal to one mile times the most recent adjusted assessed valuation of the taxable property of the District, which when applied to that valuation would raise $82,110.00 in the first year.

2. The tax impact of the proposed levy in the first year would be $8.36 on a homestead with a market value of $30,000 and $15.58 on a homestead with a market value of $50,000.

3. The estimated net unappropriated fund balance in the operating funds of the District on June 30, 1980 is $741,000.00 (estimate).

All persons desiring to give testimony for and against the proposed levy may appear and be heard by the School Board at the time and place stated above.

Dated: May 20, 1980.

BY ORDER OF SCHOOL BOARD
Ken Murphy, Clerk
Ind. School Dist. No. 564
State of Minnesota

4. The Superintendent and other appropriate School District officials shall prepare for presentation at the hearing the approved revenue and expenditures budgets for the 1980-81; and 1981-82 school years and the calculation of the estimated net unappropriated fund balance in all school District funds as of June 30, 1982.

Grovum, and carried to approve the following: RESOLVED, that the Board of Education approve Terry Lemer's, Adult Education Director, participation in the Minnesota Leadership Development Externship Program for Vocational Education. A roll call vote was taken and passed unanimously.

A motion was made by M. Wedul, seconded by K. Wiebolt, and carried to approve the following: RESOLVED, that the Board of Education authorize the following educational programs for the summer of 1980:

A. A student shall attend the Falls Day Activity Center for the summer of 1980 for 30 reimbursable days. (Shannon Frakl)

B. A student shall attend the Falls Day Activity Center for the summer of 1980 for 30 reimbursable days. (Donavin Hemp)

C. A student shall attend Discovery Place for the summer of 1980 for 3 days per week. (Jennifer Johnson)

A roll call vote was taken and passed unanimously.

Discussion was held on the Lincoln High School graduation policies.

Dr. Corliss informed the Board of a request for the list of voters at the recent School Board election. Dr. Corliss will check with the School Board Association and with legal counsel to see what the district is required to give out.

Dr. Corliss reported to the Board of Education on the teacher's back pay and contracts for 1979-80; and the issuing of contracts for 1980-81.

The letter from Ken Skold, Architect, concerning remodeling of the O.D.C. was discussed and will be discussed with the Fire Marshal. It was reported that the timeline to receive the bids for remodeling would be June 12, 1980.

A motion was made by K. Wiebolt, seconded by M. Wedul, and carried to approve the Administrative recommendation for EMPLOYMENT of Michael Novak, Assistant Principal at the Lincoln High School for the 1980-81 school year only. Rate: $25,500 with a 220 day contract and benefits per negotiated contract for Administrators. A roll call vote was taken and passed unanimously.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:05 P.M.

CONTINENTAL REALTY GETS BUSINESS

Continental Realty sold a record number of farms this year. Our performance record speaks for itself. Why not contact the farm real estate professionals. Successful real estate people in today's market must be full time, experienced in tax deferred exchanges, installment sales, financing alternatives, taxes, local market conditions, Fm Ha, Minn. Farm Security Programs, and many other areas to complete the sale of your farm.

If you are considering the sale of your farm or building site, GIVE US A CALL!

REMEMBER CONTINENTAL REALTY!

We're humble enough to list a half-million dollar farm and take pride in selling your mobile home!

In Loving Memory Of "Monti"

There once was a baby so sweet and mild filled with a heavenly joy; it was Monti Darrell Bennie, a bouncing baby boy.

He grew into a fine young man and was kind to everyone, but he was stricken with cancer and the Lord took him up to the sun.

He has no pain and is happy in his heavenly home above, and up there is where he will always be with Jesus the Lord of Love.

But years do pass and again his birthday comes once more. We will shed at least a tear or two for it isn't the same as before.

This poem was written by Anita Miramontes in memory of her oldest brother, Monti, who was born June 17, 1947, and passed away May 24, 1965. Sadly missed by his dad and mom, Bennie and Dolores Miramontes; sisters: DaniLe, Monica, and Anita and brothers: Vince and Paul. 1t49c

Friday activities include set up and registration. At 9 p.m. will be a campfire with a sing-along and a plan of action for the weekend.

A full day of scouting activities is planned for Saturday. At 6 p.m. a pot luck supper-hot dog roast will be held. At 9 p.m. there will be a campfire, church service, pack awards and Boy scout court of awards.

Sunday activities include a morning nature walk with the camp ranger, more fun and games and cleanup.

Free Church At Newfolden Has Anniversary

Newfolden Evangelical Free church will celebrate its 75th anniversary July 3-6 with several activities being planned.

Dr. Arnold T. Olson, president emeritus of the Evangelical Free church of America, will speak at several of the services beginning at 8 p.m. July 3. Former pastors of the local congregation including Rev. Ernest Vick, Rev. Julius Hoseth and Rev. Clifford Anderson will join Rev. Earl Eveland, host pastor, as will several of the church's musical groups of the past.

There will be a service at 3 p.m. July 4 which will be followed by a pot luck supper. A banquet will be conducted July 5 at the Newfolden community center at 7 p.m. Cost will be $4.50 per person. Those planning to attend the banquet must make reservations by June 25. This may be done by calling 874-8785 or 874-8635 or writing to the Evangelical Free church, Box 86, Newfolden, MN 56738 prior to the deadline date.

Rev. Eveland and the young people of the church will take part in Sunday's worship service which is set for 10:30 a.m. At 2:30 p.m. Sunday a program and reunion of the "Rural Church of the Air", a weekly radio broadcast which was sponsored by the church during Rev. Vick's service as pastor, will be presented.

Everyone is welcome to attend any or all of the activities.

Summer Youth Program Will Begin June 23

Summer youth recreation program will begin June 23 for youth between the ages of eight and 13. Enrollees must meet CSA income guidelines. The program will be held on day a week for six weeks in Oklee, St. Hilaire, Gully, Trail, Brooks and Plummer.

Activities included in the program will be nature hikes, cookouts, creative arts and crafts, bike safety and maintenance, sports field day and a field trip.

Participants will be responsible for their own sack lunch, beverage and afternoon snack. Applications can be obtained from Inter-County Community Council, P.O. Box 187, Oklee. Complete applications should be returned to Inter-County by June 21.

For more information concerning the summer youth recreation program contact Julie Steinert at 681-6655 of Mary Johnson at 681-1390.

The average size of a U.S. farm increased from 427 acres in 1975 to 450 acres in 1979. The Agriculture Department expects another three acres will be added to the average in 1980.

Bob Bergland, Wenstrom At Middle River

Seventh District Vanguard members will gather at Middle River June 30 with special guests U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland and congressional candidate Gene Wenstrom.

Evening's entertainment will get underway at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour, followed by a dinner served at 7:30 and an evening of dancing all at the Meadowbrook ballroom located two miles west of Middle River on county road 6.

Special guest speaker will be Secretary Bergland who will be home for the 4th of July holiday. Former Minutemen are urged to attend.

Wenstrom of Elbow Lake, a farmer and former DFL state legislator, is supported by Vanguard members in a bid for Congress from the 7th District.

Tickets are available from any DFL officer in any county in the 7th District, or send a check to Wenstrom Volunteer Committee, Box 1077, Elbow Lake, MN 56531. The $50 membership contribution entitles the purchaser to a $25 federal tax credit, a $50 deduction on state income tax return, and admittance to Wenstrom Vanguard fund raisers and receptions. At this event, a Vanguard membership is good for member and spouse.

Church Music Workshop Set Here In July

Workshop called "Music for Worship in the Small Church", sponsored by the department of music of the University of Minnesota, Duluth, will be held at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls July 10 and 11.

This workshop for music leaders of churches is designed to assist and stimulate musical growth and development in the smaller churches of Minnesota.

First day of the workshop will include these sessions: Making church music come alive in today's churches, organ techniques, choral conducting techniques, getting the most out of a small organ — be it pipe or electronic, getting the most out of a choir no matter what its size, the heart of the worship experience, hymn playing, hymns as anthems and responses, service playing, making each rehearsal minute count and anthem reading for all choral combinations.

Workshop leaders are Ronald Gauger, associate professor of music at UMD and organist at First United Methodist church in Duluth, and Cleo Kuelbs, junior high choir director in the Brainerd public school system and director of vocal music at Park United Methodist church in Brainerd. The workshop is designed to be informative to music people of all religious denominations.

The second day's sessions will be: Effective planning in church music, organ music for weddings and funerals, making the most of instrumentalists (handbells, guitar, flute, percussion, brass, strings, recorders, etc.), organ music for worship, vocal solos and small groups, musicals, cantatas and services based on music, flexibility at the keyboard, children in church music, and open forum: reflection, reinforcement, revitalization. Participants are invited to bring a copy of the hymnal used by their church.

Individual tuition is $30 per person. Church tuition, $45, entitles as many persons from the church to attend as wish to attend. Participation in the workshop merits 1.5 continuing education units for those who wish to enroll for credit. Wednesday's sessions extend from 8:45 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday's sessions are from 9 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Participants must provide for their own meals and housing. The U of M will mail a list of hotels and motels to all who register.

For further information, write or call: Continuing Education and Extension, 403 Administration Building, University of Minnesota, Duluth Campus, Duluth, Minn. 55812. To enroll, send check payable to: The University of Minnesota, along with your name, address, phone and the site of the workshop — Thief River Falls.

Mattison And Williamson In Mr. Teen Event

Mark Williamson

Alan Mattison

Mark Williamson of Thief River Falls and Alan Mattison of Plummer will be among 169 young men from throughout the state who will participate in the 11th annual Mr. Minnesota Teen program which gets underway Thursday in Morris.

Honors-recognition and fellowship event will be hosted by Bill Grillo of Hibbing, 1979 Mr. Minnesota Teen, and Rick Amos of Collings Lake, N.J., 1980 Mr. USA Teen. Participants will take part in a variety of social and recreational activities during the three-day event including a special fund-raising activity for multiple sclerosis, the program's official charity.

The program will conclude with the naming of the 1980 Mr. Minnesota Teen at final award ceremonies at the Morris high school auditorium Saturday, June 19. The winner will be named on the basis of service and achievement to school and community, scholastic average, athletic record, teen image and personality and will receive a $1,000 college scholarship.

In addition, Mr. Minnesota Teen and three runners-up are each eligible for up to a $1,000 college scholarship per year, renewable for four years, based on financial need, providing the student displays satisfactory progress at one of seven participating colleges.

Altogether a total of 23 trophy awards will be presented, honoring the state's most outstanding male spring high school graduates. Mr. Teen titleholder will also receive a self-improvement course, wardrobe and sporting goods items, as well as special gifts from the Minnesota Vikings, Twins, Kicks and North Stars.

Alan will be sponsored in the program by Town & Country realty and Plummer Agency, Inc., of Plummer. Mark will be sponsored by Northern state bank, Total Auto store, Arctic Enterprises, Inc., and Drevlow State Farm insurance.

Social Security Business Made Easier By Phone

Nine of every ten Pennington county people could save themselves a trip to the social security office simply by calling from the privacy of their own home, according to William Phalen, social security district manager in Grand Forks.

"The days when we needed to deal face to face with most members of the public are over," Phalen noted. "We're geared up today to do the great bulk of our business over the phone, with a resultant savings in time, trouble and gasoline for just about everybody."

Phalen noted that his agency even takes applications for retirement benefits by phone. A social security claims representative takes all the necessary information over the phone, fills out the application and mails it to the applicant, who reviews it for accuracy, signs it and returns it with the necessary records.

The public can also use the telephone to report address or name changes for social security records, a change in marital status, a change in work status or earnings, a missing or lost check and a lost social security or Medicare card.

"These examples," Phalen stated, "are in addition to such traditional phone services as answering questions and mailing leaflets.

"In fact, we encourage everyone with social security business always to call us first. We can either save them a trip or, in the case of those who must come to the office or who prefer to, tell them the best times to come and which records they should bring with them."

People in the Thief River Falls calling area with the telephone prefix 681 may call the Grand Forks office toll-free by dialing 0 and asking for ZENITH 8450.

During the fiscal year, major disasters were declared in 27 states, with some 14,000 persons receiving benefits totalling approximately $3.1 million under the Disaster Unemployment Assistance Program, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

A Friend At Headquarters

Law and Order. Lately we've been making those words sound grim. Because we've all been painfully aware of moral deterioration in our society.

Actually Law is a friendly word. It connotes a sense of community in which each is willing to adapt his behavior to the common good of all.

And Order is a happy word. It represents millions of responsible people enjoying that common good.

Respect for Law and the desire for Order must be gained in childhood. Having a "friend at headquarters" helps.

But the heart of the matter is our early discovery of God. His love for us . . . His expectations of us . . . the hopes and promises that give life its highest meaning.

Headquarters for moral and spiritual growth is the Church, with its program of religious education. There can be found our most enriching friendships.

International Charm In Record Time

Japanese cuisine is fast becoming a favorite with many Americans. Witness the steady growth of splendid Japanese restaurants in both urban and suburban areas. Outstanding dishes favor a variety of vegetable combinations indigenous to Japan—particularly when featured with seafood. Sauteed Tuna, Japanese Style is a recipe which can be prepared in your kitchen in a matter of minutes—thanks to frozen Japanese style vegetables in sauce. An already-done-for-you mixture of crispy beans, onions, broccoli, red peppers and mushrooms combines with tuna to create a skillet dish with gourmet overtones.

SAUTEED TUNA, JAPANESE STYLE

1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and broken in chunks
1 tablespoon oil
3 tablespoons water
1 package (10 oz.) Birds Eye Japanese style vegetables with a seasoned sauce

Saute tuna chunks lightly in oil in skillet. Add water and vegetables. Bring to a full boil over medium heat, separating vegetables with a fork and stirring frequently. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 3 minutes. Serve over hot cooked rice, if desired. Makes about 3 cups or 3 servings.

Protein-packed peach pancakes

It seems as if pancakes have been forever popular. Maybe it's because they can be made in a variety of sizes, thicknesses, textures and flavors. Or, perhaps, it's because most are inexpensive and easily made from scratch. Whatever the reason for the popularity of pancakes, Peachy Protein Pancakes are no exception. They're simple to make, look great and taste even better.

High-quality protein ingredients—eggs and cottage cheese—form the base for these fabulous flapjacks. The eggs make the pancakes as thrifty a dish as they are nutritious; because eggs are one of today's best food buys.

Peachy Protein Pancakes would be a great choice for a family breakfast or company brunch or can be served as a special dessert. Simply substitute frozen or canned peaches if fresh ones aren't available to enjoy the pancakes any time of the year!

PEACHY PROTEIN PANCAKES

12 pancakes or
6 main dish servings

6 to 8 medium peaches, pitted, peeled and sliced OR 1 package (16 oz.) frozen sliced peaches OR 1 can (29 oz.) sliced peaches, drained
¼ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon
6 eggs
1 cup cream-style cottage cheese
½ cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons oil
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
Whipping cream, whipped, if desired

In large saucepan combine peach slices, sugar, butter and cinnamon. Cook over low heat, stirring until butter is melted. Keep warm while making pancakes.

Place remaining ingredients except whipped cream in blender container or large mixer bowl. Cover and blend on high speed 1 minute or, beat well with electric mixer or rotary beater. For each pancake, pour ¼ cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle (380°F. for electric griddle). Cook on both sides until golden brown. Place about ¼ cup peach mixture on 1 side of each pancake. Fold pancake in half over peach mixture. Garnish each 2-pancake serving with whipped cream, if desired.

CRITIC PRAISES GALORE!

"'Coal Miner's Daughter' is a triumph . . . the film is a heartwarming experience that the whole family can appreciate . . . Spacek is marvelous as Loretta . . . an Oscar-caliber performance."
—Jon Bream, Mpls. Star

"Sissy Spacek does a bang-up job in the title role, not only bringing her character to credible life, but also doing her own singing . . . and she's impressive in that department too. 'Coal Miner's Daughter' is a movie that should delight and entertain a wide range of moviegoers. I'm calling it this year's 'Buddy Holly Story'."

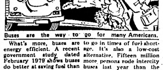
Kari, Lisa and Lori DeLap were luncheon guests at the David Morken home in town at noon on Thursday.

ANOTHER WAY TO GET THERE



Buses are the way to go for many Americans.

Although the bus is the most widely used system of public intercity transportation, few people really know very much about the bus.

For one thing, there is a multitude of intercity bus companies, more than 1,000 of them spanning the nation unfettered by the need for tracks to follow or airports to land at.

More than 15,000 communities are served by America's buses, over 14,000 of them by no other means of public transportation.

Buses ride a route system covering more than 277,000 miles, north to south, east to west, providing regularly scheduled service to every section of the country.

Because of that, buses are a popular way for families to go on vacation. No one has to drive so everyone can enjoy the trip—and the comfort of the bus. It's also a necessity for small communities that receive packages and mail by bus.

What's more, buses are energy efficient. A recent government study dated February 1979 shows buses do better at saving fuel than trains, planes and cars combined. Intercity buses, according to that same report, get 139 passenger miles per gallon, while it's only 41 for trains, 41 for cars, 26 for airplanes.

Recognizing that intercity bus service is a critical fuel-saving alternative, the Dept. of Energy granted it full priority in obtaining fuel so the bus can get you anywhere in America you want to go in times of fuel shortage. It's also a low-cost alternative. Fifteen million more persons rode intercity buses last year than the year before.

Last year's figure was 350 million intercity bus passengers. They traveled a combined total of 25.4 billion passenger miles. About 55 percent of last year's intercity bus riders were passengers on the industry's charter and tour services.

Buses, it would appear, can help carry America through energy crises.

Fewer But Larger

According to the U.S. department of agriculture, U.S. dairy farms are going the same way as grain farms — growing in size, decreasing in number, but producing more volume of product than ever before.

There are now about 350,000 dairy farms in the nation — 28,000 of them in Minnesota, second only to Wisconsin's 45,000. Dairy operations in 1979 with more than 50 cows accounted for 18½ per cent of the total number of dairy farms but had 62 per cent of the milk cow inventory. The five per cent of the operations with herds of 100 or more cows now account for nearly a third of the total U.S. dairy herd.

Largest herds in relation to the total number of herds in the state are generally in the states with large population centers. These include California (where 31 per cent of the dairy herds have 100 or more cows), Washington, Georgia, Maryland and Florida.

The volume of product flowing from these dairy operations is staggering. We read recently some interesting statistics on the volume of whole milk it takes to produce a single pound of some of the common dairy products. For instance, to make a pound of butter it takes 21.2 pounds of whole milk. For whole milk cheese it takes 10 pounds of whole milk; evaporated milk, 2.1 pounds; condensed milk, 2.3 pounds; whole milk powder, 7.4 pounds; powdered cream, 13.5 pounds; and ice cream, 12 pounds. (A quart of whole milk weighs 2.15 pounds.)

Cottage cheese requires 6.25 pounds of skim milk per pound and nonfat dry milk takes 11 pounds of skim milk per pound.

As the population continues to grow, dairy production must continue to keep pace. Fortunately there is room for growth in production as dairymen continue to cull their low producers and improve the capability of their herds.

Public Is Responsible

Legislators and others who are concerned that giving the public the right to propose legislation or to repeal legislation would result in bad laws should take a look at recent events in California.

Minnesota governor Al Quie, who strongly believes the public should have the right to initiative (the proposing of law) and referendum (the right to repeal existing law), points out that the people, given the opportunity, will make wise decisions.

California voters turned down three of four proposed laws in a June 3 election. They rejected a proposition which would cut income taxes in half, another calling for a 10 per cent surtax on the profits of oil, gas, coal and uranium companies in California, and third which would have removed any existing local rent controls and prohibit a state-imposed rent control.

The proposed surtax would have been used for funding of mass transit and development of alternative fuels. The rent control opposition was formed by landlords in the state.

California voters did approve a constitutional amendment guaranteeing that news reporters may maintain the confidentiality of their sources. This decision which helps uphold freedom of the press might be somewhat surprising, since there seems to be growing disenchantment with the news media. It might be pertinent to note, however, that the people would be more likely to protect their right to be informed than the California legislature would be willing to guarantee freedoms to the press.

"The California experience with initiatives should put to rest the fears of Minnesota opponents of initiative and referendum," Gov. Quie said recently. "The voters of California were faced with several decisions. They listened to both sides of the issues and made their choice. They took their responsibility seriously and, I believe, made intelligent decisions.

"I am sure the same good judgment and maturity shown by Californians on these positions will be used by Minnesota voters when offered the chance to vote on initiatives and referendums."

Surprisingly, the DFL state convention delegates adopted a resolution opposing initiative and referendum. This was done in spite of results of a Minnesota Poll which indicated 72 per cent of those surveyed in support of initiative and 77 per cent favoring referendum. Perhaps the determination to oppose what the incumbent governor supports was the motivation for such a decision by the convention. If so, it apparently places politics ahead of diplomacy.

We would like to see initiative and referendum become a part of our state legislative system. It is hard to believe that the people of Minnesota would permit really bad legislation to become law or that they would seek repeal of effective laws. In fact, since they would not be influenced by the friendships, animosities, power struggles, personal lobbying and large volume of proposed legislation with which legislators must cope, it could be expected that much better legislation would result.

Prayer Doesn't Harm

Following editorial is from the Grand Rapids Herald-Review:

"It is clear that the purposes of including prayer and other religious ceremonies in graduation exercises is to imbue and color those exercises with religious principles," a Minnesota Civil Liberties Union spokesman argued in unsuccessful efforts to halt prayer at Bloomington-Kennedy's graduation Wednesday night.

What a terrible charge — allowing religious principles to intrude in the lives of graduating seniors! Let us pray that no harm came to the graduates from that frightful experience.

Recognizing the right of anyone to keep prayer and religious principles out of his own life, we are still tempted to call for three cheers for U.S. District Judge Robert Renner who failed to see prayer as a damaging, shattering experience for Bloomington-Kennedy graduates.

Judge Renner rejected the MCLU lawsuit, ruling that U.S. Supreme court decisions against prayer in the classroom are not relevant to the off-campus ceremony planned for the Kennedy students. No public funds were appropriated for the ceremony, the Judge noted.

MCLU lawyers argued that the graduation prayers violate the U.S. Constitution.

"If the prayers are allowed, it will mean the government has aligned itself with religious belief in violation of the First Amendment," the MCLU says.

An appeal of Judge Renner's ruling was rejected Wednesday by Judge Myron Bright of the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Fargo who ruled that the plaintiffs were "too far removed from the graduation ceremony to be harmed by prayers." The Judge pointed out that "none of the participants (in graduation) is complaining, and we don't really know if it offends anyone."

No one needs to look far today to see violations of the rights of individuals. There are enough cases of injustice to keep the MCLU and a dozen other organizations busy. The MCLU is an important organization which has accomplished a great deal of good throughout the country. It seems sad that it should spend so much time spinning its wheels in what actually amounts to an attempt to infringe on the rights of so many people.

Our forefathers would surely shake their heads in surprise to hear that they disapproved of prayer and of the religious principles which have made this country great.

Print Feed Sacks

Remember back not so many years ago when farm feeds and flour could be purchased in cloth sacks with colorful prints suitable for making useful garments or household items? People occasionally made fun of the sacks — but not as many as those who made garments of them.

The following poem appeared recently in a farm publication and points back to the time that will live in the memory of many a rural person:

'Twas a time when print was plenty,
Gingham, calico, galore;
Now a piece to make an apron
Can't be found in any store.
So the feed sack came to glory,
You have two and need one more,
So you grab your hat and hurry,
Breathless, anxious, to the store.
"That's the one way down under,"
Says the hopeful Mrs. Jones.
So he digs and lifts and pushes,
Breaking nearly all his bones.
'Til at last the precious feed sack
The exhausted man retrives,
And she smiling, takes it saying,
"Now I'll go home and make the sleeves."

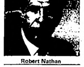
ENERGY UPDATE

WHAT IS THE ROLE OF NUCLEAR POWER?

By Robert Nathan



Robert Nathan

Robert Nathan is Chairman of Robert R. Nathan Associates, a consulting firm in Washington, D.C. He has served as economic advisor to a number of developing countries and has a broad view of the world energy picture.

The reduction in energy available from oil is going to be drastic in the next 10 years. The world supply is finite. Each decade from now there's going to be less oil and the competition among nations will be greater. Fifty years from now we may be out of oil.

This lack of oil along with uncertainties about how fast we can get going on synthetic fuels raises serious questions about our energy future. Even if we push hard for synthetics, it appears likely that we will have several years when we're going to be in dire trouble. The lead times for new supplies are long.

We know a great deal about the technology of nuclear power. I think the questions and worries about nuclear, manifested by some activist groups, do express the concerns of the American public, but it is foolish to throw this proven technology and its tremendous potential out and forget about it.

The Europeans and Orientals aren't doing that. I think we're digging ourselves into a much more serious posture as an economic power, or an ex-economic power—I hope that won't happen—if we toss our nuclear power.

If we're going to be energy independent, we must expand coal and nuclear power greatly. We have got to focus strongly on synthetic fuels and gases. We have to do our utmost with solar, although I must say that the straight, direct solar prospects are still very remote. We don't know how to store it, nor is the engineering applicability available now.

It would be a great tragedy if we do not make nuclear as absolutely safe as possible and then go ahead with it. Every indication is that nuclear can be one of the safest sources of power—both economic and very large. Nuclear can help us become more energy independent by greatly reducing our dependence on foreign oil.

Looking Backward

1900 — 80 YEARS AGO

Barney Mosseau, employed by the St. Hilaire Lumber Co., was drowned in the river at St. Hilaire. — About 300 men are employed here in the sawmill, which is running day and night. — Wayne Richardson was collecting funds to buy the house in which Betsy Ross made the first American flag.

1940 — 40 YEARS AGO

Ed Lee, local plumber, was honored by the TRF Masonic lodge on the 50th anniversary of his becoming a member of the lodge. — City council bought a 1,700 h.p. Busch-Sulzer engine for the power plant at a cost of $103,000. — Tax collections to June 1 in Pennington county totaled $173,890. — The German army this week advanced to the Paris Suburbs. — Mayor W.W. Prichard reappointed Harley Swenson, C. W. Pope and Otis Wold to the carnegie library board.

1950 — 30 YEARS AGO

A group of residents near the west side park objected to the council's action in designating the east half of the park as a site for the proposed Armory. — Ranum Contractors was given the contract to erect a bus garage near Lincoln high school at a cost of $15,797. At a joint meeting of Mercy and St. Lukes hospital associations, it was voted to merge the two institutions, action that followed lengthy negotiations. — Carl R. Anderson, Pennington county DFL chairman, announced that he would file for the office of state senator from the 65th district.

1960 — 20 YEARS AGO

Jeanette DeVries of Ada was selected from a field of 28 girls to represent ten northwestern Minnesota counties as Northwest Dairy Princess.

Jeanne Dahlen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Dahlen of this city and a student at Gustavus Adolphus college, left for a three month study tour of Austria. — TRF post of the VFW instructed its finance committee to complete the financing of a new clubhouse to be erected on the site of the present building at Horace avenue and Second street. — Members of the local Lions club chose James Parkins, completing his term as district governor, to present the group at the international Lions convention to be held in Chicago.

1970 — 10 YEARS AGO

Additional rainfall throughout the area put an end to hopes of most farmers in planting yet unseeded acres and is causing serious problems for earlier seeded crops hurt by water collecting in low areas and moving across fields due to filled ditches. — G.A. Beito, president of the Northern State Bank in TRF, was officially installed as a member of the Minnesota Bankers association's 80th annual convention in Minneapolis. — Thirty-five years of service were completed by Neary Louze when he retired this month as custodian at Lincoln high school. — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sven of this city observed their 50th wedding anniversary.

U.S. Senator Rudy Boschwitz reports to Minnesota

Conservation Is Working: Gasoline Supplies Are Up

It was only a year ago that motorists experienced long lines at the gasoline pump. Shortages were prevalent and we were shipping more and more money overseas for foreign oil.

The situation is somewhat different this summer. There are no lines and supplies of gasoline are seasonally at their highest levels ever. That means travelers can take their vacation without fear of being stranded on the road. The tourist industry will not be looking at a summer without visitors.

Another benefit of conservation has been the improvement in our balance of payments situation. It has not been great by any means. But, in the last quarter, the United States had the lowest deficit in its balance of payments it has had in three years. That is an improvement which can be attributed to conservation because so much of this deficit is related to imported oil.

I have been monitoring the petroleum supply situation weekly and there are some very positive developments. In January, the U.S. had 240 million barrels of gasoline on hand. In the week ending May 16, that figure had risen to 266 million barrels — a substantial increase particularly since stocks normally drop during the spring and summer when driving increases. The growth can best be seen by contrasting our 266 million barrel supply to the only 224 million barrels of gasoline available a year ago. We are 42 million barrels ahead of where we were last year at this time.

Crude oil stocks, from which gasoline is refined, are also up significantly. In January of this year we had 341.7 million barrels while in mid-May that figure had risen to 385.9 million barrels. Comparing that figure to last May shows an increase of some 63 million barrels. In 1979, in mid-May, the U.S. had only 322.6 million barrels of crude oil on hand.

Most important, the improvement I have stated — less deficit in the balance of payments and higher fuel stocks — have not come from increased imports. Obviously that wouldn't reduce the balance of payments deficit. The improvement has come through conservation. Our imports are down significantly. In 1979, we were importing 5.7 million barrels a day in early May. In mid-May of this year imports were down to 4.7 million barrels a day. A drop of one million barrels a day will mean a significant reduction in our dependence on foreign oil.

It is heartening to see these signs of progress, but we are sure not out of the woods yet. Our balance of payments deficit even though reduced, is still high. And although we are importing less oil and have higher gasoline stocks, we must still depend on foreign sources.

We can be cheered by the good news, but we must continue to step up our efforts to conserve and use our petroleum supplies wisely.

We're making progress and if Americans continue their good work in conservation, our balance of payments situation should improve, our fuel stocks will increase further and our dependence on foreign supplies will be further reduced. Those are worthy goals for all of us to pursue.

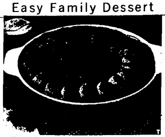
Fruit Cobbler Makes Easy Family Dessert



This family-favorite cobbler is especially easy to make, because the fruit mixture is topped with ready-to-use refrigerated biscuits. Enjoy the dessert year round, with fresh fruits in season or frozen during winter months.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB DEEP DISH COBBLER

3/4 to 1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced in half
3 cups sliced fresh rhubarb
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
1 can (10 biscuits) Pillsbury Refrigerated Buttermilk or Country Style Biscuits
Cinnamon-sugar mixture

In large saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir in strawberries, rhubarb, lemon juice and margarine. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently until hot, bubbly and slightly thickened. Pour into 2-quart casserole or baking dish.

Heat oven to 400°F. Separate dough into 10 biscuits; cut each in half with scissors. Arrange cut-side-down on hot fruit mixture in circle around edge of casserole. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture.

Bake at 400°F. for 15 to 20 minutes or until biscuits are golden brown. Serve warm with cream or ice cream. 6 servings.

TIP: Frozen strawberries and rhubarb may be substituted for the fresh fruit.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE REPORT Part 4

MUNICIPAL GAS LEGISLATION

Many of the communities in District 1 have municipal natural gas systems. However, those cities still have to purchase their gas from a private distributor who stands between them and the producer. This arrangement prevents our cities from obtaining certain economies in the purchasing and handling of the gas. I was the Senate author of legislation passed into law in 1979 which gives our cities the right to form their own distributor group. With our cities going together to form their own wholesale distributorship, local residents using natural gas should receive substantial benefits.

FAMILY FARMING

In the 1979 session, I was the sponsor of changes in the State's Family Farm Security Loan Program that permitted greater use of seller-sponsored loans, more commonly known as a sale by Contract for Deed. Additionaly, applicant qualification restrictions were removed for broader participation as well as providing that interest earned by a seller for a sale approved under the program is exempt from Minnesota Income Tax. Hopefully these changes will encourage retiring farmers to sell to farmers just starting out with their farm operations.

The promotion of our farm products was encouraged by authorizing the Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture to develop a "logo" or symbol identifying Minnesota ag. products as being produced and raised in our state.

The feedlot pollution credit on Minnesota income taxes for the installation of equipment and construction of facilities to control runoff from farm feedlots was re-enacted which will help farmers pay for the cost of that work.

The 1978 Session of the Legislature passed my bill which brought highly integrated beef and hog feedlot enterprises under the Minnesota Family Farm Corporation Act. Previously those operations had been exempted which was unfair for our family farm operators.

Several changes were made affecting Real Estate Taxes. The farm homestead qualification has been expanded to 240 acres. A bill of mine was enacted which removed the requirement that those acres had to be contiguous. Now any land within two townships of a farmer's rural residence qualifies. The ag. tax credit received on real estate taxes was increased from 12 to 17 mills and the homestead credit from the state increases to $650 for taxes payable in 1981.

Notwithstanding those changes, farm taxes have continued to climb. They are climbing because local assessments have increased and valuations under the state school aid formula have skyrocketed. Those increases came because they were based on sales value. And we all know there are a lot of factors why those sales are often overpriced and why those sales are an unfair basis for real estate valuations.

To counter this, I have proposed that farmland valuations be based on what those lands can produce for a farmer and his family. Two of my proposals using average market rentals have been passed by the State Senate, but failed to be adopted by both bodies of the Legislature for final passage. The first in the 1979 session would have revised the state school aid formula increasing state aid to our local schools which would have reduced local taxes. The second in the 1980 session would have established a formula based on rentals for local farm real estate assessments. I find, however, these measures gaining support and I am hopeful that passage will come in the next legislative session.

This concludes this series of special legislative reports. I have enjoyed serving as State Senator from District 1 and especially appreciated the support and help I received from around the district. If you would like to discuss the legislative matters outlined in these reports or any others, please write me at Rural Route 1, Hallock, Minnesota 56728 or call (218) 843-2783.

cancer answers

"Cancer Answers" is a weekly column sponsored by the Red River Valley Medical society, the Red River Valley unit of the American Cancer society and the Thief River Falls Times. Questions may be mailed to the editor, Thief River Falls Times. All questions will be answered, and those of a general interest will be published in "Cancer Answers."

Dear Cancer Answers:

Are the beer brewers doing anything about the reported cancer-causing substances in beer? It seems like it has been several years since I first heard about this problem.

Al

Dear Al:

The cancer-causing substances you refer to are nitrosamines which have been found to cause cancer in laboratory test animals. In 1978 it was found that trace amounts of nitrosamines enter beer because of the process by which the barley malt is dried.

The Brewers' Association reported in October, 1979, that they had surveyed 44 brewing companies concerning this problem and the progress in reducing nitrosamine levels in beer and other malt beverages. The association said 95 per cent responded, representing 99 per cent of the malt beverages in this country.

All the companies reported that they had taken action to change their brewing processes so as to reduce the formation of nitrosamines. The method used, the announcement said, consists mainly of reducing the temperature of the open flame used to dry the barley malt while lengthening the drying time.

Upon receiving this report, the FDA stated that they are now routinely checking domestic beer for nitrosamine content and will make results of such tests public immediately upon completion.

Dear Cancer Answers:

We've just learned that my husband's mother has a type of cancer called multiple myeloma. We'd like to know more about this disease. She has a lot of pain in her bones. Is that common with this type of cancer? Her doctor has started her on chemotherapy. Will these treatments relieve her pain?

Concerned daughter-in-law

Dear daughter-in-law:

Multiple myeloma is a cancer involving some of the cells in the bone marrow. It causes inflammation and weakening of the bones. Because the blood is manufactured by the bone marrow, this disease also may cause blood abnormalities such as anemia. Multiple myeloma often is described as a type of bone cancer because of its destructive effect on the bones, but it actually is related more closely to other cancers of the blood forming tissue, like leukemia.

Myeloma occurs slightly more often in men than in women and usually between ages 50 and 70. It is one of the slowest growing forms of cancer. Many people who have the disease don't notice any symptoms for years.

Bone pain is almost always the first symptom of multiple myeloma. This pain is usually mild and intermittent at first, but may become increasingly severe if the disease progresses.

It's difficult for doctors to predict how well multiple myeloma patients will respond to chemotherapy. Many patients feel better, have less bone pain and are able to be more active within three to five weeks after beginning chemotherapy. Others take longer to respond and some don't respond to the initial treatments. Radiation therapy is another form of treatment doctors also use to relieve patient's pain.

Doctors usually encourage myeloma patients to be as active as possible. Physical activity seems to slow the disease's degenerative effects on the bones and promotes better circulation.

Dear Cancer Andwers:

If doctors can use radiation treatments to destroy cancerous tumors, I don't understand why they can't just irradiate the patient's whole body to stop the cancer from spreading.

L.B.

Dear L.B.:

Radiation of the patient's entire body is used (usually in conjunction with surgery and-or chemotherapy) to treat some forms of cancer like lymphoma and leukemia.

For most types of cancer however, whole body irradiation is less effective than concentrating the radiation on the parts of the body where cancer is known to be located.

The reason for this is that the human body is able to tolerate only a limited amount of radiation. If that limited amount is spread throughout the entire body, each part of the body receives only a small dose.

Unfortunately, in most cases it takes a pretty large dose of radiation to kill enough cancer cells to stop the disease. By concentrating the amount of radiation the body can tolerate on the portion of the body where most of the cancer cells are known to be, the maximum number of these cells can be destroyed.

Therapeutic radiologists (doctors who specialize in treating diseases with radiation) can pinpoint accurately the part of a patient's body where radiation is likely to destroy the most cancer.

Dear Cancer Answers:

We've been hearing since the first Surgeon General's Report in 1964 that smoking is harzardous to your health yet people still seem to be smoking and lung cancer rates are still going up. Has the all-out anti-smoking campaign we've seen in recent years really changed the public's attitude about smoking?

D.Z.

Dear D.Z.:

The findings of a study recently released by the Federal Trade Commission indicate that the anti-smoking efforts of the past 15 years have affected public attitudes toward cigarette smoking.

The following significant negative trends toward smoking now prevail:

1. More than nine out of every 10 Americans believe that smoking is hazardous to a smoker's health.
2. A majority of Americans believes that it is probably hazardous to be around people who smoke even if they are not smoking themselves.
3. There is a majority sentiment for separate smoking sections in all public places.
4. There is majority acceptance of the idea that the cigarette warning label should be made stronger and more specific.
5. The percentage of people who smoke cigarettes is at the lowest level measured in the past years.
6. There is widespread support for anti-smoking education in the schools and at the very early years.
7. Two-thirds of smokers would like to give up smoking.
8. Nearly half the public thinks that smoking is an addiction.
9. More people say they would vote for than against a political candidate who takes a position favoring a ban on smoking in public places.

While it is true that the percentage of smokers in the U.S. population has begun to decline, the incidence rate of lung cancer continues to rise. This is because lung cancers usually take decades to develop into a detectable disease. We are now seeing cancer that began back in the 1940s, 1950s and early 1960s, but if the smoking decline continues, we can look forward to a leveling off and eventually a decline in smoking-related diseases.

This in no way means that we can relax our anti-smoking efforts, however. There are still 54 million smokers in the U.S. and smoking is responsible for more than 70 per cent of lung cancers.

SHOWERS: A Standing Trend

Today's fast-paced lifestyle is sending a lot of Americans to the showers several times a day.

Today's showers make this a greater pleasure than ever.

Showers only became popular here this century but were known to the ancient Greeks.

At various times in history, people have lauded bathing as a luxury, a religious obligation, an aid to beauty. At other times they have lambasted it as a threat to health, a dreadful decadence, an affront to nature. Queen Elizabeth I of England is said to have boasted that she had taken two baths in her life!

Today—and perhaps nowhere more than in America—we agree that "cleanliness is next to godliness." And the freshly shampooed, powdered and perfumed populace is proof positive that we practice what we preach!

As early as 1895 New York State enacted legislation that required the establishment of free public baths in cities, villages and towns. Furthermore, the baths had to provide hot as well as cold water and remain open no less than 14 hours a day. Thus did bathing and cleanliness in our egalitarian society become available to almost everyone—rather than a luxury just for the rich.

It wasn't until after the turn of the century that most homes in the United States could boast a bathtub of their own. Their design and use reflected the Victorian mode of the leisurely, weekly Saturday evening bath.

But life in America began to change; a once-a-week ritual bath became less and less suited to hectic daily schedules. By the 30s and 40s, shower heads started to appear over tubs. People really didn't have time for soaking in—and scouring out—the tub. Today, as showering is becoming an everyday routine for every member of the family, more and more homes are beginning to have separate shower stalls built into bathrooms.

People are becoming increasingly aware of the importance of keeping physically fit. Exercise in all forms has swept the nation. Millions are jogging in the parks and on the streets; millions more vie for space on the tennis, squash and racquetball courts. Swimming pools are crowded, and the number of private pools is on the rise.

Our lifestyle—and manners—call for bathing daily or sometimes even several times daily. The easiest way to freshen up after an early morning jog, a lunchtime tennis match or a day's hard work, is to duck into the shower—quick, vitalizing. And, when you're all keyed up and tense, or wonderfully worn out from exercise, nothing is as relaxing and conducive to good rest and a sense of well-being as a warm shower.

Showers are a convenience, and just as convenient are the new materials for showers on the market—particularly fiber glass. Easy-care fiber glass fixtures fit in with today's lifestyles. In fact, with some modern fixtures, safety is an added plus. Owens-Corning Fiberglas, for example, manufactures tub-showers and shower stalls, as well as bathtubs, with a textured safer-surface and slip-resistant bottom.

No longer just a popular trend, the shower has become an American institution.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH?

Use modern agri-chemicals with extreme care, warns the Minnesota medical association.

An endless list of products make it possible for the farmer and the home garden enthusiast to wage a successful battle against weeds, insects, disease agents or rodents, and to improve the fertility of the soil.

Some of these chemicals can be safely handled with a few basic precautions. Other chemicals are potentially toxic and require special handling and protective devices.

The Association offers the following basic safety rules for the use of agricultural chemicals:

+ Read and follow the directions on the label. If the directions aren't clear call the chemical dealer, county agent or health department and ask for a clear explanation. Be certain you know what is in the container, what it's for, how to use it safely, what special equipment may be needed, how to store it, how to dispose of unused portions and the container and what to do if chemicals come in contact with the body or are inhaled or swallowed.

+ Use only the amount of the chemical indicated on the label. It isn't necessarily true that if a small amount of a chemical is effective a greater amount will be better. Maximum effectiveness, safety and economy of agricultural chemicals has been determined as the result of costly research and testing by the manufacturer. Additionally, MMA advises users of agricultural chemicals to:

+ Avoid contact or inhalation of chemicals;

+ Wash carefully before eating or smoking;

+ Mix chemicals only as they were intended to be mixed;

+ Store chemicals in original or approved containers. Never store in unmarked coffee cans, fruit jars, pop bottles. Keep them locked beyond the reach and access of children, animals or unauthorized persons. Do not store in the garage, barn, grainery or macine shed.

+ Properly dispose of unused chemicals and empty containers. Do not burn unused chemicals or their containers unless the label indicates such. A number of chemicals may give off harmful fumes, leave poisonous ashes or even explode. Never pour toxic chemicals on the ground or into streams, or other bodies of water.

+ Wash promptly and thoroughly if chemicals come in contact with skin. Follow first aid measures on the container and contact a physician immediately.

Jogging has become a popular national pastime. Unfortunately there is a growing popular misconception that jogging is a cure-all for getting America's sedentary population back in good physical condition.

While most persons in physical condition can become joggers the Minnesota medical association advises that it is more important to be aware than physical exercise generally is beneficial and jogging is one form of excellent physical exercise.

It is essential for the jogger or the would-be jogger to be in good health. This should be determined by a thorough medical examination by a physician. It is particularly important that the heart be examined for any defect, illness, or injury.

Although jogging may help someone to lose weight, a more satisfactory approach to the problem is to eat less.

Any attempts to lose weight by jogging should be carefully monitored by a physician. This would most likely involve a balanced reducing diet in addition to the jogging.

Joggers often feel that jogging can act as an escape valve to reduce anger and anxiety. Jogging will not help a person develop immunity to heart disease. However, studies tend to indicate that the strenuousness of jogging and other vigorous physical activity can help to reduce heart attacks.

Joggers sometimes suffer from "joggers heel." This is a microscopic tear or fatigue tear of a band of tissue which runs along the bottom of the foot and attaches to the heel bone. Calcification or heel spur may be involved. Rest is the most satisfactory treatment for this form of injury.

It has been suggested that the "talk test" is one method of determining ideal jogging speed. This involves aiming for a pace which will permit conversation with a jogging companion. This is usually about 50 per cent of the jogger's maximum oxygen capacity. However, this can differ from person to person.

Studies have established that cigarette smokers have twice the risk of death due to coronary heart disease as non-smokers. Coronary heart disease is the single most cause of mortality among cigarette smokers. There are a number of factors which contribute to the chances that a cigarette smoker will die of coronary heart disease, observes the Minnesota Medical Association.

There are many factors involved in the generating of coronary heart disease, including heredity, diabetes, and cholesterol. These are things that we may or may not be able to do too much about ourselves.

Smoking and obesity are the other two major causes of heart disease which we can affect by our own actions.

Cigarette smokers are more prone to high blood pressure. Many smokers will have some drop in high blood pressure when they stop smoking. Statistically, smokers have a much higher blood pressure rate than non-smokers; smoking constricts the blood vessels. This together with a number of other factors can cause hypertension or high blood pressure. Smoking increases the heart rate and constricts blood vessels so that the blood pressure does go up. This condition places an increased strain upon the heart and blood vessels. Over a long period of time the chronic constriction of blood vessels will lead to a narrowing of the vessels and the blood pressure will remain elevated affecting circulation in other parts of the body. It has been estimated that there are about 4,000 elements in cigarette smoke. Those causing the greatest concern as affecting the heart and lungs are: carbon monixide, which is in fairly high concentrations in cigarette smoke; nicoltine, which is a chemical which affects the physiology of the heart and circulation; tars, which are a miscellaneous bag of elements which look and act like tars and are in general cancer producing agents. These tars will also affect the efficient functioning of the lungs so that they are more prone to infections and disease.

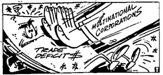
The immediate effects of smoking upon the heart include increased heart rate and increased blood pressure. The heart is also more prone to irregular types of rhythm. Over the long term, a study of smokers will show that there is an increased incidence of heart attacks. These is a greater tendency of blood vessel disease in the arms and legs. There is an increased tendency toward stroke among smokers. The carbon monoxide produced by smoking displaces oxygen from the red blood cells so that there are not as many red blood cells that can carry oxygen. Consequently, the heart has to pump more blood to obtain sufficient amounts of oxygen. This also means that the heart has to work harder and the smoker has to work harder to accomplish the same task.

It is possible in many instances for the person who stops smoking to reverse many of the changes in the body that smoking has brought about. The strain on the heart goes down. Lung function can be measured to indicate any improvement. Exercise tolerance improves.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

An improved balance of trade position and the creation of new and better jobs for Americans are but two of the contributions that America's multinational corporations confer on our economy. In this article, the Vice President-International of Du Pont explains.

By J. A. Klacsmann



Our multinational corporations help America offset the hugh trade deficits caused by our oil imports.

President Carter recently signed an executive order designed to expand international markets for American products and give American workers "higher and better" employment.

The U.S. multinationals engaged in manufacture are substantial contributors to our economy, both by helping lessen the balance of trade deficit and by creating employment in the U.S.

Klacsmann

Traditionally, we have not been export-oriented. Our exports last year represented only 23 percent of the value of all manufactured goods in the U.S. Japan, with 33 percent, exported over $100 billion—over a quarter of this to the U.S., still the freest market in the world.

When, through exports from the U.S., an overseas market becomes large enough to justify local manufacture, we must decide either to set up a plant there ourselves and expand that market, or face the risk of abandoning it to a foreign competitor.

Many industries, such as the chemical industry, face highly sophisticated and formidable competitors abroad, particularly from Europe and Japan. Competing in their back yard often dictates local manufacture for us, just as these competitors take advantage of opportunities in the U.S.—e.g., Volkswagen's new Pennsylvania plant.

Setting up manufacturing operations outside the U.S. leads to establishing networks to sell locally manufactured products. These networks then become an efficient mechanism for the sale of goods produced in the U.S.—and thus increase production and employment in the U.S.

In most developed countries where we have manufacturing activities, labor is no longer cheap and imports of U.S. companies from their foreign affiliates are a tiny portion of their U.S. sales.

U.S. companies' foreign investment creates more domestic jobs than companies that limit their trade to the U.S. Between 1970 and 1977, U.S. employment for 124 multinational companies studied rose 5.7 percent compared with a one percent fall in total U.S. employment in manufacturing. For example: as Du Pont's investments abroad grew, so did our exports—increasing tenfold from 1961. In fact, we estimate that some 18,000 Du Pont employees in the U.S. owe their jobs to our exports.

America must meet the challenge to become more export-oriented in order to become able to cope successfully with sophisticated competitors with a longer history of export activities.

NEWS OF RELIGION

Past, Present And Future

The Lutheran Church in America has a lot to celebrate this year. Regarding the past, 1980 marks the 450th anniversary of the Augsburg Confession, the creed of the Lutheran church. Special events have been planned to recognize that at the Lutheran Church in America's tenth biennial convention, held in Seattle from June 26th to July 2nd.

For the present, the 687 delegates to the convention from the U.S., Canada and the Caribbean will be asked to adopt a social statement that asks the church and its 3.1 million members to be exemplary as employer, purchaser and consumer, practicing economic justice.

For the future, the convention will discuss one of the church's most important long-range items—the future of Lutheran unity and the possibility of merging with two other Lutheran churches.

The delegates will also be asked to extend the Love Compels Action/World Hunger appeal for ten years. Since mid-1974, the appeal has raised $17.5 million.

In addition, the secretary of the church will be elected and scores of persons will be named to the Executive Council, management committees and boards of the churchwide agencies that carry out the worldwide mission of North America's largest Lutheran body.

PROGRESS IN WATER SUPPLY

Chlorine, in the form of bleaching powder, was first used to purify foul-smelling water in the 1830's.

The first Americans to benefit from chlorinated water were the hogs at the Chicago Stockyards. The Bubbly Creek filters there were disinfected in 1908.

Today, the 100th year of the American Water Works Association, adding chlorine to public water supplies is the most effective and wide spread technique of disinfection. Because of it deaths from typhoid have practically disappeared.

Epilepsy Often Misunderstood, Say Doctors

(The following are fictitious, but typical case histories)

"Jennifer occasionally just stares off into space when I'm talking to her during class," the teacher told Jennifer's father. "When I ask her a question about what we've just covered in class, she doesn't answer me. . ."

"I've noticed that Timmy will blink a few times and sometimes stutter for a second or two," said Timmy's mother, "but he doesn't seem to have any problem remembering what we're talking about. . ."

These people are describing symptoms of one of the leading chronic illnesses affecting the general population — seizures. "For the total population, about one out of 10 people risk having an isolated seizure at some time in life," said Kathryn Green, M.D., neurologist at St. Paul Children's Hospital.

But recurrent seizures, or epilepsy, is a disorder of the central nervous system affecting about two per cent of the general population, she said. If one or both parents have epilepsy, the risk of epilepsy is increased for the offspring.

Because of myths associating epilepsy with mental illness or retardation, children with seizures are often teased, shuned or mistreated by their peers. Families frequently react by overprotecting the child. "It is important for the child and the parents to learn about what happens in a seizure because it then becomes less scary," said Joanne Madsen, R.N., neurology clinic nurse.

A seizure is a sign that a disorder is present, as a fever is a symptom of infection. The cause of epilepsy can be found in about half the cases, according to Green. Sometimes epilepsy can be an indication of damaged brain tissue and other times there is no apparent damage. The type of seizure indicates the part of the brain that is affected, said Madsen.

In all seizures, there are abnormal electrical discharges in nerve cells of the brain. When this happens, the brain cannot work properly for a time. Depending on the portion of the brain affected, a person may temporarily lose control over muscles of the body, or sometimes consciousness, or senses, or even thoughts, during the seizure.

Some children have seizures that are difficult to recognize because the seizures are so brief and subtle, according to Madsen. A child might experience unusual visual or sensory perceptions during seizures, such as seeing dots, or distorted proportions, or smelling "rotten eggs", or "burnt rubber."

Green said, "One third-grader said she felt like she was in a box during her seizures." Another child described that she perceived objects getting smaller.

Certain things trigger seizures in some people. Disco lights and bright sunlight shining through trees have brought on seizures. Slumber parties might bring on seizures in some teenagers whose bodies are unable to handle the strain of staying up all night, Madsen said. "One boy had a seizure after an all-night retreat at his church," Green said.

With other seizures people may seem to be day dreaming for a few seconds, or may blink their eyes, or have mild facial twitching, or fiddle with their clothes, or rub their legs with their hands.

Some people appear to be drugged or confused during seizures. Other seizures cause convulsive behavior such as falling down, stiffening of the body and muscle spasms. Following a seizure, some people are confused, tired or weak, and most people don't remember having the seizure.

Characteristics that are common with all seizures are that they have a sudden onset, last for a brief period of time and suddenly end, Green said. Also, an individual with recurring seizures has the same kind every time.

Sometimes, behavior problems or troubles with school work stem from a seizure disorder. An observant teacher can provide valuable information in diagnosing seizures, according to Madsen.

If seizures are suspected, a complete medical exam should be given, according to Green. At Children's a patient's and the family's medical history is taken; a description of the seizures is recorded; and a neurologic exam is given to test specific functions of the central nervous system.

Once epilepsy is diagnosed, it can be treated with antiepileptic medications, sometimes diet, and rarely with surgery.

"There a better than 50 per cent chance that a child who is on medication for three to five years, without having seizures, will not require a lifetime of medications," Green concluded.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

A Bill That Is Truly Criminal

More and more Americans now believe this country is never really safe until Congress goes out on recess. It follows that when Congress stays in Washington, remains hard at work, and then comes up with a piece of legislation officially described as broad, sweeping, and vague, all of us should be on guard. This is especially true of a bill now awaiting final Senate approval that has been in the works for years, and that has the full support of America's favorite liberal, Senator Edward Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy's legislation, S. 1722, is certainly broad and sweeping, for it is nothing less than an attempt to rewrite and consolidate the nation's criminal laws. What's more, it is very vaguely written. A man whose intelligence and diligence I greatly admire, Senator Jim McClure of Idaho, tells me he first became interested in Kennedy's bill two years ago, when he learned it would inadvertently invoke a two-year mandatory prison sentence for hunters who shot ducks out of season.

Now that McClure, working with the staff of the Senate steering Committee, has thoroughly dissected the bill, he has reached a far more ominous conclusion that should horrify the entire American business community: In his words, "...a broad judicial interpretation of S. 1722 would put large numbers of businessmen in jail."

The bill makes literally hundreds of changes in current law. With only minor exceptions, those provisions governing business liability are made looser, more ambiguous, and thus, easier to interpret. Those provisions dealing with drug abuse, pornography, and sex crimes are made narrower and more difficult to interpret.

McClure observes: "It could be that these two divergent trends in the bill are wholly coincidental, and that the staff of the Senate's most liberal Senator has made hundreds of painfully constructed changes — many with cleverly executed liberal inplications — innocently and without any ideological purpose. I, for one, think that is a fairy tale."

Take a look at some of the principal ways S. 1722 could transform America's approximately 14 million businesses into our largest criminal class.

Unver current law, the voluntary manslaughter statute does not apply to business because the crime must be committed "in the heat of passion." But, by turning manslaughter into a generalized "reckless homicide" statute, the Kennedy bill would open up a broad new area of business prosecution.

Next, remember the Supreme Court decision upholding Bill Barlow — the gutsy small businessman in Idaho, who said OSHA inspectors violated the Constitution by attempting to enter his company without a search warrant? Well, you can forget it. Mr. Kennedy's bill would make it unlawful to evict OSHA and other government inspectors from your plant or home. As long as a government inspector testifies he thought he was complying with the law and operating in good faith, i.e., with a "clean heart and empty head," (Is this definition meant to prohibit many bureaucrats from having to commit perjury?) you will go to jail for threatening to evict him.

Police officers, of course, cannot take such stern measures — even against suspected murderers. So just think: In this land where we came to be free, a suspected murderer would have more rights after passage of the Kennedy bill than an innocent businessman who has not been accused of anything!

Next, the bill would make it a federal crime to refuse to obey an agency subpoena to appear as a witness or produce documents. An agency subpoena will now be considered "an order." It does not make a bit of difference if you are convinced the subpeona is unlawful.

Next, in the Senate version of Kennedy's bill, one section — endangerment — would bootstrap certain OSHA, environmental and mine safety violations to class D felonies. That could mean prison sentences of up to five years, and fines of up to a million dollars per violation.

Next, while expanding the old strikebreaking law to make it more useful against business, the Kennedy bill takes the extra ordinary step of freeing labor unions from current criminal statutes dealing with extortion and blackmail.

These are just some — though by no means all — of the objectionable features of S. 1722. Together, however, they demonstrate that in terms of potential impact, this bill is one of the most destructive Congress has considered in many years. My advice to the business community is simple: Unless significantly amended, we should resist it tooth and nail. If we do not, we may well witness the final nail being driven into our own coffin — the one containing what's left of free enterprise in America.

Just recently, I reported on a special agreement called the "National Accord" worked out between the White House and the leadership of organized labor. In bidding for labor's election year support, the White House granted the AFL-CIO hierarchy an unprecedented opportunity to influence the content of the fiscal 1981 budget. The result was a document the President called "prudent and responsible" in which federal spending overall, and by the Department of Labor in particular, would actually soar by 16 per cent.

Now all that has changed. With inflation and interest rates climbing out of sight, the Administration has had to swallow hard, renounce its "prudent and responsible" budget and submit still another. This latest budget will supposedly be balanced, thanks to about $4 billion in spending reductions, but more than $90 billion in tax increases between now and the end of fiscal 1981. Indeed, the word around town is that the Administration is finally determined to balance its budget — even if it takes every cent we have!

The reaction of labor's leadership has been highly revealing. Rather than condemn the huge tax increases which will obviously have a devastating impact on its own rank and file — as well as on millions of other taxpayers — it has instead criticized the Administration's few feeble attempts to cut federal spending. Indeed, so upset is labor's leadership with these proposed spending reductions, that it now threatens to pull out of the National Accord and withdraw its political support from members of Congress who back the Administration.

Labor's priorities then are clear: The federal budget must remain high, even at the expense of severely compromising the after-tax earnings of working America. This attitude helps explain why the leaders of organized labor are increasingly out of touch with their own membership.

Every time labor's leadership pushes for more government spending, new programs and higher deficits, the people who benefit most are the members of its rapidly growing government employee unions. Those who automatically pay the bill, through higher taxes and inflation, are the union and non-union people working in the private economy.

Most thoughtful Americans now agree that our economy is being hurt by a federal bureaucracy that continues to grow faster than the ability of the underlying economy to support it. During just the four fiscal years of this Administration, for example, federal spending will soar from $400 billion to $600 billion. Seen in another light, the federal budget will have grown half as much during these four years as it did during all the previous 188. Keep in mind, as well, that this tremendous increase in federal spending has been accompanied by a precipitous plunge in the rates of savings, investment and productivity — i.e., all the key components of non-inflationary economic growth and prosperity.

One need not be an economic expert to understand that fundamental change in direction is needed. It's time to strengthen America and create a bigger pie by restoring tax incentives for greater work efforts and new savings and investment. Unfortunately, labor's leadership rejects even this most elementary logic by trotting out all the old hackneyed slogans from the 1930's, claiming such initiatives favor the rich over the poor.

Fellows, you're peddling intellectual bunk. A recent article in the Washington Post pointed out that while the average worker has fallen steadily behind and his purchasing power is no better today than 12 years ago, "large nonworking dependent sectors of the population — 40 million people in all — have not lost ground."

That's because the people in this latter group, many of whom are on welfare, receive benefits that are fully indexed to the rate of inflation. The benefits, of course, are paid by taxpayers — the same people who are being clobbered by inflation and confiscatory taxation.

If the leaders of organized labor want to show some genuine compassion toward the American people, they could begin by discarding their 50-year-old economic theories and addressing the realities of inflation and taxation in the real world of the 1980's.

Check The Label — On Sliced Meat Products, Too

There's more to some sliced meat products than meets the eye, and if you read the label you will find important dietary information on one leading food processor's packages.

Oscar Mayer & Co. is a maker of food products which play a vital role in a balanced diet—meat. The company has just introduced a voluntary labeling program for eleven existing sliced meat products which are 90% or more fat-free. Working with the federal government nearly a year in developing a format easily understood by consumers, the company developed a new label containing information on fat, protein and calories per slice. All of the sliced meat products contain at least four grams of protein and no more than 50 calories per ounce. All are 90 percent or more fat-free. These lean, low-calorie products include Bar-B-Que Loaf, Beef Honey Roll, Canadian-style Bacon, Cooked Ham, Ham Roll, Honey Loaf, Ham Steaks, Luxury Loaf, New England Brand Sausage, Peppered Loaf and Turkey Breast.

Dietary fitness is becoming a way of life for many families. This is evidenced by increasing exercise and recreation programs...and the more careful way information is studied on food products that now carry nutritional labeling.

Some meat package labels show just what's inside.

Oscar Mayer's look in nutritional labeling, a panel located on the back side of the cold meat package, incorporates information that includes cholesterol, sodium and potassium values and the basic nutrients—protein, fat and carbohydrate—on a per slice basis.

Products that qualify for this fat-free labeling program can be found in the processed meat case in the peg display and can be identified by a sticker on the face of the package indicating their fat-free content. Use of the sticker is restricted to those products containing an average of 10 percent or less fat.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q — I am a former member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. Am I eligible for a pension from the Veterans Administration?

A — No. You are, however, entitled to VA hospitalization, domiciliary and nursing home care and burial benefits provided by VA.

Q — May incarcerated veterans receive Veterans Administration pension benefits?

A — No. However, the VA can, upon proof of the veteran's permanent and total disability or his reaching age 65, pay the appropriate pension rate to his wife and-or dependent children

Q: When I visit or call the Veterans Administration to inquire about my benefits it seems that my number is more important than my name. Why?

A: Your claim number or social security number permits the VA to identify your records more quickly and determine to which benefits you are entitled. Your name is important. But consider the fact that there are more than 30 million names in the VA records system. Many are identical. There are no duplicate social security or claim numbers.

Q — Must I take my Veterans Administration insurance dividend in cash or do I have other options?

A — There are several dividend options available to policyholders other than cash. For full information contact your nearest VA regional office.

Q — I am a student participating in the Veterans Administration work-study program. What is the earliest effective date of my work-study contract?

A — The beginning of the certified enrollment period at the college you are attending.

Q: May a veteran in college under the GI Bill and needing less than 12 credit hours to graduate take 12 or more hours in his final term in order to receive full-time educational benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A: Yes, provided the veteran or eligible person has sufficient remaining entitlement.

Q: I have a participating Veterans Administration insurance policy which will earn a dividend this year. When may I expect to receive this dividend?

A: Unless otherwise specified, the dividends for each eligible policy are payable on the day before the policy anniversary date unless the policy is terminated sooner by death or surrendered for cash.

Q: I intend to purchase a home in the near future using my Veterans Administration home loan guaranty eligibility. What is the current interest rate?

A: The current interest rate (as of Feb. 11) is 12 per cent. However, you should contact your nearest VA regional office prior to actual purchase of a home since interest rates are subject to change.

Q — If I receive Veterans Administration benefit payments, may I have my premiums for Veterans Group Life Insurance deducted from my benefit check?

A — No. Premiums must be paid by you directly to the office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance.

Q — If a veteran purchases a home under the GI Bill and sells it, can be obtain another GI laon?

A — Yes. A veteran may qualify for restoration of loan guaranty entitlement if the Veterans Administration has been relieved of liability on the previous loan. VA is relieved of liability when the loan is paid in full and the property has been disposed of. Eligibility may also be restored when another veteran agrees to substitute his entitlement for that of the original veteran borrower.

Q — May a veteran in school under the GI Bill re-enroll in a subject for which he has previously received a failing grade and still receive his Veterans Administration benefits?

A — Yes, provided overall progress requirements are met.

Arctic Finishes New Financing Arrangements

Arctic Enterprises, Inc. announced that it has completed a new financing arrangement with its lenders, including the Continental Illinois National bank, Chicago; The First National Bank of St. Paul, St. Paul; Manufacturers Hanover Trust company, New York; Omaha National Bank, Omaha; Seattle-First National Bank, Seattle; Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Winnipeg; and The Prudential insurance company, Minneapolis.

The new agreement provides for maximum short-term borrowings of up to $47,600,000 in U.S. dollars. Last year, Arctic-s credit lines with the same bank group totaled $52,800,000 in U.S. dollars.

Under terms of the agreement, all the loans, including existing long-term loans, are secured by substantially all of Arctic's consolidated receivables, inventories and plant and equipment.

"The 1981 financing agreements have been designed to fund our seasonal financing needs for the upcoming year. We are pleased with the continuing support of our lenders," states Arctic president Kenneth J. Severinson. "With this financing in place we can concentrate all our efforts on returning to profitable operations as soon as possible."

Last winter, the lack of snow in major market areas adversely affected retail snowmobile sales for Arctic and the rest of the snowmobile industry, according to Severinson.

Arctic previously announced that 1981 model snowmobile production has been reduced to enable the company and its dealers to complete the upcoming season with more normal inventories.

"By accomplishing this goal," Severinson said, "we will significantly reduce our dependence on bank credit and future interest costs."

School Board July 1st Meet Is At 7 P.M.

Organizational meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education scheduled for July 1 will be held at 7 p.m. rather than 7 a.m. as previously announced. Correction in the original meeting time announced by the district superintendent's office was made following publication of the announcement Wednesday.

The meeting will be held at the area vocational-technical institute.

Zion At Viking Notes 75 Years

Seventy-fifth anniversary of Zion Lutheran church of Viking will be observed Saturday and Sunday with Rev. K. David Gabrielsen as host pastor. Anniversary banquet will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. with the anniversary festival worship set for 10:45 a.m. Sunday with Bishop Cecil Johnson of the Northern Minnesota district ALC, delivering the sermon.

A fellowship dinner will be served at noon, followed by open house at the new parsonage near the church. Informal program of music and greetings will take place at 2 p.m. at the church.

Rev. Gabrielsen has served the congregation since 1976. Previous pastors and their terms of service include Rev. Ralph Hofrenning, 1973-1976; Rev. Wesley Mathre, 1967-1973; Rev. L. A. Staveness, 1966-1967; Rev. T. J. Weltzin, 1955-1966; Student Victor Anderson, 1954-1955; Rev. Arthur N. Grorud, 1952-1954; Rev. Carl T. Thompson, 1945-1951; Rev. P. M. Bratlie, 1942-1944; Rev. Harlan O. Peterson, 1932-1942; Rev. Iver L. Lasseson, 1927-1932; Rev. Selmer L. Tallackson, 1925-1927; Rev. S. J. Brekke, 1919-1925; Rev. N. A. Skogerboe, 1916-1919; Rev. Iver L. Lasseson, 1910-1915; and Rev. Magnus Dahle, 1907-1909.

Rev. K. David Gabrielsen

Current officers of the congregation include Duane Krohn, president; George Erickson, vice president; Roger Anderson, secretary; Raymond Berg, treasurer; Melvin Grandstrand, Dean Broten and Gene Nelson, deacons; LeRoy Gustafson, Gary Anderson and Earl Erickson, trustees.

Mrs. Melvin (Irene) Grandstrand is president of the ladies auxiliary with Dawn Anderson president of the Luther league and Mrs. Gary (Jean) Anderson Sunday school superintendent. Circle presidents are Mrs. LeRoy (Edna) Gustafson, Mrs. Loretta Halvorson and Mrs. Egberg (Clarissa) Malberg with Melvin Grandstrand and Arne Samuelson as head ushers.

Zion Lutheran church was formed on Dec. 12, 1905, when a meeting was held at the Styrlund Brothers store in Viking with a pastor from Crookston acting as chairman. Officers were elected, church site selected and some members began hauling stones for the basement and foundation while others circulated lists for donations. On DAWN ODE, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ode of rural Thief River Falls, will be one of nine candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the Jaycee Aquacade pageant July 26. The blue-eyed blonde is an avid seamstress and has made many of her own clothes. Her pageant talent number will be a piano solo.

Dawn Ode Seeks Aquacade Title

TALENT AWARD winner for singing among non-finalists at the Miss Minnesota pageant in Austin last week was won by Jane Olson, Miss Thief River Falls. The award carried with it a $100 scholarship. Jane sang an operatic number in preliminary talent competition Friday evening. Miss Austin, Debra Goodwin, was named Miss Minnesota of 1980 while Laurie Saarinen of Frazee, Miss Northwest, was first runner. Miss Minnesota is scheduled to appear at the Miss Thief River Falls pageant July 26 in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

(This is the first in a series of articles involving candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the annual Jaycee Aquacade pageant. The official Miss America preliminary event will be held Saturday, July 26, at the Lincoln high school auditorium.)

Give Dawn Ode a sewing machine, a couple of yards of material and a few hours to herself and she will have a handsome new addition to her wardrobe. She lists sewing among her favorite hobbies and is proficient enough at it to have made a good portion of her own clothes.

Dawn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ode of rural Thief River Falls and a 1980 graduate of Lincoln high school. The blue-eyed blonde is five feet five inches tall and weighs 107 pounds. Her pageant talent number will be a piano solo.

Sewing is a natural tie-in for her work—she is employed by Mrs. Bruce Steiger at Annette's Fabrics in Thief River Falls. Her experience allows her to help customers with some of their problems and her familiarity with fabrics helps her in the selection of material for her own projects.

"I've used a sewing machine for quite a few years," Dawn said, "and I've taken a liking to macrame, too. There are some really pretty projects that can be made with macrame kits and patterns."

Although Dawn was one of the top 10 scholastic students in the 1980 graduating class at Lincoln and a member of the National Honor society, she didn't ignore other phases of school activity. She was a homecoming queen attendant during her junior year, a hockey cheerleader for four years, a member of the high school choirs for four years and participated in two school musicals.

A member of Trinity Lutheran church she has been a member of youth groups and active in the Sunday school.

This fall she will attend Moorhead state college and plans to major in business — either accounting or computer science.

Evening Hymn Sings Set At Hartz Park

Again this summer a group of Thief River Falls churches will be holding a Sunday evening hymn sing at L.B. Hartz park on the last Sundays of June, July and August. Services will begin at 7 p.m. on June 29, July 27, and August 31. In the event of rain, the services will be held in the chapel and dining areas at Valley home.

In addition to audience singing there will be soloists, duets and other groups and brief meditations at several points in the service by participating pastors.

Participating churches are: Assembly of God, Evangelical Covenant, Evangelical Free, Faith Lutheran Brethren, First Baptist, Our Saviour's Lutheran and United Methodist.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Ice Cream Social

Sunday in Hartz park the Kiwanis club of Thief River Falls is holding the first of what it hopes will be an annual ice cream social. The event is open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m.

According to Gary Steuck and Glen Espe, co-chairmen of the project, the intent is to have an old-fashioned community get-together for some good fellowship and a bit of refreshment.

Charge for the social is $1 per person with children under six admitted free. Any profits realized will be used by the Kiwanis club for local public service projects.

Bob Ekeren, president of the local Kiwanians, says, "This is the first community fund raising project the club has attempted since forming two and one-half years ago. Kiwanis is dedicated to building a better community through voluntary efforts. Some of the things we would like to do require some funds. We see this as an opportunity to provide a wholesome community event for the whole family with a potential to generate some funds that we could put into other community service projects."

Lending atmosphere to the gathering will be a display of antique autos.

Setesdals Laget Celebration Set Saturday

Seventy-first annual convention of the Setesdals Laget of America will be held Saturday at the high school auditorium in Oklee.

The Norwegian organization is composed of descendants of natives of the province of Setesdal, Norway, and was organized in Grand Forks, N.D., on June 30, 1909.

Special feature of the Saturday afternoon program will be a performance of the Jessheim school band from Jessheim, Norway. The Nidaros Norwegian folk dancers will perform on the Saturday evening program.

Programs beginning at 2 and 7:30 p.m. will include a talk by Dreng Bjornaraa of Minneapolis, vice president of the Bygdelags; Charley Olson, accordion; Truman Sorenson of Grand Forks, guitar; Audrey Stawarski, Norweigna songs and humorous reading; Oliver Lien, Norske songs; and the fiddlers ass'n. of Crookston.

A Setesdal souvenir pin, designed by Ethel Wiseth of Goodridge, will be on sale at the Laget along with a Norwegian record.

Reidar Aksnes and his orchestra from Trondelag, Norway will appear for dancing at the Oklee city hall starting at 9 p.m. Admission is $3 per person.

The Setesdals Laget annual meeting will follow the afternoon performance with Oliver Lien presiding. Officers will be elected and other business will be discussed. Officers of the Setesdals Laget of America include: President, Oliver Lien; vice president, Bennett Larson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Orlando Chervestad, all of Oklee; and directors Dreng Bjornaraa, Minneapolis; Oscar Flateland, Oklee; Clifford Olson, McIntosh; Julian Gunderson, Trail; and Truman Sorenson, East Grand Forks.

Purpose of the Laget is to promote and preserve the best in Norwegian heritage.

Cite Panek For Conservation

Henry Panek of Silverton township has been named conservation farmer of the year for 1980 by the Pennington soil and water conservation district. Announcement of the selection was made late last week by Allan Gustafson, work unit conservationist for the district.

MAJOR POINT OF INTEREST during dairy month, when Goodridge senior citizens toured the Goodridge historical society building Friday afternoon, was the dairy display prepared by the Goodridge high school. Included in the display was a milking stool, glass milk bottles, kerosene lanterns, butter boxes, Dairy day awards received in 1959 and 1960 (two jackets pictured on far right), and numerous other dairy items used years ago. Giving the tour was Lois Swanson, a member of the Goodridge area historical society (center).

Honor Rev. Patnode For 50 Years In Priesthood

50TH ANNIVERSARY of his ordination into the priesthood was observed by Rev. Keough Patnode recently at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church in Oklee. Rev. Patnode served St. Bernards' Catholic church in Thief River Falls for 19 years before being assigned to the Oklee parish. Approximately 1,000 people gathered for the anniversary celebration.

"In praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God we celebrate the 50th anniversary of ordination to the priesthood of Father Keough Patnode, 1930 to 1980". With this thought began the celebration of Rev. Patnode's 50 years in the priesthood at ceremonies in Oklee recently.

The event was solemnized in the high school auditorium as the St. Francis Xavier church could not accommodate the approximately 1,000 people who came to honor the pastor who has served Oklee Catholics and Protestants nearly 30 years. Many Thief River Falls friends and former parishioners joined in the festivities since Rev. Patnode served St. Bernard's Catholic church here for 19 years.

Rev. Patnode was the presiding celebrant at the mass and Msgr. Victor Cardin and Rev. Roger Grundhaus were concelebrants. Msgr. Cardin delivered the homily and Joe Dufault, long-time trustee of the parish, served as lector and also spoke in behalf of the parishioners of St. Francis Xavier and St. Charles parishes.

Rev. Michael Patnode served as master of ceremonies and spoke for the family. He introduced the other speakers: Rev. Charles Gunderson, Zion Lutheran church, who spoke for the ecumenical community of Oklee; Bob Carlson, mayor, who spoke for the people of Thief River Falls; Terry Courneya, for parishioners of St. Bernard's; and Rev. Grundhaus, for priests of the diocese.

Music was provided by the audience and choir; organist was Shelly O'Neill. Special

Holland Visitor Enjoys US Temperatures, Sports

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

Fishing, camping and sunny skies have become new experiences for Henk Top, a resident of Amsterdam, Holland, who returned to his homeland last Saturday following a three-week visit with Tom and Lori Johnson of Thief River Falls.

The aroma of hot pancakes still lingered in the living room at the Johnson home Friday morning following a hearty breakfast which in turn had followed from an early morning trip on the Red Lake River.

Our "guest" was dressed in the traditional blue jeans and flannel shirt covering a T-shirt, while puffing on his pipe.

Henk, 22, has been employed at an auto repair shop in Amsterdam — a major city and chief financial and manufacturing center of the Netherlands in North Holland —for the past four years. His three-week visit with the Johnson's followed from a meeting last year in a laundry room in a campground in Niagra Falls, a manufacturing and tourist center in New York, Henk said.

"I was on a tour of the East Coast with some friends," Henk said. "I needed change in the laundry room and I asked Lori if she had some."

Since that meeting, letters have kept the new friends together — before Henk appeared in Thief River Falls to see our country for himself.

"She can write a lot," he said of Lori's letter-writing abilities. "Some of them were six or eight pages. But I like letters."

Henk was proud to tell us of his fishing excursions — a sport never before tried before his visit to Thief River Falls — and which he has come to enjoy. His first time fishing was both good and bad, he said. He caught two Northerns — one three and one-half pounds, and the other five pounds, and he also got drenched from a rain shower. But the latter of these didn't seem to bother him, he said, especially since that type of weather is common in his native country of Holland.

"Oh, year, I like fishing now," he said, in answer to our question. "Especially when I can catch the big ones!" he smiled.

Most days are windy and rainy in Holland Henk said, probably because the country is so close to the sea (Amsterdam is 20 miles from the North Sea). In the winter there's snow, but not the kind one can make snowballs out of, he added. It's more watery. Average temperatures are between 50 and 60 degrees with about five days out of the summer getting "really hot," he said

"It's not a nice country as far as the climate is concerned," he admitted, although he enjoys most other

HENK TOP (left), a native of Amsterdam, Holland, who recently spent three weeks with Tom and Lori Johnson (pictured) of Thief River Falls, grew accustomed to fishing during his stay at Thief River Falls. For a beginner at the sport, he was lucky. His first time fishing he caught two northerns — one three and one-half pounds, the other five pounds.

Area Counties Designated As Disaster Area

Designation of 15 northwestern Minnesota counties as an emergency disaster area as a result of recent drought and hail damage done to farm crops in the area was made last week by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Counties of Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Beltrami, Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Clay, Becker and Hubbard have been designated disaster area due to extended drought conditions. Farmers in Marshall, Polk, Red Lake and Pennington counties may also be eligible for assistance due to recent hail damage.

Farmers in the designated areas who have sustained losses to over 20 per cent on this year's crop can apply for assistance through the Farmers Home administration, the credit agency of the U.S. department of agriculture. Eligible farmers may apply for low interest loss loans as well as loans to pay for annual operating expenses in future years and for major debt readjustment.

Farmers Home administration state director John Apitz estimates present losses in the area at between 40 and 100 per cent. "This is perhaps one of the worst natural disasters to hit the area in recent years," said Apitz.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Halvorson-Battleson Vows Spoken At Crystal

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Battleson, Jr., are at home at 3040 North Sumter Avenue, Apt. 14, New Hope, following an exchange of marriage vows at St. Raphael's church at Crystal.

The bride, the former Becky Halvorson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Halvorson, 455 Spruce avenue south, Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Duane Battleson, Sr., 1238 Edgewood Drive.

Officiating at the double-ring ecumenical ceremony were Rev. Eugene Corica of St. Raphael's church, and Rev. Forrest T. Monson, who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents. Preceding the processional, Susi Johnson, a friend of the couple, sang "Follow Me." She also sang "Because," which had been sung at the wedding of the bride's parents; "Wedding Song," as the couple lit the unity candle and presented roses to their parents; and "The Lord's Prayer," at the conclusion of the ceremony. Candle lighters were Roz and Ronda Battleson.

Two seven-branch candlelabra with red and white flowers formed the chancel setting. On the altar was a basket of assorted greenery with red velvet ribbon. Matching greens and ribbon surrounded the unity candle. Aisle candelabra marked the pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of white chiffonette, satin and Venice lace fashioned with an empire waistline and pleated skirt which flowed back into a self train. Her stand-up collar and bishop sleeves were enhanced with lace and pearls. To complement her gown, she wore a lace-edged, chapel-length veil of bridal illusion that fell from a lace headpiece accented with greenery and stephanotis. She carried a crescent bouquet of matching greens interspersed with white stephanotis and three white Japhet orchids. For the old, new, borrowed and blue theme, she wore the traditional blue garter and carried the lace hanky her mother carried at her wedding.

Mrs. Mitzi Dosher of Shakopee, a friend of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Peggy Brown, Thief River Falls, a sister of the groom, and Diane Kildahl, Fargo, N.D., a friend of the bride. Their silhouette gowns of emerald green jersey were styled with pleated skirts and empire halter tops featuring split sleeve effect short chiffon capelets with bateau necklines. Their opal earrings were gifts from the bride. Their bouquets of Minuet roses, white Sweetheart roses and greenery were created by the bride, who designed all the bouquets, corsages and floral arrangements.

Attired in a gown styled similar to the bride's, was the flower girl, Stacy Adam of Reynolds, N.D. Her bouquet, similar to the bride's, was composed of greens and white stephanotis. Her necklace was a gift from the bride.

Serving as the bride's personal attendant was Penny Myers of Thief River Falls. Rita Schmolke and Lori Soholt were the bride's personal flower attendants.

Steve Langseth, St. Paul, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Dick Halvorson, Minneapolis, a brother of the bride, and Larry Sauve, Thief River Falls, a friend of the groom. Seating the guests were Jim Brown, brother-in-law of the groom, and Steve Breiland, a cousin of the bride. The groom, attired in all-white, wore a tuxedo with tails complemented by a red Sweetheart rose boutonniere with Stephanotis and greenery. His attendants wore Lord West gray vested tuxedos with Minuet roses pinned on their lapels. The father's boutonnieres were a cluster of white sweetheart roses and greenery.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Halvorson selected a floor-length gown of cranberry crepe fashioned with a bouson bodice with split sleeves. The groom's mother wore a belted powder blue floor-length gown with an attached cape. Their identical corsages were of ivory cymbidium orchids, Sweetheart roses and greenery.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Halvorson, grandparents of the bride, Gaylor Halvorson and Donna Breiland, uncle and aunt of the bride, who were also her godparents, and Becky Jo Maxell, for whom the bride was named.

A reception at the Golden Valley hall followed the ceremony. Serving as hosts and hostesses for the dinner and dance were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Battelson, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Breiland, uncle and aunt of the bride. Mrs Nancy Cameron presided at the guest book and Miss Judy Breiland was in charge of the gifts. Both are cousins of the bride. Serving punch were Mr. and Mrs. Carmie Groth and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Battleson.

Lanterns, surrounded by greenery and red ribbon graced the serving table, together with the four-tiered wedding cake, baked by the groom. The cake was iced in ivory and decorated with fresh mint-green carnations, corresponding with the arrangement of stephanotis, mint green miniature carnations and greenery that topped the cake. It was cut and served by Mrs. Bev Lunde and Mrs. Annie Nygaard. Mrs. Carol Schjeldahl and Mrs. Bev Halvorson poured the coffee.

In charge of serving the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Trudeau, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Loehr, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ness and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bergan.

Waitresses were Lisa Breiland, Kim Battleson, Lisa Nepper, Yvette Loehr, Tammy Bergan, Tracey Trudeau and Paula Bergan. Distributing the groom's cake and rice packets were Amy Liden, Missy Soholt, Carrie Groth, Honey Soholt and Amy Groth.

Following the dance and midnight lunch, the bride and groom opened the gifts. The evening prior to the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Battleson, Sr., hosted a rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and North Hennepin Vocational technical school. She is a floral designer at The Flower Tree in Excelsior. The groom, a graduate of Lincoln high school and the local AVTI, is currently employed by the Soo Line Railroad in Minneapolis. Photo, Monique studio, Minneapolis

Tammy Bondley Weds Mitch Suko At Harwood

Miss Tammy J. Bondley, Harwood, N.D., and Mitch R. Suko, Plummer, exchanged marriage vows at an early afternoon wedding at the Zion Lutheran church at Harwood.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Bondley of Harwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Harley L. Suko of Nevis.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Rev. Dale Halverson of Harwood and the groom's grandfather, Rev. Bernard Edinger of Tacoma, Wash. Peggy Ployhart played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloist as she sang "Time In A Bottle," and "Wedding Song."

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attired in a floor-length gown of white silk enhanced by a chiffon overlay trimmed with pearls and lace. The fitted bodice was styled with a Queen Ann neckline and long sheer sleeves appliqued with lace. Her lace edged, double-tiered veil was held by a headpiece of pink and white roses. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, accented with white and burgundy roses, babies' breath, and pink and white lace streamers.

The bride's personal attendants were Dianne Bondley and DeElda Suko, sisters of the bride and groom.

Annette Robison, Harwood, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Nancy Noreen, Thief River Falls, another cousin of the bride. Their identical pink gown featured lace bodices and pleated skirts. In their hair, they wore pink and white flowers attached to combs. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations with pink and white streamers. All the flowers were made by the bride's mother.

Best man was Charles Gerardy, Plummer, a friend of the groom. Kevin Gerardy, also of Plummer, was groomsman. The ushers were Steve Nodsle, Harwood, a friend of bride, and Patrick Suko, Gackle, N.D., a cousin of the groom. They wore burgundy tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts and pink carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation.

The mother of the bride wore a pale green floor-length gown with a corsage of pink roses and babies' breath. A similar corsage complemented the green and white floor-length gown worn by the groom's mother.

Special guests at the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Edinger, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Leona Sukol, Gackle, N.D., and Mrs. Marie Bondley, Harwood.

Approximately 150 relatives and friends attended the reception that followed in the church parlors. Margret Westphal, friend of the couple, presided at the coffee service and Dianne Bondley and DeElda Suko cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white lacy frosting, pink roses and green leaves. The guests were registered by Laurie Tollefson. Cinda Nodsle served the punch and Maime Nodsle and Ruth Simonson arranged the gifts.

Wallace Hansons 25th Anniversary Noted At Viking

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hanson were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 8, at an open house at their home in rural Viking.

Hosting the event were their children: Mrs. Kent (Janell Hudson, John, Ann and Nancy Hanson.

The event began with a short program with Rev. Sheldon Larson, pastor of the Viking Covenant church, giving devotions. Larry Gustafson and his wife, Carmen, sang "O Perfect Love," which he has sung at the wedding 25 years ago. A poem, written and read by Ann Hanson, gave a brief history of the couple's married life. The program concluded with a violin solo by Mrs. Hanson's father, Clarence Gustafson, and a vocal selection by the couple's children.

At the reception that followed, Elaine Ranum poured the coffee and Violet Woetzel and Hilda Larson cut the cake as they had done on April 2, 1955. The anniversary cake, a three-tiered creation baked and decorated by Mrs. DuWayne Olson, was decorated with yellow roses, similar to the ones that decorated the wedding cake.

Special guest at the anniversary celebration was Mrs. Hanson's sister, Ione Brinkman, who was maid of honor.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the event. They were from Viking, Newfolden, Thief River Falls, Warren, Middle River, Crookston, Dassel, New Prague and Grand Forks, N.D.

Mrs. Dan Skogen And Andrew Kyle Feted At Shower

Mrs. Dan Skogen and infant son, Andrew Kyle, were honored at a baby shower, Monday evening, June 16, at the Oak Ridge Lutheran church. Hostesses were Mrs. Martin Solseng, Mrs. Duane Olson and Mrs. Daryl Lewis.

Upon her arrival, Mrs. Skogen was presented with a corsage of baby items and seated at a table together with her mother, Mrs. Leonard Waswick, and her sisters Celeste Leach and Lynette Waswick. For the occasion, the table was decorated with blue and white steamers and a stork centerpiece.

Following a reading by Mrs. Olson, games were played, prizes were awarded, and gifts were opened and viewed.

For the buffet luncheon, the table was highlighted by a cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Layne Swenson. The cake was iced in white and decorated with blue confectionery baby pins, rattle and booties. Topping the cake was a heart shaped motif inscribed with "Welcome baby Andy."

Those attending, in addition to those already mentioned, were Mrs. Don Dyrdal and Kristy, Shelly Solseng, Mrs. Duane Vatsaas, Mrs. Mitch Swanson, Mrs. Jens Bach, Mrs. David Bach and Mrs. Alvin Asp.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Howard Hanson
Gully

Dad's Day Steak

1 beef top round steak, cut 1¾ inches thick
½ cup sherry
⅓ cup soy sauce
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon ginger
1 clove garlic, minced
one-eighth teaspoon hot sauce
4 teaspoons cornstarch
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
¼ cup sliced green onions

Method: Mix together sherry, soy sauce, oil, lemon juice, brown sugar, ginger, garlic and hot sauce in small saucepan. Cook slowly 10 minutes; cool. Place steak in plastic bag; add marinade and tie securely. Refrigerate 24 hours. Remove steak from Marinage, reserving marinade, and place on grill over ash-covered coals or on rack in broiling pan so surface of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature to rare or medium (25 to 40 minutes, depending on doneness desired), brushing with marinade and turning occasionally. Carve in thin slices, diagonally across the grain. For sauce: stir remaining marinade into cornstarch in sauce pan. Bring to boil; add mushrooms and green onions, and cook slowly until thickened, 2 minutes. Serve sauce over sliced steak. 10 servings.

The Hansons live on a farm north of Gully. In addition to grain farming, they raise beef cattle and are active in the promotion of beef. Mrs. Hanson (Linda) is currently serving as president of Northwestern Cow Belles. She is also active in the Nazareth Lutheran church ladies aid, and enjoyes crafts, especially ceramics, and gardening.

The Hansons have four children: Wendy, Joanne, Dean and Luane.

Mayor Knutson Of Fertile Is Award Winner

Duane Knutson, mayor of Fertile, and Harvey Lange, mayor of Robbinsdale, are the 1980 winners of the C.C. Ludwig award for distinguished municipal service. The awards were presented at the luncheon banquet June 13 during the annual conference of the League of Minnesota Cities.

Established in 1962, the award is named for the late Clarence C. Ludwig, executive secretary of the league for 24 years. The winners are selected by a committee of judges from statewide nominees for their outstanding and dedicated service to municipal government.

Knutson, winner of the award for cities under 10,000 population, amassed an impressive record of service over a period of almost 20 years. His first term on the city council began in 1961 where he served until elected mayor in 1966. During his tenure, a great deal of growth has taken place in Fertile.

In 1963, a police department with full-time officers was established. In 1964, a 50-bed municipal nursing home was built with the addition of 31 beds in the 70's. The municipal airport will be updated, and a grant of $500,000 was obtained to build a sewage disposal system, starting in 1980. A $350,000 bond issue has just been passed to build a multiple use community center. The mayor's positive influence on such accomplishments has been generally recognized. A supporter of his cited "his willingness to work endless hours for the betterment of the city of Fertile and the surrounding area."

In addition to his elected municipal offices, Knutson found the time and energy to work on the Polk county fair board, Fertile community club, Minnesota Region "A" crime commission, municipal nursing home board, Lions club and various other service organizations.

The mayor is currently treasurer of the Minnesota Mayors association, vice president of the League of Small Cities, and secretary of Region 1, Northwest regional development commission. During the planning for the Bicentennial celebration in 1974-76, he was a member of Minnesota's American Revolution Bicentennial commission and vice chairman of Fertile's Bicentennial committee. For his efforts, he received special citations from the state and city. He was named Fertile's "Man of the Year" in 1961 and later received special recognition for civic service from the Ninth District American Legion.

Experiment In Leaving State Roads Unmowed

An experimental roadside vegetation maintenance program conducted by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) will begin its second year in Lyon and Lincoln counties in southwestern Minnesota, the department announced.

The program is being conducted to determine the results of leaving some roadsides along state trunk highways unmowed in agricultural areas. Other areas will be mowed to provide hay for farmers who want to harvest it.

In the past, Mn-DOT endorsed a policy of mowing highway right-of-way to its full width. However, it has been learned that unmowed roadsides provide benefits such as reduced maintenance costs, increased wildlife habitat, improved natural beauty, better bee pasturage and sanctuary for prairie flowers and rare native plants, according to Lee Markell, Mn-DOT landscape architect.

Conduct of the program, Markell said, relies on the voluntary participation

PIPE SMOKING and working on his family tree are two favorite pastimes of a resident of Amsterdam, Holland, Henk Top, who visited with Tom and Lori Johnson of Thief River Falls for the past three weeks. Henk left for his country Saturday with memories and a more complete wardrobe — since clothes (among other things) are less expensive here, he said. "Especially for my size!" he added.

KNEELING BESIDE three of his favorite hobbies — coin collecting, pipe collecting and leather making, is Henk Top, a resident of Amsterdam, Holland who recently spent three weeks visiting with Tom and Lori Johnson of Thief River Falls. Although Henk collects mainly Holland coins, he was able to get a few American coins during his visit to this country. Pictured far left are guilders — money from the Netherlands which is designed with raised dots on each bill so that blind people may also use it.

Henk lives with his mother in Amsterdam — a city of about 1 million, he said. At his job, only five minutes from their downtown apartment, Henk writes up repair bills for cars, and does other related jobs in the car shop where he is employed. He began work five months after he graduated from high school, and plans to stay there for at least 10 more years, he estimated, since he enjoys his work so much. It seems Henk is lucky to live only five minutes from his job, according to information he supplied us with during out interview.

"Most people ride buses and trains (subways)," Henk said. "Lots of people don't have cars."

Gasoline is $2 a gallon and a driver's license costs between $750 and $800 once all the testing is complete, he added. There is also an 18 per cent sales tax on items such as food and clothing, he added. Clothes are less expensive here than it is in Amsterdam — especially for clothes Henk's size, he added. For example, a $13 shirt in the United States would cost around $30 in Amsterdam.

Holland is so small that most items have to be imported from other countries, Henk said, in explaining the reason for high prices there.

"People are so spread apart here (America)," he said. "It's so big; there's so much country. And people around here depend on each other because of the small towns."

Holland is noted for its car manufacturing and raising flowers (tulips) and for growing cabbage — which thrives on the rainy climate evident there, he said.

Henk also tried new foods during his visit here. "I like pizza — pepperoni — is that what you call it?" he asked, "and yogurt and barbecues." Main dishes in Holland included cabbage, potatoes and various meats, Henk said.

Included within Henk's "busy" life lies an assortment of various hobbies. He is a coin collector, and has been since he was eight-years-old, collecting coins mainly from Holland — and since his stay here, he has obtained a few old coins from the United States. His oldest coin from Holland dates back to 200 A.D., he said from the Holy Roman Empire era. He also collects silver bars and pipes (he has about 30 different pipes in his collection).

His most recent hobby, of two or three years, is working on his family tree, an idea which he inherited from a neighbor in Amsterdam, he said. His tiny blue book contains neatly printed names of family members — with many more pages yet to be filled. "I don't know what else to write in the book," he commented, smiling.

Henk also enjoys ice skating, reading, bike riding and swimming. Most Dutch people learn to swim from the fourth grade, he said. And from the age of three, children are beginning to ride bikes.

Henk has also done a lot of traveling throughout his lifetime, he said, mainly because he enjoys seeing other things and other people, and trying different foods. His adventures have taken him to Spain, Germany, France, London, England, Israel (which he says is "nice" but "so hot") and to the east and west coasts of America.

Henk also recently took a trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota with the Johnsons in which he was able to experience more new things. Camping brought his statement, "it was nice but hard sleeping on the ground." The three also panned for gold in a South Dakota town, during which time Henk dropped his pipe in the pan of water (and gold?), he said. "I started carrying a spare after that," he added.

Amsterdam is a very old city with many ancient buildings and huge castles dating back to the 1500s and 1600s, Henk said. The homes, mainly constructed of brick, are close together.

Henk speaks three languages — Dutch, German and English. English is required of all students in school, he said. Like all Dutch students, Henk attended primary school for six years, before beginning his four years of high school. The grading system in Holland is based on a point system, Henk said, with the highest number of points a student can receive on an assignment being 10.

"I think school is more difficult in Holland because you have to learn more of the countires around you," he said. "In American schools you learn about America."

Each different town in Holland is recognized by its costume, Henk said, although most young people wear the traditional blue jeans. There are an "awful lot" of pets in Amsterdam, too, he added. "There are many dogs, cats and horses in the city (although laws require them to be tied). You can tell by looking on the streets," he chuckled.

Licenses are required for most sports or other activities. No one in Holland is allowed to have a gun unless he has a license. Henk also tried trapshooting here, he said, and enjoyed that.

Henk left to return to his country Saturday morning, taking a Greyhound bus to Winnipeg, and a plane from there to Toronto, Canada and then to Amsterdam.

"It takes about 10 hours to fly there," (Amsterdam) he said during our interview Friday before he left. "Ten hours is too long, but I like to read so that makes the time go faster," he admitted.

Henk plans to return to this country, he said, maybe next year, but his future plans are to continue living in Amsterdam, he said, because of his family and job. The Johnsons plan on someday making a trip to see Henk too, they said.

The night before he was to leave, Henk was to try yet another new experience — on a Wetbike on the Red Lake River. He scanned the cloudy skies outside.

"I hope it will get nicer out," he uttered in hesitation.

Perhaps he had been spoiled by our sunny Minnesota skies throughout his three-week visit — only one of the many experiences he encountered and enjoyed in America.

Six Members Elected To NW ECSU Board

John Eix of Park Rapids, John Beau Lac of Hallock, Bernie Solberg of Fosston, Dr. Robert Tjossem of Crookston and Sanford Moen of Gary were elected as three-year members to the board of directors of the northwest Minnesota educational cooperative service unit (ECSU) with offices located in Thief River Falls.

Beau Lac, Eix and Tjossem were incumbents seeking reelection. The election was conducted by the local school boards from June 2 to June 13. New directors will take office on July 17 at the reorganizational meeting. Each of the above is a member of his local board of education.

Northwest Minnesota educational cooperative service unit serves 51 of the 52 school districts in the 12 county area of northwestern Minnesota, providing programs and services on a regional basis based upon the priority needs of the member school districts.

Dairy Farmers Launch Milk Sales Campaign

United States dairy farmers are preparing to launch a major sales campaign in an effort to move more milk into the commercial market rather than into government storage, the president of Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI), said following an AMPI meeting in Chicago.

Unveiling plans for the major self-help program by the industry, Irvin Elkin, Amery, WI, states that the supplement advertising program is just a part of the effort that will be made to reduce the short term over supply of dairy products. Goal of the dairymen will be to sell an additional 80 million pounds of cheese, reduce the stocks of nonfat dry milk and discourage the continuing increase in milk production, Elkin said.

Additional efforts will be made to increase commercial export sales and to develop new ways to utilize the nonfat dry milk that is presently in government storage.

The head of the nation's largest dairy cooperative also stated that dairy farmers would seek to enlist the help of USDA as a partner to assist in the disposal of dairy products.

There are provisions for USDA to utilize available products for expanded use for humanitarian and public interest purposes, Elkin said.

He further stressed the importance for continuation of a fully funded school lunch and special milk program. The administration will also be asked to carefully review the current level of imports of dairy products and limit the importation of casein which displaces the use of domestically produced milk, Elkin said.

Concern of the dairy farmers is to have a stable market that will provide consumers with an adequate supply of milk. Hopefully, Elkin said, we can avoid a situation similar to what happened in 1974 when low prices resulted in a shortage of milk which in turn caused prices to shoot to over 100 per cent of parity.

While the law provided for an increase in price support levels April 1 to 80 per cent of parity, this level was never obtained and because of increasing production costs has eroded to 76.5 per cent of parity. Dairy farmers prices for manufacturing milk now average only 75.3 per cent of parity, Elkin said.

NWRDC Grant Applications Due Sept. 1

Next deadline for applications for local and regional arts development grant applications through the Northwest regional development commission is September 1.

Jodi Pahlen In Teen Pageant At St. Cloud

Jodi Pahlen of Plummer will represent the area in the 1980 Miss Teen Minnesota Pageant to be conducted June 26-29 at St. Cloud. The activity is the state's largest pageant event and will be hosted by current titleholder, Patricia LaGow of North Mankato.

Other special pageant guests will include Keungsuk Kim, Miss Teen Wisconsin; Jill Scheffert, Little Miss Sunshine USA; and Rick Amos, 1980, Mr. USA Teen. Lynette Sjoquist of the Minnesota Fillies will be guest speaker at a banquet event.

Candidates between 14 and 18 will be judged by three separate panels in the areas of service and achievement to school and community, poise and appearance in formal wear, and judge's interview. Over $5,000 in scholarships and merchandise will be awarded to top candidates on the state level with the newly crowned winner receiving an all-expense paid trip to compete in the national pageant event to be conducted in Dallas, Texas.

Pageant finals are slated for Saturday, June 28 at 8:15 p.m. at Halenbeck hall auditorium at St. Cloud state university.

Pageant will provide gifts for needy children during the 1980 Christmas holidays. During pageant weekend candidates will also have the opportunity to participate in a "Strike for MS" bowling event which is expected to raise $15,000 in pledges for Multiple Sclerosis research and patient services.

Jodi will be sponsored in the pageant by Pahlen Construction of Plummer.

Organizations Needed For Care Services

According to information received by the Northwest regional development commission, the developmental disabilities planning office in St. Paul is seeking proposals from elibible public or private-non-profit organizations who can provide respite care services for persons having a developmental disability, with the financial support of a grant from the developmental disabilities office.

Six to eight projects will receive grants of from $25,000 to $35,000 for one year of activity. Future funding is dependent upon how well project goals are met, and upon the availability of continuing federal support for developmental disability demonstration projects. Organizations receiving grants are to begin activity October 1, 1980.

Request for proposals guidelines and applications forms are available upon written request from Respite Care RFP, Lew Miller, Developmental Disabilities Planning Office, 200 Capitol Square Building, 550 Cedar Street, St. Paul, MN 55101. Deadline for applications is July 18, 1980.

History Group Meets Thurs.

Pennington county historical society will meet Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium meeting room.

Wallace Sparby will present slides of his trip to China and Hong Kong. The Pioneer Village progress report will also be given.

Public is welcome and lunch will be served.

Unemployed Cut Off From Benefit Money

Due to federal administration and Congressional inaction, nearly 1,200 unemployed Minnesotans were cut off from federal unemployment benefits, Rolf Middleton, commissioner of the Minnesota department of economic security reported today.

Another 2,100 claimants will be receiving reduced checks, he commented.

"The department of labor had provided Minnesota with enough money to pay the federal benefits for another two to three weeks," Middleton said. "But the department of labor pulled back our money. The financial effect in Minnesota will be decreased benefit payments of approximately $1.6 million this month."

After today those people who had been receiving federal unemployment benefits will not be paid. Those people affected include individuals with prior federal civilian or military work, former postal employees and those who participated in the CETA public service employment program.

Those who will receive reduced checks are individuals unemployed because of competition from foreign imports. Their trade adjustment checks will stop. They will, however, continue to receive their regular state unemployment checks, which could be $150 per week if an individual is qualified to receive the state's maximum payment.

"The cut-off does not affect unemployed workers qualified under the regular state unemployment program," Middleton stressed. "This only affects federal benefits paid in Minnesota."

"The problem," Middleton explained, "is that Congress cannot agree on a budget package for lifting the debt ceiling for the remainder of this fiscal year. The food stamps program was in the same bind a few weeks ago, but Congress took special action to keep that program going. So far, there has been no special action to continue the federal unemployment benefits."

Trophy Run Is Part Of Middle River Program

In connection with the 75th anniversary of the founding of Middle River, there will be a five-mile trophy run on June 29 at 8:30 a.m. Four age groups are planned: Under 20, 21-30, 31-40 and over 40. There will also be a trophy for the oldest, youngest and first woman finisher. Trophies are awarded for the first three finishers in each age group.

The race will begin at the high school in Middle River at 8:30 a.m. Registration is between 8 and 8:30 a.m. at the high school. Contact Rev. Ernest Dobkins for preregistration at 681-5678. Registration fee is two dollars.

Sponsoring agency is the Middle River Seventh-day Adventist church.

MSU Summer Enrollment At New High

Summer session enrollment is up 15 per cent at Moorhead state university, an increase that could partly be the result of the economic recession.

As of the first day of classes, summer enrollment at MSU was 1,916, up from 1,659 registered at the same time last year.

"It's the highest summer enrollment here in at least the past five years," said Don Engberg, university registrar.

MSU summer students are also registering for more classroom credits, 15,680 compared to 12,987 last year, a 20 per cent increase.

Engberg speculated that higher unemployment among students and stiffer competition in the job market may be factors in the enrollment increase. Students who couldn't find work may have enrolled in the university instead. Teachers, under increasing threats of retrenchment in their schools, may be shoring up their credentials for job security.

"We haven't done any research on this, so I'm just guessing," Engberg said. "But it seems reasonable to say that the economic conditions are at least partly influencing our enrollment this summer."

Sen. Boschwitz Urges Weekend Ride Sharing

Proposing that weekend vacationers share a ride, Senator Rudy Boschwitz will use his St. Paul office as an exchange point for those interested in carpooling to resort areas and summer cabins.

"High gas prices and national need to conserve gas supplies," Boschwitz said, "don't have to put a damper on summer fun. We can save money and gas if we simply share a ride to our weekend retreat, wherever it might be in Minnesota," he said.

Boschwitz said, "I am offering the use of my St. Paul office as a contact point for anyone interested in sharing a ride to their weekend vacation area. We want to help people interested in the proposal to find each other," he said, "and our office can serve as a clearinghouse to do just that."

Anyone interested in sharing a ride may simply call the Boschwitz office in St. Paul at 1-800-652-9771 and ask for Jan Reed.

The office will need a name, address and phone number along with the proposed destination. "After collecting that information, Boschwitz said, "my office will send to the caller a list of other people in the area interested in sharing a ride along with their phone numbers. Vacationers will then be able to make their own arrangements to share a ride for the weekend.

"Everyone is interested in saving gas and money," Boschwitz said, "and by sharing a ride, we can do that without giving up that well-deserved weekend of rest and recreation."

Warren Notes Centennial July 4-5-6

On July 4, 5 and 6 Warren will be celebrating its 100th birthday. Among the many scheduled activities will be a pioneer breakfast July 4, an all-school reunion dinner and a centennial parade July 5 and the locally produced pageant "The Way We Were" on July 6.

The pageant to be given at the high school auditorium at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. is made possible by a grant provided by the Northwest regional development commission through funding from the Minnesota arts board and the Minnesota state legislature. It is also sponsored by the community arts board of Warren.

Centennial headquarters in the BN depot will be open June 30-July 6 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Rev. Patnode Cited For 50 Years As Priest

music was sung by a quartet including Penny Kruse, Joan Bronken, Kevin Vettleson and Jeff Johnson. Mass servers were Jon Lindquist, Matthew Radniecki and Leonard Bachand. Members of the four circles of the parish prepared and served the lunch which followed. A special cake was made by LaVonne Radniecki and Linda Whalen.

Special guests were members of Rev. Patnode's family. Other clergy members participating were Rev. Richard Lambert, Rev. James Bernauer, Rev. John Kleinwachter, Rev. Louis Benoit and Deacon LeMoine.

Viking Zion Church Notes Anniversary

March 12, 1900, the church voted to join the Hauge synod and its constitution was adopted.

On July 3, 1900, the congregation voted to borrow $500 for building and every voting member of the congregation was to sign the note. First annual meeting was held in the church Dec. 12, 1900.

Electric lights replaced kerosene and gas lights in 1921, using current from a plant owned by a Viking resident. An addition to the west of the church was built in 1940 and a wood furnace was installed in the basement for heating the church. An oil furnace and flourescent lights were installed in 1946, another addition built in 1953 and an organ installed in 1955.

Another addition was built in 1967 and included an office, two washrooms and an overflow room. It was voted in 1978 to build the new parsonage which was dedicated in 1979.

Services Held For Herman Stroberg, 83

Herman Stroberg, 83, of Thief River Falls died Wednesday at the CNC unit at Northwestern hospital where he had been a resident since February of this year.

Funeral services for Herman Stroberg were held Sunday at 11 a.m., at St. John Lutheran church with Rev. Kenneth Wittenburg officiating. Mrs. Sherman Idso served as organist and soloist. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Hans Anton, Frank Heinz, Harley Iverson, Clayton Mathson, Maynard Mehrkens and Curtis Johnson.

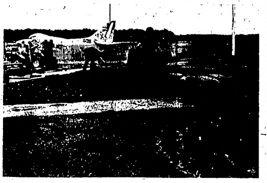
August Herman Stroberg was born Aug. 20, 1896 in Rocksbury township, Pennington county, to John and Hilda Johnson Stroberg, now deceased. He was baptized and confirmed at St. Hilaire and attended school in Rocksbury township.

Stroberg was a veteran of World War I.

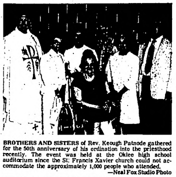
On Dec. 3, 1938, he was married in Thief River Falls to Esther Meyers. The couple farmed in Rocksbury township until his retirement in 1967. At that time, they moved into Thief River Falls and had since made their home here.

He is survived by his wife, a brother, Alfred Stroberg, Thief River Falls; and two sisters, Alma Stroberg and Mrs. Eugene (Alice) Chapman, both of Tuscola, Ill.

He was preceded in death by one brother, Fred, and a sister, Ida.



ANOTHER STEP toward completion of the veterans memorial garden at the Thief River Falls regional airport was taken last week when flowers were planted and sod laid in place. The landscaped area, which will include an aircraft on display, monument to military servicemen and a lighted flagpole, is being created as a memorial to those who served in defense of this country and paid for with contributions by veterans and service organizations and area businesses.



BROTHERS AND SISTERS of Rev. Keough Patnode gathered for the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the priesthood recently. The event was held at the Oklee high school auditorium since the St. Francis Xavier church could not accommodate the approximately 1,000 people who attended.

Dear friends,

A family in sorrow normally wants to talk about the circumstances of death. They will repeat over and over again how the person died. You can help by listening. The family is trying to make it real by talking about it. This is healthy as the first step in accepting the fact of death. It may seem morbid to you and make you uncomfortable and depressed, but it is good for the grieving person.

Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

Realtors From Area Counties Organize Board

Thief River Falls board of realtors has been formed with 15 charter members, according to Betty Johnson, secretary-treasurer. Robert Flynn is president of the board with Loren McCullough as vice president.

The board includes realtors from Pennington, Marshall, Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods and a portion of Polk counties. All members are pledged to support the individual right of real estate ownership, to be honest in all dealings and to seek to better represent the public in the spirit of the golden rule, the secretary-treasurer said.

Object of the board is to encourage high ethical standards, take an active interest in the welfare of the community, exchange ideas and business methods with other realtors, oppose harmful legislation and strive for beneficial legislation in the real estate field.

Special guests at the charter meeting included Gary Pagel, executive secretary of the Minnesota association of realtors; Bob Freeberg, president and Claus Lemke, executive vice president of the North Dakota board of realtors; Bruce Gjovig, executive secretary and Del Schooler, past president of the Grand Forks board of realtors; and George Vogel, Chicago, member of the national political committee.

Committees are presently being formed on education, public relations, legislation, membership, professional standards, program, realtors of the year, grievance and equal opportunity. Thief River Falls board is affiliated with the Grand Forks chapter and the National and Minnesota associations of realtors.

"Forming of this board is an asset to all persons involved in real estate," noted president Bob Flynn, "and we hope it will provide a valuable service to our communities."

SPECIAL GUESTS of the newly-organized Thief River Falls board of realtors at its charter meeting were Bob Freeberg (left), president of the North Dakota board of realtors, and Bill Gydesen (right), president of the Minnesota association of realtors. $105 Million In Home Mortgage Funds Available

More than $105 million in home mortgage funds for low and moderate income Minnesotans, mainly for those with special needs, will be available July 7, Gov. Al Quie announced this morning.

Home mortgage funds will be available at 9.25 per cent interest, following a bond sale Tuesday by the Minnesota housing finance agency (MHFA), Quie said.

Approximately 2,000 households will be served, according to estimates by the MHFA, the governor said.

"At a time of high interest rates and little available mortgage money, these mortgage funds should be especially helpful to those who would have the most difficulty getting them from other sources," the governor said. "At least 80 per cent of the funds must go to persons with special needs — the handicapped, first-time home buyers, households headed by females, minorities and persons displaced by government action or natural disasters."

Because demand for the funds is expected to be great, interested borrowers are encouraged to apply as soon as the program begins in July. Potential borrowers may wish to call lenders in advance to determine the lenders' procedures, Quie said.

The funds will be distributed under the MHFA's 1980 home mortgage program by approximately 290 lenders in 186 Minnesota communities.

To be eligible applicants must meet MHFA income limits, be able to afford the home they seek to purchase and be good credit risks.

Adjusted annual income limits are $19,000 for the seven-county Twin Cities metropolitan area and $17,500 for the rest of the state. Adjusted income is based on family size and certain expenses such as child care and extraordinary medical expenses.

All homes must meet the MHFA's sales price limits. For the metropolitan area the limits are $50,000 for existing homes, $52,500 for existing homes with accessibility improvements and $55,000 for new construction. Limits for all other counties are $47,000 for existing homes, $49,000 for existing homes with accessibility improvements and $51,000 for new construction.

First-time home buyers may be eligible for down payment assistance or monthly assistance during the earlier years of the loan under the MHFA's Homeownership assistance fund (HAF). HAF funds can only be used in conjunction with the home mortgage loan program.

Potential borrowers may call the MHFA at (612) 296-7612 or (612) 296-7613 for lender lists, brochures or other information.

Fosston Man Is UMC-NWSA Alumni Prexy

Fosston's Wayne G. Omundson, director of food services for the Fosston hospital association, is entering his second year of a two-year term as president of the combined alumni associations of the University of Minnesota—Crookston (UMC) and the Northwest school of agriculture (NWSA).

His paternal grandmother is Mrs. Peder Omundson of Thief River Falls.

Omundson, who was elected in 1979, is the first person to preside over the joint alumni board of directors. The two alumni associations were merged on the administrative level to facilitate long-range planning and social activities for both groups. Each organization continues to maintain its own identity through two separate boards that govern respective graduates of the technical college (1966 to present) or its forerunner on the Crookston campus, the agricultural high school (1908-1968).

We Know The Feeling . . .

Writing her "Letter from Home" column in the Grygla Eagle, Joy Nordby shared some of her experiences during a repair and remodeling session at her home. She said her project was getting on people's nerves to the extent that even the Schwann's man and UPS driver were getting anxious to see it finished.

Let's pick up the column at the brick wall episode:

I had everything organized before putting up my brick wall. The string line-measuring tape—trowel—cutting tool—cloths- I opened all eight boxes of brick so that I could mix the shades.

"Do it yourself and save" they always say. And it all looks so easy on the ads. There's this gorgeous looking gal, dressed in a classy outfit and high heeled shoes, her long hair perfectly in place. With her delicate fingernails manicured to perfection she is shown placing a decorator brick against the wall.

I wonder if that doll ever had to pick the adhesive mortar out of her son's hair? The way she is smiling, I wonder-does she already know that all her bricks are going to slide down if she is installing them on a painted surface, and she will have to take everything off again, — scrape each brick clean. — try to get all the mortar off the wall, — sand with an electric sander — (shed a tear or two) and then start all over again? Would she have any idea that, after spending all this time, the bricks are getting stepped on, the mortar is starting to harden, and some wise kid will have run away with all of her tools?

Then there was the wallpaper ordeal. The sweet young thing on the brochure made it look so simple.

I'll bet she's never had a kid slip and fall on a strip that's just been spread with paste.

I wonder if she ever got one piece perfectly in place and then found out it was upside down?

Did she ever measure for a piece that was to fit around a window, draw it out on the back side of the paper — forgetting to reverse directions — and have everything come out backwards?

Remembering the wise old saying — "If you do not first succeed, look in the waste basket for directions", I decided to follow step-by-step instructions when putting up my new curtains and rods. I drilled the ¾ inch holes precisely six inches from the edge — used special screws for sheet rock — everything went fine until I came to that final step — "Now extend rods to fit brackets" — that was when they fell apart in the middle. Would you believe I bought rods that were two inches too short?!

There are just so many things the girls don't show on those "do it yourself — home improvement ads".

I wonder if any of them have ever fallen off a stool with a bucket of patching plaster in their hand and covered the entire room (and themselves) with plaster?

Do their tools disappear the minute they lay them down because a small son decides to use them for something?

Have they been on top of a stool with paint brush in hand when the phone rings, the pot boils over on the stove, and someone yells "Hey mom! We're getting company?"

The girl on the commercial has probably never had a dog scrape a freshly painted surface with his entire body while trying to squeeze between her ladder and the wall, step in a roller pan full of paint, and make paw prints all over the kitchen!

I'll bet they've never tried to get wood stain out of a carpet!

And how about all the paint and stain on the door knobs, faucet handles, telephone receiver, coffee pot, etc. etc.!

Now that it is at last over I can talk about it rationally. In fact I'm starting to think of things I'd like to do next year. You know, I'll bet the models in those home improvement ads never really have any fun at all!

Who Can't Do What

Following comments were written by Arch Pease in the Anoka Union:

In an article entitled "Help! Teacher Can't Teach", a national news magazine lumped a serious charge and levelled the attack against all members of the profession.

In our experiences over the past years we have known teachers who could not teach, but they were in the vast minority. Most and we mean almost all of the teachers we have known could and did teach.

I am sure that you have known editors who cannot spell, cooks who cannot cook, gardeners who can't raise even a finger, woodworkers who couldn't saw a straight line if they had to and drivers who just can't drive.

But once again only a few fall in the above category. We know of workers who are not very productive and we know of workers who are more than productive. But does that mean that all workers don't know how to work? Certainly not!

The press is a powerful media and the article will lead many to believe that we have no teachers who can teach.

When I was teaching I knew some who were good teachers and one who was questionable. But to indict the entire profession is simply a bad example of lousy journalism.

Looking bak at elementary school, high school and college I can recall only one teacher that I had who didn't get the subject across. Not too bad a record.

Education can be indicted on some counts, but with a headline such as "Help! Teacher Can't Teach" will be remembered because it was also on the cover of the magazine.

Many boradcasters should report that we have an 80 per cent chance of sunshine tomorrow and we could also say that well over 95 per cent of the teachers now teaching can and do teach.

No Nukes—No Light!

From time to time we have stated our belief that the development and use of nuclear power to generate electricity is an essential in our nation. We hold to this belief, and are of the opinion that the opponents of nuclear power are unwilling to recognize the inpact of electrical short-fall if there is no nuclear electrical generation.

Call it propaganda if you will, but the Edison Electric institute is 100 per cent correct when it states, "The need for electricity is great and is growing. Truly huge quantities will be needed. Conservation — the wise use of energy in all its forms — can help reduce the total demand, but even a maximum conservation effort cannot fill the entire need."

Today the nation's work force numbers about 85 million. In 20 years, at the turn of the century, it will be 113 million. Most of these additional people have already been born. It will take increasing amounts of electricity to provide the jobs, services, food, housing and material goods these people will need.

Existing technologies utilizing coal and nuclear power can keep the lights on until other potential methods of electrical generation are developed. Nuclear power is needed to reduce dependence on foreign oil, for economy in serving our expanding population, to protect the environment and to preserve remaining fossil fuels.

Nuclear fuel is the cleanest source of energy for steam-electric plants and does not undergo combustion so it has no combustion by-products. Nuclear plants emit no smoke, soot or sulfur fumes as coal-fired plants would do. Development of nuclear breeder reactors will provide a virtually unlimited supply of nuclear fuel in the future.

Supplies of coal, oil and natural gas are limited and non-renewable. Use of nuclear power for electrical generation frees the fossil fuels for other uses for which there are no substitutes, such as plastics and fertilizer. The sign-carrying pickets must realize the result if they are successful in their protests: No nukes, no lights.

Raising Kids Ain't Cheap

According to an analysis of U.S. department of agriculture data by the Health Insurance institute, it is costing an average of from $3,400 to $3,800 a year to raise each youngster from birth to the age of 18 at a moderate price level, depending on the region of the country in which you live.

In 1970, the cost of supporting a child to the age of 18 ranged from $1,800 to $2,000 a year.

So if you have just had a baby, you can look forward to spending an average between $61,800 and $68,300 until the child is 18. And that doesn't take into account inflation in future years.

Borrowed Nonsense:

The judge was questioning a prospective witness. "Have you ever appeared before in a suit before this court?" he asked. "Yes, Your Honor," the man replied. "What kind?" the judge asked. "I believe," the man said thoughtfully, "it was a single-breasted tan gabardine."

Polka Festival Set At Pine City June 27-29

Third annual international polka festival will be conducted in Pine City June 27, 28 and 29.

Seventy-five polka bands from four countries will entertain, including America's "Polka King," Frankie Yankovic.

"This year we are making the festival a truly international celebration," stated Minnesota Sen. Florian Chmielewski, founder of the festival and polka accordionist. "It already is the biggest polka extravaganza in the world. Now we are adding world champion wrestling matches and international tug-of-war competition."

Friday evening, Gov. Quie will accept the "International Torch of Friendship" to officially open the event. Quie has proclaimed June 27 through June 29 "Polka Days in Minnesota." Immediately following the governor, two teams of skydivers will engage in an aerial tug-of-war. Friday evening will also feature appearances by the royalty and Vulcans of the St. Paul winter carnival. In addition, Benny Jenson, "The World's Worst Singer", will defend his title.

Tag team wrestling match with the world's champions Vern Gagne and Mad Dog Vachon will be presented Friday evening. Also appearing in regulation bouts will be the Crusher, Greg Gagne, Adrian Adonis and several other popular wrestlers.

This year, tug-of-war teams from the United States, Canada and Ireland will compete for the title of North Central states tug-of-war champions. Elimination contests will be conducted Saturday between 1 and 6 p.m. Finals will take place at the same time Sunday. The 20-man team from Ireland is considered the strongest in the world. If they go undefeated in Pine City, they will be recognized around the globe as the world champions.

International polka festival runs from noon to 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday. Sunday activities begin at 11:30 a.m. with a polka Mass.

For tickets and more information, contact the Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest, 1821 University avenue, St. Paul, MN 55104, 612-645-8605.

RRV Sugar Beet Festival Set In Grafton

Annual Red River valley sugar beet festival will be held in Grafton, N.D., June 27 and 28.

Scheduled for both days is an agricultural and business exposition with businesses from throughout the upper Midwest displaying the latest in equipment and other merchandise. Also scheduled for both days is an arts and crafts show at Heritage village. Various items will be for sale by the displayers. Exposition will be held at the Grafton armory.

More than 100 units are expected for the parade which will be held Saturday starting at 10 a.m.

Following the parade a pork barbecue dinner will be served in Leistikow park. There will be no admission charge for those wearing a booster button, presently are being sold for one dollar. Otherwise, admission will be a dollar and one-half for the complete dinner.

Also on Saturday's agenda is a farm seminar to be held at 2 p.m., at the Legion clubrooms. A social hour to be hosted by agribusiness firms will follow the programs.

One of the highlights of the festival is the pageant to select the fifth Red River valley sugar beet queen. Fourteen girls from North Dakota and Minnesota will vie for the title and $3,000 in scholarships in the contest that is based on the Miss America pageant. The winner will advance to either the Miss Minnesota or Miss North Dakota pageant. The current queen is Suzanne Kopperud of Grafton. Pageant will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Wilfred Collette auditorium on the grounds of the Grafton state school.

Area Students On Dean's List At Concordia

Concordia college dean David M. Gring has announced the names of students whose superior academic achievement during the second semester of this academic year placed them on the dean's honor list.

Students from this area achieving a 4.0 average include: Kelly Bjorkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bjorkman, Thief River Falls; Robert Tunheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tunheim, Newfolden; and Jeffrey Lindquist, son of Donald and Rose Lindquist, former residents of Thief River Falls now residing in Park Rapids. Lindquist is a 1976 graduate of Lincoln high school.

Others named to the Concordia college dean's honor list are: Linda Saetre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Saetre; Eric Thorsgard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Thorsgard, both of Thief River Falls; and Karen Easthouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Easthouse of Goodridge.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We would like to express our feelings and views on the proposed traffic signal lights that would be placed on First street and Pennington avenue.

As owners of the Valley 24 store, we feel that the traffic signals will have a direct bearing on our store.

We were first notified about the lights on Friday, April 11, when a crew of workers from the state were marking the sidewalk in front of the store. We were told at that time that the lights would not affect the parking in front of the store.

On Monday, April 14, we decided to do some checking on the laws about parking near a signal light. It was at this time that a major problem surfaced.

We found out that there can be no parking within 30 feet of a traffic signal and crosswalk. Since a signal post would be placed on the sdiewalk adjacent to the west corner of the store and another post just past the store to the east, we realized that parking in front of the store would be unlawful.

We attended three meetings with the city council and county commissioners trying to have the problem solved.

At the last city council meeting we attended we proposed that the city either refrain from installing traffic lights at this intersection or buy our business. We depend mostly on stop and go business at our store and most customers do just that — a quick stop and they're off again.

Since the city council considered our offer to sell the business to them a form of threatening litigation, we were asked to leave the meeting. When we were recalled to the room we were told that the project would go through as planned and they appointed a committee to look for alternative parking.

After one meeting with us the only parking they came up with was our own parking lot west of the store; also, they suggested cutting the curb near the First street bridge to form a sort of in-out parking lot.

We stated that this time we would give the parking suggestion a try to see if it would work and consider the easement which would move the signal light off the sidewalk and next to the store.

We agreed to give them the easement if it would help with the safety factor, knowing it would not change the street parking.

When the easement paper came, they had included a release form which would release the city and county from any action which we might take due to the loss of business.

Since we operate as a convenience store, this restricted parking would be an inconvenience to our customers and we feel our stop and go traffic would diminish.

We don't propose to stand in the way of safety, but we also feel this whole matter could have been handled differently.

A two week notice before construction was to have started is not, in our opinion, ample notification considering our business is dearly involved.

We had to find out for ourselves the ramifications of parking near traffic lights and crosswalks. The city neglected to impart this information to us.

We don't want the citizens of Thief River Falls to think of us as rebellious; all we ask for is a fair shake, and in this case our city leaders are shirking their responsibilities. Thank you.

Foundation At MSU Awards Scholarships

Moorhead state university foundation will award more than $124,000 in student scholarships next school year, up from the $119,500 it gave this year, according to its president Bob Steinerson.

MSU foundation is a private, non-profit organization supporting the university primarily through scholarship fund-raising. Money comes to the Foundation from bequests, gifts, endowments and from membership in its two donor groups — the 100-member Presidents club and the 150-member Phoenix society.

MSU foundation scholarships range from $300 to $600 and are in addition to the thousands of dollars in scholarships given to MSU students each year from federal, state and other private scholarship programs. They do not include athletic scholarships, which are awarded under a separate program.

Last year the foundation gave scholarships to 353 students — 205 freshmen and 148 upperclass and community college transfer students. Next year it's committed to giving scholarships to 389 students — 236 to freshmen and 153 to others.

Foundation receives about 600 scholarship applications each year. They are screened and awarded by a seven-member committee made up of university faculty, staff and administration.

For information about them, contact the university's public affairs office at 236-2555.

PBS To Air Fourth Of July TV Program

City of Philadelphia is celebrating the USA's 204th birthday with the culmination of their Freedom Festival. Many of the nation's public television stations will broadcast the extravaganza direct from the Independence Hall on the night of July Fourth. Prairie Public Television will broadcast "Happy Birthday America" beginning at 8 p.m. on Friday, July 4.

Journalist and TV personality Marciarose Shestack will be handling host duties for the hour-long special that features musical events, a laser light show and a spectacular display of fireworks.

Highlighting the evening's festivities will be the newly-created Philly Pops orchestra playing a special commissioned medley of patriotic music synchronized with a laser light show from the Franklin Institute museum. Peter Nero will conduct the PPO. Philadelphia's prestigious Mendelssohn Club, Singing City Choruses and Mummer's String Band will also participate in the celebration.

Senator Asks Removal Of Grain Embargo

Introducing legislation which would halt the Russian grain embargo, Senator Rudy Boschwitz said, "It is time to stop this charade which in the midst of a recession is seriously hurting not only the farmer but all of rural America while it does little or no harm to the Russians."

Boschwitz, along with Senator Bob Dole of Kansas, introduced legislation which would terminate any restrictions imposed by the President on the export and re-export of agricultural commodities to the Soviet Union under the export administration act of 1979.

"The Russians produce 90 per cent of their own grain needs." Boschwitz said, "and even if the embargo were working it would not leave them without supplies. But, the fact is that it is not working. There is much evidence," he said, "that the Russians are receiving from other sources and from intermediate suppliers up to half of the grain embargoes by the President's order."

"Private traders have informed my office that soybeans from the United States are going to Russia simply by being shipped to The Netherlands where they are crushed and then passed on as meal," Boschwitz said. "We simply have not cut the Russians off to date and it is entirely possible that by the end of the year they will not be short one bushel."

Boschwitz said, "the embargo had a devastating effect on prices during the last crop year. Unless we act in Congress the embargo will continue because it does not expire and it will not automatically be lifted. Congress can end the embargo," he said, "and I am taking action now before prices on another grain harvest are ruined."

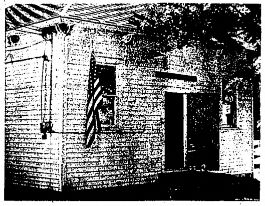
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Skidmore left on Wednesday for their home at Orlando, Fla. and their daughter Kathy Kievett accompanied them. They were together for a family picnic at the Al Engelstad home at Minneapolis and they were overnight guests at the Cleo Engelstad home at Inver Grove Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Koop, Sara and Christopher were guests at the Don Hanson home on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Alan Koop and David Olson were among those attending the funeral services for Donavon Verbout at the St. Bernard's Catholic church on Friday afternoon.



GOODRIDGE HISTORICAL SOCIETY building was dedicated last July 4 and now stands near the Goodridge high school with many items of the past within it. Included in the building are three display areas — the school, church and kitchen. The building, a rural schoolhouse, was previously located five miles northeast of Goodridge. The building was used as a schoolroom for quite a few years after it was moved to Goodridge, according to Lois Swanson, a member of the Goodridge area historical soceity. The society includes an area encompassing southern Marshall, eastern Pennington and western Beltrami counties.

VARIOUS ITEMS used on the farm were shown to Goodridge senior citizens Friday when they visited the Goodridge historical society building. Lois Swanson (pictured), a member of the Goodridge area historical society, who explained various items on display, holds an instrument used to turn spokes for wheels. Among some of the other items on display were a cow anti-kicker, books, scythe grass hook, nose basket to protect the horse's nose from flies, and various other implements used on the farm years ago.

TRF, EGF Teams Meet Tuesday

First place will be at stake Tuesday when Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks meet in a 7 p.m. Northwest American Legion baseball league game on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

Both teams are unbeaten in Northwest League action. In fact, at this point Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks are heads and shoulders above the rest of the Northwest League members — Crookston, Roseau, Warroad and Newfolden.

Tuesday's winner will likely go on to capture the 1980 Northwest League pennant, although the two teams will meet again July 10 at East Grand Forks. The final Northwest League standings will be used to determine post-season pairings for the sub-district tournament, scheduled to start July 25. Dates, sites and pairings will be announced at a later date.

There's always a lot of interest in Thief River Falls vs. East Grand Forks American Legion baseball games because while Thief River Falls plays high school baseball, East Grand Forks is the only team in Region 8AA that doesn't field a high school baseball team. The air of uncertainty about East Grand Forks' strength or weakness adds interest to the already- established athletic rivalry.

In trying to compare the two ball clubs you might look back two weeks ago when Thief River Falls drilled Crookston 10-2 and swept a doubleheader from Fergus Falls 8-2 and 7-2. That same week East Grand Forks got by Crookston 5-1 on a two-hit pitching performance by Brian Larson and then split with Fergus Falls, winning the opener 2-1 but losing the nightcap 13-8.

Playing Fergus Falls the day after Thief River Falls had played them, East Grand Forks nearly lost both ends of the twinbill. But Jim Stallmo's chopper over the mound bounced through a drawn-in infield and into centerfield with the bases-loaded and no outs in the bottom of the seventh to rescue East Grand Forks from a 1-0 loss. Fergus Falls' Bob Roers carried a two-hit shutout into the seventh.

In the nightcap Fergus Falls used nine hits, eight walks, five wild pitches and two passed balls to score 13 runs.

Tuesday is just part of a busy week for the Thief River Falls American Legion ball club. It starts tonight (Monday) at Bagley and also includes a game Thursday at Newfolden, a doubleheader Saturday at Frazee and a twinbill Sunday at Grand Forks, giving Thief River Falls seven games in five days.

Injured Fergus Falls Player Recovering

Tony Ness, the Fergus Falls leftfielder who was hospitalized here June 13 when he collided with teammate Greg Lillemoen while chasing a fly ball in an American Legion baseball game against Thief River Falls, is expected to be back in the line-up soon, reports his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ness.

Ness, taken from the field in an ambulance, suffered a broken jaw in the incident and damaged several teeth. The game was called at that point in the bottom of the sixth inning, giving Thief River Falls an 8-2 victory in the first game of a doubleheader.

Tony's mother wrote a thank-you letter, to be used as a letter-to-the-editor in the Times that we feel is appropriately used here:

"On Friday, June 13, our son, Tony, was injured while playing in a Legion baseball game at Thief River Falls.

We would like to thank the people of your fine city, the Legion club and Mrs. Blankenfield for their care and thoughtfulness to our son. Also a special thank you to Dr. Elwood Johnson, DDS, Dr. Berg M.D., nurses and staff at the hospital for the excellent medical care Tony received in an emergency.

We appreciated the phone calls and knowing someone was with Tony when we were not able to be.

It is refreshing to know that in out fast moving world of today people still have concern for other people.

Tony is healing fast and will soon be playing ball.

Thank you. Mr. and Mrs. Don Ness, Fergus Falls."

Miscellaneous

+Voters in Red Lake Falls will determine whether or not that city will get an artificial ice plant in its arena in a special bond election July 10.

+Martin Koller, Lake of the Woods high school principal for the past five years who resigned earlier to take over a position as assistant superintendent for curriculum development at Dassell-Cokato, told the Baudette Region that his son, John, will probably remain in Baudette to finish his senior year of high school. John, you recalled, starred for the Bears' in their memorable runner-up finish in the 1980 Minnesota Class A state basketball tournament. "Right now it looks as though John will stay at Lake of the Woods for his senior year," said the elder Koller. "All of his friends, the kids that he's been associated with since the seventh grade, are here."

TRF Out-Scores Warroad 9-8 In Legion Game

Thief River Falls ran its Northwest American Legion baseball league record to 4-0 Thursday with a high-scoring 9-8 victory over upset-minded Warroad.

The visiting Thief River Falls team jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but it was a struggle the rest of the way. It was a 4-4 ball game until Thief River Falls broke loose for five runs in the sixth inning. Warroad still battled back, scoring twice in the bottom of the sixth and then pulling within one in the seventh before surrendering.

Thief River Falls faces a busy schedule this week that will include games tonight (Monday) at Bagley, at home against East Grand Forks Tuesday, at Newfolden Thursday, a doubleheader at Frazee Saturday and a twinbill at Grand Forks Sunday. The East Grand Forks and Newfolden games are Northwest League contests.

TRF Runners Run Saturday At Crookston

A pair of Thief River Falls runners competed Saturday in the 6.2-mile Pioneer Rotary mini-marathon at Crookston, with Jim Scheuneman placing 12th and Mark Broadwell finishing 14th in the field of about 60 runners.

Several Thief River Falls runners are making plans to compete this weekend in the annual marathon and half-marathon races in Grand Forks.

Marathon Is Set Saturday In Grand Forks

Ninth annual North Dakota marathon (26.2 miles) championship race will be held Saturday at 8 a.m. in Grand Forks. Also featured will be a half marathon (13.1 miles) starting at 7:30 a.m.

The top 25 finishers in both the full and half marathon will receive trophies. In addition, age group awards will be presented, t-shirts and certificates to all participants and women's trophies.

Registration of $7 will be accepted up to 7 a.m. on the day of the race. For further information contact the Grand Forks YMCA, 7th and University, Box 1317, Grand Forks, North Dakota 58201, telephone (701) 775-2586.

PIZZA HUT first baseman Sally Collins had to come off the bag to field the throw as Dwight's Hartz base runner Arlene Knutson singled in the top of the first inning of Wednesday's Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league game. Dwight's Hartz scored eight runs in the top of the first enroute to a 25-1 win.

TRF Legion Win Streak Snapped By Bemidji 5-3

Season-opening 10-game Thief River Falls American Legion baseball winning streak ended Sunday following a 5-3 loss to Bemidji as part of a three-team, round-robin tournament at Crookston.

Thief River Falls bounced back to crush host Crookston 14-3 to improve its 1980 season record to 11-1.

Bemidji opened with a 5-2 victory over Crookston in the Sunday afternoon affair that replaced what was originally going to be an eight-team, two-day tournament.

Bemidji 5

Bemidji snapped a 1-1 tie by scoring four times in the top of the sixth inning for a 5-3 triumph over previously unbeaten Thief River Falls in the day's second game.

An opening round winner over Crookston, Bemidji combined four base hits with four Thief River Falls errors for those sixth inning runs. A lead-off double by Roger Degerman and an error on a ball hit by Scott Pemberton were followed by consecutive one-out singles by Tom Buckanaga, Galen Nagel and Fred Porter, with Thief River Falls errors tacked on to nearly every play.

Thief River Falls came back with two runs in the bottom of the sixth when consecutive errors at shortstop on balls hit by Scott McKeever and Jeff Ulrich were followed by an RBI single by Jeff Cwikla and yet another error by Bemidji shortstop Mark Schmitt.

Buchanaga tripled in the second and scored on a sacrifice fly by Nagel. Thief River Falls tied it in the bottom of the inning when Ulrich was hit by a pitch, stole second, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt by Cwikla and scored when Kelly Gutterud grounded out to first base.

Crookston 3

Thief River Falls rapped out 13 base hits in a 14-3 pounding of Crookston to complete the mini-tournament. Kevin Sanders, Dave Odegaard, Greg Harder and Dave Kays all had two hits apiece as Thief River Falls beat Crookston for the second time this season (winning the first meeting 10-2 in Northwest League action).

It was 6-0 before the second inning was completed and Thief River Falls made it an official rout with a six-run fourth that made it 12-1.

Odegaard finished with triple and a double and four RBI's while Kays and Harder drove in three runs apiece.

Swenson Plumbing Is Tournament Winner

Swenson Plumbing of Thief River Falls emerged as the unbeaten champion Sunday in a 16-team double-elimination men's slow pitch invitational softball tournament hosted by the Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association.

The tournament, which started at 9 a.m. and wasn't completed until 9:30 p.m., featured 14 Thief River Falls league teams and two visitors — the Fertile Merchants and the American State Bank of Erskine.

Erskine reached the championship game, but lost for the second time to Swenson Plumbing, 4-0.

Swenson Plumbing reached the finals by beating Phase II 12-10, Popplers-Action Realty 14-1, Erskine 17-16, and McDonald's-Dallmann 7-3.

American State Bank of Erskine went through the day by beating Sound Level-Holthusen 16-6, Furuseth-Nelson 5-2, losing to Swenson Plumbing 17-16 in the third round, but bouncing back to beat the TRF Merchants 12-2 and Furuseth-Nelson 10-9 to reach the finals.

McDonald's-Dallmann earned the third place trophy.

WHAT WAS ORIGINALLY a two-run double by Rick Oberg resulted in a three-run play when the Tony Dorn, Inc. batter advanced two additional bases on throwing errors by Terry's Mobil during the third inning of Wednesday's Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association game. Oberg completed his slide across the plate as Terry's Mobil pitcher Curt Ness waited for his catcher to chase down the elusive ball. Tony Dorn, Inc., down 3-0 before Oberg came to bat, went on to win the game 10-6.

Raiders Drop Out Of First

American Legion Raiders, after struggling for a month to catch McDonald's-Dallmann for a share of first place in the American League West Division, tumbled back into second place again Wednesday following an error-plagued 14-9 defeat at the hands of Wagon Wheel in Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association action.

Meanwhile, McDonald's-Dallmann, whose eight-game winning streak was snapped in a 15-5 loss to the American Legion Raiders on Friday the 13th, got lucky Wednesday when a three-run push in the bottom of the sixth inning produced an 8-7 come-from-behind victory over upset-minded Coca-Cola.

All three front-runners in the American League East Division were winners Wednesday as the TRF Merchants ran their record to 8-2 with an 11-0 shutout over Bridgeman; Popplers-Action Realty climbed to 7-2 by escaping an upset bid by winless Action Realty 11-10; and Swenson Plumbing went to 7-3 with an 11-2 victory over Furuseth-Nelson.

Hobo Haus beat Home Lumber 9-5 and Tony Dorn, Inc. broke a 5-5 tie by scoring five times in the bottom of the sixth for a 10-5 triumph over Terry's Mobil.

Consumer's Co-op opened up a two-game lead in the National League East Division Thursday by combining a 12-1 drubbing of winless Sparby-Johnson with a 12-11 Sound Level-Holthusen victory over second place Geat Northwest Agency.

Rick Kofstad homered while Larry Bjerken and Myles Lund collected four hits apiece as Wilson Brothers out-scored the TRF Aggies 17-10; Larry Kaiser went 3-for-3 to lead Dallmann Athletic past IWA 9-6; and Schumacher's Tireland had a surprisingly easy time with First Federal, winning 15-4.

Friday results really tightened things in the National League West Division where five teams are within one game of each other in the loss column following an 8-6 Thorp-KKAQ victory over division-leader Hardees. Elsewhere, Schumacher's Tireland beat First Northwestern Insurance Agency 17-7, First Federal shut out Thorp-KKAQ 5-0 and First Northwestern Insurance Agency drilled Lon's 22-2.

TRF Babe Ruth Teams Sweep RLF Ball Club

Thief River Falls picked up a pair of wins over Red Lake Falls Thursday in Babe Ruth baseball action for 14-15-year-olds.

First game that afternoon on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond produced a 10-0 win for the Thief River Falls Elks.

Bob Huot pitched a five-hit shoutout in the five-inning contest, walking three and striking out five.

The Elks collected 11 hits, including two each by Lon Aune and Jeff Milender, with Tim Bottem and Scott Johnston driving in two runs apiece.

Second half of the split doubleheader was a 14-2 victory for the Thief River Falls Independents.

The results improved the Elks' record to 5-2 and leveled the Independents' mark at 2-2.

A Wednesday Prep League Babe Ruth doubleheader for 13-year-olds that was supposed to find Thief River Falls at Crookston was postponed by rain. The Thief River Falls 13-year-olds are 1-3 for the year.

Williams Arena To Host Part Of Tournament

Minnesota State High School League's Board of Directors took action at their June meeting to conduct quarter-final games of the 1981 state high school Class A boys basketball tournament on March 26 in Williams Arena on the campus of the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Held previously at the Met Center in Bloomington, a new site became necessary because of a conflict in the date with the Ice Follies, an event held annually during the last week in March for many years at the Met Center.

Semifinal and championship games in Class A will take place on March 27 and 28 at the St. Paul Civic Center Arena and all games in the championship series of the Class AA Boys Basketball Tournament was scheduled for the St. Paul Civic Center Arena on March 26, 27 and 28.

Steve Payne's 12.9 per cent plus-minus percentage was highest of last season for the Minnesota North Stars. The left winger finished six-tenths of a percentage point ahead of Al MacAdam, his teammate on Minnesota's power line.

DWIGHT'S HARTZ base runner Melaine Skjerven ducked to avoid being hit by a wide throw to Pizza Hut first baseman Robyn Dallmann Wednesday in Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league action at the East Side diamond. Dwight's Hartz won the game 25-1.

Northland Pro Is 11-6 Winner Over Schmidts

Northland Pro used an eight-run second inning to subdue Schmidts 11-6 Thursday in Thief River Falls fast pitch softball action.

Schmidts has taken a 1-0 first inning lead on Bob Tunheim's single and Kevin Sethre's two-bagger to right center.

But in the second, Northland sent 11 men to the plate. After the lead-off batter bounced out, Northland smacked out six straight hits; a base on balls, a ground out and Mitch Dicken's three-run homer for eight runs.

Schmidts players had their inning, too. In the bottom of the third, the lead-off batter grounded out but a single and two walks loaded the bases for Steve Haats who then drilled a two-run single to center field. A three base throwing error on Gary Laidley's grounder brought in two more runs, with Dean Lawrenz scoring the fifth run of the inning on a single to right.

Northland picked up a run in the top of the fifth on Rockey Ammerman's bad hop single and three straight sacrifices.

Schmidts loaded the bases with none out in the bottom of the sixth but Mark DeChamp closed the door on any run scoring with Sethre's deep fly to left the third out. Ammerman's two run single in the seventh closed the scoring.

Coca-Cola kept Melvies out of the win column with a 4-1 win Friday night.

Coke scored the first run of the game in the top of the first inning as Roger Cota and Rob Almquist drew free passes. Almquist was forced at second on Tony Johnson's grounder, with Cota racing home on the play with the first run of the game.

Melvies tied it in the bottom of the frame on Doug Martell's double to left, Terry Sullivan's sacrifice bunt and an error.

Coke added two runs in the second on a wild pitch and Steve Drury's run scoring single. Coke's fourth run came in the third on a walk to Almquist and Mike Drury's double.

Tom Shetler pitched the last five innings for Melvies; at one time retiring seven in a row before yielding a walk to Paul Walker in the sixth. He finished the game by getting the last six batters in order.

Moose Season Will Not Be Held This Fall

There will not be a moose season in Minnesota this year, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) made clear today.

The DNR has been receiving numerous calls from eager would-be moose hunters asking when they can register for the drawing to select moose hunters for the fall season.

But the department has been sticking to its policy of only holding a moose season every other year, and there was a moose hunt last fall.

"The every-other-year-hunt seems to be maintaining the moose population at the proper level," said Roger Holmes, DNR wildlife chief, "and we plan to stay with this policy — at least for the immediate future."

Fewer Boating Deaths Noted This Spring

As of June 4, Minnesota had recorded five deaths resulting from boating accidents this year compared with 15 for the same date in 1979.

However, there has been about the same number of non-fatal boating accidents — 13 so far this spring compared with 12 for the same period in 1979.

And at the same time, there have been more drownings this year from non-boating related causes — 16 compared with nine for the same period last year.

Snowmobile Award Given

Joseph Alexander, Minnesota commissioner of Natural Resources, was presented the international award of merit at the annual meeting of the international snowmobile industry association in Niagara Falls, New York on June 9.

A STRETCH BY Tony Dorn, Inc. first baseman Tony Dorn, Jr. nipped Terry's Mobil base runner Jeff Houfek at the bag in the second inning of Wednesday's Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association game. Tony Dorn, Inc. came away with a 10-6 win.

Steel Shot To Affect Parts Of 27 States

Portions of 27 states in all four migratory waterfowl flyways have been designated "steel shot zones" for the 1980-81 waterfowl hunting season, the Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announced.

The zones, where steel shot ammunition will be required for waterfowl hunting next fall, were published in the June 5, 1980, Federal Register.

In some states, nontoxic shot zones are identified by state regulations only. In addition, many national wildlife refuges require nontoxic shot for waterfowl hunting. Hunters are advised to check state and refuge regulations for other areas where nontoxic shot is required.

Special steel shot regulations for national wildlife refuges are not included in the following descriptions. Steel shot regulations for national wildlife refuges will be announced in the near future.

The purpose of requiring waterfowl hunters to use steel shot is to reduce the incidence of lead poisoning in waterfowl. About two million waterfowl die of lead poisoning annually in the United States after eating spent lead shot, which the birds mistake for seeds or grit. Steel shot is not toxic to waterfowl.

Several methods are used for selecting steel shot zones. These include selections based on the number of ducks harvested per square mile or per county, which reflects the amount of lead being deposited; findings in gizzard studies; and the number of lead-poisoned waterfowl found in an area. The Fish and Wildlife Service and the states have conducted extensive studies over the last several years to identify these areas.

Detailed descriptions of the zones for 1980 will be made in announcements to be issued by the service's six regional offices. The states in which the zones occur are:

Atlantic Flyway — Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina and Virginia.

Mississippi Flyway — Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin.

Central Flyway — Kansas, Nebraska and Texas.

Pacific Flyway — Nevada, Oregon and Washington.

About 20 per cent of the waterfowl harvest of the United States occurs within the zones that have been identified for the next waterfowl hunting season.

In 1980, steel shot will be manufactured in 10, 12 and 20 gauge. Steel shotshell loads will be required without exception in the nontoxic shot zones in 1980.

In 1978 and 1979, Congress passed legislation prohibiting the Interior Department from enforcing steel shot regulations in any state unless the state wildlife agency approved. Seven states did not approve enforcement of the regulations in part or all of the designated areas in 1979. This provision will expire September 30, 1980.

In Minnesota the steel shot zones for 1980-81 are as follows. However, not included in the following descriptions are the steel shot regulations for refuges:

+All waters within the boundaries of all state wildlife management areas and federal waterfowl production areas and within a 150-yard zone of land adjacent to the margins of these waters. This includes lakes, ponds, marshes, swamps, rivers, streams and seasonally flooded areas of all types. Drainage ditches and temporary sheet water more than 150 yards from the water areas described above are excluded from the steel shot requirement. Controlled hunting zones of goose management areas are excluded from this provision, except the Roseau wildlife management area which is included.

+On the waters on Swan and Middle lakes in Nicollet county, North and South Heron lakes in Jackson county, Pelican Lake in Wright county, Bear Lake in Freeborn county and Christina Lake in Douglas and Grant counties, and within a 150-yard zone of land adjacent to the margins of the above lakes.

+Beginning at the intersection of the midline of the Mississippi river and U.S. highway 61 at Hastings, thence southerly along U.S. highway 61 to U.S. highway 16 at LaCresent, thence southerly along U.S. highway 16 to state trunk highway 25, thence southerly along state trunk highway 26 to the southern boundary of the state; thence along the southern and eastern boundaries of the state to the confience of the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers, thence along the midline of the Mississippi river to the point of beginning.

RAC Board Meeting

June 23, 1980
RAC Board Meeting
June 16, 1980

A meeting of the RAC Board was held on June 16, 1980, in the RIC offices at 7:30 P.M. Those present were: Keith Kilen, Ken Wiese, Allen Larson, Kay Turn, Don Horner, Bob Sorvig. Absent were: Homer Kenner. Guests were: Dan Skoogen, Gloria Bjorkman, Jan Westra, Loren Lusignan, Steve Kaatz and John Steidl.

Be it resolved that the minutes be approved as written and mailed out to the membership. Moved by Larson, seconded by Turn. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the May and June bills be approved as audited. Moved by Larson, seconded by Kilen. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the ECSU Low Incidence Year End Report be accepted as written, and that the results and recommendations be further studied by the RIC Feasibility Committee. Moved by Kilen and seconded by Turn. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the Superintendents Advisory Committee study the proposed pilot project suggested by Sysdata International, Inc., and make recommendations to the RAC Board as to participation. Moved by Kilen, seconded by Larson. Motion carried.

Discussion of John Steidl's letter concerning preschool program and special education finances. This was an informational item with no action taken.

Be it resolved that the RAC Board accept the letter of resignation from Mr. Greg Herling. Moved by Larson, seconded by Turn. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the RIC adopt the suggested calendar for the 1980-81 school year as submitted by the Director. Moved by Kilen, seconded by Larson. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the report on the emotionally disturbed be accepted as presented, and that further consideration be given to this issue by the RIC Feasibility Committee in the fall. Moved by Turn, seconded by Larson. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the RAC Board accept the letter of resignation from Mary Splide. Moved by Turn, seconded by Kilen. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that Jan Westra be assigned as manager of the IMC (Instructional Media Center) for the RIC. Moved by Turn, seconded by Larson. Motion carried.

Informational item of Superintendents attendance at RAC Board meetings. It was concluded that one Superintendent each month will attend board meetings and act as an advisor. Participation of Superintendents will be on a rotating basis.

Be it resolved that the RAC Board accept the 1980-81 negotiated package as submitted by the board negotiators. Moved by Kilen, seconded by Turn. Motion carried.

Be it resolved that the RAC Board adjust the 1980-81 salary of Steve Kaatz by $2,375. Motion moved by Horner and died for the lack of a second.

Be it resolved that the RAC Board deny the salary adjustment request of Mr. Steve Kaatz. Moved by Larson, seconded by Kilen. Motion carried.

New Business Items.

Moved by Larson and seconded by Turn to set the Directors salary and fringe benefits for the 1980-81 school year. Motion carried.

Superintendent Dyrud spoke to the board about his concern of the large districts benefiting more than the small districts from the utilization of P.L. 94-142 monies. He feels that there is a reluctance on the part of the larger districts to change the present system because of this benefit. Chairman Sorvig requested that Superintendent Dyrud write down his concerns and share them with both the RIC Superintendents and the Feasibility Study Committee.

Meeting Adjourned.

Sen. Hanson Asks Drought Declaration

State Senator Marv Hanson of Hallock has requested Governor Quie to issue a drought declaration for northwest Minnesota. This is the first step in getting a declaration from the federal government.

"It is now evident," Hanson said, "that the crops this year will not be recovering. The past week was especially hard on them. Even the recent scattered rains did not help much. The pasture and hay lands are next to nothing and many of the specialty crops such as timothy and bluegrass are lost.

"Many farmers, even those who farmed through the 1930's, have told me that this year's conditions are the worst ever," Hanson continued. "Some farmers have already begun tearing up their crops.

"The impact will not only be on the farmers, but on our local small businesses as well," Hanson stated. "Several businessmen have mentioned to me the extraordinary amount of credit outstanding that they are carrying on their books."

Hanson, who is an attorney and farms near Hallock, has requested Governor Quie to immediately check on conditions in northwest Minnesota and to proceed with a drought declaration.

"It may be that the result of conditions this year might require us to look at developing our own state program in Minnesota to supplement the federal programs. There is no doubt that this drought is going to affect everyone in our area," Hanson concluded.

A HELPING HAND was given to fine arts show co-chairman Marge Hanson by Thomas Parr Williamson, Baudette artist, at the art show which opened Saturday at the Soo Line depot in Thief River Falls. Some of Williamson's paintings are shown in the background at right. The show attracted a number of entrants from Thief River Falls and a number of other communities and was open to the public Saturday and Sunday.

WATERCOLORS by Russell Norberg of Staples, a regular exhibitor at art in the park programs presented by the Thief River Falls community arts council, were on display outdoors Saturday during the fine arts show here. The paintings of landscapes drew priase from art viewers who stopped by to visit the show. Norberg is a graduate of Oklee high school and his parents still live in the Oklee area.

Feeder Pig Show, Sale At Fosston

Sunday, July 6, is the date set for the second annual Northland feeder pig show, sale and barbecue to be held at the Fosston fairgrounds beginning at 12:30 p.m. An added attraction this year will be a hog wrestle.

A trade show, featuring hog equipment manufacturers and feed suppliers, is included in the activities.

Feeder pig show and sale is open to all producers. Three classes will be included: heavyweight, light weight and gilts. Nearly $900 in prize money is being offered. The show will conclude with a sale supported by the Wisconsin feeder pig marketing cooperative. Registrations should be sent to Reid Wahlin, Fosston.

The pork barbecue will be held from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. At 7 p.m. the first annual hog wrestle will take place. Four member teams will vie for $200 in prize money and trophies, seeing who can beat the clock in an effort to put the muddy porker in the barrel. Further information and registration forms for this event, open to any interested persons, can be obtained from Dean Merillat or Dave Gilbertson at Fosston.

Catalog of the show can be obtained by contacting Gilbertson, general chairman at 435-1161.

Applications may be obtained by mail or phone (612-296-5328) from the Minnesota Department of Health, Plumbing Unit, 717 Delaware Street S.E., Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440. Applications must be returned by August 15 to qualify for the September examination.

Next scheduled examination will be given in March of 1981.

Lang Attends S.I.D. Session

Anita B Lang, RN, recently attended the 4th National S.I.D (Sudden Infant Death) conference in Minneapolis where health professionals from all over the United States gathered to share ideas and learn about this tragic cause of death in young children.

Focus of the conference was on research areas, statistics, investigation systems and support groups with a discussion on "near miss" infants.

Anyone with questions regarding S.K.D.'s can contact Anita Lang at Inter-County Nursing Service, 681-5950, for further information.

EVON HAMILTON, a resident of Goodridge, will be working under the governor's youth program (GYP) at the Goodridge historical society building through mid-August. She was one of those present at the building Friday afternoon to answer questions when the Goodridge senior citizens visited the building.

Volksmarch Is Planned For Fargo Area

First official "I.V.V. Volksmarch" in North Dakota will take place in Fargo Saturday and Sunday, June 28 and 29. The free hike is part of an international program that is growing in popularity across the United States. Those who complete the walk and pay a registration fee will receive a medal commemorating the event.

Hikers will congregate at the Oak Grove high school cafeteria where they will pick up a start card and begin the walk either day between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. The walk must be completed by 5 p.m. Oak Grove high school is located on South Terrace, which is the east extension of Sixth av. N. Follow I.V.V. Volksmarch signs starting at 6th Avenue North and North Second street for directions to the campus.

Groups and individuals may walk at their own pace on the six and 12-mile trail. The Volksmarch is designed to appeal to people of all ages and will take place regardless of the weather. Participants should wear comfortable shoes and clothing. Refreshments will be available at the Oak Grove cafeteria. For more information, contact Alice Underbakke, 218-236-9391.

John is a 1980 graduate of Lincoln high school.

Barb DeHaan New Ward Clerk At St. John's

Sitting down on the job is how you'll find Mrs. Jacob (Barbara) DeHaan these days. After 10 years of "on the floor patient care", and working days, relief, night and weekend shifts she will now be working five days per week and eight hours per day at St. John's hospital of Red Lake Falls. She will begin her new duties today.

Some of the things she will be responsible for are making out the nursing department time schedules, doing discharge and transfer papers on patients and scheduling their follow-up appointments at the clinic, taking phone messages from other departments and relieving the professional staff of their miscellaneous paper work plus numerous other things.

Barbara graduated from Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, is married to Jacob DeHaan and they have one son and four daughters. They live in Red Lake Falls and are members of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Barbara enjoys family camping in the summer and, during the school year, watching the school sports. She also enjoys knitting, gardening, crocheting, working with people and doing things for them.

Mrs. Barbara DeHaan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Myhrer of Thief River Falls.

4-County EPS, WIC Clinics Set For July

Four-county Early and Periodic Screening (EPS) agency will be conducting hearing and vision checks, dental assessment, Denver developmental testing, tooth care instruction, hematocrit determination and urinalysis as well as physical assessments throughout July in Marshall, Kittson, Red Lake and Pennington counties.

Any child from six months through 20 years of age can be screened. Advance appointments must be made.

Certification of participants for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) food supplemental and nutritional education program will take place during July also, according to Muriel Roley, WIC coordinator.

Because the participant load is increasing, it is necessary for potential clients to call or write the Four-County EPS service in Warren to make a WIC certification appointment. New clients will be seen by appointment only.

Initial certification will take approximately one to one and one-half hours. Potential clients must bring the children they wish to have certified with them. All WIC clinics begin at 9 a.m. and run until noon. Immunizations will be given throughout the morning. All WIC participants must come at 10 a.m. to pick up their vouchers unless they have been scheduled for another time.

EPS and WIC clinic schedules for July include the following:

July 1 — Newfolden — Bethlehem Lutheran church; July 2 — Hallock — Presbyterian church; July 3 — Red Lake Falls — St. Joseph's Catholic church, 10 a.m. to noon; July 7 — Grygla community center for EPS, and old community center in Grygla for WIC — Call Lillian Sundberg at 294-6146 for WIC information; July 8 — Karlstad — First Lutheran church; July 10 — Warren — Evangelical Covenant church; July 11 — Thief River Falls Redeemer Lutheran church for WIC only.

Advance appointments are required for screening. For further information on services, cost or to make an appointment contact the Four County EPS service, Marshall county courthouse, 208 E. Colvin, Warren, Mn 56762, 745-4004.

Bemidji Hosts Annual Art In Park July 26

Pottery, weaving, knitting, painting, macrame, and jewelry; these are just some of the many crafts, that will be exhibited and sold at the 13th annual "Art in the Park."

This event, which attracts spectators and exhibitors from all over Minnesota, Canada, Dakota's, Wisc., and Iowa, will be conducted July 26 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in Library Park, by Lake Bemidji.

Throughout the day, there will be various demonstrations and talks every hour, on the park bandstand. Special feature this year, is the theatre performing group "Commedia", from St. Paul, who will be giving a morning and afternoon performance.

Food will be served by various organizations. In case of rain, "Art in the Park," will be moved to the Hobson Union, on the BSU campus.

If anyone is interested in showing and selling their work, please contact Chris or Julie, before July 10. Julie — 751-3563 or 751-9618, Chris, 751-8044 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon.

MN. Women For Agriculture To Meet Thursday

Region 1 members and persons interested in Minnesota Women for Agriculture are invited to coffee at Mrs. Roger (Treasure) Omdahl's home Thursday, June 26, 10 a.m. at 138 So. 5th St., in Warren.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss and plan for the fair booths in our region and to discuss any other topic of interest to farm women.

MWA is a two-year old state organization interested in the survival of the family farm. They want to educate themselves and the public on farm issues and promote unity among farmers, helping them to become more effective in fighting for favorable farm policy legislation.

MWA is affiliated with American Agri-Women, a national coalition. Dues are $10 a year which include a monthly newsletter. To join, send money, name, address and list of crops, if actively farming, to Sue Anderson, MWA Treasurer, route 3, Box 162, Belgrade, MN 56312. Membership is open to women, men and organizations who will actively and enthusiastically promote this way of life.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES 15c

Volume 69 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, June 25, 1980 Number 51

A HELPING HAND was provided by Nanci Kezar as five-year-old Amy Enge created a yarn and glue project during art in the park activities Saturday in Thief River Falls. Volunteers worked with children attending the event, assisting them in a number of different art and craft activities. Amy's mother, Linnae Enge, was a co-chairman with Kathy Ebbighausen of the children's program held in Elks park.

Dr. Corliss Resigns As Superintendent

Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of Thief River Falls schools since July 1, 1971, submitted his resignation to the local board of education at the regular meeting Monday evening in the Lincoln high school library. The resignation provides, however, for Dr. Corliss' continued service to School District 564.

Resignation as superintendent will be effective June 30, 1981, giving the school board approximately a year to seek and secure a successor to the superintendency. In addition, the agreement approved by the board in accepting the resignation calls for Dr. Corliss' assignment to another administrative position in the district through Dec. 31, 1983. At that time he would complete his service to the district.

As of Monday night's meeting, there was no decision as to what that administrative position following the superintendency might be. "It has been a pleasure to serve you and the community as your superintendent of schools," Dr. Corliss stated in the resignation letter addressed to the board. "I will do whatever I can to assist you in making the transition to a new superintendent."

Dr. William Corliss

The board also approved a 1980-81 tentative expenditure budget of $7,451,884 and tentative revenue budget of $7,220,353 for the district. In addition, a tentative expenditure budget of $1,805,318 and revenue budget of $1,833,799 was approved for the area vocational-technical institute.

The board voted to assume full responsibility for operation and maintenance of the cafeteria which serves the AVTI and Northland community college, with the college to be billed at the end of each school year for one-half of the cost of operation, less the cost of operation of the LPN area which is located in Northland facilities.

Summer school instructors were approved at a rate of $29.50 for two hours of instruction and $58.85 for four hours of instruction per day. Elementary faculty approved includes Christine Burnham, Marian Gigstad, Elde Hanson, Julie Jossund, Beverly Kays, Patrick Klemisch, Ron Novak, Kathy Olson, Janice Peterson, Myron Peterson, Jeanne Petterson, Walter Redinger, David Stromlund, Vern Treat, Peter Tri and Richard Tyler.

Extra-curricular assignments approved were Susan Feeney, elementary girls activities director and elementary girls activities at 1906 CONTRIBUTION to the St. Pauli Lutheran church by the young girls' society included the pulpit, communion rail and altar. The altar was carved and assembled by Albert Angell who was paid $70 for his work, according to the church records. The baptismal font at left was donated in 1911 as a gift from the Sunday school children. The church will celebrate its 85th anniversary Sunday, July 6, with worship services and an afternoon program which will include dedication of the remodeled and redecorated church. The church is located one mile north of Hazel, about seven miles southeast of Thief River Falls.

St. Pauli Church Notes 85th Anniversary Event

St. Pauli Lutheran church of rural Thief River Falls will observe its 85th anniversary Sunday, July 6, with morning worship services at 11 a.m., a noon dinner and an afternoon program of history and a dedication of the remodeled and redecorated church.

Rev. Lloyd Heroff, pastor of the church located one mile north of Hazel or about seven miles southeast of Thief River Falls, will deliver the morning sermon. In addition to presentation of the church history, the Sunday afternoon service will include talks by Rev. Donald Peterson of Karlstad, president of the Thief River Falls conference of the ALC, and Rev. James Swanson, a former pastor of St. Pauli.

Following history of the congregation was written by Mrs. Gust A. Gustafson who has researched records of the church:

The first annual meeting was held in the Braaten schoolhouse on January 3, 1895. Rev. Evenson was chairman and Pete Paulson was secretary.

The constitution of the Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran church was read and adopted. St. Pauli was chosen as the name for the new congregation which was to be served by Rev. I. T. Austad, pastor of what is now Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Charter members were: Gilbert Sherva, John Shervva, Ole Peterson, Andrew Odegaard, Ole Torkelson, Tollef Erickson, Pete Simonson,

Arrests Made In Burglary Of Reierson Home

Arrests were made in Williston, N.D., and Thief River Falls recently in connection with the March 15 burglary of the Milton Reierson residence in Thief River Falls.

Law enforcement authorities in Williston served a search warrant on David W. Davidson, 20, formerly of Thief River Falls, and found a number of items of stolen property, including silverplate items from the Reierson home. Davidson was charged by the sheriff's office in Williston with possession of stolen property.

As a result of the arrest and notification of local authorities, Kenneth R. Harger, 23, of Thief River Falls was arrested here and charged with burglary. He appeared in district court for preliminary hearing Monday and was released on his own recognizance.

Items from the Reierson home recovered to date constitute about 10 per cent of the estimated $6,000 loss.

Committee for the Lincoln high school Class of 1950 reunion invites area residents who would like to visit with class members to attend the dance following the reunion banquet at the Thief River golf club. The dance will begin about 9 p.m. on Saturday, July 5.

City Accepts Bids For '80 Improvement Project

Thief River Falls city council members voted last evening to accept the finance committee's recommendation to award the contract for 1980 street and utility improvement project to Molstad Excavating Inc., of Grand Forks, during their regular meeting in the council chambers.

Introduction of the resolution was made by alderman J. J. Womack and seconded by alderman Ambrose Wysoski to take the recommendation for bids on the following projects — Oriole avenue, Cardinal drive and Cardinal avenue; Kendall avenue; Jerome Street and Columbia avenue; alley from second to third street between Main street and LaBree avenue; Greenwood street, Greenwood west (Crocker — Freeman's first addition); First street widening; Oakland park bridge and bridge extension; insulation of water services; Greenwood cemetery; and miscellaneous patching and utilities and cemetery paving.

Molstad was named low responsive bidder for the project following correspondence from Molstad and Minnkota Excavating Inc. of Minneapolis, apparent low bidder.

In further action, regular and special bills for Stewart and Walker's miscellaneous statements set at $1,710.58 and $4,275.85 for the Stewart and Walker 1980 project, were approved by council members.

Action carried over from an item brought up at a May 13 city council meeting concerning "sandwich boards" or "V-shaped" signs placed by businesses on sidewalks for advertising purposes, continued last evening.

At the previous meeting, it was resolved to instruct the chief of police to send letters

Larson, Panek Win Marshall County Primary

Delray Larson of Gatzke and George Panek of Goodridge will meet in a special general election in Marshall county's fifth commissioner district as a result of the special primary election held Monday.

Larson received 238 votes and Panek 218 in the primary to advance to the general election scheduled for Tuesday, July 8. Grant Satre of Grygla, the third candidate, received 165 votes in the primary. The election is being held to fill the vacancy on the Marshall county board created by the death of Nilo Rantanen of Middle River.

Townships in the fifth district include Agder, Cedar, Como, East Valley, Eckvoll, Espelie, Excel, Grand Plain, Holt, Linsell, Middle River, Moylan, New Solum, Rollis, Thief Lake, Valley, Veldt and Whiteford. Cities of Holt and Grygla are also included in the district.

Newly elected commissioner will take office at the semi-annual meeting of the board on Monday, July 14.

SHEILA BUSSE will be among nine candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the Jaycee Aquacade pageant July 26. Her talent presentation in the official Miss America preliminary event will be a flute solo.

Diamond Jubilee At Middle River

Program and activity planning for the 75th Jubilee at Middle River June 27-29 is nearing completion. Many people in the community have been involved in the preparation, with the local community club taking on official sponsorship at the event.

Emphasis has been placed on the history of the village that was chartered in 1905 with special consideration to the people who have lived in Middle River, and its surrounding area at any time during those years.

Middle River school will serve as the center of activities for the opening day events Saturday. Congregation of the Seventh Day Adventist church has also invited the public to its regular worship service at 11 a.m. A community award will be presented.

Antique parade is scheduled for 2 p.m., to be followed by a historical program at the school. Recollections of earlier years will be the theme of the program. There will also be displays as well as a souvenir booth.

Tournament play of eight men's softball teams will be conducted Saturday. Sunday's program will include a five-mile marathon beginning at 8:30 a.m., the all-faiths worship service on the schoolgrounds (if weather permits) at 10:30 a.m., the Day in the Park stage entertainment beginning at 1 p.m. near the Spruce Valley community center, games and entertainment for children from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and horseshoe tournament play throughout the day.

Celebration will include evening dances at the Legion hall and Meadowbrook ballroom Friday and Saturday nights. The Johnny Holm traveling fun show will also appear at the Meadowbrook ballroom Sunday from 8 to 12 p.m.

Various church organizations will serve food.

Everyone is invited to attend the weekend of activities.

Dan Vigness Injured In Cycle Mishap

An accident involving a motor home and a motorcycle Sunday afternoon caused the cycle rider to be hospitalized, according to a report by the Thief River Falls police department.

The accident occurred at 4:24 p.m. Sunday as John Waldie of St. Vital, Manitoba was traveling west on Third street and was entering the intersection on a red light when he was hit by a motorcycle driven by Dan Vigness of Thief River Falls who was traveling south on Main avenue.

Vigness was hospitalized and moved out of intensive care Monday with bilateral clavicle fractures. Estimated damages were $200 to the motor home and $500 to the motorcycle.

Sheila Busse In Queen Pageant

(This is the second in a series of articles on candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the annual Jaycee Aquacade. The official Miss America preliminary pageant will be held Saturday, July 26, at the Lincoln high school auditorium.)

by Marvin Lundin

A high school honor student with an affinity for numbers, Sheila Busse plans a college education in business and accounting with a view toward eventually having her own accounting firm.

Eighteen-year-old Sheila is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Busse of Thief River Falls and a 1980 graduate of Lincoln high school. She is five feet four inches tall, balances the scale at an even 100 pounds, has blonde hair and blue eyes. Her pageant talent number will be a flute solo.

Numbered among the top 10 scholastic honor students at Lincoln this spring and a member of the National Honor society, Sheila has always included mathematics areas among her favorite subjects. Like most of the other Miss Thief River Falls contestants, however, she mixed academics with activities while in school.

A member of school bands since fifth grade, she played the flute in marching, pep and concert bands during high school. She also received a star rating with a flute solo at the regional-state music competition as a junior and was section leader in the band. She also had seven years of piano lessons.

A cheerleader for several years, she received a trophy as outstanding football-wrestling cheerleader as a junior and last year was a cheerleader captain for football and girls' basketball. A member of the Prowlins dance team, she received an award for the best smile in 1978-79 and as most graceful in 1979-80.

For hobbies she enjoys sewing, tennis, bowling, oil painting and such crafts as macrame and decoupage. She has been employed part-time at the Mercantile Company for the past year and during a grand opening promotion played the role of a living mannequin. She has also done some modeling for the store. And although she does a lot of

PROMOTED to the academic rank of professor with the University of Minnesota extension service is Terry Courneya, Pennington county extension director. Promotion effective July 1 is made by the board of regents of the university in recognition of professional growth and contributions made to the extension program of the university. It does not change his responsibilities or assignments in the county. Announcement of the promotion was made to James Engelstad, chairman of the county extension committee, by Norman A. Brown, director of the University of Minnesota extension service.

Newfolden Church Notes Anniversary

by Bonnie Hanson
Newfolden Correspondent

Evangelical Free church of Newfolden, for many years known as the Newfolden Mission church, is celebrating its 75th year. To commemorate this event, the church is sponsoring several special activities Thursday through Sunday, July 3-6, with a welcome extended to the public to attend any or all of the events planned.

Samuel Tunheim began the work from which the present Newfolden Evangelical Free church evolved by holding meetings in various homes in the community in the late 1800's. Other early leaders included Rev. Dedrick Kilen and Rev. Thorvald Myhrer, who served as pastor of the church for 37 years. First board members recorded included John Lokstad, Lars Bjorsness, Christ Shelveland, Andrew Ekman, Hans Korgen and Herman Hanson.

The 75th anniversary celebration will feature Dr. Arnold T. Olson, president emeritus of the Evangelical Free church of America, as special speaker. Former pastors Rev. Ernest Vick, Rev. Julius Hoseth and Rev. Clifford Anderson with present pastor, Rev. Earl Eveland, will also be taking part in the meetings. Musical groups from the past and present will provide special music which will be featured at each service.

Activities planned include a service to be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, July 3, with Dr. Olson as speaker. Friday, July 4, a service is set for 3 p.m. with Dr. Olson and Rev. Anderson speaking. A pot luck picnic on the church grounds will follow at 5 p.m.

Saturday, July 5, at 7 p.m. a banquet will be held at the Newfolden community center with the program including the reading of the church's history, greetings, several musical selections and Rev. Hoseth as speaker. For those planning to attend the banquet (anyone interested is welcome to attend), the cost is $4.50 per person and the church would EVANGELICAL FREE CHURCH of Newfolden notes its 75th anniversary this year, with special activities planned to celebrate the occasion Thursday through Sun[illegible] 3-6. The public is cordially invited to attend. Pictured above is the pres[illegible]uilding which was completed in 1972. Church history records the start of [illegible]gation to have been in the late 1800's with services being held in hom[illegible] community. First central meeting place was that erected by the Swedish M[illegible], known as the Mission House, which was located southeast of Newfolden. In [illegible] the congregation constructed a church building within the village of Newfolden, which served as meeting place for the organization until erection of the present structure.

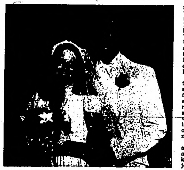
SOCIETY and CLUBS



Marilyn Brown And Jeffrey Nelson Vows Said

St. Bernard's Catholic church was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Marilyn Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown, former Thief River Falls residents who are now living at Walker, and Jeffrey Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nelson of rural Goodridge.

Rev. James Bernauer officiated at the six-thirty, double ring ceremony. Kristi Gerardy, the organist, played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," as the attendants assembled at the altar, and "Processional from the Sound of Music," as the bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. The recessional was the traditional wedding march. During the ceremony, Tama Duffy sang "Longer," and "Wedding Prayer," and Sheldon Buck sang "Follow Me." Together they joined in singing "The Gift of Love."

Forming the chancel setting were hurricane candelabra with yellow tapers, greenery and spice colored ribbons, accented by basket arrangements of yellow gladioli, orange carnations and yellow daisies.

The bride was attired in a white sileste jersey gown with a chapel-length train attached at the empire waistline. Venise lace formed the capped sleeves, traced the Queen Anne neckline and edged the floor-length pleated skirt. A head-piece of matching lace held her fingertip veil of bridal sheer enhanced by a hand-rolled edge. She carried a bouquet of spice roses, yellow orange-tipped roses and babies' breath complemented by white orchids. Her diamond necklace was a gift from the groom.

Ginny Sathe, St. Louis Park, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Kathy Brown, Eagen, sister of the bride; Marilyn Nelson, Thief River Falls, sister of the groom, and Pat Moss, Sunnyvale, Calif., sister of the bride. Their identical gowns of spice sileste jersey were fashioned with blouson bodices with elbow-length puffy sleeves. Their tulip petal street-length skirts were worn over removable floor-length skirts. All the attendants carried ivory colored lace fans complemented by white orchids and spice roses. In their hair they wore a solitary white orchid. With the exception of the flowers on the altar, all the flowers were of silk.

Tammy Duffy was the bride's personal attendant.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Jim Nelson of St. Cloud. Groomsmen were Randy Jorde, Thief River Falls, a friend of the couple; Don Brown, Minneapolis, brother of the bride; and Steve Nelson, Red Wing, a brother of the groom. Ushering the guests were Cory and Scott Nelson, brothers of the groom, Wes Swanson and Bruce Johnson, friends of the couple. All are Thief River Falls residents.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and a boutonniere featuring a rust colored rose and two yellow orange-tipped roses. His attendants wore summer brown tuxedos with white ruffled shirts trimmed in rust and rust and yellow orange-tipped rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a long-sleeved, apricot colored, floor-length, knit jersey gown with a jeweled buckle complementing the wrap-around belt. The mother of the groom wore a peach colored jersey gown with a tie neckline and long lace sleeves. Their identical corsages were of white orchids and yellow roses.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Amanda Nelson, grandmother of the groom, and Mrs. Luella Fuller, a friend of the couple.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the church parlors. Host and hostess were Luke and LaRae Kaushagen, cousins of the groom. Sherrie Nelson, sister of the groom, registered the guests as Bette Hanson and Julie Nelson, friends of the couple, served the punch.

Distributing the rice packets were Katie Sathe and Brigette Moss, nieces of the bride. They wore identical gowns of a yellow floral print complemented by wrist corsages of orange roses and yellow carnations.

The five-tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by Luella Fuller, featured orange roses and sugar bells. On either side were two heart shaped cakes inscribed with the names of the bride and groom. Topping the cake was a crystal symbol for man and woman. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Fuller and Vernice Nelson, aunt of the groom. LaVonne Thune and Irene Johnson, aunts of the groom, presided at the coffee service.

Waitresses were Lorna Kaushagen, Heather Raridis, Jennifer Eggenberger and Jana Nelson, cousins of the groom. Kami Rokson and Lori Sorteberg, friends of the couple, arranged the gifts.

During the reception, the bride's sorority sisters from North Dakota State university serenaded the couple.

Following a wedding trip to the Duluth and Brainerd areas, the couple is now at home in Thief River Falls at the Countryside trailer court. The bride is a 1976 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1980 graduate of NDSU. The groom, a 1973 graduate of Lincoln and a 1976 graduate of the local AVTI, is a self-employed carpenter in this area. Photo, Lund Photography, Roseau.

MARRIAGE VOWS will be exchanged by Terri Kay Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Turner, Jr., of Garland, Tex., and Jerome A. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Nelson of Middle River, on Monday, June 23, at 8 p.m., at the Good Shepherd Catholic church in Garland. A reception will be held at the Meadowbrook Ballroom at Middle River on Saturday, June 28, at 9 p.m.

The Byron Dirks Visit Son In Dallas, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Dirks returned recently from Dallas, Tex., where they spent three weeks visiting with their son Martin, an electrical engineer with Texas Instruments, Inc.

Martin is a 1974 graduate of Lincoln high school and summa cum laude graduate of Bemidji state university with a bachelor of science degree. He is presently working on his master's degree while continuing to work at his full-time job.

While in Texas the Dirks visited the John F. Kennedy museum on the corner where he was assassinated, attended a rodeo, toured a wildlife park, visited a wax museum and Old Fort Parker state historic site. They also toured the plant where Martin works and saw some of the items manufactured there.

Ripley And Gullekson Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Ripley of Thief River Falls announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jodi Lynn, to Loren Gullekson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gullekson, Sr., of Spring Lake Park.

An August 9th wedding at the Assemblies of God church in Fridley is being planned.

25th Anniversary Is Observed By Russell Lanes

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lane were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 14, at an open house at their home in rural Thief River Falls.

Making it a special occasion was the presence and participation of all who had participated at the wedding 25 years ago: Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Rux, Anoka, who had been best man and bridesmaid; Mrs. Lane's godmother Mrs. Richard Mosbec, who cut the cake; Mrs. John Waltonen, an aunt, who poured; and Mrs. Harvey Anderson, another aunt, who registered the guests. Assisting them at the anniversary celebration were Mrs. Art Armstrong, who cut the cake; Mrs. Marvin Moen, who ladled the punch, Jodi Lindblom, a sister of Mrs. Lane, who pinned the flowers and cousins Christopher and Caryn Anderson of Valley Springs, S.D., who distributed the thank-you notes.

For the occasion, the indoor buffet table was graced with a floral centerpiece, a gift from Mrs. Richard Mosbeck. On the coffee table on the patio was a tiered anniversary cake, iced in white and decorated with pink confectionery roses and silver accents. Confectionery roses in deep pink decorated the sheet cake provided Mrs. Burt Lake. The luncheon served throughout the afternoon was catered by Lillian Rux and Ida Brouse. For the convenience of the guests, picnic tables and chairs were placed on the lawn.

Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended the open house. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lane, Moorhead; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Rux, Anoka; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lindblom and Donna and Mr. and Mrs. Arne Schjeldrup, Kale and Amy of Felton, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Rasmus, Bemidji; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van de Streek, Jeff and Amy, Perham; Miss LaNae Langevin, Warroad; Jodi Lindblom, Winona; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mosbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Young, Mr. and Mrs. Nicki Drees and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Pederson, all of St. Hilaire; Mrs. David Dahlen and Rachel, Goodridge; Mrs. Richard Mosbeck, rural Red Lake Falls; Cindy Restad, Grand Forks, N.D.; Mrs. Marlene Anderson, Fargo, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lenz, Reynolds, N.D.; and Mrs. Hazel Stieg of Thompson, N.D. Others attending were from Thief River Falls and the immediate area.

Nelson And Halverson Vows Spoken At Grygla

Miss Susan C. Nelson of this city became the bride of Marc E. Halverson, also of this city, on May 24 at 1:30 p.m., at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson of Grygla and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Halverson of Middle River.

Rev. Owen Christianson officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by approximately 150 relatives and friends. Lois Peterson, a cousin of the bride, was the organist. For the processional, she played Beethoven's "Ode To Joy," accompanied by flautist Barb Geer. The recessional was Mendelssohn's "Wedding March". Soloist was Barb Geer. She sang John Denver's "Follow Me," as she played the guitar prior to the processional, and Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Peterson joined Mrs. Geer in singing "Charity". Following the pastorial meditation the assembled guests sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds". Adding to the ceremony was a reading from Gibran's "The Prophet" by the bride's sister, Barbara Nelson.

Bouquets of yellow and white daisies, blue carnations, pink gladioli, babies' breath and greenery graced the altar.

The bride and groom were escorted to the altar by their parents. For her wedding, the bride selected a bridal gown of luster sheer organza featuring a mandarin collar and an embroidered off-the-shoulder yoke edged with a Chantilly lace ruffle. Her full skirt flowed back into a semi-cathedral train graced with tiers of Chantilly lace scallops. A mantilla of bridal illusion, edged with matching Chantilly lace, completed her attire. She carried a bouquet of fresh yellow roses, babies' breath and greenery interspersed with an assortment of multicolored silk wild flowers.

Barbara Nelson, a sister of the bride, was personal attendant.

The couple's only attendants were close friends, Karen and Mark Ostgarden of Hawley. Mrs. Ostgarden was attired in a yellow soft-knit floor-length gown fashioned with an empire bodice with a V-neckline and cap sleeves. She carried a silk bouquet of multicolored wild flowers.

The groom was attired in a light blue vested suit with a yellow rose surrounded by silk flowers pinned on his lapel. The groomsmen and the ushers, Steven Nelson of Moorhead, and Michael Halverson of Redwood Falls, brothers of the bride and groom, wore business suits of their own choosing. Their boutonnieres were a variety of wild flowers.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nelson, Thief River Falls, grandparents of the groom, and Herschel Nelson, Grygla, uncle of the bride.

A reception in the church parlors followed. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nelson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Mavis Hagen, a friend of the bride, presided at the guest book as Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Presler, State College, PA, friends of the couple, served the punch.

Centering the serving table was a round, four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with silk flowers and live greenery. Topping the cake was a cluster of silk flowers centered with a gold Christogram. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Laverne Anderson, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. James Holte, a cousin of the bride. Mrs. Melvin Walberg, godmother of the bride, and Mrs. Edna Curtiss, great-aunt of the groom, were coffee servers. Gift bearers were Steven and Mark Orstad and Eric Nelson, cousins of the bride.

The couple is now at home in Thief River Falls, where both are employed. The bride, a graduate of Goodridge high school and Concordia college, Moorhead, is employed by Forsberg's, Inc. The groom is employed by Bill's Service. He is a graduate of Ayer high school, Ayer, MA, and the Thief River Falls AVTI. Photo, Roy Blomker, Thief River Falls.

Courneya Will Speak To Sow and Hoe Club

Soe and Hoe garden club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the Rudolph Hanson home.

Guest speaker will be Pennington County agent Terry Courneya. He will speak to the group on the current drought situation. Lunch will be served.

Local WCTU Gives $100 For Film Production

At the meeting of the Alice Mae Stuart Thief River Falls Woman's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) held Tuesday, June 17, at the Oakland Park Nursing home, the group voted to donate $100 to the National WCTU. Adding to the $100 donation was a $20 gift from Mrs. Hildur Lian.

Decision to make the donation followed the reading of a letter from National President Mrs. Herman Stanley, appealing for funds for producing a new film dealing with the drug problem among the youth. She stated that the film, tentatively entitled, "The Park," will be used in schools and will cost $30,000. It will depict youth going from cigarettes to marijuana and then to cocaine. Mrs. Stanley stated that donations may be sent through local unions or directly to the National office at 1730 Chicago avenue, Evanston, IL 60201.

The meeting began with members of the union serving coffee and fruit muffins to the residents at the home. Special guests were Ruth Vieguth, Emma Copp, Lena Iverson and Roy Adams, Oakland Park residents who noted their birthdays in June. Each was presented with a potted coleus plant.

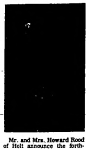
A program followed with four local youths, Harvey Asp, Peter Nygard, Tami Coltom and Christy Risberg, reporting on their experiences at the Youth Temperance Council camp at Paynesville. They reported that the camp included narcotic and temperance education classes, group discussions, craft and art sessions, musical programs, a movie, "Heaven's Heroes," a banquet highlighted by the crowning of a king and queen, swimming and a consecration service.

Attending the meeting at Oakland Park, with the campers were their mothers: Mrs. Arthur Asp, Mrs. Alvin Nygard and Debbie, Mrs. Larry Coltom, Robby and Troy, and Mrs. Dorothy Risberg.

The devotional meditation, "Channels of Sharing," was given by Mrs. Hildur Lian. She read Hebrews 6:10, and stated that sharing is one of the earliest recollections that an individual has of ones childhood. That sharing experience of joy or sadness, generally with a parent, grandparent, brother or sister, or a close friend, is more meaningful when love is manifested. She concluded by saying that people should spend more time sharing their love and the good news of Christ's love with others.

The radio releases were read by Mrs. Ruth Haugan and Mrs. Valborg Hanson. Residents at the home joined the group in singing the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

Denise Ann Rood To Wed John N. Sorenson



Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rood of Holt announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Denise Ann and John Neil Sorenson, son of Mrs. Eunice Sorenson of Thief River Falls.

A July 5th wedding is planned.

Olaf Omdahls, Warren, To Note 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Omdahl of Warren will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 28, at an open house at their home at 905 North Minnesota Street. Hours will be from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

All friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

Campanula Club Studies Growing Salad Ingredients

"Growing Our Own Salad," was the topic discussed at the June meeting of the Campanula garden club held at the home of Mrs. Emil Koglin. Ruth Holmes led the topic. She listed plants that can be grown locally for salads, displayed some garden cress she had raised, and distributed Tarragon for seasoning salad dressings.

Also of interest was the monthly phenology report given by the members. Included were birds now seen in the area, the vegetables and flowers that are growing and the many seeds, especially carrots, that didn't germinate and grow due to lack of rain.

Correspondence included letters from representatives of the Horticultural Society, Mark E. Waldeland, director of development; and Glen H. Ray, executive secretary. Reports were given on the Readership Analysis and the availability of slides showing the flowers at the governor's residence. Viola Koglin read an article on a plant patenting law scoring seeds of controversy. She also gave the secretary's report. Olga Johnson gave the treasurer's report and Bernice Knutson reported on the activities of the Good Cheer committee. President Geneva Overum presided at the meeting and led the members in reading the club creed and the June poem. Members answered roll call by listing greens suitable for salads.

Of special interest to the members was a dried arrangement made by Mrs. Koglin. Highlighting the arrangement was a single peony. Following a dessert lunch, the hostess presented plants to all the members.

Mrs. Anne Muzzy Open House Set For June 29

Mrs. Anne Muzzy will be honored on her 85th birthday on Sunday, June 29, at an open house from 2 to 5 p.m., at the United Methodist church Fireside room.

St. Pauli Will Observe 85th Anniversary

Alek Arveson, Ole, Jim and Arne Braaten and their mother Karl Braaten and Gilbert Anfinson.

Following are the first officers elected — Andrew Odegaard, trustee for 3 years; Gilbert Sherva, trustee for two years; John Sherva, trustee for one year; Pete Paulson, secretary for one year; Ole Peterson, treasurer for one year. Each family was assessed $3 for one year, the money to be used to pay the pastor's salary.

Sunday school was organized in 1896 with John Sherva and Andrew Odegaard as teachers. Other early members of St. Pauli were Peter Nelson, Lars Lokken, Hans Amundson, Knute Finstad, Mikkel Seeland, Peter Thune, Hans Fredrickson, Halvor Wiken, Peter Stene, Halvor Hostvet, Tobias Stene, Halvor Torstveit, Ole, Andrew, Tillie and Gina Hestekind, Cornelius Olen, Ole Helgeson, Ole Vigen, Martin Loken Fredrick Sherva, Ole Valsvick and John Kvall.

In 1899 Hans Amundson gave 1½ acres of land to the congregation. This land was to be the site of the church which was to be built by volunteer labor. Members were asked to make pledges toward the building fund. The men of the congregation were each asked to haul a load of rocks to the building site. The rocks were for the foundation. The ladies aid gave $100 to help pay for building material for the church. The church was finished in 1901 and the leftover rocks were brought to St Hilaire and given to Synodens Kirke (a church in St Hilaire) which was in need of rocks for a foundation for their church.

The ladies aid members worked steadily and every year had a sale of knit articles and embroidered and crocheted items. All money was given to the congregation treasury.

Parochial school was taught every summer with one month in the Netteland schoolhouse and one month in the Braaten schoolhouse. In 1908 Miss Francesca Alfson was the first woman to teach parochial school and in 1913 Gertie Kvall and Tillie Hestekind became the first women of the congregation to teach Sunday school.

Another active group were the young girls society or Pige Forening. In 1906 these girls gave the pulpit, communion rail and altar to the church. The altar was made and carved by Albert Angell who was paid $70. In 1911 the baptismal font was given by the Sunday school children. In 1910 the young peoples society (present Luther League) gave the church steeple and bell to the congregation. They also gave the first Reed organ.

In 1908 St. Pauli joined the St. Hilaire parish.

Mrs. Hed came from St. Hilaire with Rev. S. T. Palm and played the new organ at worship services. She also gave music lessons in St. Hilaire and Marie Olen was one of her pupils. In 1912 Miss Olen became the first member of the St. Pauli congregation to serve as organist at worship services. She served very capably in this capacity until October 1932. Until 1913 only the pastor had a salary. That year it was decided that the organist and janitor each be paid 50 cents for working at weddings and funerals and the janitor had a salary of $2 per year.

The Hamar congregation joined St. Pauli in 1917 and in 1920 a basement was built under St. Pauli church and a wood burning furnace was installed. Special thanks were extended to the ladies aid and young peoples society for their generous financial help.

In 1926 it was decided that every third service would be in English and the young peoples society, bought English hymn books. In 1933 the YPS were first referred to as the Luther League. In 1938 motion carried that henceforth the records of meetings be written in English and in 1939 the first annual meeting was conducted in English. 1938 was the year when the new basement was built.

The interior of the church was remodeled in 1951 and again in 1978. Now a new nathex has been built and the basement has been enlarged. Through the years there has been a steady growth in membership so now there are new members who have joined this year — worshipping with grandchildren and great-grandchildren of some of the charter members.

Library Service Discussion Held

Public meeting on library services to the Northwest region was held June 14 at the Spruce Valley community center, Middle River. According to Wayne Alfveby, director of the Northwest regional library, there was an excellent turnout of county commissioners, library board members and the general public to hear information about the many library services available and to discuss library issues and concerns in northwestern Minnesota.

In his introductory remarks, Alfveby dedicated the meeting to the individuals who started library collections in their communities, volunteering many hours of personal time well before the regional library was established.

"Because Northwest regional library was not born overnight in 1968," he said, "it was not a revolution. Rather, it was an evolution of many, many individual efforts. To those pioneers who brought free information to the citizens of our area, we pay tribute."

Senator Marvin Hanson then addressed the audience, covering the history of library legislation in Minnesota, the state's commitment to libraries and emphasized the role played by libraries in assuring the freedoms enjoyed in our democratic society. Speaking to the need for adequate funding of libraries and the comparative benefits produced, Senator Hanson quoted this year's national library week slogan, "The Library — America's Greatest Bargain."

Following Senator Hanson's address, the audience viewed a media presentation which details available library services in the region. This raised many questions in the group which were answered by Alfveby, NWRL assistant director Julie Anne Chase, and Allan Lewis, assistant director of the Minnesota office of public libraries and inter-library cooperation.

Those who were not able to attend Saturday's meeting may direct any questions or other input to Wayne Alfveby, Director, Northwest Regional Library, 101 East First Street, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or call 681-4325. Also, groups interested in a program about library services including a media presentation may direct requests to the same address.

Shelly Ellefson On Dean's List

Shelly Ellefson of Red Lake Falls was among 119 students named to the spring quarter dean's list at Itasca community college in Grand Rapids, according to Leo Keskinen, dean of instruction.

Reservations for senior fun day for meals and rides may be made by calling 681-6760, the senior craft shop, by July 7.

Wm. Bjorgaard Returns From Pacific Cruise

Navy Radioman second class William J. Bjorgaard, son of Avis M. Hjelle of Newfolden, has returned from a goodwill cruise to the Western Pacific.

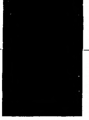
He is a crewmember aboard the amphibious command ship U.S.S. Blue Ridge operating from Yokosuka, Japan.

During the trip, his ship visited Inchon and Pusan, Korea and Kagoshima, Japan. In Korea, sailors and marines of the seventh fleet flagship toured the capital city, Seoul, explored the huge international market in Pusan, and donated their free time to paint and repair orphanages.

In Kagoshima, crewmembers gained unique insight into Japanese life by spending an evening with local families through a home-visit program.

The Blue Ridge is 620 feet long and carries a crew of 720. It serves as the flagship for the commander of the seventh fleet's amphibious forces and can accommodate more than 700 members of the amphibious force staff.

A 1973 graduate of Marshall county central high school, Bjorgaard joined the navy in March of 1976.



TIM PARNHAM, Thief River Falls, is presently spending a week in camping activities at the second annual summer camp conducted by the Muscular Dystrophy association (MDA) at Turtle River state park in Arvilla, N.D. Recreational activities for the week include swimming, nature hikes, wheelchair dancing, campfires and arts and crafts. The camp is made possible through the special fund raising events conducted throughout the year. Visitor's day at the camp is June 25.

Murrays Will Attend Meet In St. Louis

Don and Corky Murray of Thief River Falls have announced plans to attend the 1980 Grand National Purina dealer convention in St. Louis, MO this summer. Man Agra Enterprises, Inc. in Thief River Falls is managed by Murray services.

Early estimates indicate that there will be about 5,000 people in attendance, including owners and managers from approximately 2,000 of the company's dealerships.

DID YOU KNOW?

"He Thinks A Heap Of Me!"

I can't lay claim to anything as far as looks go. And when it comes to learning I may be rather slow. But there must be something more in me than other folks can see, 'cause I got a little chap at home—he thinks a heap of me.

I've had my ups and downs in life as most folks have, I guess. And taken it all in all, I can't boast of much success. But it braces up a feller and it tickles him to know there's someone that takes stock in him, no matter how things go.

To feel his hand in mine, so clingin' and so warm; to know he thinks I'm strong enough to keep him safe from harm; to see his loving faith and trust in all I can say or do, it sort of shames a feller, but it makes him better, too.

That's why I try to be the man he fancies me to be, just 'cause that little chap at home he thinks a heap o' me. I wouldn't disappoint his trust for anything on earth, or let him know how little I just naturally am worth.

And after all, it's easy up the better road to climb, with a little hand to help you and guide you all the time. And I reckon I'm a better man than what I used to be, since I got that little chap at home He thinks a heap o' me.

Tiny Transmitters Help Scientists Study Animals

by Mark E. Canney
'U' M News Service

When the Russians launched Sputnik II in 1957, they inadvertently launched a research program at the University of Minnesota that continues to give scientists insights into animal behavior.

Unlike Sputnik I, which was launched a month earlier, Sputnik II carried a live passenger. This first space traveler, a dog named Laika, was monitored by the Russians as it spun around the world at altitudes ranging from 160 to 1,062 miles.

A group of scientists whose research interests were a bit more down to earth decided that if the Russians could monitor a dog hundreds of miles away in space, there should be a method of monitoring earthbound animals in the wild.

Field biologists joined with engineers to begin a radio telemetry project at the University of Minnesota Cedar creek natural history area, about 30 miles north of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The fruit of this collaboration was the development of an automatic radio-tracking system that enabled the researchers to monitor continuously animals equipped with miniature radio transmitters.

The system became operational in January of 1964 and has since answered biological questions on such diverse subjects as home range of animals, predation, disease, evaluation of census techniques, and animal reactions to availability of food and cover, weather and even snowmobiles.

Whitetail deer and cottontail rabbits were the first subjects used in the radio telemetry program, but since then, scientists at Cedar creek have been responsible for outfitting birds, fish and marine mammals with the tiny radio transmitters.

At present, the University of Minnesota is one of the few research institutions in the United States involved in research and development of radio telemetry hardware. Much of this work involves the design of appropriate transmitters for different species of animals.

"They are all different. For every species you inquire about you have to reinvent the wheel," said John Tester, a professor of ecology and behavioral biology.

Tester, one of the original investigators in the radio telemetry program, said that one of the most difficult obstacles to overcome in developing transmitters for new species is to find a design that will not interfere with the normal behavior of the animal but will be functional at the same time.

In many instances, a collar outfitted with a battery and transmitter will suffice but, as in the case of birds, the apparatus must not interfere with the aerodynamics of the creature and, of course, there are some animals that simply do not have necks.

Donald Siniff, also a professor of ecology and behavioral biology, is aware of the problems of attaching transmitters to animals. One of Siniff's graduate students learned the hard way, after attaching a newly fashioned transmitter collar to a sea otter. "We attached the collar to the otter and let him go out into the sea," Siniff said. "He swam out a few yards, slipped the collar off, looked at it and dropped it into the sea."

Siniff, who has been involved with telemetry projects with marine mammals, birds and fish from the arctic and the antarctic, said the solution to the sea otter problem has since been found. Transmitters were attached to the rear flippers of the sea otters with a metal that would corrode easily in sea water, freeing the otter of the apparatus at the end of the study.

Besides designing unobtrusive transmitters, the scientists have made internal improvements on the transmitters.

"The original transmitters used mercury-type batteries," said Valerian Kuechle, an engineer who designs transmitters at Cedar creek. "We have shifted to a lighter and less temperature-sensitive lithium-type battery."

According to Kuechle, the most difficult animal to track is the migratory bird. The ideal solution to the problem would be to track such birds by satellite, as has been done with polar bears. But as yet no transmitter small enough to handle satellite communication for birds has been designed.

Fish have been monitored primarily for their reaction to waters heated by nearby power plants. Scientists are interested in the effects the heated water has on the movement and feeding habits of fish. But fish present another engineering problem: how can a transmitter be attached to such a slippery creature?

According to Kuechle, two successful methods of attaching radio transmitters on fish have been found. One method is to attach the unit to a fin; the other consists of actually placing the transmitter inside the gut of the fish. Both methods seem to leave the fish unhindered.

Kuechle and other researchers at the University of Minnesota are responsible for designing radio transmitters for tigers in Nepal, walruses in Alaska, manatees or sea cows in Florida, seals and cod in Antarctica, and wild turkeys in Minnesota, among others.

Most of the transmitters have been used exclusively for tracking animals as they move about within their habitats, but transmitters that minitor physiological functions, such as heartbeat and temperature, also have been developed. These transmitters can give researchers an idea of the kinds of stimuli that may cause stress in animals. A recent University of Minnesota study on the effects of snowmobiles on whitetail deer used such physiological monitors.

Siniff, who worked on the project, said the effects were not substantial. "One important area in the future of radio telemetry is physiological monitoring," Siniff said. "The changes in heartbeat can be attributed to stress, which would give insights into predator-prey relationships, the problems of animal overpopulation and many other behavioral aspects of animals."

RICHARD HUEMPFNER, a field biologist at the University of Minnesota Cedar creek natural history area, holds a squirrel wearing a newly attached radio transmitter. The squirrel was taken from a live-trap, anesthetized and equipped with the collar-type transmitter. Once the anesthesia had worn off, the animal was returned to the wild.

A TINY RADIO transmitter developed at the University of Minnesota to monitor blackbirds is much smaller than a human hand. A battery will be fitted to the apparatus and the entire unit will be encased in plastic resin before it is attached to a bird. The wire protruding from the unit will act as an antenna.

Cindy Borg To Head CF Drive In Newfolden

Cindy Borg has been appointed to lead local volunteers in Newfolden's "Breath of Life" campaign during the month of September. According to Ron Swain, president of the Minnesota chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis foundation, "There will be a special emphasis placed on the third week in September as it will be designated as Cystic Fibrosis week as well as Minnesota Cystic Fibrosis week."

Cystic Fibrosis, the most serious lung-damaging disease, is incurable. It is estimated that one in 20 Americans is a symptomless and unknowing carrier of the gene which will cause cystic fibrosis in their child.

Feeder Pig Co-Op Issues 1972 Refund

Paul Schink, general manager of Wisconsin feeder pig marketing co-op, reports that the cooperative has released the final payment of $19,166.62 on 1972 patronage refunds.

Members of the co-op's board of directors voted recently to make these funds payable to 1972 co-op members. The payment represents 40 per cent of allocation funds retained in that year. Schink says that the total earnings of the co-op in 1979 were large enough to make the 1972 funds available for distribution.

Allocated cash returns to members for 1979 were $32,186. Of the total 1979 allocations of $93,562, $61,376 was paid in membership equities. Total cash payments to members during the year were $50,790.

Wisconsin feeder pig marketing co-op marketed 858,250 feeder pigs during its last fiscal year of operations. This was the highest volume of pigs in the co-op's 23-year history and 10,000 more pigs than marketed the previous year. Total dollar volume of business for the period was $37,148,617.

Wisconsin feeder pig marketing co-op markets feeder pigs nationwide through private treaty contract and Tel-O-Auction sales in Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and North Dakota. Co-op Tel-O-Auctions are held at Boltonville, Lancaster and Blue Mounds, Wis.; Sauk Centre and Perham, Minn.; and Litchville, N.D.

The cooperative's main headquarters is at Francis Creek with the Minnesota division headquarters at Sauk Centre.

Circuit Riders Hear Consumer Complaints

"Circuit Riders" from the complaint mediation unit of the Minnesota Office of Consumer Services (OCS) will visit 29 communities throughout the state this summer to hear consumer problems and to answer general consumer questions.

Zora Radosevich of the Office of Consumer Services in Duluth will be in Thief River Falls at the Vocational Rehabilitation office, LaBree Avenue S. and Zeh street from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Thursday. Thief River Falls area residents with consumer problems or questions are encouraged to visit personally with Radosevich or give her a call at 681-7598.

Purpose of the program, according to consumer services director Kris Sanda, is to extend the services of her office and other state agencies to residents of non-metropolitan Minnesota. "One of the concerns of this agency is to insure that all our citizens have adequate access to the services of state government," she emphasized.

"Consumer problems are not restricted to the Twin Cities and Duluth," Sanda said. "They affect all Minnesotans and we intend to reach as many residents as possible with assistance and hopefully with solutions."

Sanda said the circuit rider program is being conducted in cooperation with Commissioner Rolf Middleton of the state Department of Economic Security (DES). Four members of the Consumer Services staff will visit the 29 towns beginning in June and continuing on a rotating basis every four weeks through September 30.

Sanda said she especially hopes low income people will utilize the Circuit Rider program, "because they might be particularly hard hit by consumer problems in the current difficult economic situation." The circuit riders also want to hear about energy-related consumer problems.

"We can't control OPEC, but might be able to help people having problems with such things as insulation or the purchase of some other energy-saving equipment," she said. Even if the circuit riders can offer no immediate solutions, both OCS and DES are interested in knowing about the kinds of energy-related problems people are experiencing, Sanda added.

In addition to energy-related consumer problems, the complaint mediation service offered by the circuit riders is available to consumers with problems relating to auto repairs, home repairs, mail order, and other similar purchases of household goods and services.

"We do not act as the consumer's attorney," Sanda said. "We act instead as third-party mediation service with the goal of working out voluntary settlements between consumers and businesses."

Scandinavian Wood Exhibit

Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls is proud to invite you to the Scandinavian Wood Display in their lobby. This beautiful exhibition is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Community Art Council. It features intricately carved wooden objects that were made in one of the five Scandinavian countries during the past two centuries, or else in the United States by Scandinavian immigrants working in the traditional methods of carving and decorating wood.

You won't want to miss this opportunity to see an example of the skill of our areas forefathers in designing beautiful objects for daily use. Stop in at Northern State Bank and take a trip back to the "olde country"!

We care.

NORWEGIAN VISITOR Anne-Birgitte Steinsli of Verdal, Norway, had an opportunity to drive a lawn tractor while visiting at the Clarence Swanson farm west of St. Hilaire. Her American "sister", Pam Swanson, stayed with the Steinsli family last summer on a 4-H club exchange program in Norway.

Norwegian Girl Visits Swansons

Pam Swanson of rural Thief River Falls has a special guest this week who came a long distance to repay a visit. Anne-Birgitte Steinsli of Verdal, Norway, is staying through Friday at the Clarence Swanson farm west of St. Hilaire.

Last year Pam was a guest of the Steinsli family in Norway for five weeks during a summer 4-H club student exchange program. It was expected that this year 16-year-old Anne-Birgitte would participate in the 4-H exchange program herself, coming to Minnesota and staying with Pam and her family.

But Anne's aunt and uncle were coming to Minnesota this year to visit relatives, and her parents decided it would be just as well that she accompany them. The Swansons drove to Grove City to pick her up Monday and she will be here the rest of the week before rejoining her aunt and uncle at Alexandria and doing more visiting before returning to Norway July 6.

Anne-Birgitte has been a member of the Gnist 4-H club in Verdal for the past four years. She lives on a dairy farm where 20 head of cattle are milked and other youngstock are kept. The farm produces its own feed for the cattle, putting some hay in silos and drying other hay for indoor storage.

Completing the ninth grade in school last year, Anne-Birgitte will begin the three-year gymnasium or high school this year. The first nine years of school are required; the gymnasium and future university study are voluntary. Anne says she can teach rural school after completing the gymnasium program, but that she may go on to university study.

An active athlete, she plays on the Verdal soccer team and upon her return will play with the team in a tournament in Oslo for a week. She has accumulated about 100 trophies, medals and other awards for soccer, skiing and running events. Her father, mother and 12-year-old brother also join in cross-country skiing outings and her father hunts elk and moose every year. The family fishes for trout and buys salmon from an uncle who is a commercial fisherman.

Impressions of this part of the United States are that the flat land is interesting but rather dull compared to the mountains of Norway, that clothing is much less expensive here than in her native country, and that chili dogs and Mountain Dew nearly rival her own homemade pizza as a dining delicacy.

Let's Strengthen Our Defense

"Peace Through Strength" should be the primary emphasis of U.S. defense policy. Our best deterrent to war, whether it be nuclear or conventional, is a strong and capable military. The United States must develop a stronger more capable defense because within the last five years the Soviet Union has increased its military strength to the point that they are equal or possibly ahead of the U.S.

This argument is not a popular one. It seems many Americans are of the opinion that defense spending is a waste of tax dollars and that the development of a stronger military is for an offensive military force. Unlike the Soviet Union, an offensive or aggressive military is not our intention. We have no desire to militarily threaten other nations or impose our philosophical beliefs by using military force. We are solely seeking to prevent agression in the free world, not only against the U.S., but also against our allies and other independent nations. By developing a stronger military, it will be possible for the U.S. to discourage offensive military actions and continue to maintain "Peace Through Strength."

To accomplish the goal, however, the U.S. must increase immediately defense related programs. In the conventional warfare category, the Soviets are ahead of the U.S. as the statistics below will indicate.

—Soviet manpower outnumbers the U.S. in the active duty category by four million to two million, or two to one. The Soviets also have 11.2 million in reserves, while the U.S. only has 3.6 million.

—The Soviet Union now has over 70,000 tanks while the U.S. has less than 8,000.

—The Soviet Union has 2½ times the total U.S. artillery arsenal.

—For every division the Soviet Union has on line, they have one battalion that deals with nothing but chemical warfare. The U.S. has no offensive or defensive capabilities in this category because it is believed to be inhumane.

—The Soviet Union has 981 ships to 456 in the U.S. fleet.

—The Soviet Union has over 357 submarines, while the U.S. has less than 70.

—The Soviet Union has 2½ times more tactical aircraft than the U.S., and only 50 per cent of the U.S. supply is operational at any one time because there is not enough money to buy spare parts.

The Soviets are producing three or four Backfire Bombers a month, while the U.S. continues to rely on the 25-year-old B-52. The U.S. plans to modify 170 B-52's, but the cost will be greater than it would have been to build 240 brand new B-1 Bombers. Plans to build the B-1 were cancelled by President Carter.

In addition, Soviet spending for defense or offense, as it appears to be in this situation, has also consistently been much higher than the U.S. In 1965, U.S. defense spending was 58.1 per cent of the Federal budget. This year it totals only 23 per cent which is the lowest percentage of the gross national product since the early 1940's. The Soviet spending level, or percentage of the GNP, is almost twice that of the U.S. Between 1973 and 1978, the Soviets have spent an average of $21 billion more than the U.S. each year for weapons, research and development, and military conversion.

It is apparent that the Soviet Union has no intention of reducing military expansion or curbing their aggressive intent, as demonstrated by their invasion of Afghanistan. Unfortunately, it is this attitude that forces the U.S. to build and maintain a strong military. Our intentions are soely to protect the freedom we enjoy as Americans, and until such time as the leadership of the Soviet Union decides to truly work toward a meaningful detente, we have no choice but to increase our defense spending and capabilities.

Senior Citizens

June 19 we were busy at our center sewing together the rows for an afghan so we could finally take it off the tables without getting it all mixed up. We also filled a pair of bed pillows sewing up the ends, also a lot of visiting was done.

There were 18 that registered in our record book. Bertha Fredrickson of Thief River Falls, Gladys Wilkes and Jim Kline Jr. from Missouri and Wally Rud were our visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Orton Brekke brought us some stuffing from Karlstad so we have more for pillows. Thank you for delivering the bags to us. Thanks, too, to those who have donated rummage. We don't always know where it all comes from, so this is our way of saying thank you.

Evelyn Kline received the door prize Anna Rud gave. Hulda Stromberg received the prize Gladys Wilkes donated. Anna Rud got the one Sara gave and Mabel Stromberg received the prize Mabel Borsvold gave. Sally Weiler received the prize Irene gave and Jim Kline Jr. received the prize Mabel Stromberg donated.

Thursday Art Braun will be at our center to talk to us. He would like as many as possible to be there to hear his suggestions. So please, you senior citizens who do not usually come, please come this once to hear what may be suggested for our center for the good of all.

Saturday during appreciation day at Strandquist we opened our center at 10 a.m. and were open until about 4:30 p.m. There were over 100 people who visited us Saturday to sample our coffee and goodies and many of whom were good buyers. We thank everyone for their business and good will.

People registering from a distance came from South Dakota, North Dakota and from Baudette and the Twin Cities as well as many of our neighboring towns. It was fun. Don't forget to visit us Thursday, June 26, to hear Art Braun.

Barbara Kline spent a few days at the Laurel Kline home. She accompanied James Kline and Jim Jr. and Evelyn back to her home at Embarrass where they went to visit for a few days.

STAR . . .

Life Less Fearful Now Than In Past

by Paul Dienhart
'UM' News Service

Your mind clicks into the slow, golden fade of a movie flashback and you imagine a past when the pace was slow and people lived unafraid in the tranquil countryside.

Forget it.

In his groundbreaking book, "Landscapes of Fear," University of Minnesota geography professor Yi-Fu Tuan surveys fears throughout the ages. He lets the reader decide, but the implication of the book is that life is less fearful today than in past centuries. "It's a great generalization, but I believe it's true," Tuan said in an interview.

Tuan, himself, has little desire to have lived in the past. "I can imagine delightful situations," he said, "but I would have to have a special social status. I'd have to be at least a prince. That would be okay. Just being an ordinary person, I think I'd prefer to live now rather than any other period."

Fear of disease and early death certainly isn't as great today, Tuan points out in his book. As late as 1849, with the United States helpless against a cholera epidemic, President Zachary Taylor called on all citizens to participate in a day of fasting, prayer and humiliation. It was in the tradition of the cholera-struck London of 1665, when people burned old shoes and fired guns from their windows to drive away the "bad air" settling around their houses.

Tuan wonders how strong family ties could have been with death always ready to interrupt. "In 18th century France, a peasant couple who wed in their late 20s could reasonably look forward to a conjugal bond of only five to 10 years before death would remove one partner. Divorce was hardly necessary when death so often performed the same service," he writes.

Today, the castles which dot the European countryside are romantic structures. In actuality, they were filthy refuges from marauding bandits. The cities were hardly more secure in past centuries. Fire, for example, could rage uncontrolled. Even if one escaped, there were no insurance policies to help retrieve a life's work. Terror of fire led to strange superstitions. In 1282 a whale stranded on a beach in China was linked to a nearby fire and a temple was built to appease the angry river god.

Humans cannot bear to live in a permanent state of anxiety. Before scientific explanation and control of nature, people turned to magic and ritual. Human sacrifice was very popular, even among advanced empires like the ancient Chinese and the Aztecs. Wars were fought chiefly to obtain victims for sacrifice. To assure fertility, Chinese farmers of 1000 B.C. buried pieces of human corpses in their fields, while the Aztecs had women dance for the goddesses of the earth, a dance that ended when their heads were lopped off.

On a less cosmic level, wild animals posed a danger to people and their crops. It was once not uncommon to label an animal a criminal. "Offending wolves and caterpillars were tried in courts, given sentences and executed," Tuan writes. "One of the earliest recorded animal trials took place in 824, when moles were prosecuted in the valley of Aosta; one of the most recent was in 1906 when a dog drew a sentence of death in Switzerland."

If there's still a fear of nature, it's "the paradoxical fear that plants and animals, even rivers and lakes, may die through human abuse," Tuan writes. "The fragility of nature, not its power, now makes us almost constantly anxious."

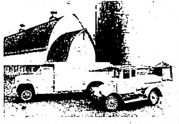
The problem of comparing fears of yesteryear with those of today is that our ancestors may have simply gotten used to things we find horrifying, Tuan said. In the 15th century, French families picnicked under gibbets where crows feasted on mutilated bodies swinging from iron chains. "That would be a very unpleasant and fearful thing for me, but for people of that time it may have been an accepted part of their world," Tuan said.

If people tend to regard this age as the most fearful and long for the quiet of the past, it may be because they are more aware of the uncertainties in their own lives than those of people who lived long ago, Tuan said.

Another reason may be what Tuan calls "chronocentrism" — the belief that one's own age must cope with the most unsettling change while other ages contained long periods of drowsy quietude. Yet a retiring and conservative person living between 1800 and 1860 would have been subjected to revolutionary changes like the railroad, steamships, the telegraph, gas lighting and factory-made clothing, Tuan points out in his book.

Tuan previously wrote a book called "Topophilia" — love of place. "Landscapes of Fear" is the companion volume on fear of place. Tuan uses a wide range of sources, from the Old Testament to T. S. Eliot, from Chinese cities of the Han dynasty to the London of Charles Dickens. But Tuan is the first to admit that he couldn't include all fears. "It's very much a sketch and an essay," he said.

The hardcover edition of "Landscapes of Fear" is published by Pantheon Books of New York. The University of Minnesota press will publish the paperback edition.



"50 YEARS OF PROGRESS", a display commemorating CENEX's golden anniversary, will be at Farmers Union Oil company in Thief River Falls Friday. Display features a 1917 supply truck which is being pulled on a trailer by a 1980 supply truck. The 1917 truck is fully operational. The driver of the 400-gallon, 1917 supply truck used a five gallon measuring bucket to fill a customer's tank. Today's trucks carry 2,000 gallons and use power pumps.

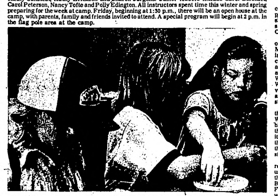
FOURTH AND FIFTH grade Junior Girl scouts prepare their afternoon meal Tuesday at Camp MOE — one of the many activities performed by the Brownies and Juniors throughout this week at the camp. Various cooking methods are used at each meal including such things as foil and stick cookery. Eight units are present throughout the campgrounds this week where girls participate in various activities. The day begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 2:30 p.m. Tonight the juniors will spend the entire night at the camp, which will include preparing their own supper and breakfast.

JUNIOR UNIT Girl scouts (fourth, fifth, and sixth graders) gathered at Camp MOE in Thief River Falls Tuesday afternoon to listen to Carol Peterson, volunteer at the camp (pictured back center) explain the caper chart outlining duties each scout is to perform during the week at camp. Dunk bags containing each girl's dishes she is responsible for washing and drying after each meal, hang from ropes between the trees.

A MORNING BREAKFAST TREAT of oranges enables Brownies and Junior Girl scouts (fourth, fifth and sixth graders) to have a short break before joining in more activities at Camp Moe in Thief River Falls Tuesday. Brownie leaders at the camp during the week include Kittie Cornell, Kathy Sunstedt, Kathy Erickson and Sharon Jurgens. Junior leaders include Carol Borchert, Carol Peterson, Nancy Tofte and Polly Edington. All instructors spent time this winter and spring preparing for the week at camp. Friday, beginning at 1:30 p.m., there will be an open house at the camp, with parents, family and friends invited to attend. A special program will begin at 2 p.m. in the flag pole area at the camp.

SIXTH GRADE JUNIOR Girl scout unit gathers to pump water during their stay at Camp MOE in Thief River Falls Tuesday. The well is the only source of water at the camp. Today the unit will participate in a bike hike where they will travel to the Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls, and go swimming at the Franklin middle school pool. The girls will visit the camp daily throughout this week.

ART SESSION is only one of the areas of study at Camp MOE as Brownies and Junior Girl scouts gather this week at the camp. These Juniors put to use those things collected during a nature hike to make various art-related items. Divisions at the camp include games, arts, crafts, new skills and nature study. Cost for each girl participating in the week camp session is $15 which included badges, meals and all projects at the camp. L. B. Hartz foundation provides the money for bus transportation for the girls to the camp every year, according to Jeanne Olson, day camp director. Gloria Johnson, assistant leader (back left), provides assistance during the project.



THESE BROWNIES prepare name tags for themselves to be used during their stay at Camp MOE in Thief River Falls. Pieces of wood obtained from the camp, along with alphabet letters from spaghetti, are used to make the tags. Forty-eight Brownies will be earning their "Be a Friend Patch" following their daily visits to the camp throughout this week, and 59 juniors will be completing their outdoor cooking badge.

City Accepts Bids For '80 Improvements

to the known violators of the ordinance informing them that the city plans to abide by the standing ordinance which states that this type of sign cannot be placed on sidewalks and a violation of the act is a misdemeanor.

At a June 17 meeting, when the matter was again brought up, it was resolved that the Thief River Falls police department would study how many obstructions are presently on the downtown sidewalks, and inform the businesses they are violating the present ordinance, and report to the next meeting (last evening).

"The question remains — if we can't allow signs, how can we allow other things such as lawn mowers and pop machines?" alderman Wysoski questioned.

A number of businessmen appeared before council members with their opinions of why various pieces of store equipment could be left on the sidewalks. Ron Kalinoski, of Ace Hardware in Thief River Falls, expressed his views by stating, "I feel the liability lies with the store owner. The store owner is responsible for the upkeep of the area in front of the store. If there are any injuries, the store owner is the one contacted."

Robert Wurst, city attorney, reminded Kalinoski and other owners present that either the city, store owner, or both are liable if an accident should occur from an item placed by the store in front of the store.

Other store owners shared the same feelings as Kalinoski, they said, but also felt they would abide by any decision that the city reached on the issue. It was noted, too, that some of the stores in question were set back farther from the sidewalk so that extra room was available for display of store items.

"We (city council) can't condone the continuance of people placing items on the sidewalks if we stop those with sandwich signs," Mayor Carlson stated.

Following the introduction of a resolution by alderman Milan Borsheim to refer the issue back to the planning commission for further study, and a roll call vote with aldermen Ole Engelstad, Wysoski, Clayton Restad, Womack and Mayor Carlson voting against the issue, and alderman Bill Penning, abstaining, the resolution failed.

A second resolution was then introduced by alderman Wysoski to issue a special blanket permit for 30 days for those store owners displaying items on the sidewalks, while the planning commission and the city council will further study the issue.

A roll call vote on this resolution passed following a unanimous council vote and the statement from Mayor Bob Carlson that Ken Froehlheiser, chief of police, would call on the people concerned to cooperate with the council's decision by limiting their merchandise on the sidewalks and tucking the items closer to the building.

In other action, Ralph Foster, appeared before council members with his request for a license to operate a concession stand (popcorn stand) in Thief River Falls.

Following the statement by alderman Bill Penning of the "substantial small details" that must be considered, and the resolution by alderman Engelstad to refer the issue to the license committee with a report back to the next regular city council meeting July 8, the motion carried.

An update on the mail service in Thief River Falls instructed Wurst to continue studying the inadequate mail service in Thief River Falls. Correspondence on the issue had been received from Congressman Arlan Stangeland on the issue concerning the two-day mail service from here to Minneapolis.

The placement of the signal light near the front of the Valley 24 store on First street and Pennington avenue in Thief River Falls included a discussion of three alternatives to the placement of the light in front of the store, following a previous meeting with store owners.

Alternative included an easement from the city for placement of the signal light off the sidewalk and nearer to the store (which store owners have since decided not to sign), moving the signal light back two feet from the curb, or placing the light in the middle of the sidewalk.

The second of these had been decided most desirable, according to alderman Restad, although no action on the matter was taken during last evening's meeting.

Next regular city council meeting has been scheduled for July 8 in the council chambers of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Tuesday night's American Legion baseball game featuring Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks lived up to its billing as a top attraction between a pair of intense athletic rivals who entered the game as unbeaten co-leaders in the Northwest League standings.

Thief River Falls won it 9-8 before the largest crowd in recent memory to watch an American Legion baseball game played on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

It was entertaining. But it wasn't a particularly well-played game and it certainly wasn't a show of sportsmanship as players and coaches taunted each other throughout the contest and East Grand Forks showed a definite lack of class during a heated argument with the umpires and at the end when the customary post-game handshake was followed by tactless comments thrown at Thief River Falls coach Nick Drees.

East Grand Forks shortstop Dan Gasperlin was ejected from the game for abusive language when he was arguing a call made by base umpire Wayne Liden, who ruled that Thief River Falls' Greg Harder had won a foot race to the bag to beat out an infield base hit in the third inning. East Grand Forks coach Dave Aker showed little restraint in an Earl Weaver-type tantrum on the play.

Liden and plate umpire Paul Williams had their hands full. It was an extremely important game; the athletic rivalry was keen; it was a close game; and there was an abundance of close calls. The umpires handled the situation well, but East Grand Forks players, coaches and fans felt they got the short end of things. Drees questioned a few calls, too, but wasn't a constant complainer. And he tried to keep the Thief River Falls players in line when they responded to East Grand Forks' barbs. Aker, when ordered by Williams to quiet his bench, responded in a lackadaisical manner that did little to solve the problem; turning the East Grand Forks jeers into disrespectful laughter.

It was really kind of sad. Hardly what the American Legion posts across the country have in mind in sponsoring the summer baseball program.

TRF Legion Record Is A Surprise

Thief River Falls' 13-1 start in the 1980 American Legion baseball season wasn't expected; most of all by first-year head coach Nick Drees.

"I'm surprised," admitted Drees after Tuesday's 9-8 victory over East Grand Forks. "We're doing a lot of things wrong fundamentally, but our talent is getting us by. We've got some raw ability that needs some refining."

There are still 22 games remaining on the 36-game Thief River Falls American Legion baseball schedule. Drees hardly expects to continue to win at the current pace when doubleheaders begin to mount.

"The (Northwest) league games are the important ones, and this was definitely one of the important ones," said Drees Tuesday. "We're very satisfied. Anytime you beat East Grand Forks you've got to be satisfied."

Thief River Falls will be at Newfolden for a 7 p.m. Northwest League game Thursday, then faces three consecutive doubleheaders — at Frazee Saturday afternoon, at Grand Forks Sunday afternoon and at home against Crookston Tuesday night.

Miscellaneous

A scheduled nine-inning American Legion baseball game between Crookston and Grand Forks Monday that began at 6 p.m. was called after just seven innings when it took nearly three hours to complete the contest that featured 29 runs and 24 hits. Grand Forks won it 17-12.

Battle Of Northwest American Legion Baseball League Leaders . . .

Thief River Falls Wins 9-8 Game From East Grand Forks

A match-up of unbeaten Northwest American Legion baseball league leaders produced a spirited confrontation Tuesday and a 9-8 Thief River Falls victory over East Grand Forks on the fairgrounds diamond here.

Barbs were exchanged on both sides throughout the tense two-hour contest that left Thief River Falls 5-0 in Northwest League play and 13-1 overall, while dropping East Grand Forks to 12-6 with the visitors' first league setback.

Thief River Falls made hard work out of what could have been a much easier win after building an 8-3 cushion through five innings following a two-run home run by Jim Nyland over the 340-foot sign in center field in the bottom of the fifth. Thief River Falls banged out 13 base hits, including a combined 7-for-7 performance by Kevin Sanders and Greg Harder. Sanders was 4-for-4 and collected three doubles, while Harder went 3-for-3.

But Thief River Falls became careless and let East Grand Forks off the hook. Jeff Strandell beat out an infield nubber to start the sixth and went to second on the play when Nyland, the catcher, fielded the ball in front of the plate but threw it down the right field line. Strandell scored on a throwing error by shortstop Scott McKeever that put Pat Babinski at second base. He moved to third on a wild pitch and scored when Brian Nelson grounded out to second base for an 8-5 game.

It looked secure, though, when Sanders opened the bottom of the sixth with his third straight double, a shot into the right-center field alley, went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Strandell, the catcher, tried to pick him off third.

That proved to be the winning run as East Grand Forks once again battled back in the seventh. Dave Swanberg walked to start it — the seventh straight time East Grand Forks put its lead-off batter on base — and John Roche followed with a single to right field. Both runners scored when Strandell tripled into the left-center field gap and he trotted home on Babinski's sacrifice fly to left field that cut the gap to just 9-8. A double by Nelson and a full-count walk issued to Jim Nunn kept East Grand Forks' threat going, but winning pitcher Jeff Ulrich, who had struggled with his control all night — walking 10, finished with a game-ending strike-out.

East Grand Forks started it with a 2-0 lead; scoring in the first inning when two errors and a stolen base put lead-off batter Jeff Smith in position to score on an infield ground-out by Roche, and getting another run in the second when Strandell walked, went all the way to third when Thief River Falls tacked an error onto Babinski's sacrifice bunt and scored on a ground-out.

Thief River Falls didn't catch up until the third when Sanders hit an opposite field double down the left field line, then scored when East Grand Forks pitcher Brian Larson threw the ball into center field on a pick-off attempt and centerfielder Dave Swanberg's throw back into the infield went into the dugout area. That made it 3-2. Ulrich then doubled inside the bag at third, advanced on a passed ball and scored when Greg Harder beat out an infield hit. Nobody covered first base on the play as Harder bounced the ball between first and second and won a foot race to the bag. The play cost East Grand Forks the use of shortstop Dan Gasperlin who was ejected while arguing the call.

A single by McKeever and another opposite field double by Sanders — this one a bloop fly ball that bounced away from Roche in left field — scored fourth inning runs to put Thief River Falls ahead for the first time, 5-3.

Harder's third hit of the game, a single to right field, made it 6-3 in the fifth before Nyland knocked Larson out of the game with his home run shot.

Thief River Falls will return to Northwest League play Thursday with a 7 p.m. game at Newfolden. Weekend doubleheaders will find Thief River Falls at Frazee Saturday and at Grand Forks Sunday. Games start at 1 p.m. both days.

WITH PLENTY TO smile about, Thief River Falls' Jim Nyland accepted congratulations from teammates after hitting a two-run home run in the fifth inning of Tuesday's Northwest American Legion baseball league game against East Grand Forks on the fairgrounds diamond here. Considered the best defensive catcher in the area for a couple of years in both high school and American Legion baseball, Nyland has started to contribute offensively, going 2-for-4 in Thief River Falls' 9-8 victory over East Grand Forks.

AN ARGUMENT that cost him one of his players brought East Grand Forks coach Dave Aker face-to-face with umpire Wayne Liden in the third inning of Tuesday's American Legion baseball game against Thief River Falls on the fairgrounds diamond here. Plate ump Paul Williams looked away during the discussion that included the ejection of East Grand Forks' Dan Gasperlin, who argued when Liden ruled Thief River Falls' Greg Harder safe at first base on an infield single. Thief River Falls won the spirited Northwest League contest 9-8.

Harder Pitches TRF To 8-1 Legion Win

Left-hander Greg Harder pitched a two-hitter, striking out 11, to lead Thief River Falls to an 8-1 American Legion baseball victory at Bagley Monday.

Harder lost a shutout bid in the bottom of the seventh when he issued four of his six walks. Both Bagley base hits came in the first inning.

Thief River Falls, after scoring single runs in five of the first six innings, finally broke it open with a three-run seventh that included a single by Jim Nyland, a double by Wayne Huseth, three Bagley errors, a walk and a hit-batsman.

Nyland paced a 10-hit Thief River Falls attack with a perfect 3-for-3 performance at the plate that also included a walk. He scored four times, stole three bases and drove in a run.

Men's Slow Pitch Softball . . .

National League West Features Four-Way Tie

It's a virtual four-way first place tie in the National League West Division following Monday's results in the Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association.

Season-long leader Hardees had its one-game lead taken away following a 16-7 loss to First Federal while First Northwestern Insurance Agency got by IWA 12-11 and Schumacher's Tireland beat Dallmann Athletic 7-2.

That left Schumacher's Tireland and First Northwestern Insurance Agency at 10-3 while Hardees and First Federal check in at 9-3. The loss column will ultimately decide the pennant winner.

Meanwhile, Consumer's Co-op maintained its two-game edge in the National League East Division Monday with a 12-6 victory over the TRF Aggies as Terry Dyrdal and Ray Swick legged out inside-the-park home runs.

Elsewhere it was Great Northwest Agency beating The Club 12-7, Sound Level-Holthusen out-scored Wilson Brothers 16-15, Thorp-KKAQ handled Dallmann Athletic 15-4 and E. T.'s Bees shut out Sparby-Johnson 10-0.

Popplers-Action Realty absorbed a pair of losses Tuesday to drop out of a first place tie in the American League East Division. The St. Hilaire Bears, with Mark Huot going 3-for-3, edged Popplers-Action Realty 4-3 and the TRF Merchants, with Ed Kees hitting two home runs and Don Grabowska getting another, took over sole possession of first place by doubling Popplers-Action Realty 20-10.

It became a way second place tie in the American League East Division when Hobo Haus defeated Coca-Cola 10-4 and Tony Dorn, Inc. dropped a 7-0 game to Furuseth-Nelson to leave Popplers-Action Realty, Hobo Haus and Tony Dorn, Inc. all with 7-4 records.

McDonald's - Dallmann gained a 7-0 forfeit victory over winless Arnold Realty to maintain its first place status in the American League West Division.

Rick Rux beat out an inside-the-park home run to lead the St. Hilaire Bears to their second one-run win of the night, 6-5 over Phase II, while Terry's Mobil drilled Bridgeman 17-4 and Swenson Plumbing handled Home Lumber 15-5.

Team Minnesota To Face Iron Rangers

Iron Range Olympic and collegiate all-stars have announced their lineup for the fund raising hockey game with the U.S.A. Junior Team Minnesota scheduled for Sunday at 6:45 p.m. at the Hibbing Memorial Arena.

The all-stars will be led by 1980 Olympic greats Mark Pavelich, Buzz Schneider, and Bah Harrington. This trio of gold medalist will be joined by other well known Iron Range natives currently playing collegiate hockey.

The all-stars' collegians cast includes Grand Rapids products Scot Kleinendorst, Providence; Kurt Kleinendorst, Providence; Steve Anderson, Providence; Tom Madson, Duluth; Gary DeGrio, Duluth; Billy Rothstein, Notre Dame; Jim Jetland, Minnesota; and Doug Bymark, St. Lawrence.

Also, Greenway's Ray Casey, Princeton; Hibbings' Davey Johnson, Duluth; Bill Grillo, Duluth; and Mike Meadows, Minnesota; Chisholm's Phil Falcone, Harvard; Mark Barron, Duluth; and Rob Wheaton; along with Eveleth's Craig Homola, Vermont; and Bill Kangas, Vermont.

Handling the coaching for the all-stars will be John Bymark of Grand Rapids, Bill Olson of (Hibbing) and Mike Tok of Coleraine.

Proceeds from the game will go to the USA Junior Team Minnesota for their trip to the USA Junior National Olympic trials in Colorado Springs, Colorado July 5-12.

Tickets will be on sale at the door the night of the game.

Goalie Bill Jury of Thief River Falls is among the Team Minnesota hopefuls. Junior Team Minnesota selected players, their hometowns, and their college selection includes:

Goaltenders — John Columbo (Bloomington), Minnesota; Billy Jury (Thief River Falls), undecided; Pat Tierney (Edina), undecided.

Rick Bruggeman

State Archery Title Won By TRF Shooter

Rick Bruggeman of Thief River Falls won a state archery title over the weekend while competing at the Camp Ripley National Guard training facility near Little Falls.

Bruggeman was a winner in the 900 round of the men's amateur freestyle unlimited competition. His scores in the two-day event, plagued by wind, included an 849 out of a possible 900 Saturday and an 835-900 Sunday.

The veteran Thief River Falls archer is the current state record holder in the 900 round with an 871-900 set while winning the state title in 1978. He also holds the state outdoor field and hunter round records.

TRF Shooters Are Winners At Crookston

Thief River Falls was a 1176-1159 winner over Crookston in the first of two annual club trap shoots Wednesday.

Thirty-seven Thief River Falls shooters traveled to Crookston for the 50-bird event that drew 48 Crookston participants.

Thief River Falls' squad featured Jim Heckroth, a member of the Minnesota all-state trap team, who posted a perfect 50-straight.

Rest of the Thief River Falls shooters included Stan Wilson 49, Fran Johnson 49, Dave Christianson 47, Pat Fischer 47, Mert Wilson 46, Mark Mattson 45, Brooks Johnson 45, Pam Johnson 45, Paul Cyr 45, Howard Thorson 44, Al Steinhauer 44, Ike Ellingson 44, Steve Adkins 43, Paul Vogt 43, Don Kaspari 43, Allen Boughton 43;

Also, Bob Mattson 42, Ruebin Rabenhorst 42, Harold Cyr 42, Greg Stauss 42, Harley Lambert 41, Dick Sjoberg 40, Don Nygaard 39, Wayne Martin 39, Roger Hible 39, Jim Bass 38, Tom Steinhauer 37, Rick Kezar 37, Bob Skoglund 35, Randy Horien 32, Jim Sherman 31, Anita Hible 31, Glen Aagaard 30, Mike Waterworth 29, Ken Edgar 28, Butch Truman 27.

The Crookston club will return the trip to Thief River Falls — at the Marshallton Gun Club — later this summer.

THIEF RIVER FALLS base runner Shawn Murray was able to slide across the plate ahead of the tag by Red Lake Falls pitcher Rollin Benoit to score on a wild pitch during the first inning in the second game of a 13-year-old Babe Ruth Prep League baseball doubleheader played on the fairgrounds diamond Monday afternoon. Thief River Falls took both ends of the twinbill, winning the first game 8-4 and taking the second game 6-5. The wins leveled Thief River Falls' record at 3-3.

Thurs., June 26 — Northland Pro vs. Coca-Cola, 9 p.m.
Fri., June 27 — Coca-Cola vs. Action Realty, 7:30 p.m.; Action Realty vs. Melvies, 9 p.m.

Melvies broke into the win column for the first time with a 4-2 decision over Schmidts Tuesday in the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league.

But while Melvies and Schmidts battle to escape the cellar in the five-team league, first place will be at stake Friday when unbeaten Action Realty squares off with once-beaten Coca-Cola in the first half of a split doubleheader that will find Action Realty going against Melvies in the nightcap. And Coca-Cola, to be in position to catch Action Realty, will have to get by Northland Pro in a Thursday night contest.

Action Realty edged Coca-Cola 4-3 in their first meeting of the year back on June 6.

Melvies scored three times in the top of the first inning and then rode the pitching of Tom Neibauer, who retired the final 15 batters he faced, to a 4-2 victory over Schmidts.

Doug Martell started it for Melvies in the first inning by reaching base on an error. Neibauer's sacrifice bunt moved him to second and he scored on a triple by Del Beito. Darwin Nelson's two-out single to right scored Beito, and a two-base error on the play put Nelson on third. He scored when Tim Bottem beat out an infield hit.

Schmidts scored twice in the bottom of the second inning when Bruce Johnson singled and Jim Sethre found Neibauer's 2-1 offering to his liking and drove it out of the park.

But Melvies got an insurance run in the fourth when Terry Sullivan singled, stole second and scored on a two-out single to center by Martell.

Minnesota North Stars' softball team will play 10 games this summer in what has become an annual affair for the National Hockey League team. The North Stars' summer schedule: June 10, Shakopee; June 19, St. Paul; June 25, Pine City; July 1, Elk River; July 10, Farmington; July 20, Bloomington; July 24, Hastings; Aug. 6, Wayzata; Aug. 13, St. Cloud; and Aug. 20, Northfield.

EAST GRAND FORKS catcher Jeff Strandell turned to apply the tag to Thief River Falls base runner Kelly Gutterud, but it was too late as Gutterud completed his slide across the plate to score from second base on a single to center field by Scott McKeever in the fourth inning of Tuesday's American Legion baseball game played in Thief River Falls. The game, a match-up of unbeaten Northwest League leaders, produced a wild 9-8 Thief River Falls win.

Division I Dominates Division II Opponents

Division I continued its domination over Division II Monday in Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league play, winning seven of eight inter-division matches to run the Division I edge to 22 wins in 24 tries against Division II teams over the past week-and-a-half.

In fact, Pizza Hut is the only Division I team to lose to a Division II opponent, dropping a 15-11 decision Monday to the Schmidt Stealers when the winners' Edie Brandli hit a three-run home run.

Two home runs apiece by Sue Schneider and Karen Sparby, and single home runs by Julie Tunheim, Patty Meyers and Karen Berggren were included in a 32-6 Roseau Transport rout of Hydra-Mac.

Marilyn Foss pitched a shutout while Kelly Storhaug and Doreen Larson homered in a 14-0 Ekeren Drug victory over Great Northwest Agency.

Marlys Huot hit two home runs and Lori Tollefson added another to lead the Division I-leading St. Hilaire Saints past The Barbers 26-2.

Triples by Tracy Nelson and Pam Lorenson, along with a home run by Marilyn Burda sparked the Ridge Runners past Dwight's Hartz 15-3, dropping the losers out of sole possession of first place in Division II into a first place tie with the Schmidt Stealers.

Pam Schenkey and Patti Blazek homered as the Mush-a-Rettes beat the Health Hustlers 13-6; Helen Anderson hit a home run to spark the American Legion past Credit Bureau 8-2; and Northern Employers Agency beat Walseth Construction 8-2.

According to organization sponsors, the club will work with all areas of dog ownership and all interested dog owners are encouraged to attend.

Babe Ruth Baseball

TRF Beats RLF 13-Year-Olds

Coach Paul Williams' Thief River Falls 13-year-olds swept a pair of five-inning games from Red Lake Falls Monday in a Babe Ruth Prep League baseball doubleheader played on the fairgrounds diamond here.

Thief River Falls won the opener 8-4 and took the second game 6-5 to bring its record to 3-3 for the year.

Steve Solheim pitched a two-hitter in the opener and he also came through with an RBI triple as part of a four-run first inning for the winners, who doubled their offense with four more runs in the third. Ryan Drees also tripled for Thief River Falls, held to just three base hits.

It was a come-from-behind victory in the second game as Thief River Falls erased a 4-3 deficit in the bottom of the fourth when Dean Brandon led off with a triple and then Red Lake Falls pitching issued five consecutive walks.

Red Lake Falls threatened to come back in the last inning, but Drees, the winning pitcher, got out of a jam with a strike-out and a ground out after Red Lake Falls put runners on second and third with just one out.

Independents

Ryan Bakke pitched a five-inning one-hit shutout Monday afternoon to carry the Thief River Falls Independents past Goodridge 10-0 in a Lake Agassiz Babe Ruth League baseball game for 14-15-year-olds.

Originally scheduled to be a morning contest at Goodridge, the site was switched to the Thief River Falls fairgrounds in the afternoon because of the unplayable condition of the Goodridge diamond.

The Independents, coached by Charlie Cornell, collected six hits, including a 2-for-3 performance at the plate by Dave Stimac who also scored once, drove in a run and stole two bases. Jim Hallamek, while officially 1-for-1 at the plate with an RBI, stole three bases for the winners, who capitalized on 10 Goodridge errors.

Thief River Falls, now 3-2, played errorless ball behind Bakke, who struck out eight and walked three.

DNR Conducts Programs For Weed Control

Control of noxious weeds was accomplished last summer on 9,358 acres of state-owned wildlife management areas in Minnesota, the Department of Natural Resources reported.

The weed control program is carried out annually on wildlife areas in agricultural counties by the DNR's fish and wildlife division in conformance with the state law that requires all landowners to control noxious weeds on their own property.

The mowing and spraying — which cost the division of fish and wildlife $83,000 in 1979 — will prevent the wildlife management areas from contributing to the noxious weed control problem on nearby lands.

DNR Uncovers Disease With Beaver Pelts

Department of Natural Resources reported that tularemia has been found in several beaver specimens sent to the DNR's laboratory in St. Paul from northern Minnesota.

Wildlife managers in Virginia and International Falls asked that the carcasses be studied after observing symptoms of the disease in some animals taken by trappers.

DNR pathologist Phil Economon found the liver and spleen of the suspected animals to be enlarged and covered with white lesions, indicating, together with bacteriological analysis, the presence of the disease.

Economon said wild beaver from the area should be handled with care since the disease can be transmitted to man. He said protective clothing should be worn and any ticks found should be promptly removed from one's body.

He said rubber gloves should be worn when skinning animals or handling fresh hides from a region in which tularemia is suspected.

When through handling the animal, a person should scrub the soap and water and wash hands and arms with a one-percent cresole disinfectant solution.

All cleaning tools and working surface should be disinfected using a five per cent cresol solution or another disinfectant of equal strength.

He said it is unlikely that skins of beaver or other animals that have been dried over a period of three to four weeks will contain organisms capable of causing infection.

Symptoms of tularemia in humans usually include fever, chills, headache, nausea, vomiting and malaise. He said any illness having symptoms of blood poisoning or influenza should be treated with suspicion and a physician consulted.

Records kept in Wisconsin over a 19 year period show a total of 459 cases in humans with a mortality rate of 4.1 per cent. Several cases of the disease have been recorded among government wildlife personnel in the U.S. over the years.

Economon said that while the disease can be transmitted from animal to animal and animal to man by blood sucking flies, ticks, fleas and lice, the most common source is coming into direct contact with internal organs, body fluids, discharges and fur of infected animals.

The tularemia organism usually enters the body through cuts or scratches on the skin, although the organism may even be able to penetrate unbroken skin.

He noted that the bacteria causing the disease has been found to produce fatal infections in rabbit, beaver and muskrat from various parts of Minnesota, particularly the northern counties.

He advised hunters and trappers to refrain from taking an animal which does not act normally when trying to escape.

He urged that care be exercised in handling, dressing and skinning beaver, muskrat and rabbits, avoiding punctures to the fingers by bone fragments or other causes.

Department field personnel have reported finding a significant number of dead beaver and muskrat in streams and ponds in the far northern area of the state, primarily in Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, northeastern Beltrami and northwestern St. Louis counties.

New Leaders Surface In TRF Trap League

Pizza Hut and Northern State Bank are the new leaders in the Thief River Falls trap league, but no less than eight teams are bunched within one point of each other going into the final week of first half season shooting at the Marshallton Gun Club.

Monday's weekly shooting found Pizza Hut beating Thune-Upham Insurance 118-113 while Northern State Bank edged First Northwestern Bank Southside 120-118 to move into a first place tie with 6-1-1 records for 13 points through eight weeks of competition.

Last week's co-leaders both lost Monday as Sjoberg's Cable TV dropped a 117-114 decision to Arctic-Dunrud Trucking to drop out of first place for the first time this season and Pepsi-Cola fell to Arctic Spirit 115-111.

Those results, plus Wilson Brothers' 115-109 victory over Peterson-Biddick; a 116-115 Marshallton Gun Club triumph over Arctic; a 119-116 Triple J. Trap Co. win over Hartz Wholesale left Arctic-Dunrud Trucking, Sjoberg's Cable TV, Marshallton Gun Club, Triple J Trap Co., Pepsi-Cola and Wilson Brothers all deadlocked behind the two leaders with 12 points apiece.

That means next Monday's final first half season shooting will be showdown time since only the top four first half finishers will earn berths in the post-season club shoot. Ties will be broken by using the score the following week. The top four first half teams will be joined by second half season qualifiers in the post-season shoot.

Elsewhere Monday it was Hible's Standard beating Miller Insurance 117-115, KKAQ stopped Northland Realty 118-111, Service Master edged Auto Body Repair 119-118 and The Times earned a two-bye point.

There were nine 25-straights Monday, including Karl Bjorkman, Thune-Upham Insurance; Bill Moreau and Brooks Johnson, Pizza Hut; Howard Thorson, Northern State Bank; Jim Heckroth, Marshallton Gun Club; Pat Fischer, Hartz Wholesale; Steve Adkins, Triple J Trap Co.; Al Boughton, Auto Body Repair; and Lloyd Rudd, Service Master.

Coaches Named For All-Star Football Game

David Main of Gaylord and Ron Raveling of Columbia Heights have been selected as the head coaches of the Out-State and Metro teams for the Minnesota high school all-star football game Saturday, July 26, at Parade Stadium in Minneapolis.

Assisting Main will be Rick Jaeger of Montevideo, Jerry Peterson of Owatonna and Bob Severson of Alden-Conger. Assisting Raveling will be Bruce Harding of Sandstone, Norman Johnson of Minneapolis Roosevelt and Virg Vagle of Paynesville.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Dayton's and Donaldson's, and are also available from high school coaches and the Human Growth Foundation office in Minneapolis. The game is co-sponsored by the foundation and the Minnesota high school football coaches association. Proceeds from the game go to the foundation, a non-profit organization which funds medical research and informational programs to help children" affected by significant growth failure.

Main, 39, has been head coach at Gaylord high school for the past seven years, compiling a 67-8 record. His 1973 team won the Class C championship and his 1975 and 1979 teams won the Class B championship. His teams have won their conference championship five times.

Raveling, 49, has been head coach at Columbia Heights high school for 23 years, compiling a 119-83-3 record. His 1979 team won the Class AA championship. His 1967, 1971, 1976 1977 and 1979 teams won conference championships. He served as game manager for the all-star game from 1974-79.

Jaeger, 33, has been head coach at Montevideo high school for six years, compiling a 42-17 record. He was West Central Conference coach of the year in 1979 and District 11 coach of the year in 1975. He is a former Little All-American Football player at Gustavus Adolphus college.

Peterson, 40, has been head coach at Owatonna high school for 14 years, compiling a 74-52 record. He was Big Nine coach of the year in 1973 and 1975, and District 4 coach of the year in 1973.

Severson, 32, has been head coach at Alden-Conger high school for four years, compiling a 33-5 record. His 1976 team won the Class C championship, and both his 1978 and 1979 teams were conference champions. He was Border Conference coach of the year in 1979.

Harding, 43, has been head coach at Sandstone for 14 years, compiling a 76-49-2 record. He was selected District 25 coach of the year in 1975 and 1978. He was selected Polar League coach of the year in 1979.

Johnson, 48, has been head coach at Roosevelt high school for eight years, compiling a 49-26 record. He was selected Minneapolis Conference coach of the year in 1975, 1978 and 1979. He was selected district coach of the year in 1975.

Vagle, 37, has been head coach at Paynesville high school for 13 years, compiling a 72-48-1 record. His teams have won three conference championships. His 1979 team advanced to the Class A semifinals.

Blackbird Is Most Common Bird In State

Red-winged blackbird is Minnesota's most common bird, according to a new report by the nongame office of the Department of Natural Resources.

Among the other top ten species, in decreasing order of abundance, are the common grackle, house sparrow, starling, western meadowlark, mourning dove, American robin, cliff swallow, common crow and common yellowthroat.

These birds comprised about half of over 150,000 birds which were counted along 4,375 miles of survey routes from 1975 to 1979.

The breeding bird study is sponsored annually in June by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Citizen volunteers survey the routes to determine trends in bird numbers.

Card of Thanks

Thank you to all for the many prayers, flowers, gifts, cards, letters, visits, telephone calls, food, helping with chores and babysitting — to everyone who was so considerate and helped us in any way during Donavon's hospitalization.

Thank you again for the same support when we lost our loved one to the Lord.

A very special thanks to all of God's messengers: Frs. Bernauer, Kleinwachter, Dorn, Wilhelm and Rausch; Pastors Enderlein, Broughton and Christianson for bringing the Word of God to us in time of need. It helped us to trust and understand God's will.

Also, thank you to Green Funeral home; the ladies who served lunch after the funeral; for the memorials, floral gifts; and to the pallbearers and all who helped in any way, for their kind expressions of sympathy and sharing our sorrow.

May God bless you all.

The family of Donavon Verbout

Social Security, SSI Benefits Jump 14.3%

Social security and supplemental security income (SSI) benefits are going up 14.3 per cent. William Phalen, social security district manager at Grand Forks, said the higher payments will be effective with the checks delivered during the first week in July.

This cost-of-living increase is automatic under the law if the consumer price index rises by three per cent or more over specified measuring periods. In the Grand Forks district, which includes eight North Dakota and eight Minnesota counties, nearly 41,000 people get social security checks. With the benefit hike these beneficiaries will receive about $10.2 million a month. Increase will also bring monthly payments of about $277,000 to the more than 2,300 SSI recipients in the 16-county district.

Some people get both social security and SSI checks because their social security benefit is low and they have little or no other income and resources. In some cases the increase in the social security check may cause the SSI check to be reduced.

Phalen said it is not necessary for people getting checks to contact the social security office for the raise. It will be figured automatically in the July checks.

Trail Prepares For Celebration On July Fourth

Trail Community club is again making preparations for its annual Fourth of July celebration with activities to begin at 1 p.m. Friday, July 4, with a kiddie parade.

Anyone wishing to take part in the parade is asked to meet at the pavilion in Trail at 12:30 p.m. Marilyn Halvorson is in charge of the parade and each participant will receive a 50 cent participation prize. Judges will also select the best entries with the first prize winner to receive $10, second prize $7 and third prize $5.

Street games will be played and youngsters will be given an opportunity to hunt for candy and coins in a sawdust pile. Free ice cream will be served to everyone in attendance, a dunking stand will be in operation and horseshoe tournament conducted. A beer garden will also be in operation.

Gonvick Lions club will operate a lunch stand and popcorn stand will also be in operation. At 7 p.m. the Wildwood Whirlers will dance at the pavilion and all square dancers and spectators are welcome. Caller will be Don Littlefield. At 9 p.m. the Vern Malafa band will play for dancing at the pavilion and a fireworks display will be held after dark.

The community club will also sponsor its fiddlers contest on Sunday, July 6, at 6 p.m. All fiddlers will have to be registered by 7:30 p.m. Two categories will be offered, for fiddlers over 60 years of age and younger than 60 years of age. Three trophies will be awarded in each category. John Lee of Ebro will be master of ceremonies.

Fiddlers have already registered from Bagley, Oklee, Fosston, Trail, Crookston, Newfolden and Argyle. Others wishing to enter may contact Albert Aaknes at 268-4542.

Four Films Will Be Shown At Monday Movies

Four movies will be featured at this week's "Monday Movies", a weekly film program for children of all ages held every Monday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at the Northwest regional library headquarters in Thief River Falls.

On June 30 the following movies will be shown:

"Little Train, Little Train" — Two boys discover a long-abandoned narrow gauge railway and the film recreates the romantic history of the line. Now restored, the train is once again in action in Cape Cod. Enjoyed by young children as well as adults.

"Pinballs" — Warm-hearted story of three displaced youngsters who find themselves sharing the same foster home; stars Kristy McNichol.

"The Morning Spider" — During one 24-hour period, mime Julian Chagrin playing the part of a spider, encounters a bee, a gang of flies, a wasp, a troupe of termites and a magnificently feminine red spider.

"Football Follies" — All those wild plays and weird slip-ups that can happen in a hard-driving pro football game, brought together and made more hilarious with slow motion, trick photography and stop action.

More than 80 million compensation, pension and education checks are processed annually by Veterans Administration.

Views On Dental Health®

By Donald R. Goodrich, D.D.S.

FLUORIDE'S FIRST BIG TEST

In 1945, New York's State health department conducted one of the first and most rigorously controlled research projects in medical history. Teams of dentists examined the teeth of thousands of school children in the Hudson River cities of Newburgh and Kingston which both had fluoride-free water. In both towns, they found the same high incidence of tooth decay. Then on May 2, 1945 a small feeder machine was turned on in Newburgh's filtration plant; from that moment on, Newburgh's water contained 1.2 parts of fluoride per million.

Over the next ten years, doctors and dentists repeatedly checked the children medically and dentally.

When the decade ended, they had found only one difference. In Newburgh, children between six and ten — who had been drinking fluoridated water all their lives — had 60% fewer decayed, missing or filled teeth than youngsters from the same age group in Kingston.

Today, fluoridation is accepted and endorsed as a major public health measure in preventing tooth decay by virtually every scientific and health organization in the country.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: DONALD R. GOODRICH, D.D.S., Professional Bldg., Thief River Falls. Phone: 681-4506.

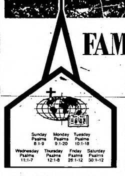
The Lord's Prayer
Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.



FAMILIARITY

We attended the wedding of a friend recently in a neighboring city. When we first entered the church everything seemed strange, the hymnals, the words of the service, until we heard that familiar phrase, "Our Father Which Art in Heaven." Suddenly it was as if a door had been opened to us.

With the others in the congregation, with the beautiful young bride and her new husband, we repeated those words which, over the years, have given hope to men and women in all kinds of churches all over the world; and we realized that despite the surface differences we are, all of us, actually one community.

God's House has many different entrances, but they are all equally available, to be passed through and shared with Him by everyone.

Census Bureau To Begin Review Effort

A major new effort by the bureau of the census and top officials of the nation's local communities is underway to help assure the most accurate and complete count possible in the 1980 census of population and housing.

Census bureau director Vincent P. Barabba announced the start of the innovative local review program at a press conference recently in the bureau's Suitland, Md., headquarters.

Program will enable local officials to check the accuracy and completeness of housing and population counts provided to them by the census bureau. Local governments then will have the opportunity to point out possible problems for review and correction, as needed, before the 409 temporary census district offices close.

Barabba said the program was initiated "in the belief that the review by local officials before census offices close will contribute significantly to the accuracy and success of the census."

In late April and early May detailed instruction booklets and packages of census maps were sent to the highest elected official of each of the nation's 39,500 cities, counties and townships. The officials will use these materials as a basis for summarizing their own population and housing unit estimates so that they can be compared with the census bureau's counts. Most local governments will receive these counts this month.

"The local review program is a massive undertaking which has not been attempted formally in any previous census," Barabba said. "While its success will ultimately depend on the cooperation of local officials, the census bureau is committed to reviewing potential problems uncovered by the local officials' reviews of our counts.

"In order for the bureau to review the areas where there are problems, detailed supportive evidence must be provided to the bureau by the local governments. This documentation will be required before any detailed rechecking can be done. It will not be possible for the bureau to recheck an area solely on a personal feeling that a count is too low or too high."

Among the types of evidence local officials are expected to use to support their estimates are:

—Residential building and demolition permits;

—Residential utility (electricity, telephone, water) connections;

—Aerial photos, field surveys, and land-use maps; and

—Tax assessor records.

Local governments will have an average of four weeks to get ready for the review and two weeks to comment on the bureau's counts. The temporary census offices will remain open up to six weeks in order to complete the checking of these local comments.

During the last census in 1970, some local government complaints about the counts could not be investigated fully because local governments often did not have clear evidence of alleged mistakes, and the concerns were raised after the temporary census offices had already closed.

Local officials are vitally concerned with the accuracy of the census of their communities for several reasons:

—Congressional apportionment is based on the census under the Constitution (Article 1, Section 2). In the last several decades, courts have ruled that election districts for state and local representation must be based on the one-person, one-vote principle. Census statistics provide the basis for redrawing these state and local electorial district boundaries.

—The importance of census results to state and local government budgets has grown in recent years. Over 100 federal government aid programs — including the general revenue sharing program — use (in whole or in part) census statistics as the basis for distribution of approximately $50 billion a year to state and local governments. An accurate census count is essential for a fair distribution of these funds on the basis of population and other factors.

—Census statistics — particularly those for small geographic areas such as neighborhoods, census tracts, and city blocks — play a vital role in state and local government planning activities. Community improvements such as new water and sewer lines, schools, health clinics, child care centers, mass transit systems, senior citizen centers, and police and fire stations often are planned on the basis of census data.

Following completion of the local review process this summer, the temporary district offices will complete their work and begin closing. Official preliminary population and housing results will be released at that time. Following the processing of census questionnaires, official final results are scheduled to be released on a state-by-state basis beginning this fall.

Risk and Reward

"It is the individual entrepreneur, the person with the innovative idea or the small business that we should be concerned about, because the larger growth company isn't and never has been enough for this economy."

Is this a statement from some small business organization? Not at all. It is a comment made by Raymond H. Herzog, recently retired chairman of the 3M company, one of Minnesota's giant corporations. And Herzog means every word he says.

"The world is full of desirable or indispensable products which have contributed to the quality of our lives and which we would not have at all if it weren't for one thing: somebody's willingness to take a risk, to put capital or reputation on the line, almost always with one expectation, the prospect of a reward of some kind, usually profit," Herzog said.

"Practically nothing happens without risk, and risk is almost never taken without a good chance of reward. This may be pretty obvious, but I wonder if we aren't forgetting it . . . I wonder if we aren't forgetting how much we still need risk-takers if this country is going to meet the needs and desires of our younger generations and those still to come."

Herzog points out that for the first 25 years of its existence, 3M was a producer of only coated abrasives — a profitable little sandpaper business. Then came the challenge to take a risk and the company moved into masking tape and cellophane tape and the firm mushroomed from there.

"Would the risk of diversifying into pressure-sensitive adhesive tapes have been taken in today's climate?" he asks. "There is no way for us to be sure, but it is conceivable it wouldn't have. It is conceivable that the 3M of today would never have happened, that all of the innovative products introduced in the meantime would never have been developed, that the jobs and taxes and dividends would never have come to be."

Herzog questions if we haven't reached the point where we are actively discouraging risk, saying to the entrepreneur or the potential entrepreneur that his or her efforts should not or will not be rewarded. He speculates that this country is not as inventive as it used to be, and lays at least part of the blame to regulation, taxes and the difficulty of raising capital.

"We have been burdening entrepreneurs with layer upon layer of government regulation which so greatly increases the cost of pursuing opportunity that many would-be entrepreneurs may well be deciding not to take the risk at all," he said.

"We have been taxing the rewards of risk-taking to the point where, even if profits are well assured, the incentive to produce them is diminished.

"We have been diverting capital from the private sector to the public sector and making it difficult for the entrepreneur to raise the money to begin operations."

Herzog asks if the people of the country really want government to grow larger, or believe that it is more efficient than the private sector, creating new wealth or meeting our serious needs.

"We are discouraging risk-taking in a variety of ways, not the least of which is the apparent attitude that there is something unsavory or immoral about profit," he adds.

"We seem to be becoming a society which demands equal rewards for unequal effort or achievement, a society which does not believe profits can be justified, even though risk will not be taken unless there is a reasonable prospect of economic gain.

"Would you invest your own money in a new business if you didn't think there was at least a chance that you could earn a reasonable return on your investment? Of course not, and neither would anyone else. And yet we seem to be saying that others should do what we are not willing to do ourselves."

Starting a business is a struggle in the best of times, he points out, but it has become increasingly difficult in recent years.

"Fortunately," he says, "it appears we are beginning to recognize that the climate for innovation must be improved. There seems to be a growing consciousness that government regulation, taxation and capital shortages are as heavy, perhaps even intolerable, burden for many small companies, and that something must be done about them.

"The proposals that have been made recognize that progress depends on the willingness of indivuduals to take risks, and that risks will not be taken if potential rewards are inadequate.

"They recognize that one of the best ways to meet society's needs is to encourage the entrepreneurial spirit. There's still plenty of that spirit today.

"Let's recognize that keeping it alive is vitally important, not just to the entrepreneur whose idea may make a lot of money, but to all the others who will share in that success through the creation of jobs, incomes, taxes and dividends.

"There is very little risk in that attitude. And the rewards can be substantial."

Detroit's Problems

Following editorial is from the Morris Tribune:

This year, for the first time in history, Japan will outpace the United States in automobile and truck production by two million units. Foreign competitors have acquired a 27 per cent share of the U.S. market, and General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler are all likely to lose money this year.

Detroit's worries are so serious that Ford executives are calling for protectionist measures designed to prevent foreign car manufacturers from making deeper inroads into the American market. Meanwhile, Chrysler Corporation continues to exist only by virtue of a huge federal loan guarantee.

The problems vexing the American automobile industry will not be solved by government intervention. Imposing expensive duties on imported vehicles will only reduce Detroit's incentive to produce better and more economical cars and trucks, in effect subsidizing inefficiency.

Likewise, federal loan guarantees tend to reinforce the notion that the government will bail out companies in the event that they fail to compete effectively in the international marketplace. The Chrysler loan guarantee establishes a frightening precedent and leaves us wondering what large corporation will be the next to request federal assistance.

Rather than offering a solution, the government is in fact a large part of the problem. In addition to requiring emission control equipment, the government places a number of costly burdens on the automobile industry, including extraordinarily detailed, often arbitrary safety regulations.

The notorious Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) imposes nitpicking, ridiculous rules that foreign competitors do not have to deal with. In-plant federal surveillance of emission-control systems adds many dollars to the cost of American vehicles. Worse yet, American car makers will soon be required to install the dubious "safety device" known as the air bag, despite the fact that car buyers have shown little or no interest in the device, and will probably be reluctant to pay the extra costs associated with it.

General Motors spokesmen point out that the bags will actually cost about $1,000 each, despite claims by Ralph Nader that they can be made for around $200. Research casts doubt on the safety value of the air bag, and some tests have shown that small children who would otherwise be unhurt may be injured by the inflating bag.

If a safety device that accomplishes the air bag's purpose is perfected, there is no doubt that car buyers will demand to buy cars containing the device. But domestic and foreign car manufacturers, who spend a fortune every year on market research, have every reason to believe that their customers do not want to pay the extra cost of the air bag in its present form.

Loan guarantees and protectionist measures will not make Detroit's product more attractive and competitive. They are more likely to have the opposite effect. If the federal government wants to help the ailing auto industry, it should reduce regulatory burdens and allow Americans to make their own decisions about what kinds of vehicles they want to buy. Responsiveness to consumer demand will result in a product better than any bureaucrat can design.

Borrowed Nonsense:

An Oxford medical student dug up an ancient university regulation that said he was entitled to a pint of ale as refreshment while cramming for final exams. So persistent was he in demanding that he be given his due, that the authorities gave in and provided him with his pint. They also searched the regulations, and fined him five pounds sterling for not wearing a sword.

Home from his first day at nursery school, the four-year-old was telling what he had learned. "They taught the boys who hit not to hit," he said, "and the boys who don't hit to hit back."

Say, how well do you listen? Take this quiz and complete your personal listening profile.

1. When a speaker has an unusual delivery or distracting mannerisms, do you: (a) fake attention (b) comment on them (c) ignore them?

3. Do you make: (a) elaborate outlines (b) no outlines (c) different kinds of outlines?

2. Do you listen primarily for: (a) facts (b) opinions (c) themes?

PERSONAL ANTAGONISM

4. Does a speaker using emotion-laden words: (a) arouse your personal antagonism (b) cause you to comment (c) have little effect on you?

ANSWERS: The best answer for good listening in all cases is (c).

Experts at Sperry Corporation have developed training programs to teach its employees how to listen better. They say that practice — and following a few simple rules — can make us all better listeners at home and on the job. For one, judge the content of the speech, not the delivery. For another, listen for central themes and ideas, not facts. Take few notes and use different systems for different speakers. Interpret emotion-charged words but don't get hung up on them. For further information on how you can improve your listening, write Sperry, Dept. NAP, 1290 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10104 and ask for your "Personal Listening Profile."

Looking Backward

1900—80 YEARS AGO

Young prairie chickens are very numerous in this area, giving promise of good hunting in the fall. —John Dinsmore is plowing 200 acres, using a J.I. Case steam tractor. — An excursion train Sunday will carry a crowd to Red Lake Falls to attend the RLF-TRF baseball game. — Among county delegates named to attend the state Democratic convention were James Meehan, N.W. Tarrant and C.C. Jackson. — TRF Lumber company steamer, Alice, is now making regular trips from Highlanding to points on Red Lake.

1920—60 YEARS AGO

Asbjorn Senstad was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning while sitting at a table in his home on Bridge street. — The need for a nurses' home at Oakland Park sanatorium was being discussed. — Daniel Shaw left for Chicago to serve as a delegate to the Republican national convention.

1930—50 YEARS AGO

Harry E. Ives, first clerk of court here and first head of the TRF Elks lodge, died in Crookston. — Members of the Brage chorus left for Minneapolis to take part in a national saengerfest. — W.E. Dahlquist succeeded John P. Mattson of Warren as president of the RRV group of the Minnesota editorial association. — County agent R.M. Douglass is spending two weeks at a National Guard training camp at Sparta, Wis.

1940—40 YEARS AGO

Rev. E.A. Cooke, pastor of the Community church here, was granted a year's leave of absence during which time Rev. S.S. Olafsson of Coleraine will serve as pastor. — The mercury dropped June 19 to the 32 degree mark, causing heavy losses to market gardens. — Paul A. Lundgren was the speaker at a well-attended Flag Day exercise sponsored by the Elks lodge in cooperation with the Legion and VFW posts.

Safety is YOUR Business

All-Star "Double Plays"

Cincinnati's Joe Morgan and former New York Yankees star Mickey Mantle share the record for hitting safely in seven consecutive All-Star games.

The only player to win the All-Star game Most Valuable Player award twice is Los Angeles Dodgers' star Steve Garvey. He won it in 1974 and in 1978.

Due to player enthusiasm for the game, two All-Star games were played annually from 1959 thru 1962. The second 1961 game ended in a 1-1 tie due to rain. The National League won five of the seven games played to a finish.

Sparkling defensive play won the 1979 All-Star game Most Valuable Player award for Pittsburgh's Dave Parker. According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, manufacturer of official American and National League baseballs, Parker won the honor for two outstanding throws from the outfield, helping the National League to a 7-6 win.

Diane Ayers and Jeri and Rog Dyrdal left Wednesday noon to attend 4-H camp at Lake Sara. They returned home early Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Langaas, together with Mrs. Ella Johnson of Thief River Falls stopped to get Mrs. Mable Anderson of rural Warren Saturday and drove on to Alvarado to help observe that town's 75th anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong also took in the parade there, then went on to visit with Merle Magsam of Euclid at the hospital in Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Solem, Rog and Cindi were Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of Cecelia Koropatnicki in Smiley, and then took Fathers' Day greetings to Alfred Solem at his home in Steiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Olson and Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Olson, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moen, Keith and Cory enjoyed dinner in Grand Forks Sunday while touring storm-damaged areas.

Mrs. Burt Lane visited with Mrs. Calvin Vraa, Marsha, Stephanie and Craig of Grand Forks Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Ludvig Peterson in Thief River Falls. They had been overnight guests at the Peterson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley of Crookston were Saturday afternoon and evening guests at the Pete Bradley home.

Peter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nygard, and Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Asp, were two of the four youth from the Thief River Falls area who left a week ago Monday to spend the week at Camp Lake Caronia at Paynesville. The youth were sponsored by the WCTU of Thief River Falls. A guest speaker at the Youth Temperance Camp was Al Palmquist, founder of Midwest Challenge of Minneapolis who has also written the book, "Minnesota Connection". The children returned home Sunday.

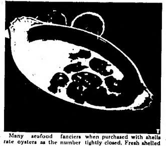
Oysters The Year Round



Many seafood fanciers rate oysters as the number one ocean treasure. And well they should! Oysters offer delicious, delicate flavor. They are an excellent source of high quality protein, minerals and vitamins. They are also easily digestible whether eaten raw, steamed, fried, baked, frittered or in stew.

Yet, strangely, this centuries-old favorite is surrounded by misconception. The most common fiction is the so-called "R" rule. This rule says that oysters should not be eaten in the months which do not contain the letter "r," but it has no basis in fact.

As a matter of fact, oysters are available year round. Using the time-tested harvesting methods of their forefathers, Virginia watermen tong for oysters season after season to produce the largest supply of fresh shucked oysters in the nation.

Oysters are, however, highly perishable. But because of modern processing, transportation and storage practices, you can enjoy oysters whatever the time of the year.

Oysters are sold live in the shell, fresh shelled, frozen and canned. When sold in the shell, they must be alive when purchased with shells tightly closed. Fresh shelled oysters should be refrigerated or surrounded by ice. If properly handled, they will remain fresh for a week to 10 days. Frozen oysters should not be thawed until ready to use and they should never be refrozen. Also, be sure to use the liquid content along with the oyster meat for maximum flavor.

For a unique seafood experience sure to brighten breakfast, lunch or dinner, try this outstanding recipe from the collection of Virginia Chef Johnny Lockhart of Lockhart's Gourmet Seafood in Norfolk.

SUNNY SIDE UP OYSTERS

8 large oysters
1 large egg
2 oz. cream
1 pat butter
1/8 teaspoon ginger

Melt butter in a small casserole dish. Add cream. Lay oysters side by side at one end of dish. Open egg and place sunny side up on other end. Sprinkle on ginger. Bake at 350° F. for about 5 minutes or until egg firms up. Garnish with parsley, or watercress and lemon wedge or sliced lemon and lime. Serves one.

A BLANKET PLUS!

Large size polyester blanket lined with assorted colors of plain or baby print flannel plus a deep pocket to keep little feet warm.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS
TIPS TO HELP YOU

Many homemakers avoid scrubbing pots very often by cooking in large quantities and storing meal-sized portions of food in the freezer in special pouches for those with better things to do than wash dishes.

You can combine home-cooked flavor and economy with boil-in-the-bag convenience. Cook only when you are in the mood, freeze portions separately or as the complete dish—then serve fresh-cooked meals in minutes. You can preserve garden produce when it's plentiful, refrigerate or freeze leftovers, and prepare party foods ahead of time when you store them in these special cooking pouches.

Fresh-tasting fruits and vegetables, accompanied by package-crisp crackers and oven-fresh breads, can adorn your table when you have a top-of-the-line Dazey Seal-A-Meal system. Included is a handy Recipe and Instruction Book, an E-Z Cutter to cut roll material to the exact size you need, pouch storage and instant on-and-off with no warm-up. You can even seal papers and other valuables in Dazey's special cooking pouches to protect them from deterioration that comes from contact with air.

NEWS IN PICTURES

What A 25 Years It Has Been

On April 1, 1955 at 7:40 a.m. a Convair 340 took off from Hamburg Airport on the first scheduled flight of the new Lufthansa German Airlines to Munich via Düsseldorf and Frankfurt.

Graduates of Lufthansa's first flight attendant course line up in front of an early Convair CV-340.

At the same moment, another Convair lifted off from Munich in the opposite direction. This was the inauguration just 25 years ago of an airline that today is fifth among the world's airlines in passenger transport and second in cargo.

First-class Senator Service was introduced in 1958. Here a cook-steward looks after the well-being of passengers.

The first Luft Hansa began flying operations in 1926 and was a pioneer in commercial aviation for many years. In its first year, two Junkers G 24s made the hazardous flight from Berlin to Peking, demonstrating the feasibility of trans-Eurasian flights, and in 1929 it became the world's first airline to operate a transatlantic mail service by catapulting aircraft from steamships as they crossed the ocean. The early airline offered the world's first night service and the first cabin steward serving food and drink on board a Junkers G 31 in 1928.

On June 8, 1955, the new Lufthansa launched intercontinental flight service to New York from Düsseldorf and it grew rapidly in its first years flying to both North and South America. The Near East was soon added to the route network, and by 1959, Asian service had reached Bangkok.

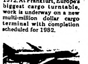
With the arrival in Hamburg in 1960 of the first Boeing 707, the jet age began for Lufthansa.

A real milestone in the airline's history was the arrival in Hamburg on March 2, 1960 of the first Boeing 707, a plane that ushered in the jet age. The first jets operated on the North Atlantic and then stretched the airline's Far East routes to Hong Kong and Tokyo.

African services were added in 1962 and the Boeing 727 tri-jets were introduced on medium-distance flights in 1964. By the end of 1965, Lufthansa had added Australia to its destinations and was flying to all continents.

Lufthansa was the world's first airline to operate the short-range Boeing 737s, and was the first European carrier to fly the wide-bodied Boeing 747. On the cargo side, it pioneered the world's first nose-loading Boeing 747 freighter in 1972. At Frankfurt, Europe's biggest cargo turntable, work is underway on a new multi-million dollar cargo terminal with completion scheduled for 1982.

This air-cushioned, movable Airbus Dock was commissioned in Hamburg in 1978.



Just about the ultimate in modern, spacious air travel accommodations today are available aboard this Boeing 747.

In Spring 1980 Lufthansa began service to its ninth and tenth U.S. gateways and opened scheduled routes to Peking and Kuala Lumpur. Today its air network extends to 121 cities in 72 countries.

APPROVED AAA AUTO REPAIR SERVICES

You Bet It's A Big Deal

Here's Why . . .

AAA members and the public at large are seeking assistance in locating honest, competent automobile repair facilities. Problems with auto repairs and maintenance are still the source of the largest number of consumer complaints and dissatisfaction. It has become evident that automobiles are getting more complex . . . more difficult to service properly. The auto repair problem has been compounded further by a shortage of qualified mechanics.

THOMAS MOTORS auto repair and maintenance facility is among a small number in Minnesota which has gained AAA approval and which is privileged to display the AAA Approved Auto Repair Services sign.

AAA has established exacting requirements for service facilities seeking AAA approval. We are part of an organization which conforms to high standards and strict criteria in each of the following areas.

- Broad scope of service and repairs
- Customer service and accommodation
- Facility appearance
- Employee qualifications and training
- Community reputation
- Full compliance with AARS contract provisions

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPIST Renae Brown checks a sanding project being worked on by Tim Theroux of Red Lake Falls in the occupational therapy department of Northwestern hospital. Theroux, 19, was discharged from the hospital last week after nearly 22 months of hospitalization following an automobile accident. Tim credits Renae with playing a major role in his recovery.

Meet To Help Farmers To Cope With Drought

County Extension Director Terry Courneya announces a special meeting to assist livestock and crop producers in dealing with the drought situation to be held Wednesday at 9 a.m. in the meeting room at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls.

The meeting, being offered by the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service, will place special emphasis on alternatives which dairy, beef and sheep producers can consider to meet their forage needs for the rest of this pasture season and the normal winter feeding period.

Discussion by a team of crop and livestock specialists will include information on the amount, feeding value and optimum harvest time for drought stressed small grains harvested for hay or silage. The degree to which grain can be substituted for hay or silage in livestock feeds will be reviewed. "This is an important consideration," Courneya stated, "when hay prices approach or exceed feed grain prices on a per pound basis."

Other areas to be discussed will include the affect of herbicides on small grain harvested for forage, carryover effect on pre-emergence herbicides on small grain harvested for forage, carryover effect on pre-emergence herbicides on a replanted emergency crop, feasibility of buckwheat or millet as an emergency cash crop, and methods of harvesting and storing small grains for forage when the straw is short.

Phil Bergland, director of the Pennington ASCS office, will be present at the meeting to answer questions by farmers regarding government programs available and their affect on existing program contracts and crop histories.

After 22 Months In The Hospital . . .

Theroux Goes Home To Finish Recovery

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Tim Theroux, age 19, went home from the hospital last week. The discharge marked the end of a 22-month period of convalescence and rehabilitation which brought him from a long period of comatose state to being able to care for himself personally and work part-time.

It was on August 24 of 1978 that Tim was injured in an auto accident while driving a car near his home. He received a head injury and was transferred to a Grand Forks hospital. In November of that year he came to Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. He had a tracheotomy; a tube for feeding and although he could open his eyes he was unable to move them to follow people in the hospital room.

His rehabilitation potential seemed poor at first, according to hospital personnel, but within a week he started to follow people with his eyes. Staff made attempts to encourage mental stimulation with posters in the room, talking to him and playing the radio. Staff also worked to exercise him to prevent contractures from disuse of muscles. Objects were placed in his right hand which seemed to respond to touch and he started drinking liquids.

It took a month after admission here before he made his first response, answering "good" when asked how he was feeling today. Encouraged by the response, staff pushed for further response, aided by Tim's mother, Mrs. Ernest (Mae) Leroux, who came to visit him nearly every day. He began an occupational therapy program to develop upper body strength.

In April of 1979, six months after coming to Thief River Falls, he went back to United hospital in Grand Forks for further treatment. By that time he was able to speak in short sentences, feed himself and walk with minimal assistance.

At Grand Forks a shunt was installed to remove fluid from the brain area. He was readmitted to the convalescent and nursing care unit of Northwestern hospital in June of 1979. He was walking without assistance but was admitted to the acute unit of the hospital several times with an ulcer, fever and other complications. He continued occupational therapy to develop daily living activities.

As Tim slowly recovered, he pushed the staff for more work activities. Through the state department of vocational rehabilitation he began working at the occupational development center for half days in January of 1980.

In March a decision was made by his doctor to transfer him to St. Luke's hospital in Fargo for evaluation and further treatment. The shunt

PLAYING POOL is both fun and therapy for Tim Theroux who has been recovering for the past 22 months from the effects of an automobile accident. A long-time resident of the convalescent and nursing care unit of Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls, he was discharged last week.

Dixie Erickson In Queen Event

(This is the third in a series of articles on candidates for the Miss Thief River Falls title at the Jaycee Aquacade pageant. The official Miss America preliminary event will be held Saturday, July 26, at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.)

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Dixie Erickson might be described as a girl with her head in the clouds but her roots in the soil. She has made application for flight attendant school in Dallas, Tex., but thoroughly enjoys growing plants and flowers, especially roses.

Nineteen-year-old Dixie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Erickson of Roseau and a 1979 graduate of Roseau high school. For the past eight months she has been employed at Digi-Key in Thief River Falls. Dixie is five feet nine and one-half inches tall, weighs 132 pounds, has light brown hair and hazel eyes. Her pageant talent number will be an original dramatic presentation, "What's Right About America".

During her high school years Dixie was active in the distributive education club and won several honors at district and state level, including a second place award at the state for fashion merchandising. She was class president as a sophomore and senior and served as a member of the student council from her sophomore through senior year.

Concern for others earned her recognition from the Roseau Lions club which held a testimonial dinner in her behalf. Organizer of a skate-a-thon for a class member who had had brain surgeries, she succeeded in raising more

DIXIE ERICKSON has a love for flowers of all kinds but a weakness for roses. She raised roses of her own on a farm near Roseau and keeps house plants and a mini-garden in Thief River Falls where she has been employed for the past eight months.

Accept Parade Entries For 36th Aquacade

Thief River Falls Jaycees have announced that the 36th Jaycee Aquacade summer celebration will begin on Saturday, July 26 with the Aquacade parade being the first scheduled event of the nine-day celebration. The parade, which will include local and area floats, bands, queens and the appearance of Miss Minnesota, will begin at 1 p.m.

Thief River Falls Jaycees invite all local and area organizations and individuals to participate in this year's Aquacade parade. Again this year, trophies will be awarded to the best parade units in various categories.

Anyone wishing to participate in the Aquacade parade or needing further information should write to the Thief River Falls Jaycees, Box 53 or phone parade chairmen Tim Barrus at 681-4324 or 681-6051 or Lee Furuseth at 681-1996. Interested participants are encouraged to contact the TRF Jaycees immediately as parade planning is being finalized.

Blood Donor Drive Here

"Summer fun and blood shortages are related," according to Tony Anthonisen, executive director of United Blood services. "The need for blood from volunteer donors remains fairly constant during the year."

Thief River Falls' next community blood drives will be held Wednesday, July 23 from 2 to 7 p.m., and Thursday, July 24 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the CNC chapel at Northwestern hospital.

To avoid waiting, anyone who is interested in donating should contact Clarice Collins, blood drive coordinator, for an appointment at 681-3290.

Jaycee Women Sponsor Baby Photo Contest

Thief River Falls Jaycee Women are sponsoring a baby photo contest with photos of children up to five years old eligible. All photos must be postmarked by July 11 and should be sent to P.O. Box 112, Thief River Falls. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you want the photo returned.

Photos will be displayed at the Northern state bank from July 14-18 and at First Northwestern state bank from July 21-25. Winners will be notified by phone on July 26 and prizes will be awarded.

For more information call 681-6631 or 681-6973 evenings. Rules will be posted at Bostwicks, Penneys, Piggly Wiggly, Hartz, Northland Foods, Northern state bank, First Northwestern state bank, Pamida and Al & Wally's.

Kremer Opens His Campaign Office Here

Jim Kremer volunteer committee will open its Thief River Falls campaign headquarters July 1 at 312 East Third street.

The headquarters will initially be open several hours each day, staffed by volunteer workers, and anyone wanting information about the Kremer campaign is invited to stop in.

A DFLer and resident of Thief River Falls running for the state House in District 1-B, Kremer says, "I am running an issue oriented campaign with grass roots input and I would like to hear from anyone in the district who has concerns about the problems faced by our district. I think our headquarters is a place to come where they know they will be listened to."

Kremer urged people to call him at home at 681-2946 or stop in at the headquarters.

USDA Advises Not To Plow Down Crop

Farmers in the designated disaster counties of northwest Minnesota could face a twofold loss by being too anxious to plow up their drought damaged crops, the U.S. department of agriculture's state emergency board warned Tuesday. USDA says that such plowing could result in loss of topsoil and loss of the farmer's eligibility for crop insurance or disaster payments.

Officials of the department's soil conservation service (SCS) are concerned that the many farmers who are starting to plow the dry soil are inviting severe wind erosion problems.

"Some farmers may feel that the crop is so bad anyway that they don't want it to draw any more moisture and fertilizer out of the soil, so are plowing or discing it under," says Jim Ayen, SCS district conservationist at Crookston. "Burying the crop completely by deep plowing is just inviting more trouble. It will deplete what little moisture there is even further and will open up the dry soil to wind erosion."

Farmers can reduce the erosion risk and destroy the crop just as effectively, Ayen says, by working the field once with a chisel plow or field cultivator, or mowing the grain high.

Destroying the crop too soon could make the monetary effects of the drought even worse by making the farmer

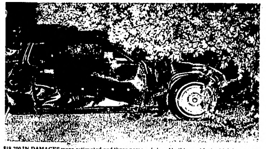
PREPARING PORK for the noon feed during Viking's 75th anniversary celebration Saturday was the duty of four committee members. Robert Fincher (center) donated three pigs for the feed and the roasting of the 150-pound animals began about 10 p.m. Friday. Joining Fincher in the preparation were Tom Yutrzenka, Gervase Gonshorowski and Tom Gerszewski. "These Norwegians got three Polacks and a Frenchman to slave for them so they could have an anniversary dinner," Fincher commented. While the men prepared the pork in the fire hall at left in the bottom photo, the anniversary crowd lined up to await the serving being arranged for them.



$18,200 IN DAMAGES were estimated and three persons injured in this accident which happened about 1:39 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of Tindolph avenue and First street in Thief River Falls. A Lincoln Continental driven by Gregory Horachek, Goodridge, reportedly went through a stop sign while traveling north on Tindolph avenue and struck a car driven west on First street by Duane John Olson, Thief River Falls. The Olson car was towing a homemade trailer loaded with band instruments. After separating the car and trailer, the Horachek car veered left on Tindolph, shearing an eight-inch maple tree and coming to rest in the yard of Einar Barstad at 103 North Tindolph. The Olson car also caromed into the Barstad yard south of the house. Damage was estimated at $6,500 to the Horachek car, $2,000 to the Olson car, $200 to the trailer, $7,500 to the band instruments and $2,000 to the tree, shrubbery and lawn at the Barstad home. Injured were Horachek, 19, with contusions and lacerations; Michelle Stoltman, 21, of rural Thief River Falls, passenger in the Horachek car, with cuts and bruises; and Duane Olson who sustained minor injuries. All were treated and released at Northwestern hospital.

Pennington Co. Raises $3,018 For Heart Fund

Pennington county volunteers for the American heart association, Minnesota affiliate, Inc., raised $3,018 for the 1980 state heart fund campaign, it was announced by Darlene Shetler, 1980 Pennington county heart fund chairman.

"This amount surpasses the county goal of $2,858 and enables the Minnesota affiliate to increase funds for heart research projects, community programs and professional and public heart education programs for the 1980-81 fiscal year," Shetler said.

She noted that to surpass the goal, Pennington county volunteers donated their time, energy and enthusiasm to collect money and to distribute lifesaving information about heart attack and stroke.

Shetler added that in recent years, deaths due to heart disease have declined in Minnesota. However, heart disease is still the nation's number one health problem, affecting more than 40 million Americans, she said.

The American heart association, Minnesota affiliate, Inc., is a statewide health agency and is part of the American heart association which is represented by 55 affiliates in all states and territories of the U.S. It is the only statewide health agency dedicated to the reduction of premature death and disability caused by heart and blood vessel diseases.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Diane Poole-Carl Myers Vows Spoken At Redeemer

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Raymond Myers are at home in Tulsa, Oka., following an exchange of marriage vows at Redeemer Lutheran church, Thief River Falls, and a wedding trip to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

The bride, the former Diane Joy Poole, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Poole of rural Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kaese of Tulsa, Okla.

Officiating at the ecumenical ceremony were Rev. Keith Prekker, pastor of the congregation, and Rev. James Bernauer, St. Bernard's Catholic priest. Organist was Mrs. William Halbasch, a friend of the family. She played "Colour My World," for the bridesmaids' processional, and the traditional "Wedding March" as the bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. During the ceremony, the bride's brother, David Poole, sang "Wedding Prayer," and "God, A Woman and A Man." The assembled guests joined in singing "O Perfect Love."

Floral arrangements and a unity candle graced the altar for the two o'clock wedding.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin styled with a molded bodice, a gracefully draped skirt and sheer bell sleeves over full length fitted sleeves. Alencon lace motifs and matching trim complemented the sleeves, outlined the sheer yoke, traced the seaming on the high-rise waistline and edged her attached hooded headpiece. She carried a white Bible topped by yellow roses and rose buds, accented with white daisies and needlepoint ivy.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Vickie Poole of rural Crookston. She wore a sleeveless floor-length gown of peach chiffon styled with a triple tiered ruffle around the V-neckline and at the bottom of the skirt. She carried an arm bouquet featuring three long-stemmed roses. Her pearl necklace and matching bracelet were a gift from the bride.

David Poole, a brother of the bride, was best man. Like the groom, he wore a dark brown suit, white shirt, and a yellow rose boutonniere. Serving as ushers were the bride's cousins: Dale Hamnes, Gonvick, and Michael Poole, Lake Bronson.

The mother of the bride was attired in a peach floor-length gown with scalloped sleeves and covered buttons. Her corsage was of yellow roses and white daisies. The groom's mother was unable to attend.

Special guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Tangen of Gonvick, and the bride's personal attendant, Kristi Poole, a cousin.

Approximately 100 relatives and friends attended the reception hosted in the church fellowship hall by the bride's parents. Reception host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. David Simning, cousins of the bride. Mrs. Chris Roller, a friend of the bride was at the guest book, as Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pietschett, cousins of the bride ladled the punch.

The pillared, three-tiered wedding cake, with wedding bells and doves between the pillars, was decorated with yellow roses and peach drop flowers. Topping the cake was a ceramic loving couple under gazebo. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Vergil Poole and Mrs. Vernon Hamnes. All are aunts of the bride.

Denise Anderson and Michelle Poole, cousins of the bride, served as waitresses. The gifts were arranged by Loralee Poole, cousin of the bride, and Stephanie Dagen, a friend. Sharon Poole, a cousin of the bride, pinned the flowers.

For traveling on the wedding trip, the bride wore a three piece, cream-colored slack suit with black suede high-heeled sandals.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls Area Vocational Technical Institute. Prior to her marriage, she was employed at the Best Western. The groom is a graduate of the Charles M. Milby high school and is employed by Floyd H. Hardesty company. Photo, Associates Advertising, Thief River Falls

ALCW Retreat Set At Baudette For July 10-11

American Lutheran Church Women's retreat at the Lake of the Woods Bible camp at Baudette is scheduled for July 10 and 11. Sessions will being at 9:00 a.m., July 10 with registration. The cost for the two-day retreat, which is open to women of all churches, is $14.00.

The theme of the retreat will be "This We Believe." Rev. Jerry Hanson, Badger, will lead Bible study based on the theme. Thursday evening Rev. Donald Fredine of Middle River will speak and show slides. Friday's sessions will being with Holy Communion services at 7:30 a.m.

In addition to Bible study, the retreat will offer opportunities for singing, fellowship, swimming, hiking, relaxations, skits, campfire and browsing at a book display. An offering will be taken with proceeds to be given to Oak Grove high school and Lake of the Woods Bible camp.

Serving on the retreat committee are Mrs. John Johnson, Warren; Mrs. Dale Stamness, Lake Bronson; Mrs. Ardell Magnusson, Roseau; and Mrs. Sheldon Peterson, Grygla.

Ordonez And Anderson To Marry In California

Miss Edith D. Ordonez and Donovan J. Anderson announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Ordonez of Fontana, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Molskness of Thief River Falls.

Miss Ordonez is a 1980 graduate of Loma Linda university with a degree in occupational therapy.

Anderson is a senior in medical school at Loma Linda university.

An August 24th wedding in California is planned.

Former TRF Residents Return Here For Visit

Guests at the Lloyd VeVea home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clause H. Wiebe and Mrs. Doris Minard of Salem, Ore., and Maynard Mehrkens of rural Thief River Falls.

The Wiebes are former residents of Thief River Falls. He was head packer and grader at Land O'Lakes and worked there for many years with VeVea. While in the area visiting relatives and friends, they were guests of Wiebe's sisters, Mrs. Maynard (Emma) Mehrkens and Mrs. Eldred (Tillie) Johnston, both of Thief River Falls, and with Mrs. Wiebe's relatives at Williams. Mrs. Wiebe is the former Dorothy Adrens of Williams.

AlbertKassas, Goodridge, Note 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kassa were honored on their 40th wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 22, at an open house at their home in Goodridge.

Hosting the event were their children and their spouses: Ruthanne and Dennis Neeser of Willmar; Bruce and Arlene Kassa of Clinton Corners, N.Y.; and Tim and Paulette Kassa of Thief River Falls.

The event began with a Mass of Special Intention for the honored couple at St. Anne's Catholic church in Goodridge. Rev. John Kleinwachter officiated at the Mass which included the couple renewing their wedding vows.

At the open house that followed Mrs. Sidney Wilson cut the cake and the couple's granddaughters, Beth and Jennifer Kassa, poured the punch. Another granddaughter, Joan Neeser, wore the original wedding dress and jewelry worn by Mrs. Kassa 40 years ago. The anniversary cake, a three-tiered creation baked and decorated by Mrs. Phil Bergland, was decorated with 40 red roses and blue sweet peas.

For the occasion, the couple wore a corsage and boutonniere of red roses and babies' breath, presented to them by their children.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the celebration. They were from Clinton Corners, N.Y.; Willmar, Lake Park, Cedar, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes, Minneapolis, St. James, Ada, Perham, Mankato, Crookston, and the Goodridge and Thief River Falls area.

Mrs. Richard Kjensrud
Holt

Koloches

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup oatmeal
½ cup sugar
1⅓ cup Bisquick mix
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
6 tablespoons jelly, any flavor
Powdered sugar frosting

Method: Combine dry ingredients and mix with the butter. Add beaten egg, milk and vanilla and mix only until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn unto floured board and knead slightly. Roll to half-inch thick and cut with cookie cutter. Place on greased pan, make indentation in center with thumb and fill the jelly. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 400 degree oven. When cool, frost with powdered sugar icing. Makes about 16-17, depending upon size of cutter.

The Kjensruds live on a farm near Holt where they raise sheep and are engaged in small grain farming. They have three children: Karen, a graduate of Marshall County Central high school, Newfolden, who will be attending Northland Community college in the fall; Tim, who will be a senior at MCC; and Eric, who will be a sophomore. Mrs. Kjensrud is head cook at the Newfolden school, 4-H club leader at Holt, and serves on the council of the Nazareth Lutheran church, where the family attends services. Kjensrud is employed by the Minnesota Highway department, in maintenance.

FLORIDA
FOOD SPECIALTIES TAMPA

AT HOME in their second home are Glen and Emilie Morrison (left) who displayed their Florida Specialties concession stand on Main Street in Middle River during the two-day 75th Jubilee celebration in Middle River—Emilie's hometown. The two have been touring the country for four years with their concession stand — meeting new people and preparing their Florida specialties. Pictured with them in the stand is Carmen Anderson, Fargo, who began working with the Morrison's three years ago.

Taste Of Florida Brought To Middle River Jubilee

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

Glen and Emilie Morrison have been traveling with their Florida Specialties concession stand throughout the United States for the past four years.

And even the cloudy rainy weather which was much needed in the area, but which seemed a bit of a nuisance during the Saturday afternoon parade and other outdoor activities scheduled for Middle River's 75th Jubilee, didn't prevent them from setting up their stand on Main Street throughout the two-day event.

The weather in Middle River Saturday afternoon was described by Glen as a typical winter day in Florida, only "not quite so cold," he added.

The concession stand is usually complete with blinking lights and other colorful ornaments that could not be displayed because of the weather, according to Emilie.

The couple began their tour early this year because of the Jubilee celebration which gave Emilie, a former Middle River resident, the opportunity to visit with relatives during the all-year school reunion at Middle River throughout the weekend.

The couple presently lives in Tampa, Florida and are "on the road" from July 1 to November 1 every year. During the winter months they spend most of their time in Florida appearing at various carnivals throughout the state. Their first stop during their seasonal tour each year is Middle River. From there they travel to places such as Fargo, Warren, Anoka, and Hamilton, ND, before traveling farther south to cities such as Des Moines, Iowa, and Oklahoma city where there are often half a million people to visit with.

"You meet all kinds of people in this business," Glen said. "And if we didn't like it, we wouldn't be doing it."

Accompanying them on some of their stops for the past three years is Carmen Anderson, daughter of Ronald and Marilyn Anderson, originally from Middle River, and granddaughter of Nellie Anderson of Middle River. Carmen, who began her expeditions when she was 10 years old, usually goes as far as Fargo with the Morrisons (her hometown) taking over the stand when they take a break from their busy day.

The stand meets the same standards as a restaurant, Glen stated. It is fully equipped with everything needed for cooking and traveling including an ice maker, freezer and stove.

"You've got to have things like that," Glen said. "That's the name of the game in this business."

Glen and a friend built the inside of the stand himself, he said, which involved three full months of work to fully complete it.

Proudly displaying themselves on a rack inside the stand are numerous ribbons won for the stand — most of them acquired in Florida. Judging is done on such things as cleanliness, friendliness, and menus and prices lists which must be clearly visible to the customers.

"They (judges) walk up to your stand without you knowing it, and order something," Glen said. "They check and make sure you say things like 'thank you'."

Glen feels that it is a good idea to be different with what a place has to offer its customers, he said. And the Morrison's stand is different. Fried mushrooms and deviled crabs seem to be favorites of many, according to Emilie. Then there are foot long hot dogs and stuffed potatoes.

"We try anything that's different," Glen said.

There is little time off during periods when the Morrisons and their Florida stand are traveling throughout the United States visiting large and small communities, Glen said. And, meeting deadlines is one of the most difficult parts of the job. For example, he said, the county fair closes in Warren on a Sunday night, and the Morrisons have to be in Hamilton, ND the following day at noon — a distance of approximately 75 miles.

"We try to allow ourselves at least two or three days in between moves," he said. "It takes a while to get unloaded and all set up."

The Morrisons, just as anyone having a stand of this type, have contracts with the state and county fair boards stating where they have to be at certain times and how long they will be there.

Glen maintained a pleasant smile throughout our interview while Emilie worked in the "kitchen" preparing the Florida delicacies for Middle River visitors stopping by the stand while attending the 75th Jubilee.

"We need more corn dogs!" he'd say as the last one would again disappear into a customer's hand.

The Jubilee had forced the Morrisons to begin their road trip early this year. In July their first stop will be Fargo. That will only be the first stop of another five-month adventure throughout the United States.

Eye Conditions May Accompany Diabetes Cases

Serious, sometimes potentially blinding, eye conditions often accompany even mild cases of diabetes and hypertension — with no apparent symptoms — warns the Minnesota association of ophthalmology (MAO), composed of medical eye physicians.

"Ophthalmologists are concerned about deterioration of the eye in people with diabetes or hypertension (high blood pressure) who are otherwise responding well to medication. These people may notice no apparent problems with their eyes until an eye condition has reached serious proportions," according to Raymond C. Croissant, M.D., MAO president.

"About 12 per cent of all new blindness in the United States is due to complications of diabetes," Dr. Croissant said.

There are an estimated 10 million diabetics in the United States, according to the American Diabetes association, which points out that the number is increasing at the rate of six per cent each year. Association says diabetics are 25 times more prone to blindness than non-diabetics.

A similar danger of serious eye problems exists for patients with high blood pressure, Dr. Croissant said. "This is particularly true for those who may have only slightly elevated blood pressure, with no symptoms, and who may or may not require medication for their condition," he stated.

"Subtle changes in blood vessels can often be associated with even low levels of hypertension. A medical eye examination could lead to the early diagnosis and proper treatment which can prevent later complications."

According to the national institutes of health, there are 35 million people in the United States with hypertension.

Dr. Croissant suggests that people with diabetes or high blood pressure discuss possible eye side effects with their family doctors and have annual eye examinations.

State Acts To Boost Housing Loan Business

"Housing construction has dropped dramatically in the United States — new construction of houses and apartments fell nearly 50 per cent from May 1979 to May 1980. In Minnesota, however, we're taking action in early July to help offset this drop. And these programs won't cost Minnesota taxpayers anything," states Gov. Al Quie.

On July 2, the state board of investment (SBI) will begin a new program of purchasing certificates of deposit. Between $50 million and $250 million eventually may be available to persons seeking home mortgage money.

The program will encourage Minnesota money to be reinvested within our state. First opportunity to participate in the program will be given to the more than 700 Minnesota-based banks and savings and loan associations.

The interest rate on the certificates of deposit will be 10 basis points below the average certificate rate quoted by the New York federal reserve bank (NYFRB). (For example, if on the day of the purchase the NYFRB is quoting an average certificate interest rate of 8.80 per cent, the rate on the certificates purchased by the SBI would be 8.70 per cent.) This discount is possible because state law requires that participating financial institutions have collateral to back their certificates.

"This new program is important to Minnesota consumers in this time of tight credit," Gov. Quie said. "Ultimately, it will mean more Minnesotans will be able to obtain loans because local banks and savings and loan institutions will have more loan money available through the sale of certificates."

The second program — also run without any cost to state taxpayers — will provide more than $105 million for home mortgage funds.

This program will make funds available for low and moderate income Minnesotans, mainly for those with special needs such as the handicapped and first-time homebuyers.

These funds, made available under the Minnesota housing finance agency's (MHFA) home mortgage loan program, will be offered at 9.25 per cent interest.

At least 80 per cent of the funds must go to persons with special needs. These persons include the handicapped, first-time home buyers, female heads of households, minorities and persons displaced by government action or natural disasters.

To be eligible, applicants must meet MHFA income limits, be able to afford the home they seek to purchase and be good credit risks.

Adjusted annual income limits are $19,000 for the seven-county Twin Cities metropolitan area and $17,500 for the rest of the state. Adjusted income is based on family size and certain expenses such as extraordinary medical expenses.

All homes must meet the MHFA's sales price limits. For the metropolitan area the limits are $50,000 for existing homes, $52,500 for existing homes with accessibility improvements and $55,000 for new construction. Limits for all other counties are $47,000 for existing homes, $49,000 for existing homes with accessibility improvements and $51,000 for new construction.

"Minnesotans along with people in the rest of the nation, face difficulties in financing purchases of homes. But new programs without any additional costs to taxpayers, such as those I've described will go some distance to helping make home loan money available to those who need it," the governor said.

IWA Local To Meet Tuesday

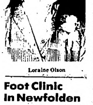
Honor Teachers On Retirement

Elaine Dyer



Loraine Olson

Contracts for four members of the Thief River Falls Education association who have announced their retirement at the end of the 1979-80 school term will expire as of June 30. Recognized by the TRFEA at an appreciation dinner recently were Loraine Olson, Elaine Dyer, Arnt Aune and John Moum.

Robert Reeve served as master of ceremonies with Rita Strand giving the invocation. Music was presented by the Lincoln high school trombone trio including Bert Vigen, Tracy Prichard and Hal Swanson.

Dorothy Hanson, teacher of the year for District 561 during the past school year, was presented with a gift by Reeve. Other gifts were presented by Jean Buhl to Loraine Olson, Marian Gigstad to Elaine Dyer, Jim Solsten to John Moum and Verne Spengler to Arnt Aune.

Achievement awards were presented by Dale Dillon, president of the chamber of commerce, and comments made by Mayor Bob Carlson; Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of schools; and Larry McDowell, chairman of the board of education.

Loraine Olson taught in the Thief River Falls schools from 1961 after prior teaching in the Badger school system and four rural districts in Roseau county dating back to the Oak Hill school in 1934.

Elaine Dyer taught Thief River Falls elementary classes beginning in 1962 after previously teaching in Newfolden and Oslo.

John Moum taught instrumental music in the local school system since 1954 after four years of teaching in Harvey, N.D. He directed the school band and also taught history in North Dakota.

Aune has been involved in Thief River Falls education since 1957, teaching adult agriculture for three years before being named director of the area vocational-technical institute. He was employed previously at Elbow Lake and Halstad schools since 1940.

Assemblies Set Service For Mission July 9

Special mission's service at the Assemblies of God church in Thief River Falls is planned for Wednesday, July 9, at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Ted Haynes Jr., Assemblies missionary to the Canary Islands.

Rev. Haynes and his wife Karen went to the Canary Islands in July of 1976. The islands, which make up two provinces of Spain, lie about 60 miles off the coast of northwest Africa. For the last four years the Haynes have been involved in coffeehouse ministry, church planting, radio work, hotel ministry, home prayer and Bible study and Bible school teaching.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Haynes attended North-Central Bible college in Minneapolis and Rev. Haynes also attended the Assemblies of God graduate school in Springfield, Mo. They pastored in Ohio before going to the mission field. They have four children.

Rev. J. L. Hagemeister invited the public to attend this mission's rally and hear Rev. Haynes present the needs of Spain and its provinces.

Penicillamine — It's Not For All Arthritis

"My aunt is getting penicillamine for her arthritis. Why not me?" That kind of question is frequently asked of physicians, according to the Arthritis foundation.

There are many drugs that can be used to treat arthritis, and penicillamine is only one of them, an Arthritis foundation spokesman observed. Penicillamine is used for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis that has not responded to more familiar drugs like aspirin or other anti-inflammatory drugs. It is not used to treat osteoarthritis, for example, or lupus.

Penicillamine can have severe side effects, the spokesman continued, which is one reason it is not tried immediately, or used with all patients, in treating rheumatoid arthritis. Regular and careful testing is essential in treating patients with the drug.

The Arthritis foundation has a special message on penicillamine that may be heard during June by calling the foundation's toll-free number, 1-800-552-1278. Free literature is available, and questions will be answered by mail.

USDA Advises Not To Plow Down Crops

ineligible for disaster payments, says Jim Lange, an assistance program specialist in the Agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) St. Paul office.

ASCS is making disaster payments on corn, barley, wheat, and grain sorghum, but not if the farmer destroys the crop before someone from the local ASCS office can appraise it. "The farmer has to call the ASCS office to ask for an appraisal, and we can't make an appraisal if the crop is destroyed," Lange said.

Lange explained that ASCS can pay up to 60 per cent of the value of what the crop would be in a normal year.

"Once we have appraised the crop, the farmer can do whatever he wants with the field, but we're encouraging that cover be left on the field for erosion protection," he said.

Under the disaster program, the crop can be harvested, and ASCS can make a payment based on the difference between this year's yield and 60 per cent of a normal year.

Farmers who have federal crop insurance also must have an appraisal of their crop before payments can be made.

Crop insurance specialist Randy Tronnes from the Federal crop insurance St. Paul office says about 40 per cent of the farmers in the drought area have crop insurance. He expects that all insured farmers would be eligible for some kind of payment this year.

"We have 10 appraisers working in some counties where we normally have only two. Our payments this year will be in the millions."

There are actually two field inspections required under the federal crop insurance program. The first is to appraise the condition of the crop, and the second is a final inspection after the farmer finishes work with the crop.

"The farmer can do whatever he wants after our first appraisal," Tronnes said. "The crop can be destroyed, left for cover or harvested. The insurance claim is processed after our final inspection."

The only USDA disaster program that does not require an inspection of the field is the emergency loan program administered by the Farmers home administration (FmHA). However, FmHA county supervisors may wish to verify actual losses by inspecting an applicant's fields.

Assistance through FmHA emergency disaster loans is based on actual crop loss. "To be eligible, an applicant must have at least a 20 per cent loss," said Niles Westby, chief of the agency's farmer programs.

The maximum amount of a loss loan is $500,000. Annual interest rate is five per cent.

FmHA also encourages protection of the soil from wind erosion. Westby said the crop can be left for cover, and the farmer can still be eligible for a loan.

Northwest Minnesota has serious wind erosion potential, even in years with normal moisture, according to USDA soil surveys and other inventories.

"Farmers might be thinking about starting a cover crop now, but why tear up the cover that's already there and go through the expense of starting something else," said Bill Oemichen, SCS assistant state conservationist in St. Paul. "Trying to start a cover crop under these dry conditions could mean wasted fuel, money and energy."

SCS conservation agronomist, Dwayne Breyer, recommends that for erosion control, at least 25 per cent of the field surface should be covered with crop residue at planting time next spring. "Field tests show that only 32 to 40 per cent of the surface is covered now, compared with 80 to 90 per cent in a normal year," he said. That means that any heavy tillage will leave farmers with an insufficient amount of residue for erosion control.

He advises that the most tillage a farmer should do is one trip over the field with a field cultivator or chisel plow.

for fluid drainage was removed and his ulcer problem diminished. In May he started working on a full-time basis at the ODC. He is now in speech therapy, and although he has some visual difficulties he is independent in personal care.

"I thank the Lord I'm still living," Tim said in a brief interview with the Times. He explained that in occupational therapy he had made cutting boards, jewelry boxes, plant holders, bird houses and gun racks and that at the ODC he works at packaging and other projects.

He has gone home on some weekends prior to his discharge, and he is able to ride bicycle, play foosball and pool, and hopes to be entirely on his own in the near future. He is practicing reading and writing to recover those skills, doing push-ups and sit-ups for body conditioning and hopes to attend a vocational school within a year.

Tim recalls nothing about the accident and has a period of a number of months which can't be remembered. He is unable to recall when his senses first began to return to him.

He said Carol Belland, a charge nurse in the CNC unit, had been most helpful to him in his recovery, along with occupational therapists Art Heinze and Renae Brown. But most of all he credits the attention, encouragement and determined faith of his mother who was a regular visitor and wouldn't admit to less than a full recovery.

"She's the best ma in the world," Tim says.

Dear friends,

This July 4th we celebrate the 204th anniversary of our Declaration of Independence. What we have come to realize is that liberty and freedom cannot be guaranteed by a Constitution, but must be cherished and safeguarded by an ever-alert citizenry. To maintain our freedom and democracy requires continuing discussion and watchful protection.

Respectfully,

Promote Three In TRF Arctic PG&A Division

T. Duane Lillevold

Myron Halvorson

Lyle Heldt

T. Duane Lillevold has been promoted to director of marketing for Arctic Enterprises, Inc.'s (AEI) parts, garments and accessories (PG&A) area. A nine-year AEI employee, Lillevold now has responsibility for the PG&A marketing department. He succeeds Clyde Trickle, who is pursuing private business opportunities.

Following Lillevold's promotion, two other men have been named to new marketing positions in the PG&A area.

Myron Halvorson has been appointed PG&A product manager and has responsibility for purchasing and marketing garments and accessories to complement the company's snowmobile lines. Halvorson has been with AEI for 12 years.

Lyle Heldt has rejoined the company as PG&A marketing manager. He will have responsibility for purchasing and marketing snowmobile hard goods accessories. Previously, Heldt was sales and promotions manager for Arctic's general products and services division and sales promotion coordinator at the company's Plymouth-based distribution center.

RLF Hospital Board Members Are Elected

Election of board members was held at the annual meeting of St. John's hospital corporation of Red Lake Falls on June 10 at Mt. St. Benedict in Crookston. Annually two members are elected to three-year terms.

Sr. Eleanor Mueller of Mount St. Benedict was elected to serve as a sister member for her first term. Sister Eleanor is a religious education coordinator for the Sisters of St. Benedict.

Willard Purath was re-elected to his first full term on the board. Willard is a farmer from Red Lake Falls and has served on many boards in past years, including the Red Lake Falls school board on which he served for 19 years. Willard operates both a grain and cattle farm. He and his wife, Pauline, have four grown children.

USDA Asks For Comments On Wheat Proposal

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland recently asked the public to comment by July 21 on provisions of the 1981 wheat program.

Secretary said the department is seeking comments on the amount of the national program acreage, the reduction from the previous year's harvested acreage required to guarantee established target price protection on the total 1981 planted acreage, whether there should be a set-aside and if so, the extent of the set-aside; if a set-aside is required, whether a limitation should be placed on planted acreage, whether there should be a land diversion program, and if so, the extent of such a diversion and the level of payments.

The public is also being asked to comment on the loan and purchase levels for 1981-crop wheat and whether the special wheat acreage grazing and hay program should be implemented.

Under new authorities granted under the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1980, the secretary may consider current cost of production estimates to determine 1981 target prices. In the past, changes in target prices were derived based upon a formula considering only prior year's costs. Because of these new authorities, Bergland said, the department is asking for comments on how the 1981 target price should be adjusted from 1980 levels and whether producers should be required to comply with established farm normal crop acreage to be eligible for program benefits.

If a set-aside program is implemented, the secregary has discretionary authority to adjust the target price to compensate producers for participating in such a program. Comments are requested on whether this authority should be used and the extent of any adjustment.

Like in the past, the public is asked to give input on related program provisions such as commodity elegibility, storage requirements, premiums and discounts, establishment of county rates and other provisions needed to carry out the loan and purchase program.

Most of these determinations for wheat are required to be made by the secretary by August 15. However, Bergland said he hopes he will be able to announce the 1981 program before that date. In making the final decision, recommendations and views submitted by the public will be considered as will the best data available on world and U.S. crop conditions, production and consumption prospects.

Written comments must be received by July 21. They should be sent to the Director, Production Adjustment Division, ASCS, USDA, Room 3630-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. All comments will be available for public inspection at the director's office during regular business hours.

NDSU's Spring Quarter Dean's List Announced

More than 800 North Dakota state university students earned places on the Spring quarter deans' list announced by the deans in the seven academic colleges.

Numbering among those qualifying from from this area were Pamela Hesse, Plummer, humanities and social sciences; Brian Vatthauer and Joseph Schafer, Red Lake Falls, agriculture; Scott Skiple, Red Lake Falls, engineering and architecture; Bryan Grove, Thief River Falls, agriculture; Milton Johnson, Thief River Falls, engineering and architecture; Jody Scholin, Mary Winjum and Peggy Mickelson, all of Thief River Falls, home economics;

Also Georgine Troska, Goodridge, humanities and social sciences; Laurie Kiesow, Goodridge, agriculture; and Madonna Novak, Brooks, home economics.

Students maintaining a 3.50 grade point average (B plus or better) on a 4.0 scale qualify for the deans' list issued each quarter by the seven NDSU colleges.

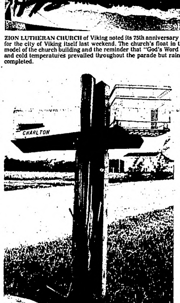
LIFE MEMBERSHIP in the International Association of Lions clubs was presented by the Thief River Falls chapter Wednesday noon to James Perkins, who has maintained active club membership for over 40 years. He became a Lions club member in 1939 and held all local offices except secretary and treasurer. He was also zone chairman, district deputy governor, district governor, member of the first Lions eye bank board and started Lions clubs in Goodridge, Warren, Newfolden and McIntosh. He originated the mid-winter conference now held annually and served outside the organization on the fair board, chamber of commerce board and school board. Making the presentation were Robert Reeve (left), 1979-80 president of the local club, and Ellsworth Jorgenson of Thief River Falls, district governor.

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH of Viking noted its 75th anniversary along with the diamond jubilee for the city of Viking itself last weekend. The church's float in the morning parade included a model of the church building and the reminder that "God's Word is Our Heritage". Cloudy skies and cold temperatures prevailed throughout the parade but rain held off until the parade was completed.



NATURE'S PHENOMENON was this happening when lightning struck the Greg Stauss mailbox south of Thief River Falls Friday afternoon but completely ignored the Kenneth Charlton mailbox about a foot away. The electrical blast sent splinters from the post flying across the Stauss driveway, darkened the wood on the cross-arm and charred the area around nails driven through the cross-arm into the post. The mailbox itself, although hurled from its stand, was not damaged and mail in the box was unharmed.

Pamela Smith Promoted To 1st Lieutenant

Pamela S. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Smith, Thief River Falls, recently was promoted to army first lieutenant while serving as a physical therapist with the U.S. army medical department activity at Fort Campbell, Ky.

The appointing orders for this promotion stated, "...The President of the U.S. has placed special trust and confidence in this officer's patriotism, valor, fidelity and abilities."

The promotion was based upon these qualities and the demonstrated potential for increased responsibility.

Plan Briefing Session On Programming

"Bi-Folkal" briefing sessions on how to do programming for older adults will be offered in four different locations served by the Northwest regional library, during the week of July 15-19.

Briefing sessions are designed for anyone working with or belonging to a group of adults including senior centers, senior meal sites, churches, church circles, nursing homes and other senior clubs and organizations.

Bi-Folkal briefing session is a two-and-a-half hour experience that will give participants a thorough introduction to Bi-Folkal kits so that they will feel comfortable using the kits and training others to use them. In addition to an overview of all available kits, a single kit is examined with information presented on the theory and design of individual kit components.

For example, a presentation on a kit piece such as the scratch and sniff story would include a description of the story, ways to use the story, what situations to avoid, and an explanation of the value of stimulating the olfactory sense.

Briefing session incorporates the slide-tape "Libraries in the Afternoon" which examines the issues of aging and the library's role in serving older persons.

The four training sessions will be held in the Thief River Falls library meeting room, July 15, 1980, 9-11:30 a.m.; Warren Godel memorial library, July 15, 1980, 2-4 p.m.; Hallock city auditorium, July 16, 9-11:30 a.m.; and Roseau museum-library meeting room, July 17, 1980, 9-11:30 a.m.

They are open to anyone interested in learning more about the Bi-Folkal kits and perhaps using them at a later date. There is no charge for the session. Registration is encouraged and can be made by sending name, address, phone and indication of which session will be attended to the Northwest regional library, 101 East first street, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Anyone wishing more information may write the same address.

Briefing sessions and the Bi-Folkal programming kits are being made available by the Northwest regional library through a contract with the Northwest regional development commission under Title IV of the Older Americans act.

Insurance Firm At Newfolden Has Open House

More than 250 guests registered attendance at the open house held by the Marshall County Mutual insurance company at its new office building in Newfolden. Refreshments were served and souvenirs given to all visitors.

Construction of the new building began in the summer of 1979 and was completed in February of 1980. The building was first used on February 27. Marshall County Mutual insurance company was organized in 1900 and had been occupying space in the former People's State bank building in Newfolden since 1934.

Directors and officers expressed appreciation for the attendance and the many plants, floral arrangements and other open house gifts.

Gas Supplies Plentiful For July 4 Weekend

Minnesotans traveling during the Independence day weekend will find adequate supplies of gasoline with many stations open for business as usual, according to the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA). Fifty per cent of the stations surveyed will be open on Friday, the Fourth of July, 50 per cent will remain open past 6 p.m. on Saturday and 65 per cent will be open all day Sunday.

Supplies are excellent compared to the situation a year ago, when many stations were running out of some grades of fuel, causing long lines, limited sales and shortened hours of operation.

More good news is that for the third straight month, gas prices have remained stabilized. With the exception of premium gas (which increased two cents), there was virtually no change in the average price of fuel this month at full-service stations, while self-service prices dropped slightly.

Currently, the average price per gallon at full-service stations is $1.276 for regular, $1.356 for premium, $1.316 for unleaded, $1.361 for premium unleaded and $1.094 for diesel. Average price for gasohol is $1.348.

At self-service stations, the average price is $1.192 for regular, $1.253 for premium, $1.239 for unleaded and $1.282 for premium unleaded.

Minnesota AAA reminds all motorists to fasten their seat belts for added safety during the holiday weekend.

Forest History Center Plans 4th Events

Public is invited to visit the Minnesota historical society's forest history center this Friday, July 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., to experience what an Independence Day celebration might have been like in a logging camp of 80 years ago.

Throughout the day, lumberjack staff members will be reminiscing about July 4, 1900, and sharing with camp visitors "current events" such as politics, sports, new inventions and the ever rising prices of that year. Also featured at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. will be the first Annual Greyback (body lice) Race-off urged to enter potential racing bugs in the event.

Nominations Are Open For U.S. Academies

Senator Rudy Boschwitz is now accepting applications for nominations to the U.S. service academies. Anyone who will graduate from high school in 1981 will be eligible for nominations.

Competition for the openings is based on high school grades, scholastic aptitude tests, physical fitness and leadership ability. Those applicants meeting the basic requirements will receive notice from Senator Boschwitz in December of this year and will be requested to appear before the Senator's academy selection committee.

Committee members will recommend up to 10 persons who will be nominated from the state of Minnesota for each service academy vacancy. Following the nominations, the final selection of the one person from Minnesota for each vacancy in each academy will be made by the academies themselves.

Final selection is based on the results of scholastic aptitude tests, the complete physical examination and careful evaluation of the applicant's motivation and suitability for pursuing the academy life and subsequent military career.

Senator Boschwitz said he is encouraging young people who feel they may be qualified to file an application. "I personally view nomination to an academy as a tremendous opportunity, and I will look forward to receiving applications from students across the state. Those who are eventually accepted by the selection committee and by the academies will find this a rare educational and career experience."

Boschwitz said, "while I receive many applications for the air force, army, and naval academies, there are fewer applicants for the coast guard and merchant marine academies. As a result, those applying for the coast guard and merchant marine academies often have a better chance of being appointed.

Applications are available by writing to Senator Rudy Boschwitz, 2107 Dirksen Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Farmer Hurt Again

President Jimmy Carter didn't make any friends among the farm communities of the nation when he announced recently that U.S. grain dealers would be allowed to sell grain to the Soviet Union — but only grain purchased from other nations, not U.S. producers.

Now, let it be known that farmers are accustomed to getting rapped on the knuckles or poked in the eye every time they turn around, and for the most part they suffer in relative silence. Oh, sure, they may complain to a neighbor or two and the organizations which claim to represent them may fire off a couple of indignant letters and issue a condemning news release.

But generally speaking the farmer accepts indignities and injustices as his lot and resigns himself to work a little harder, do a little more than he has been doing and be content to show a little less for it. And government, recognizing that overall attitude despite off-season protest marches and tractorcades, does not hesitate to wipe its bureaucratic boots on the farmers' prostrate body.

This latest decision by the President of the United States is just one more rock in the furrow, one more thistle in the garden of the farmers' life. And, like so many other actions before it, it doesn't seem to make any common sense at all.

President Carter imposed the embargo on grain shipments to the Soviet Union following that country's invasion of Afghanistan. Farmers were hurt badly by loss of market, but they accepted it as patriotic Americans. If it would help our country to withhold grain from another country, they reasoned, then some sacrifice may be warranted.

Obviously the knee-jerk action of the President in imposing the embargo has been ineffective. The Soviets are getting the grain they need but our nation and our farmers are not getting the money we used to get from sales to the Soviets. Allowing grain companies in this country to sell Russia grain from other countries is an admission of failure.

Where does all this leave the American farmer? It leaves him standing in the middle of his yard, looking at a grain bin recently cleared at depressed prices to provide some needed operating capital, and shaking his head in wonder and curiosity at whose side the President is on, anyhow.

Maybe if the farmer stands out there long enough and gives it enough thought, he will come to the realization that where ever the President stands at the moment, it surely isn't with the farmer.

And when that sinks in — for the unpteenth time during this administration — there should be enough indignation in the farm belt to leave Carter shut-out in the November election.

Phase Out Tobacco

Bob Johnson of the Wadena Pioneer-Journal makes the following suggestion regarding one of the nation's health problems:

Cigarette smoking is an addictive habit and a very expensive one. Medical authorities now generally agree it is the nation's leading cause of preventable disease and death.

Heart disease, lung cancer, emphysema and a host of other illnesses are related to smoking. Those avoidable illnesses eat up 10 per cent of America's medical care dollars.

Clearly, it's in the interest of every American to encourage the 51 million smokers who want to quit and to help slow the stampede of 4,000 teenagers a day who take up the noxious habit. Just as clearly, it's in the public interest to face the economic impact of phasing out the cigarette industry and to ease the individual hardships of such a transition.

Every adult has the constitutional right to practice his habit. Prohibition is not proposed by any major antismoking group. But 90 per cent of all smokers say they would like to quit. And virtually all agree they would prefer to see young people not start.

State and federal policies, therefore, should aim at helping people quit or not start. Legitimate "stop smoking" programs, for example, should be eligible for payments from public health agencies and private group health insurance policies. Certainly every member of the insured group benefits when another member quits and thereby reduces his risk of incurring costly and disabling illness.

In order to change the attitudes of young people, it will be necessary for the pro-health advertising to be as slick and professional as the pro-cigarette ads. Young people must be made to see non-smoking is a sophisticated, smart, grownup alternative to the dumb, immature habit of sucking on cancer sticks. To the young nonsmoker, image is everything.

The federal attitude toward cigarette tobacco as a crop must also be changed. Powerful lobbying has made this a pet form of agriculture. The protection and support from Congress must end. In its place should be programs to help farmers shift to other crops such as soybeans, and to help workers retrain for other industries, if necessary.

The fight against cigarette smoking is one of the most cost-effective health measures available. Heart disease, emphysema and lung cancer, once contracted, are expensive to treat and often incurable. But smoking itself is curable and preventable. All it takes is deter*mination and know-how.*

A Strange Tribute

Reaction by Larry Windom of the Detroit Lakes Tribune regarding one of the governor's proclamations is a perfect match with our thought on the situation. Here is the way Windom expresses his opinion:

I've nothing against geese. They're pretty in flight and taste good on the table.

But. . . I think our governor was stretching things just a bit when he declared June as a month to "recognize the goose as a symbol of faithfulness." It was an official "whereas" proclamation, which they "hereunto set our hands and caused the great seal of the state of Minnesota to be affixed."

Now, the governor has to be excused. When a fellow spends all day signing proclamations, he's bound to stop reading what he's signing after a while. Besides, he probably likes geese, too.

Obviously, the proclamation is an attempt to bring the goose up in the world . . . more specifically, bring the goose to the state's supper tables during June.

It all started in Sleepy Eye, when the president of Pietrus Foods, Inc., read a book telling of the simularities between goose and man. Pietrus is the largest goose processing center and largest goose hatchery in the U.S.

Men and geese are similar in several ways — geese fall in love or at least develop a deep attachment for each other; they are paired for life; the gander helps protect the eggs and raise the young; the goose family stays together until the next mating season, and if one mate dies, the other grieves.

Like the president of Pietrus Foods said in promoting the idea, "The goose symbolizes staying together. A father may say to his son who is getting married, "Son, you're supposed to stay together your whole life."

With that kind of an attitude, it apparently seemed logical to declare the month of June, which is more traditionally known as a wedding month, as a month to honor the goose, as well.

The idea is that persons getting married should have the goose's attitude — loving, caring, faithfulness forever.

The publicity angle for Pietrus Foods, then, is proclaiming the goose as the wedding feast bird.

After all, June is also dairy month . . . and pigs, turkeys, cows, corn, fish and most everything else has its special month, week, day, queen, festival, T-shirt, beer can or whatever. So, why can't the goose get into the act?

So this June, we were all supposed to recognize the goose as the symbol of faithfulness . . . by eating one.

But my word, after hearing what a splendid family man the goose is, I don't think I'd have the heart.

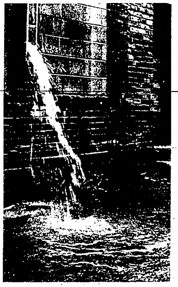
Borrowed Nonsense:

Ole was having difficulty in the optometrists office. Told to close one eye he found he could only close both at the same time. The optometrist then instructed him to place a hand over one eye and Ole stuck his thumb in the eye. Exasperated, the optometrist found a paper bag, cut one small hole in it, and popped it over Ole's head.

"How's that?" he said.

"Not tew bad," Ole replied slowly, "but I had really vanted dose vire rims like my cousin Lars got."

Leaving the hospital room of her husband's boss, the lady left these words of comfort: "Don't you worry about a thing at the office, Mr. Brown. If Henry has told me once he's told me a thousand times he can handle your job a lot better than you can!"



RAIN AT LAST: A sudden shower Friday afternoon brought slightly over an inch of much-needed rain to the Thief River Falls area. A light drizzle with occasional heavier precipitation on Saturday also helped to moisten the parched grass and crops. This roof drain in downtown Thief River Falls created a miniature waterfall during the heavy shower about 5 p.m. Friday.

Conservation Charade

President Carter just received a political spanking. Both the House and the Senate voted to override his veto, thus killing his proposed 10 cents-per-gallon gasoline fee. That made Carter the first Democratic President since Harry Truman in 1952 to be overriden by Congress.

I opposed this new conservation charade. According to the President, this fee's double edged sword would have curbed consumption while at the same time providing a cushion in attempts to balance the federal budget.

Nothing could be more misleading. The new fee, by the most optimistic estimates, would have saved two per cent of the gasoline we use in this country. Just last year Americans cut consumption by 11 per cent through voluntary measures. This program won't do much to make our country energy-independent, but it will make a big difference to the person fighting the battle of inflation.

I cannot accept the argument that this tax would send a message to oil-producing countries that we mean business. Our messages have been so mixed-up that I cannot believe taxing Americans ten cents more per gallon and using the money to balance our bloated budget will send a message to anyone except maybe the American voters. It's time politicians stop promising a balanced budget while continuing to spend money on unneeded programs. We need to balance the budget by spending less and cutting back, not by adding more taxes onto the American people and then watching politicians pat themselves on the back for balancing the budget with worker's hard-earned money.

If the revenues from this tax had been earmarked for specific energy programs — tax credits for persons who conserve energy for example — I would have taken a more favorable view. But when the tax is destined for the Treasury's General fund to iron out the Administration's mismanaged budget recommendations then I cannot go along.

Unfortunately this brings an eerie reminiscense of the windfall profits tax. That story started as a drama of decontrol with the enormous profits of oil companies channeled back to the American people. Happy ending, right? Well, as the text was edited the American people were cut out of the novel. The amount of money that was returned to the public was minimal. The tax breaks initially marked for those who saved energy or switched to alternative sources ended up going to highly specialized energy-related industries. The American consumers once again ended up on the short end of the stick with the oil companies coming out on top.

I voted for the windfall profits tax because I made the commitment to the people of Minnesota to get that money back into their hands. The revenues from the tax can't be used to operate the same old programs in the same old ways.

There are many ways to approach our energy problems but there is not one catch-all program that politicians can dream up that will cure our energy ills. We need a coordinated program of incentives for short term energy conservation and renewable resource production. I have and will continue to advocate a series of tax credits for consumers along with a continuing program of energy education for the American people.

Most Minnesotans and I share the knowledge that offering simple solutions to complicated problems is not only irresponsible, it is stealing from the next generation.

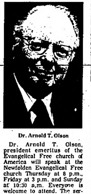
Dr. Olson To Be Speaker At Anniversary



Dr. Arnold T. Olson

Dr. Arnold T. Olson, president emeritus of the Evangelical Free church of America will speak at the Newfolden Evangelical Free church Thursday at 8 p.m., Friday at 3 p.m. and Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Everyone is welcome to attend. The services will be in conjunction with the 75th anniversary celebration of the Newfolden church.

Residing in Minneapolis, which is the international headquarters of the denomination, Dr. Olson served eight three-year terms as head of the group. Prior to that he served 23 years as a pastor in rural, city and suburban congregations. He retired in 1976 and was made president emeritus.

He is a member of the board of managers of the American Bible society and serves on the board of directors for the American Institute of Holy Land studies in Jerusalem, Israel.

During World War II he was decorated twice for outstanding and meritorious service while serving as a chaplain in the European theater of operations and is chaplain of the Panther Veterans organization (66th Infantry division).

Dr. Olson has traveled widely, including 14 trips to Europe and entended visits in South America, Hong Kong, Zaire, Formosa, Japan, Egypt and the Philippines. He has made 13 trips to Israel.

REV. EARL EVELAND serves as present pastor of the Evangelical Free church of Newfolden which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year. Dr. Arnold T. Olson, president emeritus of the Evangelical Free church of America, as well as former pastors Rev. Ernest Vick, Rev. Julius Hoseth and Rev. Clifford Anderson will take part in the festivities.

He is considered one of the authorities among Evangelical leaders on Israel. In April of 1973 he was asked by the Israeli government to make a special visit to study the relations between the governmental authorities and the Christians in view of a series of news reports suggesting restrictions and even persecution of Christians and the threat to expel all Christian missionaries. He held 21 interviews in six days including three with members of the cabinet.

National director of interreligious affairs for the American Jewish committee, Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum wrote, "I regard Dr. Olson's April experience to be the most important Christian visit made to Israel in recent years."

Before assuming the presidency of the Evangelical Free church of America he was for eight years president of the former Evangelical Free church association (Norwegian-Danish) and headed the merger committee which in 1950 resulted in the present Evangelical Free church of America. In 1959 he was received by the late President Eisenhower as the Evangelical Free church of America marked its 75th anniversary.

Candidate For Congress Talks On Gasohol

Gene Wenstrom, DFL endorsed candidate for U.S. Congress, presented testimony to the joint economic committee of congress on June 25 regarding the feasibility of small scale production of gasohol. He also met with members of congress and officials at the department of energy to discuss future policies relating to gasohol.

Wenstrom presented testimony to the committee to refute a recent report by a gasohol study group of the department of energy which had claimed big oil companies would be best able to produce alcohol fuels.

Two of the seven-member gasohol study group were on the payroll of Mobil Oil company, Wenstrom said. He also pointed out that the study group met without public announcement or participation and that it did not allow for outside opinions.

"The study group was obviously biased against farm produced alcohol fuels. The gasohol study group is symbolic of what I feel is a basic fault with many government studies. They are too often controlled by powerful special interest groups and they fail to recognize the ingenuity of the private sector," Wenstrom said.

Wenstrom challenged the members of the gasohol study group to come to rural Minnesota to talk with farmers who are producing alcohol fuels. He said he doubted whether the study group would have made the same findings if it had allowed farmers to present evidence at its meetings.

In a meeting on June 24 with officials at the DOE, Wenstrom proposed what he called "energy cooperatives" to spur alcohol fuel development. "In rural areas, energy cooperatives would be constructed to produce alcohol fuels. These energy plants would help provide energy self-sufficiency for our rural areas," Wenstrom said.

He suggested that federal policies should do more to encourage these small scale alcohol fuel plants, adding that he thought it necessary to "make sure the federal programs are drafted in such a way to insure that the benefits are reserved for small scale producers. Giant oil companies don't need anymore aid from the government," Wenstrom said. "If we allow the same companies that now control oil to get their hands on alcohol fuels, we have taken a step backward."

Wenstrom also urged the Congress to continue its support for a four cent a gallon tax exemption for gasohol. "Critics of the gasohol tax break maintain it is too costly, but the facts are that the gasohol tax exemption has less than a three per cent impact on the highway trust fund. The tax exemption has helped to make gasohol more competitive on the market-place and Congress should continue to support it," he said.

Filings For State Offices Open July 1

Secretary of state's office announces that the filing period for federal, state and judicial offices to be decided in the November election will open July 1, and close at 5 p.m. July 15. Candidates for legislative offices that cross county lines should file at the office of secretary of state. Candidates for offices contained within only one county file with their county auditor.

"It is important that candidates determine in advance of the July 15 deadline, exactly where they are required to file so no last minute confusion will eliminate an otherwise qualified candidate," said Joan Anderson Growe, secretary of state.

"The state law that requires candidates in multi-county districts to file with the secretary of state and candidates in single county districts to file with the county auditor has created some confusion in the past" explained Growe, "and it would be very unfortunate for any candidate to be denied the right to run".

The ballot this fall will include these offices: President and vice president, U.S. representatives, state senators and state representatives, supreme court judges and various other judicial offices. Judicial candidates and candidates from the three major parties in Minnesota — Independent-Republican, Democratic-Farmer-Labor, and American Party — can file for the September 9 primary by filing an affidavit of candidacy and paying the proper fee.

Candidates representing a minor party or a political principle are not voted on in the primary but can file for the November 4 general election by filing an affidavit of candidacy and paying the proper fee and submitting a petition signed by qualified voters in their county requesting that their name be placed on the ballot.

Some local offices will also be on the November ballot but the filing times and requirements are somewhat different for these offices.

Information about qualifications for office, filing fees and nominating petitions is available from the Office of Secretary of State, 180 State Office Bldg., St. Paul, (612) 296-2805.

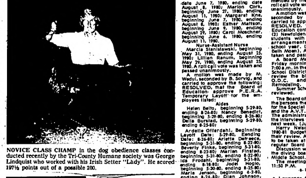
VISITORS GATHERED at the Middle River school Saturday afternoon during the all-year school reunion conducted at Middle River during the 75th Jubilee of the village which was chartered in 1905. Activities during the afternoon included film showings at the school, a fellowship dinner, antique parade and a historical program.



NEWEST MODEL in the industrial scraper line produced by Toreq, Inc., of Thief River Falls is the Model 10,000 Super. According to a company spokesman, the model features high volume hydraulics, extra large push plate, double wall on front gate and sides, raised cross pipe for better unloading and turning, improved cylinder protection, forward forced straight front ejection for a smooth spread of spoils at desired depth and a hydraulically operated rear gate design that gives a straight, uniform push off the spoils and eliminates dump-type unloading. The bucket is designed to remain parallel to the ground during loading operation, increasing operator cutting control.

NOVICE CLASS CHAMP in the dog obedience classes conducted recently by the Tri-County Humane society was George Lindquist who worked with his Irish Setter "Lady". He scored 197½ points out of a possible 200.

YOUR COMMENTS ARE INVITED ON MINNESOTA'S PROPOSED COMPREHENSIVE ANNUAL SERVICES PROGRAM PLAN FOR THE PROGRAM YEAR OCTOBER 1, 1980 TO SEPTEMBER 30, 1981

The State Department of Public Welfare and County Welfare Departments/Human Service Boards have jointly developed a proposed plan of social services for the State of Minnesota. Social services provided under this proposed plan are designed to help individuals achieve the maximum level of independent living and self support of which they are capable, to prevent and remedy neglect, abuse and exploitation of children and adults; and to preserve, reunite and strengthen families. Before the plan is finalized, your comments and suggestions are invited.

PLAN DESCRIPTION

The proposed social services plan identifies services mandated in Minnesota Statute and reflects local priorities for services offered and people to be served in each of Minnesota's 87 counties.

There are variations in the plan from county to county. In each county, services to be provided and the people eligible were selected from the following:

SERVICES:

Adoption
Chore
Counseling
Developmental Achievement
Day Care - Children
Day Care - Adult
Educational Assistance
Employability
Family Planning
Foster Care for Adults
Foster Care for Children
Health
Home Delivered & Congregate Meals
Homemaking
Housing
Information & Referral
Legal Money Management
Protection - Children
Protection - Adult
Residential Treatment
Social & Recreational Transportation

ELIGIBILITY:

Fully Paid by Federal, State or County Funds
- Recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children.
- Recipients of Supplemental Security Income and Minnesota Supplementary Assistance.
- Persons whose annual gross income is below the following.

$ 6,694 for a 1 person family.	$16,993 for a 6 person family.
$ 8,753 for a 2 person family.	$17,378 for a 7 person family.
$10,813 for a 3 person family.	$17,765 for a 8 person family.
$12,873 for a 4 person family.	$18,051 for a 9 person family.
$14,933 for a 5 person family.	$18,537 for a family of 10 or more persons.

Fees for Services:
- Persons whose gross family income is greater than shown in the above table may be eligible for services on a fee basis related to income.

Services Without Regard to Income:
- Information and Referral.
- Protection — Children.
- Protection — Adult.

FUNDING:

Estimated expenditures for Program Year for an estimated 594,728 units of service to persons are as follows

Total Federal allotment	$ 50,827,000
State allotment	$ 18,963,765
Local funding	$ 56,061,744
Other funding	$ 1,381,313
TOTAL	$127,233,822

KEYS AMENDMENT (PUBLIC LAW 94-566)

The Comprehensive Annual Services Program Plan for Minnesota this year includes a summary of standards which have been established for each type of medical or non-medical facility (1) which provides for protection oversight of its residents, (2) in which the State has determined a significant number of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients reside or are likely to reside, and (3) which is not already certified for participation in either the Medicaid (Title XIX) or Medicare (Title XVIII) program.

The Minnesota Department of Health has been designated as the standard setting authority for Nursing Homes, Boarding Care Homes, and Supervised Living Facilities. The standards for each facility, including enforcement procedures, waiver procedures and identification of deficient facilities may be obtained at no cost by writing

Notes to Financial Statements

For the Year Ended December 31, 1979

1. Description of Funds
The accounts of the City are organized on the basis of funds or groups of accounts, each of which is considered to be a separate accounting entity. The operations of each fund are accounted for by providing a separate set of self-balancing accounts which comprise each fund's assets, liabilities, fund equity, revenues and expenditures/expenses.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Basis of Accounting
The modified accrual basis of accounting is followed for general, special revenue and debt service funds. All other funds (Enterprise, Intragovernmental Service, Capital Project, Special Assessment and Trust and Agency) are on an accrual basis of accounting, except that capital project funds encumber uncompleted contracts.

B. Investments
Investments are stated at cost, plus accrued interest to date.

C. Receivables
Current taxes are accrued at year end. This represents revenue for the next year and a deferred reserve is set up equal to the current taxes receivable.

Delinquent taxes are recognized as revenue when received in cash.

Taxes receivable-delinquent in the amount of $27,344. as of December 31, 1979, for tax levies through 1978 have been confirmed by the County Auditor as outstanding, but are not included in this report.

Sales and income are recognized at various times: liquor sales are recognized at the time of sale; utility sales are recognized when billed with an accrual at year end for unbilled services; miscellaneous accounts receivable are recognized when billed.

D. Inventories
Inventories are stated at cost and are recorded on a first-in, first-out (FIFO) basis.

E. Fixed Assets
Fixed assets are valued at cost. No provision is made for retirement of assets upon sale or abandonment.

General fixed assets are recorded as expenditures in the General, Special Revenue and Capital Project funds. These acquisitions are also recorded in the General Fixed Asset group of accounts. Depreciation is not provided for these assets.

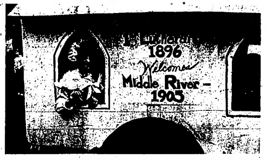
Fixed assets are acquired through the enterprise and intragovernmental service funds are capitalized when purchased and depreciated using the straight-line method over their estimated useful life.

3. Retirement Plan
The City participates in a contributory pension plan under the Public Employees Retirement Association (PERA), Minn. Stat. Chapter 353, which covers substantially all employees except those qualifying as temporary or seasonal employees. The City's contribution is a percent of salary which is determined by the particular plan to which each individual belongs.

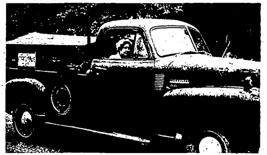
The City's contribution for the coordinated (PERA and Social Security) plan to PERA is equal to 5.5% of the total salary of each individual. For the basic plan, the City's contribution is equal to 10.5% of each individual's salary, and for the Police and Fire employees the City's contribution is 12%. The pension cost including amortization of estimated prior service cost was $118,619. for the year ended December 31, 1979. It is State law that the City fund this pension cost as it accrues. Prior service cost is being amortized over a period of 40 years and is being funded as a percent of gross wages by all employers participating in the State Association. The amount of unfunded prior service cost attributable to individual reporting entities is not determinable.

The City's contribution to the Federal Insurance Corporation of America (Social Security) for those individuals belonging to the coordinated plan, is equal to 6.13% of the first $22,900. in 1979. The contribution to Social Security was $54,023. for the period ended December 31, 1979. In 1980 the Social Security contribution will be based on 6.13% of the first $25,900.

On March 28, 1978, H.F. No. 2330 was signed into law stating that effective January 1, 1979, all active police officers employed by the Police Department of the City of Thief River Falls shall cease to be members of the Police Relief Association. These employees will then be covered by the Public Employees Police and Fire Fund established pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Sections 353.63 to 353.68. A special fund shall be maintained by the City of Thief River Falls for the exclusive benefit of the retired and disabled members of the Thief River Falls Police Relief Association receiving benefits on January 1, 1979. The City will provide, by annual levy, an amount sufficient to pay the aggregate amount of service pensions, disability benefits and survivors benefits for the following calendar years, less the amount of assets in the trust fund. A new fund has been established to account for these assets and the transactions involved.



TWO IMPORTANT DATES to many in the Middle River area were called to mind Saturday afternoon as this tiny float made its way through the streets of Middle River during the antique parade conducted in celebration of the village's 75th Jubilee. The parade was followed by a historical program in which visitors from all over the country met for the all-year school reunion at the Middle River school.



REMEMBER THE DAYS when lemonade was a quarter? Some visitors may have been reminded of "those days" as they gathered to watch the antique parade in Middle River Saturday afternoon. The activity was one of many conducted during the two-day celebration of the 75th Jubilee of Middle River.

emember now Thy Creator..

SCENES SUCH AS THIS traveled down Main Street in Middle River Saturday afternoon during the antique parade conducted in the town in celebration of the 75th Jubilee of the village. The activity marked the beginning of two-day activities throughout the town.

ENTERTAINMENT DURING the historical program conducted at the Middle River school following the antique parade Saturday afternoon at Middle River was provided by Joe and Hazel Blom who have been singing for several years throughout area churches. The program was one of the activities conducted during the celebration of the 75th Jubilee at Middle River Saturday and Sunday. Accompanying the singers is Mrs. Floyd (Lois) Peterson.

MEMORIES OF THE PAST were recollected by many who attended the special antique parade conducted at Middle River Saturday as part of the town's 75th Jubilee celebration. Parade was followed by a historical program at the Middle River school.

ROY GJOVIK displayed his 1916 Model T during the antique parade at Middle River Saturday afternoon. Various old automobiles and costumes appeared during the afternoon activity which drew a large crowd of people despite the cold rainy weather evident throughout the day. The activity was part of a two-day celebration of the 75th Jubilee of Middle River.

75TH JUBILEE celebration of Middle River brought a variety of people, costumes, and floats during the afternoon parade Saturday. The two-day celebration concluded last evening with the Johnny Holm Traveling Fun Show at the Meadowbrooke Ballroom.

THESE TWO FELLOWS from the past didn't seem to mind the cool and rainy weather Saturday afternoon as they rode on a fire engine in the antique parade conducted at Middle River during the village's 75th Jubilee celebration Saturday and Sunday. Parade was followed by a historical program, supper served by Our Savior's Lutheran church women of Thief Lake, a family movie at the Seventh-day Adventist church, and evening entertainment at the Meadowbrooke Ballroom and the American Legion Club.

Re: C.B.D. Parking Assessments

Per instructions from the Thief River Falls City Council, the City Engineer's Office is preparing the final assessment roll for the Parking Assessments District. A questionnaire was mailed to all effected persons (residences and churches are exempt) in April, 1979. Information was requested on square footage for:

1.) "Basic Business Area";
2.) Storage Space; and,
3.) Owned Parking Areas.

If you did not respond to this questionnaire or there has been a major change in your business area, please contact Stewart & Walker, Inc. at 681-2944 NO LATER THAN TUESDAY, JULY 8, 1980. Failure to respond will result in computation of the assessments based on information in City files.

Legion Team Hitting Well

One reason Thief River Falls opened the 1980 American Legion baseball season with a 14-1 record was because of a .296 team batting average, compared to a .203 mark the opposition managed against Thief River Falls pitching.

Among the regulars, Greg Harder, after playing little this spring in high school baseball and a slow starter at the plate in American Legion ball, carried a hot hand through Thursday's 15-3 win at Newfolden that lifted his batting average to a team-high .434 with 10 hits in 23 at-bats.

Kevin Sanders, who broke into the Prowlers' starting line-up as a sophomore midway through the 1980 high school baseball season, continues to show impressive ability with 15 hits in 38 at-bats in Legion ball for a .394 average.

Jeff Ulrich, who plans to attend Mankato State this fall where he'll try to earn a spot on the strong MSU hockey and baseball teams, struggled offensively this spring with the Prowlers but carried a .375 average into the weekend with 15 hits at 40 at-bats.

Middle River's Scott McKeever was 15-for-42 for a .357 average while playing steady shortstop and Jim Nyland, recognized as the top catcher in the area, has begun to hit the ball, enjoying a hot streak that lifted his figures to 8-for-23 and a .347 average.

Wayne Huseth, used mostly as a pitcher, and Dave Kays, a back-up performer at both catcher and first base, carry .333 and .304 batting averages, respectively, to give Thief River Falls seven hitters above the .300 plateau.

The others include Dave Odegaard .285, Mark Harder .263, Mark Schmitke .250, Kelly Gutterud .250, Tom Drury .222, Jeff Cwikla .192 and Steve Bengston .190.

Thief River Falls will be at home for a pair of doubleheaders this week, hosting Northwest League rival Crookston Tuesday starting at 6:30 p.m. and entertaining Detroit Lakes Sunday afternoon starting at 2. Thief River Falls will also be at Red Lake Falls Thursday night.

EGF Controversy

East Grand Forks American Legion baseball team, criticized here because of its argumentative actions during a 9-8 Northwest League loss to Thief River Falls last Tuesday, was involved in a controversial ball game the week before at Thompson, N.D., where East Grand Forks came out a 3-2 loser.

According to the East Grand Forks Exponent, the game, punctuated by several earlier arguments, had wild and vocal finish with two out in the top of the seventh inning. Thompson was leading 3-2, but East Grand Forks had runners at first and second, with Jim Nunn at the plate. The Exponent reported the scene like this:

"His (Nunn) two-out, swinging bunt was initially bobbled by Thompson pitcher Brian Gergorie, who gained control and threw to first. His throw was to the left of the first baseman, who reached out for the ball only to be involved in a glancing collision with Nunn a split second later.

The glove, with the ball still in it, came flying off, landing some 15 feet away. The first base umpire made the safe sign.

Moving with the crack of the bat, East Grand Forks runners Rob Schneider and Jeff Strandell scored as the glove — the ball still in it and out of sight — lay on the infield dirt.

But, moving down the first base line to intervene was the home plate umpire. His over-ruling decision was that the runner (Nunn) was out; that the collision had occurred after the play.

An unhappy coach Dave Aker reported, "He (home plate umpire) ruled the collision was unnecessary." Aker counted that the throw was on the foul ball side of the base line and that the arrival of the ball and runner were almost instantaneous.

When the arguement lingered and the third umpire (who had been working at third base) didn't get any response to his calls for East Grand Forks to take the field, he ruled, "Forfeit, Thompson." But, with the game in the seventh inning, the home team ahead, and the third out just having been called on the visitors, the game should have been over anyway."

Miscellaneous

+The bond issue for an artificial ice plant in the Red Lake Falls city arena will be for $40,000, it was reported in the Red Lake Falls Gazette. The Red Lake Falls city council had earlier adopted a resolution calling for a bond issue vote July 10, but the dollar amount wasn't determined until later.

+Jim Carrington of the Bemidji Pioneer, reviewing the 1980 Bemidji high school baseball season and looking ahead, notes, "With an increasing supply of talent coming the '81 Jacks should be young but competitive. By '82 Bemidji could be a serious threat for the region title." Bemidji, beaten 3-2 by Thief River Falls in the opening round of the 1980 North Half Region 8AA tournament this spring, finished the 1980 season with a 10-7 record, giving coach Des Sagedahl a seven-year record of 76-44-1 with the Lumberjacks.

Wayne Smith Is Leading Hitter In Fast Pitch

Wayne Smith of Action Realty is hitting at a .526 average to lead the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league hitting charts announced Saturday by league statistician Dick Bjerken.

Remarkably, Smith, who has 10 hits in 19 at-bats, is the only member of the unbeaten league-leading Action Realty ball club who is ranked among the top 15 hitters.

Coca-Cola teammates Mike Drury and Mark Huot currently share second place in the hitting chart with identical 10-for-22 figures for a .455 batting average.

New Biologist Named To Serve Agassiz Refuge

James P. Mattsson has been assigned to Agassiz national wildlife refuge to occupy a new position as refuge biologist. Mattson will fill the position vacated by Dick Vasse.

Mattsson has worked for the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for six years. He came to Agassiz from Bemidji where he served as a biologist with the FWS. Prior to coming to Minnesota, he was district supervisor for the animal damage control program of the FWS in Michigan.

Mattsson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and received his masters degree from St. Cloud State University.

His principle duties at Agassiz will be to develop a comprehensive ecological inventory of each of the 18 management units of the refuge. This will include, but will not be limited to, monitoring soil and water chemistry, vegetative sampling and type mapping, invertebrate studies, as well as studies of the nesting ecology of all types of migratory birds with special emphasis on over-water nesters such as canvasback and redhead ducks.

Jim and his wife Laura reside in Thief River Falls. They have two children.

Swenson Plumbing didn't get the double play, but they won the game anyway, 14-7.

Frazee, Grand Forks Sweep TRF

It was a tough weekend for the Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team. Carrying an impressive 14-1 record into a pair of scheduled doubleheaders on the road, Thief River Falls returned home 14-5 after losing all four starts.

A well-regarded Frazee ball club beat Thief River Falls 5-3 and 10-6 Saturday, then the Grand Forks Royals made amends for dropping a season-opening doubleheader here back on May 30 by taking a pair of three-run decisions Sunday, winning 3-0 and 6-3.

Thief River Falls returns home Tuesday for a 6:30 p.m. doubleheader against Northwest League foe Crookston on the fairgrounds diamond.

Frazee came up with three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to pull out a 5-3 win over visiting Thief River Falls in the first half of a Saturday doubleheader.

Thief River Falls opened the scoring in the top of the first inning when lead-off batter Dave Odegaard reached base and scored on a pair of errors.

Frazee went ahead 2-1 in the fourth before spotting Thief River Falls a 3-2 lead in the top of the sixth when Kevin Sanders led off with a single, Mark Harder drew a walk, Mark Schmitke singled home a run and a fielder's choice ground ball hit by Tom Drury pushed another run across the plate.

But Frazee came up with three base hits and a pair of walks — all with two out — in the bottom of the sixth.

Jeff James pitched a one-hit shutout to carry Grand Forks to a 3-0 victory in the opener of a Sunday doubleheader.

Thief River Falls' only base hit was a lead-off single by Dave Kays in the fifth inning. James walked five and struck out five.

Jeff Ulrich of Thief River Falls also pitched well, giving up just four hits while striking out 10 and walking only three.

But the Royals' Mickey Rood homered to lead off the second and Grand Forks added two more runs in the third when Bryan Gray drew a lead-off walk, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Mike Rux and scored on a single by Bob Rynstad, who advanced a base on a balk and scored on a two-out single by Jamie Kuntz.

Grand Forks, trailing 3-1 early, snapped a 3-3 tie with a three-run fifth inning to complete the doubleheader sweep, 6-3.

Thief River Falls out-hit Grand Forks 6-4, but the numbers were reversed in the walks and strike-out categories where Grand Forks' Greg LaDoucer struck out nine and walked just one while Thief River Falls' Greg Harder struck out one and walked nine.

Tom Drury singled, advanced two bases on errors and scored Thief River Falls' first run on a two-out single by Jeff Cwikla in the second inning.

Singles by Dave Odegaard and Mark Harder, along with a walk issued to Jeff Ulrich and three Grand Forks errors made it a 3-1 ball game in the third inning.

But Grand Forks used four walks and three Thief River Falls errors to score five times over the next two innings.

Pizza Hut Rally Beats Great Northwest 28-21

Pizza Hut, trailing 17-6 in the bottom of the fourth inning, rallied to beat Great Northwest Agency 28-21 Wednesday in a high-scoring Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league game.

Sally Collins homered for Pizza Hut while Patty Langlie went 5-for-5 and Laurie Bruggeman enjoyed a 4-for-5 night at the plate for the winners.

Helen Anderson hit two home runs, including a grand slam, and teammate Nancy Zimple also belted a bases-loaded homer to carry the American Legion past Hydra-Mac 19-8.

Three home runs by Dawn Nelson, along with a home run and a triple by Terry Burda, made the Ridge Runners 23-13 winners over the Schmidt Stealers.

Lois Anderson pitched a shutout as the Mush-a-Rettes blanked Credit Bureau 22-0.

Marlene Foss, Kelly Storhaug, Georgine Troska and Doreen Larson all homered as Ekeren Drug belted the Health Hustlers 13-3.

A home run by Linda Rux and a bases-loaded triple by Lyn Christensen sparked Northern Employers Agency to a 17-1 victory over The Barbers.

Marlys Huot legged out two triples and Colleen Krohn also tripled as the St. Hilaire Saints defeated Dwight's Hartz 12-4.

Linda Bruggeman homered as Roseau Transport beat Walseth Construction 10-6.

500 Million Walleye Eggs Are Gathered

Fisheries crews from the Department of Natural Resources gathered more than 500,000,000 walleye eggs this spring during spawn taking operations.

Eggs are hatched out at DNR fish hatcheries and then stocked in state lakes and streams. Some of the fish are stocked as fry while others are raised to a larger size in rearing ponds before being released.

Officials said the total number of eggs taken was about average this year, but the yield from waters in southwestern Minnesota was better than usual while operations in the central part of the state produced fewer than normal.

Bulk of the eggs are taken from operations in northern Minnesota.

Legion Handles Newfolden 15-3

Scott McKeever, Jeff Ulrich and Kevin Sanders — the No. 1-2-3 hitters in the Thief River Falls batting order — collected eight base hits and scored eight runs Thursday as Thief River Falls ran its Northwest American Legion baseball league record to 6-0 with a 14-3 drubbing of Newfolden.

It was an offensive bonanza for the winners who put 29 runners on base during the five-inning game. McKeever went 3-for-4 at the plate and homered to lead off the third inning. Ulrich was 3-for-5 and Sanders went 2-for-4 during the 12-hit Thief River Falls attack. McKeever and Ulrich both scored three times and Sanders crossed the pate twice.

First four Thief River Falls batters reached base in the top of the first inning and all four scored as McKeever walked, Ulrich and Sanders hit back-to-back singles and Cwikla walked. A one-out walk issued to Wayne Huseth, followed by a single by Kelly Gutterud made it 4-0.

It was 7-0 after two innings and it ballooned to 12-0 in the third when McKeever led off with his home run and later singled in the same inning.

Meanwhile, Gutterud pitched three innings of no-hit, no-run ball before walking Brad Cook to lead off the fourth. Cook stole both second and third and scored on a two-out single by Lindquist.

McKeever pitched the final inning for the winners, who raised their season record to 14-1. Thief River Falls will host Northwest League rival Crookston Tuesday in a doubleheader that starts at 6:30 p.m. on the fairgrounds diamond.

BSU Fishing Contest Set For July 12

Randy Amenrud, a top professional angler for the Lindy-Little Joe tackle company and an outdoor writer, will lead the fifth annual professional fishing seminar at the Bemidji State University fishing for fun contest July 12.

Amenrud will be joined by Wally Hilgenberg of the Minnesota Vikings, a member of the Lindy-Little Joe promotional team. Both men will also fish in the contest and be present for the walleye dinner that evening on the BSU campus.

Amenrud will be making his third appearance at the fishing for fun seminar to explain the secrets of walleye fishing, Minnesota style, and to get all of the FFF participants in the right mood to catch the big ones in the contest.

The pro seminar will kick off the fishing for fun day, starting at 10 a.m. in the BSU gymnasium. Registration for anyone who hasn't already bought tickets, will begin at 8 a.m. in the gymnasium.

Tickets to the contest cost $7 per person and allow entry to the seminar, the contest itself and the walleye dinner which starts at 6 p.m. in BSU's Walnut Hall.

But there is much more. Because the contest is a fund-raising event for BSU scholarships the emphasis is on quantity. More than 20 trophies are awarded each year for kids, amateurs and professionals. Bemidji area businesses donate lots of prizes each year that are given away as door prizes at the walleye dinner.

Prizes this year include an electric trolling motor, several tackle boxes filled with lures, hunting and fishing knives, books on how-to-do-it, outdoor design jewelry, windbreaker jackets, several rods and reels and much more.

The fishing for fun contest tickets are on sale at these outlets in Bemidji and will be up to 9 a.m. July 12.: Bemidji Area Chamber of Commerce, Jerry's Bait and Tackle, Fuller's Tackle Shop, Kroll's Sporting Goods, Xen's North Country Sporting Goods, Pamida and the BSU News Bureau at 1200 Birchmont Drive. Tickets can be reserved by calling the News Bureau at 218-755-2041.

Potato Grower Golf Tourney Slated July 24

Second annual Red River Valley open golf tournament will be held Thursday, July 24, at the Hillcrest Country Club in Park River, North Dakota.

The Red River Valley open is an 18-hole tournament with tee time from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. A steak dinner will be served from 6 to 8 p.m. The total cost will be $12.

If you are interested in playing in this year's tournament, write or call (218) 773-3633 or write to Red River Valley Potato Growers Association, P.O. Box 301, East Grand Forks.

Minnesota '80 Camping Guide Now Available

"Nowhere is there more opportunity for quiet reflection," states the 1980 Minnesota camping guide, now available from the Minnesota tourism bureau. The 60-page guide highlights the wide range of activities available to Minnesota campers, including canoe and backpacking routes. The guide details the location and services of 650 private, municipal and county campgrounds as well as state parks, state and national forests, Army Corps of Engineers sites and Voyageurs national park.

A copy of the 1980 Minnesota camping guide is available free of charge by writing the tourist information center, 480 Cedar St., St. Paul, MN 55101. Minnesota residents can call toll-free 1-800-652-9747.

Of the more than 650 private, municipal and county campgrounds listed in the guide, nine out of 10 are located on a lake, river or stream. Private campgrounds offer everything from the basics to facilities such as hot showers, swimming pools, recreation halls and tennis courts. Overnight fees at private grounds range from $3 to $7 per night, while many municipal grounds charge no fee.

Fifty-eight of Minnesota's 67 state parks provide a camping experience for every taste, from primitive to semi-modern, and are found within hardwood forests, natural prairies and river valleys. Many are built around historic sites or national monuments. Most parks have fishing and swimming beaches, some provide boat and canoe rentals and staff naturalists, and all have systems of hiking trails.

Three state parks — Cascade, Wild River and St. Croix — have plowed areas for winter camping with recreational vehicles. All parks are open for primitive type winter camping. Overnight camping fees in state parks are $5 — semi-modern, $4 — rustic, $3 — primitive. Auto permits are required to enter a state park and are $1.50 per night or $5 for an annual permit.

Minnesota's seven million acres of state and national forestland offer 5,000 camping sites in more than 100 separate campgrounds. Camping in the 55 state forests is strictly primitive, while the Superior and Chippewa national forests provide both tent camping and recreational vehicle sites. In addition to bountiful hunting and fishing grounds, Minnesota's state and national forests offer campers access to native wildlife. Alert campers are likely to see timberwolf, fisher, pine martin, black bear, bald eagle and loon. Camping fees in national forests range from $2 to $4. Persons 62 and older are eligible for a 50 per cent discount with a Golden Age passport, available at all forest ranger offices. In addition, seniors may camp free in all state parks, Monday-Thursday.

Some of Minnesota's most unique camping experiences can be found within the federal protected wilderness of the Boundary Waters canoe area (BWCA) and in Voyageurs National Park. More than 2,000 managed campsites are available to paddlers in the BWCA; however, a permit is required for entry. Permits are available from the forest supervisor's office in Duluth.

Voyageurs National Park is the only water-based park in the national park system and has more than 100 campsites within its 220,000 acres. In addition, private campgrounds near the border communities of International Falls, Kabetogama and Crane Lake provide access for recreational-vehicle campers.

FIRST BASEMAN Terry Sullivan of Swenson Plumbing stretched, but couldn't come up with the throw as Arnold Realty base runner Lyle Swanson crossed the bag in the fifth inning of Thursday's men's slow pitch softball association ball game. Swanson gained an extra base on the play when the throw from the rover in short right-center field sailed by Sullivan. Swenson Plumbing won the game 14-7 to gain a share of second place in the American League West Division standings.

Action Realty, Coca-Cola Dominate Fast Pitch League

Friday's anticipated match between unbeaten Action Realty and once-beaten Coca-Cola was rained out, but the two teams continued to dominate the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league with wins earlier in the week.

Action Realty defeated Schmidts 5-0 in a Wednesday night make-up game while Coca-Cola beat Northland Pro 4-3 in a regularly scheduled Thursday night contest.

The results pushed Action Realty to a 7-0 record while making Coca-Cola 7-1. Nobody else in the five-team league has a winning record.

Action Realty ran its league-leading record to 7-0 with a 58 minute 5-0 blanking of Schmidts. Al Erickson pitched the shutout.

Action Realty got the only run it needed in the top of the first inning when Jeff Ulrich popped a one-out double to center field and scored on Wayne Smith's single to center.

The gap widened to 3-0 in the third when singles by Ulrich and Tom Neibauer, and a base-on-balls to Smith loaded the sacks for Nick Dress, who responded with a two-run single to left.

Ulrich's one out solo homer in the fifth and Paul Dress' run-producing safety in the sixth accounted for the final two Realty runs; Schmidts only chance came in the bottom of the third when Bruce Johnson, Dean Lawrenz and Bob Tunheim all singled with one out. But Johnson was out center field-to-catcher-to-third when he tried to score on Tunheim's hit. Erickson then got the third out on a fielder's choice, and, except for a lead off walk in the fourth, he then retired the final 12 batters to preserve his shutout.

Smith's 1-for-2 showing at the plate made his league leading batting average slip to .526 on 10 hits for 19 at-bats. He also leads the league in home runs and RBI's.

This was a make-up game from May 28.

Coca-Cola 4
Northland Pro 3

Coca-Cola used a four-run third inning in coming from behind to upend Northland Pro 4-3.

Northland Pro had taken a 2-0 first inning lead on singles by Rocky Ammerman and Mitch Dicken and Jeff Hendrickson's triple.

The lead stood until the top of the third when Bruce Johnson and Steve Drury rapped out a pair of singles. Johnson scored on a wild pitch, with Drury taking second base. Tom Hanson singled to left and an error on the play enabled Drury to score. Mike Drury then slammed a two-run homer for the 4-2 Coca Cola lead.

Northland cut the margin to 4-3 on Mark DuChamp's RBI single in the sixth but Coke kept them off the scoreboard in the seventh to remain a game behind Action Realty.

Division Leaders Meet In TRF Slow Pitch Softball

A pair of top-notch inter-division clashes will highlight the early week schedule in the Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association.

An American League confrontation will take place tonight (Monday) when the 10-2 TRF Merchants, the East Division leader, tackles 11-1 McDonald's-Dallmann, the West Division front-runner at 6:20 p.m. on Field 2 at the slow pitch complex located on highway 1 east.

National League teams will take the spotlight Tuesday when 9-4 Consumer's Co-op, the East Division pace-setter, squares off with 11-3 First Northwestern Insurance Agency, tied for first in the West Division, at 7:40 p.m. on Field 4.

McDonald's-Dallmann and the TRF Merchants were both easy winners Thursday with McDonald's - Dallmann drilling Bridgeman 14-3 and the TRF Merchants taking care of Coca-Cola 10-2.

Back-to-back home runs in the fourth inning by Scott Sabo and Gary Laidley sparked Swenson Plumbing to a 14-7 victory over Arnold Realty. Sabo legged out a stand-up, bad-hop, two-run inside-the-park homer and Laidley followed with a shot over the fence down the left field line. Karl Chromy homered for the losers.

Wagon Wheel knocked Tony Dorn, Inc. two games behind the TRF Merchants in the American League East Division with a surprisingly easy 16-3 triumph to complete Thursday's schedule.

Wilson Brothers surprised Schumacher's Tireland 5-4 to highlight Wednesday's results in the very tight National League West Division standings.

Thorp-KKAQ maintained its challenge in the National League West with a key 5-3 victory over National League East Division leader Consumer's Co-op, but the loser's first place status wasn't affected since second place Great Northwest Agency dropped a tough 3-2 decision to First Federal.

Elsewhere, First Federal completed a doubleheader sweep and held onto a share of first place in the National League West with a 15-5 win over the TRF Aggies, Hardees beat The Club 11-1, E.T.'s Bees knocked off IWA 6-4, Lon's out-scored Sound Level-Holthusen 24-22 and First Northwestern Insurance Agency defeated Sparby-Johnson.

Rain washed out Friday's league schedule.

Herbst Named To Great Lakes Fishing Group

Assistant secretary of the Interior Robert L. Herbst was selected chairman of the Great Lakes fishery commission at the international group's annual meeting June 5 in Duluth.

Herbst will serve a two-year term as head of the commission, which was established in 1955 by the United States and Canada to control the sea lamprey in the Great Lakes and rehabilitate a substantial fishery badly damaged by the lamprey, overfishing and loss of fish habitat.

"I am very proud to be selected to head the commission during its Silver Anniversary year," Herbst said. "In 25 years it has worked a near miracle in restoring a fishery that appeared to be on the brink of extinction."

Great Lakes fishery commission has eight members, four appointed by the president and four by the prime minister of Canada. Most of its research is done through the offices of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Department of Fisheries and Oceans in Canada.

Walter Bush Is Named To Hockey Hall

Minnesota North Stars primary founder Walter L. Bush and Frank W. "Nick" Kahler will be this year's inductees in the United States Hockey Hall of Fame, it was announced this week by U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame director Roger Godin.

Reared in two of America's hockey hotbeds — Minnesota and Michigan — the 1980 inductees have contributed to virtually every facet of U.S. hockey, promoting the sport at all levels — amateur, professional, local and international.

Known widely as the primary founder of the Minnesota North Stars, Bush, 51, has pursued hockey as prep school player, college and amateur player, amateur coach and Olympic manager, before getting into the executive side of the sport.

Born in Minneapolis, Bush began his 30 year hockey career at Breck school and continued at Dartmouth. While working on his law degree at the University of Minnesota, he kept his skates in practice playing senior hockey and helping to organize the U.S. Central League.

He then became active on an international scale, managing the 1959 U.S. National team and the 1964 U.S. Olympic team, serving on the U.S. Olympic committee in 1963 and later a four year term on the USOC's hockey section. He has also participated as president and vice-president of the Minnesota amateur hockey association and a director of the amateur hockey association of the United States.

Instrumental in organizing the Minneapolis Bruins, Bush later put all his credentials to work in organization of the Minnesota North Stars. Bush was the first "grass roots American" to win the Lester Patrick Trophy, which he received in 1973, as well as being named NHL executive of the year in 1972.

Born in 1891 at Dollar Bay, Michigan, Nick Kahler also has a distinguished hockey career. Among the first American players imported by Canada to play hockey, Kahler was very active in organizing a team at the St. Paul Athletic Club in 1914. As captain he recruited teammates like Moose Goheen and Tony Conroy. His team won the McNaughton Cup in 1916 and the Art Ross Trophy for the world amateur championship in Quebec.

Kahler launched the first Minneapolis Millers team, serving as owner, manager, coach and star center. He promoted that team as well as amateur and Olympic teams for many years. He was inducted into the Minnesota sports hall of fame in 1962 and awarded the governor's public service citation and Heritage award in 1967.

Kahler and Bush will be formally inducted Saturday, October 18, in ceremonies at the U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame, Eveleth. This year's enshrinement game will feature University of Minnesota versus Michigan Tech. For further information contact Roger Godin, 218-744-5167.

Safety is YOUR Business

Boaters Are Required To Have Lights

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has reminded boaters and fishermen that proper lights are required on boats after sunset.

Kim Elverum, DNR boat and water safety coordinator, noted that collisions over the last year have occurred when one boat could not see the other because it either wasn't equipped with lights or did not have them turned on.

Minnesota law required all boats to display lights from sunset to sunrise when they are on the water and not docked or moored. Motorboats, under 26 feet in length, including fishing craft, are required to display a red and green bow light and a white stern light when the boat is underway.

When anchored, only a white light, visible from all directions is necessary. Non-motorized craft (canoes, sailboats, etc.) whether in motion or anchored need only display a white light.

Elverum noted that inexpensive battery-powered lights are available for fishermen who do not have an electrical system on their boat.

"Using your lights at night and keeping a sharp lookout," he concluded, "are probably the two cheapest collision insurance policies available."

Babe Ruth Baseball . . .

Elks Score 35 Runs On Wed.

Thief River Falls Elks pushed 35 runs across the plate to defeat a pair of Crookston teams Wednesday in Babe Ruth baseball action at Crookston. The Elks outscored the Crookston A team 12-8 in the doubleheader opener and took the Crookston B team 23-3 in the second game of the day.

The Elks built a 12-3 lead in the first game before surrendering five runs in the bottom of the seventh. Lon Aune, Tim Bergland, Scott Johnston and Kerry Wollin all had two hits apiece in the 10-hit Thief River Falls attack. Wollin also drove in three runs.

Tim Bottem was the winning pitcher, walking five and striking out seven before leaving the game with a slight arm injury in the seventh. Bergland finished it. Crookston collected eight hits.

The Elks had an easy time of it against the mistake-prone Crookston B team, combining 12 base hits with 14 Crookston errors.

Jeff Matson, Bob Huot and Wollin had two hits apiece, with Wollin, the winning pitcher, collecting three RBI's and Huot driving in two runs. Lee Genereux also had three RBI's and Jeff Milender hit an inside-the-park home run.

Wollin walked five and struck out four while limiting Crookston to four base hits.

Independents — RLF

Kirk Jenson pitched a two-hit shutout as the Thief River Falls Independents blanked Red Lake Falls 5-0 Thursday. He struck out eight and walked four.

Thief River Falls collected seven hits, two apiece by Dave Stimac and Jim Hallamek. Red Lake Falls was charged with seven of the game's eight errors.

Independents — Crookston

Thief River Falls Independents ran their winning streak to four straight for a 5-2 record with an 18-3 triumph over the Crookston B team Friday afternoon.

The Independents banged out 15 base hits, with Rodney Harder going 3-for-4, Mark Gere 2-for-3 and Jim Hallamek 2-for-3. Hallamek also scored three times and drove in four runs. Gere had two RBI's.

Allan Ness was the winning pitcher, scattering six hits.

Preps — Roseau

There were 42 runs scored Friday when Thief River Falls and Roseau met in a 13-year-old Prep League Babe Ruth doubleheader at Roseau.

Thief River Falls rallied from a 6-0 deficit after just one inning of the opener to win 10-9, on the strength of a nine-run fourth inning. Bill Desrocher, who was 2-for-3, hit a bases-loaded double in that inning for the winners and Ryan Drees, who was also 2-for-3, later had a two-run triple.

Roseau came back to win the second game 12-11. Jason Kuznia was 2-for-3 in that one for Thief River Falls, now 4-4 for the year.

Elks — Crookston

Tim Bottem hit a long grand slam home run in the fifth inning and finished with five RBI's Friday as the Thief River Falls Elks pounded the Crookston B team 19-3.

Jeff Milender was 3-for-4 for the winners, who collected 16 base hits, including two apiece by Lon Aune, Tim Bergland, Scott Johnston, Brett Brandon and Bottem. Brandon drove in three runs.

Johnston was the winning pitcher, with Bob Huot pitching the final two innings. Crookston managed just four hits.

Rained out of a scheduled doubleheader here against the Bemidji Braves Saturday, Thief River Falls is now 8-1.

Independents — Bemidji

Bemidji Lions took both ends of a Saturday doubleheader against the Thief River Falls Independents in Bemidji, posting a come-from-behind 9-5 victory in the opener and taking a 5-1 decision in the nightcap.

Dave Stimac, Jim Hallamek and Rodney Harder all had two hits apiece in the 10-hit Thief River Falls attack in the opener. But the Lions overcame a 5-3 deficit with a six-run sixth inning.

Thief River Falls, now 5-4, managed just three hits in the second game, two coming off the bat of Hallamek.

Lake Superior Fishing Derby Set July 12-13

Sixth annual Superior trout and salmon derby sponsored by the Lake Superior steelhead association (LSSA) will take place on the North Shore of Lake Superior July 12-13. This two-day event attracts hundreds of sport fisherman. Last year 800 salmon and trout were caught and entered in the contest.

Knife river marina is derby headquarters. There are several other launch sites along the North Shore from Barkers Island and Park Point in the Duluth Harbor, to Two Harbors, Beaver Bay, Silver Bay, Grand Marais and Grand Portage. All fish entered must be caught on the North Shore of Lake Superior in Minnesota waters.

Over $5,000 worth of prizes are given at this event to contestants from boats, trailers and boating and fishing equipment such as downriggers, temperature gauges, rods, reels, and other items used for salmon and trout fishing.

Standard fishing boats are the boats most used for this type of fishing. Special equipment is not necessary and in past events newcomers to fishing on Lake Superior caught 50 per cent of the fish.

Most lures in the present fisherman's tackle box works well such as Rapala's, Dardevle's, Mepp's, etc. Local bait shops can provide more detailed and up to date information just before the derby on the right lures for that time.

REGIONAL KIDNEY DISEASE PROGRAM

MSU Has Largest Overseas Student Teaching Program

Moorhead state university runs the largest overseas student teaching program in the country, according to a study released this spring by the Michigan state university college of education.

A survey of 1,000 colleges and universities showed that nearly 10 per cent of the nation's 1,000 students who completed their student teaching assignments overseas last year did so through the Moorhead state program.

In the past 11 years, Moorhead state's student teaching abroad program, through its education department, has sent 731 students to schools in 43 different countries. About a third of them have been Moorhead state students; the rest have come through the program under cooperative arrangements with the Minnesota state university system and 30 other institutions, ranging from Boston university to the University of Oregon.

"It's pretty much outgrown itself," says Dr. Howard Freeberg, professor of education and director of the university's STA program. "This year we'll send out over 90 students. Next year we'd like to cut back to a more manageable 65 to 75. But we're still not going to turn anyone away."

Despite increasing costs, government regulations and political agitations overseas, STA keeps growing, Freeberg said. Program tripled in size during the past decade, even though education majors have dropped a third over the same period.

Overseas costs now average about $1,850 for the usual 10-weeks of student teaching — including air fare, room, board and expenses. "That's only about $300 more than most would spend student teaching in this country," Freeberg said.

That average cost is flexible, though. Some students spend over $3,000. Others spend far less, some getting free room and board, most adapting to the more frugal habits of the local economies.

Nevertheless, about half the student teachers borrow money for the trip, Freeberg said, "and we advise them to have at least $2,500 before applying."

Freeberg spends about a third of his time making four trips abroad each year, trying to evaluate each of the students personally. Most are placed in private English-speaking international schools, but a few with language proficiencies choose national schools.

Because Freeberg keeps close contacts with foreign school personnel, STA students haven't been caught up in political upheavals. Two years before the Iranian revolution, contacts in Iranian schools were advising against placements there. "We were lucky on that. But not many students have asked for assignments in Iran either."

About three-quarters of the student teachers get placed in the country of their choice. Most popular countries have been England, Spain, Switzerland and Germany.

Although student teaching abroad won't guarantee a job, Freeberg said, it doesn't hurt either. His own survey shows that STA students seem to be hired at least at the same rate as other teachers. "When it comes to getting a job, I'd have to say employers would tend to interview teachers who've done something unique, challenging and on their own — whether its student teaching overseas or traveling America."

What's amazing about the program, Freeberg said, is that it's grown by word of mouth. "We do very little advertising. Students who've enjoyed the experience pass the word on."

With July 4th Come Dangers Of Fireworks

An estimated 8,028 Americans were treated in hospital emergency rooms for injuries from fireworks last year, almost one-third more than the total reported the previous year. As the Fourth of July approaches, the National Society to Prevent Blindness (NSPB) warns that all fireworks endanger life and limb, particularly eyesight.

Nearly 15 per cent of last year's reported injuries from pyrotechnics were to the eye, the soceity reports. "Since there is no way to estimate how many were treated in doctors' offices, at home or by direct hospital admission, this figure is only a fraction of actual injuries," added Virginia S. Boyce, executive director of the NSPB.

"Punks, sparklers, firecrackers, bottlerockets, M-80's — these and all fireworks endanger the eyes. They may seem harmless, but even sparklers burn at heat exceeding 1500 degrees F," Mrs. Boyce said.

For many years the soceity has urged that fireworks be limited to licensed public displays. Although this is law in 28 states, bootleg fireworks are still sold regularly on street corners and in many stores.

The soceity directs its warning particularly to parents, since children are most often the victims of fireworks injuries. "Those 19 and under suffered nearly two-thirds of the injuries last year," Mrs. Boyce noted, adding that "the victims are frequently innocent bystanders. Keep your children away from all fireworks and from anyone who uses them. They may look like fun to youngsters, but fireworks are explosives that can cause injuries, even blindness.

"Enjoy the holidays safely," Mrs. Boyce concluded, "by enjoying the fireworks in public exhibitions."

National Society to Prevent Blindness, established in 1908, is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service programs, public and professional education and research.

DISPLAYING THE AWARD recently received at the Governor's Safety Awards banquet in Minneapolis are, left to right, Mayor Bob Carlson; Ken Froschheiser, Thief River Falls police chief; and Sheriff Charles Richards, president of the Pennington county safety council. The award, presented by the Minnesota Safety council, recognizes outstanding achievement in traffic safety education in the city of Thief River Falls, and will be displayed in the mayor's office in the city auditorium.

Farmers Union Asks Haying On State Land

Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers union (MFU), has called upon Governor Al Quie to direct appropriate state agencies to open up state owned land for hay harvesting as a drought relief measure.

Carpenter made the request following a meeting of the drought-stricken farmers in northwestern Minnesota last week. At the meeting, area farmers repeatedly indicated that they are not going to be able to harvest enough livestock feed locally to meet the demand. The hay crop in the area is reported as low as 10 per cent of normal yields and the price of hay and other forage has been increasing rapidly for limited available inventories.

"We recognize that this effort is far from the total answer that will be needed to meet the livestock feed requirements of those farmers", Carpenter said, "but se need to being the process of providing relief.

"In addition to the disaster designation for the 15-county area in northwestern Minnesota established by secretary of agriculture Bob Bergland, we need to call upon every available resource at our disposal in the state if we are going to be able to meet the demand of area farmers", Carpenter said. "Just as in other areas, we need to take leadership here within the state in order to meet the needs of our citizens. Federal programs alone cannot meet the need and we do have opportunities here in state government that the governor can deliver."

Carpenter indicated that Governor Quie's request for federal disaster designation was appropriate and further he said he is hopeful that the governor will now follow up his request with appropriate state action.

Minnesota Farmers union is also trying to provide area farmers with a list of farmers with hay for sale in southern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

"If any farmers have hay for sale, we would encourage them to be in contact with our office so that we can include their names in a list to be supplied to farmers in northwestern Minnesota," Carpenter said.

"We need to know the quantity and description of the hay available and its location," Carpenter added. "We are trying to act as a clearing house of hay information for buyers and sellers.

Interested farmers can contact the Minnesota Farmers union office by either writing to 1717 University avenue, St. Paul, MN 55104 or by calling 612-646-4861.

Wheat Council Okays Budget Of $870,000

Minnesota wheat research and promotion council recently approved a preliminary budget for the 1980-81 year totaling just over $870,000 for research and promotion of Minnesota wheat.

According to council chairman Terry Fladeland of Red Lake Falls, the budget represents a small decrease from that approved for the 1979-80 year, reflecting the reduced crop expected in Minnesota which will reduce revenue.

Approved budget included personnel expenditures of about $150,000 including the addition of a marketing specialist to the staff, to assist with the planning and implementation of the council's research program and also to provide more timely information to Minnesota wheat producers on the U.S. and world wheat and grain supply and demand situation. Budget also includes another $150,000 for general operating expenses including rent, utilities, equipment, travel, printing, supplies and postage.

Bulk of the 1980-81 budget will be allocated to research and promotion, according to Fladeland, with $133,500 earmarked for research at the University of Minnesota. Research will include new variety development, disease and weed control, soil fertility and tillage practices.

The council has also approved the purchase of a tractor and test plot seeder for the University of Minnesota Agromony Department and a grain dryer for the branch station at Morris, MN. An additional $12,000 was approved for the cereal chemistry and technology department at North Dakota state university in Fargo for Minnesota's share of a regional quality survey of the U.S. hard red spring wheat and durum crop for distribution to present and potential buyers overseas.

The council's budget also includes $323,000 for wheat promotion, including contributions to U.S. Wheat associates for its ongoing market development program carried out through 11 foreign offices located around the world. It also carries expenses for direct promotional efforts by the Minnesota Wheat council, including sponsoring trainees from foreign countries to study wheat quality and wheat processing in the United States, trade teams from foreign countries visiting Minnesota, and other in-state programs.

"Because of the substantially reduced crop expected in Minnesota this year, we will have to draw to a great extent into our reserves to meet this budget," Fladeland stated. "We realize, however, that programs of research and market development are long term endeavors that must be maintained in a constant, ongoing fashion to be really effective. To operate a program of research and promotion in an on again-off again fashion will slow our results in maintaining and expanding the U.S. share of the world export market."

Fladeland indicated that the budget the council approved should be considered preliminary until the true crop outturn can be better assessed. He said that additional research projects are being held in abeyance and additional market development projects for spring wheat and durum in East and West Europe, West Africa, and Asia will be considered if money is available.

Energy Field Day Set For Staples July 11

Staples irrigation center and the Staples regional energy information center are co-sponsoring a rural agricultural energy field day on July 11 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Staples irrigation center located two miles north of Staples.

Purpose of the event is to promote energy conservation in rural homes, businesses, and agriculture.

There will be many wagon tour stops with featured speakers discussing a wide range of energy related topics. There will also be commercial and educational exhibits as well as many demonstrations and live entertainment.

Some of the topics covered will include the energy potential from wind, solar, alcohol and high energy crops.

At noon, commissioner of agriculture Mark Seetin will address field day visitors. Several state and federal elected officials and candidates will also be on hand to visit with the crowd.

There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to attend.

House Passes Deregulation Bill On Trucks

"Farmers, shippers and the American consumer has won a major victory that is expected to provide for billions of dollars of savings annually and conserve hundreds of millions of gallons of fuel each year," Congressman Arlan Stangeland said recently.

Major provisions of this legislation include easing entry requirements for new trucking companies, fostering greater route and rate competition, conserving energy and eliminating many unnecessary restrictions on the movements of goods and property, the congressman said.

Stangeland, a member of the House public works and transportation committee who has been working for almost two years on this legislation, turned back efforts during floor debate which would have eliminated language that provided farmers and agriculture interests with substantial benefits.

"I was extremely happy," Stangeland said, "that we were able to preserve the Stangeland amendment, adopted earlier during committee consideration of this measure. It is designed to simplify entry for individual owner operators and improve agricultural transportation."

Under this provision, which was endorsed by all major farm groups, the independent owner operator could transport agricultural soil conditioners, agricultural limestone and fertilizers by showing only that they are "fit, willing and able." In addition, these provisions will substantially ease requirements for farmers or other independents in hauling these agricultural products, thereby reducing empty backhauls which, until now, have made it very costly for farmers to transport their agricultural products to market.

Trucking deregulation bill also allows for cased entry requirements for foods and edible products, thereby further expanding market opportunities for independent owner operators. Furthermore, this bill increases the number of exempt commodities by exempting livestock and poultry feed along with seeds and plants that are hauled to a farm or to a business that sells to producers of goods used in agricultural production.

"By broadening the agricultural exemptions in this manner, the farmer will be allowed to haul more products free of ICC economic regulation. This legislation will also allow agricultural cooperative associations to haul up to 25 per cent of their total interstate tonnage in non-farm, non-member foods, in movements incidental and necessary to their primary business as cooperative associations," said Stangeland.

Currently, such cooperatives may transport only 15 per cent of their total interstate tonnage in such goods.

Pamida Corp. Plans Sale To Investor Trust

Pamida, Inc., Omaha-based operator of 195 Pamida discount centers in 13 Midwestern and Rocky Mountain states, has announced that its board of directors presently is considering, but has not acted upon, a proposal which would result in the company's assets and business being sold to a newly organized corporation, a majority of whose shares of stock would be owned by an employees' stock ownership trust to be established for the exclusive benefit of such new corporation's employees.

Such a new corporation, which has not yet been formed, also would assume substantially all of Pamida's liabilities and other obligations existing at the time of the closing.

Immediately after the proposed sale, Pamida's shareholders would be offered an opportunity to tender their shares to Pamida for a cash amount which the company presently anticipates will be approximately $5 per share, taking into account certain tax loss carrybacks which Pamida expects to become available to it as a result of the proposed sale transaction. The closing price of Pamida's common stock on the New York stock exchange on June 19 was $3.50.

The proposal contemplates that, after the sale of its present operating assets to the new corporation and the completion of the tender offer to its shareholders, Pamida will register and thereafter conduct its affairs as a regulated investment company under the investment company act of 1940 and ultimately will invest all of its available funds exclusively in interest-yielding securities which are exempt from federal income tax.

The proposal also contemplates that Pamida's present senior management group generally will occupy similar positions with the new corporation which will acquire Pamida's operating assets. However, D. J. Witherspoon, presently chairman of the board of Pamida, and L. E. Wegener, presently vice chairman of the board, have indicated their intention not to become associated with the new corporation.

Consummation of the proposed transactions would be subject, among other things, to completion of necessary financing arrangements, obtaining of required lender and other consents, filing of various documents with regulatory authorities, preparation and execution of appropriate documentation, and approval by Pamida's shareholders.

The proposed sale transaction and related matters, if ultimately approved by Pamida's board of directors and if numerous other preconditions can be satisfied, will be submitted to the shareholders of Pamida for their approval later in 1980, prior to which time Pamida will furnish proxy material to its shareholders containing detailed information concerning all aspects of the transaction. Pamida's present schedule for the proposed transaction calls for completion of the sale and commencement of the tender offer in December 1980.

Pamida last paid a dividend in April of 1979, and Witherspoon indicated his intention to recommend to the board of directors of the company that no dividends be paid by the company prior to the completion of the proposed sale and tender offer.

Assuming the proposed transaction actually is consummated, Pamida's discount store business thereafter will be continued under the "Pamida" name by the new corporation substantially in the manner in which it is now being conducted.
